One night about eight o'clock, on a Saturday night, Clifford and I went on top of Oen's store and one of the clerks followed us up there and locked the door and went out and called the cop, who was Kelly. When we found out the door was locked we went all over the building looking for a place to go down on and in the alley way, in one little corner of the building, there were about twenty insulated wires which we went down on, but it sure made me shiver but we got down all the same because we did not want Kelly to catch us for he had it in for Clifford and me.

Kapers of the Kubs.

Violet: "Didn't Shakespeare write "Ibsen's Doll House?"

Miss Patrick: "There are many magazines of a lower tone, for instance the "Argosy," "Thrill Book," and "The Black Cat."

Edward: "And the Red Nose."

Miss Patrick: "What? I'll admit that's a new one on me! Where did you hear of it?"

Edward: "Oh, that's one I made up myself."

Mr. Pierce: "This debating team will represent Thief River High Falls."

Found on Public Speaking paper: "First in preparing a speech is the choicing of subject."

Jordan to Mildred: "Pardung Mademoiselle."

Brilliant Bob: "Oh, how do you do?"

Appeal For King Knute.

"King Knute" and his "Queen Marguerite" have made remarks to the effect that they will be forced to abdicate from their "Joke Kingdom" because of lack of support. They have come to the sad conclusion that it is more of a "yoke" than a "joke."

Therefore, students of Lincoln high school, give them your "joke" so that their "yoke" may be lessened and the kingdom prosper.

Contestants for the Red River Declamatory and Oratorial contest are taking keen interest in their work and predictions point toward a banner year in that department. This is the fifth annual contest and keener competition will exist than at any other period. The tryout will take place the latter part of the week and those intending to compete should see Mr. Pierce. It is an acknowledged truth that the experience gained thru public speaking will be of more value and will produce bigger dividends to the individual than any subject in high school and it is hoped that a great number will take advantage of this opportunity. Try out for Declamatory or Oratory and—do it now!

Come-hear Rachmaninoff on the New Edison

RACHMANINOFF has not only made RE-CREATIONS for the New Edison. He has also made recordings for one of the standard talking-machines.

We are glad to announce that these talking-machine recordings may now be heard. We want you to hear them—and compare! Determine for yourself which gives you the real Rachmaninoff.

Let us play Rachmaninoff's Edison RE-CREATIONS for you. Mark how clear, how true the piano tone. See how every note in his runs, every accent in his interpretation, every shade in his pedalling is perfectly RE-CREATED.

This was proved by a test made at Mr. Rachmaninoff's home in New York City. He played the Second Hungarian Rhapsodie (Liszt) in direct comparison with the RE-CREATION of his performance by the New Edison. The absolute fidelity of the RE-CREATION to the artist's original performance astounded the listeners.

Make the Rachmaninoff comparison. It will guide you right in selecting your Christmas phonograph.

Ask also about our Budget Plan

It brings your New Edison for Christmas without squeezing your pocketbook. Remember, too, that, in buying a New Edison now, you are virtually buying a before-the-war-value with an after-the-war-dollar. The price of the New Edison has increased less than 15% since 1914, and a portion of this increase is war tax. "Edison stood the gaff" to keep his favorite invention within the reach of every one who loves beautiful music.

ROSEWOOD

Farmers Discuss Market Situation.

A farmers' meeting was held at the Rosebank school building last Saturday evening to discuss the present market conditions of grain and livestock which are at present in a very unsatisfactory condition and with but slight prospects for being remedied until the present crop has been disposed of. Swen Swenson, who has been investigating the conditions in this state, in a short talk compared grain conditions here to that in Oklahoma, Texas, Kansas and Nebraska, where the Federal Wheat Growers association has control. Practically the only hope held out for a remedy was a organization of this state similar to those above, when the farmers like other industrial branches can control the sale and price of their products and eliminate the wholesale gambling now carried on along these lines.

Young Peoples Society Meets.

The Rindal Young Peoples society held their monthly meeting at that church on Thanksgiving afternoon with a fair sized assemblage. A high grade program including a number of juvenile selections and considerable music and singing was presented and a dainty luncheon was served at the close. The next meeting will be held at the same place on the afternoon of January first. The December meeting of the Ladies' Aid will meet at the church in connection with the annual meeting of the congregation on Tuesday, Dec. 7, in the afternoon when lunch will as usual be for sale.

To Elect Officers.

The first regular meeting of the Rosewood Farmers club will be held at the Rosebank school house on Friday evening, Dec. 10. The club activities will be re-organized at this meeting, a new form of membership will be inaugurated and election of president, vice president, secretary and treasurer will take place. No program will be given, but lunch will be served.

School Notes.

The following program was given by the school children Wednesday morning:

Several songs by the school.

Recitation, by Westley Ferdinandson.

"Thanksgiving Song," by Fifth Grade Children.

"The Story of the Pilgrims," told by Marie Wayne.

There were two new scholars enrolled Monday morning, John Markuson and Phinnie Poppenhagen.

The high school pupils have organized an orchestra with the following officers: Grace Day, president; Roy Olson, secretary; Evered Seavey, treasurer. The members are as follows: Grace Day, piano; Donald Stien, violin; Joseph Christianson, cornet; Roy Olson, snare drum; Evered Seavey, clarinet.

The school has shown its appreciation of the new song books by the added enthusiasm over singing. Most of the assembly period Wednesday of last week was spent in trying out the new songs.

During the last few weeks a number of standard periodicals, suitable for the different grades have been placed on the reading tables of the various rooms. More than twenty newspapers and magazines are now coming to the school every week.

Plans are under way for a Christmas program to be given under the auspices of the school. At a faculty meeting this week it was decided that the teachers were to provide a part of the program from among the pupils of each room.

With the advent of cold weather the teachers have made a plan to provide exercise for the pupils during the recess period. Those who wish to remain in the building are given a vigorous setting up exercise. During the noon hour, one of the rooms on the first floor is used as play room for pupils who stay in.

Sloan's Liniment Pain's enemy

GOLDEN VALLEY

A large crowd of the neighbors and friends assembled at D. C. Tyson's and ate Thanksgiving dinner. Over 50 were in attendance.

The stock of Jam Johnson, who lives in the Hick school district, east of Golden Valley, has been attacked by a queer disease that very few people have ever heard of. It is as contagious as glanders and is fatal. It seems to be a bowel trouble. Two horses, two hogs and several cows died last summer. The hogs took it from eating around the dead cattle. A month ago it started again and now all his large flock of cattle are sick or dead but one cow.

Chester Slager fell from the upstairs window of D. C. Tyson's barn Sunday. When picked up he was bleeding at the mouth, but recovered so he was taken home the next day.

STEINER

A rain fell here commencing late Saturday night, which continued all night and over part of Sunday. This fall is the most rainy one for many years and owing to that fact the roads are almost impassable for cars.

Mrs. P. Liden and son Julius and daughter Mathilda, motored to Thief River Falls Saturday afternoon where they visited at the home of Mrs. Liden's sister, Mrs. Elin Lindberg. The party also attended the services in the Swedish Evan. Mission church.

Hjalmar and David Lindberg of Thief River Falls were in this vicinity last Friday on business.

C. A. Swanson was a business visitor at Rosewood one day last week.

P. Liden visited with relatives at the county seat Thanksgiving day.

Peter Solem drove to Thief River Falls last Tuesday where he attended to various business matters.

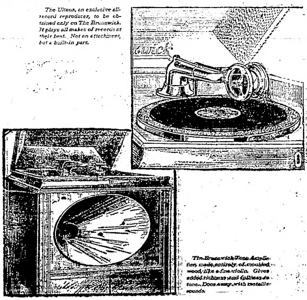
BRUNSWICK Method of Reproduction



The Ultona, an exclusive all-record reproducer, to be obtained only on The Brunswick. It plays all makes of records at their best. Not an attachment, but a built-in part.

The Brunswick Tone Amplifier, made entirely of moulded wood, like a fine violin. Gives added richness and fullness to tone. Does away with metallic sounds.

Two exclusive features

You can't buy elsewhere

THE reason so many critical music lovers prefer The Brunswick is not hard to find. It is all due to the Brunswick Method of Reproduction, two features of which are pictured above.

Tone is the chief reason for so many friends for Brunswick. And tone depends largely upon the reproducer and the tone amplifier.

In both of these features Brunswick has gone far in advance. The Ultona plays all records, not confining you to one make. And it plays each exactly as intended, with the proper diaphragm, the proper needle. Best of all, it is not a hastily contrived makeshift, but a basic invention.

The Brunswick Tone Amplifier is built entirely of wood. Not merely the part you see, but the throat between the reproducer and amplifier. The usual way is to make this throat of cast metal, a faulty way that brings metallic sounds.

You'll appreciate how far in advance The Brunswick is; you'll admire its superior tone. The proof of the pudding is—Hearing. All we ask you to do is to investigate The Brunswick with your own ears.

Resolution.

At a regular meeting of the City Council held November 23, 1920, Alderman Froseth, seconded by Alderman Ihle, introduced the following resolution and moved its adoption:

BE IT RESOLVED, by the City Council of the City of Thief River Falls, Minnesota, that,

WHEREAS, the work of relaying the sanitary sewer on Main Avenue, between Second and Third Streets has been duly completed, pursuant to proceedings heretofore duly had, and,

WHEREAS, the City's Engineer has filed with the City Clerk a statement showing the cost of said work, and the amounts thereof chargeable against each lot or parcel of land within the sewer district served by said sanitary sewer as the main or district sewer thereof, and,

WHEREAS, such work is, and has heretofore been determined by the City Council to be necessary for the proper repair and maintenance of said district sewer, and it is deemed proper and expedient by the city council that the property within said district be assessed therefor in accordance with said report and statement of said engineer;

NOW, THEREFORE, Be It Resolved, that the said report and statement of the Engineer aforesaid, be, and the same is hereby in all things approved and adopted, and the cost of construction of said work be and hereby is assessed against the appropriate lots or parcels of land in the manner, and the amounts, as set forth in said report and statement of said engineer, and,

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that the City Clerk be and hereby is authorized and directed to report the various items and amounts chargeable to the various lots or parcels of land in accordance with the said report and statement of the said engineer, to the County Auditor of the County of Pennington, Minnesota, with the instructions and request that such amounts be spread as a special assessment against the property affected and benefited in the proportions and in the amounts as set forth in the report and statement of the engineer above referred to, such assessments to be collected with the real estate taxes for the year 1920, in the manner provided by law.

Notice of Mortgage Foreclosure Sale.

WHEREAS Default has been made in the conditions of a certain indenture of mortgage made, executed and delivered, by EDWIN OLSON and MABEL OLSON, his wife, of the County of Pennington and State of Minnesota, as Mortgagors, to CITIZENS STATE BANK of Thief River Falls, a corporation under the laws of the State of Minnesota, as Mortgagee, upon and covering the following real property lying and being in the County of Pennington and State of Minnesota, to-wit:

The South Half of the Northwest Quarter (S½NW¼), Northeast Quarter of the Northwest Quarter (NE¼NW¼) and the Northwest Quarter of the Northeast Quarter (NW¼NE¼) of Section Fourteen (14) in Township one Hundred Fifty-four (154) North, of Range Thirty-nine (39) West of the Fifth Principal Meridian, containing 160 acres, more or less, according to the Government survey thereof, which said Mortgage bears date the 29th day of June, 1910, and was filed for record in the office of the Register of Deeds of Pennington County, Minnesota, on the 29th day of June, 1915, at 4 o'clock P. M., and was thereafter duly recorded in said office in Book 12 of Mortgages, on Page 211, and

WHEREAS, Thereafter and on the 16th day of August, 1915, said Citizens State Bank of Thief River Falls, by a written assignment, assigned said mortgage to Edwin White, and which said assignment was filed for record in the office of the Register of Deeds of Pennington County, Minnesota, on the 29th day of August, 1915, at 2 o'clock P. M., and was duly recorded in said office in Book 8 of Mortgages, on Page 624, and

WHEREAS Thereafter and on the 13th day of October, 1915, the said Edwin White, by written assignment, assigned said mortgage to Fred W. Sharpe, Wheelock V. Towle, Joseph H. Clark and Edmund R. Durment, Executors of the Estate of Ralph E. Cobb, Deceased, which said assignment was filed for record in the office of the Register of Deeds of Pennington County, Minnesota, on the 18th day of October, 1915, at 8 o'clock A. M., and was duly recorded in said office in Book 11 of Mortgages, on Page 488, and

WHEREAS Thereafter and on the 17th day of February, 1917, Albert R. Moore of Ramsey County, Minnesota, was appointed by the Probate Court of Ramsey County, Minnesota, the Court in which the Estate of Ralph E. Cobb, deceased, is being administered, Administrator de bonis non with the will annexed of the Estate of Ralph E. Cobb, deceased, in place and stead of Edmund R. Durment, deceased Executor, and the said Fred W. Sharpe, Wheelock V. Towle and Joseph H. Clark, as Executors of the Estate of Ralph E. Cobb, deceased, and Albert R. Moore, as Administrator de bonis non with the will annexed of the Estate of Ralph E. Cobb, deceased, are now the owners of said mortgage, and the indebtedness thereby secured, and

WHEREAS, Such default consists in the failure of said mortgagors to pay the principal of said mortgage indebtedness, to-wit the sum of Fifteen Hundred Dollars ($1500.00), which became due on the 1st day of July, 1920, and to pay interest upon said mortgage, and the indebtedness thereby secured, since the 1st day of July, 1919, and

WHEREAS, by reason of the default as aforesaid, said Fred W. Sharpe, Wheelock V. Towle and Joseph H. Clark, as Executors of the Estate of Ralph E. Cobb, deceased, and Albert R. Moore, as Administrator de bonis non with the will annexed, of the Estate of Ralph E. Cobb, deceased, assignees, as authorized by the said Mortgage and the note thereby secured, have declared, and do hereby declare, the whole of the principal sum secured by the said mortgage and note to be due and payable, and the same is now due and payable, and

WHEREAS there is claimed to be due upon said mortgage and the note thereby secured at the date of this notice the sum of Sixteen Hundred and Twenty-one and 80-100 Dollars ($1621.80) (being $1500.00 for principal and $121.80 for interest thereon), and no action or proceeding at law or otherwise has been instituted to recover the same, or any part thereof.

NOW, THEREFORE, NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, that under and pursuant to the Power of Sale in said Mortgage contained, and the Statute in such case made and provided, said Mortgage will be foreclosed and the real property therein described will be sold by the Sheriff of the said County of Pennington in the State of Minnesota, or by his Deputy, at public auction to the highest bidder therefor for cash, at the Main Front Entrance of the Court House in the City of Thief River Falls in said County of Pennington, on Monday, the 27th day of December, 1920, at ten o'clock in the forenoon of that day, to pay the amount which will then be due upon said mortgage, including taxes and insurance premiums, if any, paid by said Fred W. Sharpe, Wheelock V. Towle and Joseph H. Clark, as Executors of the Estate of Ralph E. Cobb, deceased, and Albert R. Moore, as Administrator de bonis non with the will annexed of the Estate of Ralph E. Cobb, deceased, and including an attorney's fee of Seventy-five Dollars ($75.00) stipulated in said mortgage to be paid in case of a foreclosure thereof, and the costs and expenses of this foreclosure.

Dated October 26, 1920.

Notice of Mortgage Foreclosure Sale.

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of $17.13, which is claimed to be due and is due at the date of this notice, upon a certain mortgage, duly executed and delivered by Olava Lyngholm and J. H. Lyngholm, her husband, mortgagors, to Wheeler-Misner Loan Company, a corporation of the county of Polk and state of Minnesota, mortgagee, dated May 19th, 1917, and with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the county of Pennington, state of Minnesota, in Book 68 of Mortgages on page 281, having been filed for such record May 21st, 1917, at 8:30 o'clock A. M., which said mortgage provides that if Mortgagors therein fail to pay interest on a prior mortgage therein mentioned, for the principal sum of $500.00 on the premises hereinafter described, at the time the same shall become due under the conditions of said prior mortgage, then and in that event said mortgagee may pay such interest and have an additional claim and lien upon said premises therefor, with interest on the amount so paid at the rate of ten per cent per annum, under the first above mentioned mortgage; that said Mortgagors have failed to pay interest on said prior mortgage in the amount of $90.00, $30.00 of which become due May 19th, 1918, $30.00 May 19th, 1919, and $30.00 May 19th, 1920, and said mortgagee has paid the sum of $90.00 interest on said prior mortgage; and

Said first above mentioned mortgage further provides that in event of the default on the part of the mortgagors therein in any of the terms and conditions thereof, the whole sum secured by said mortgage shall become due and payable at once, that the whole sum secured by said mortgage is the sum of $27.13, exclusive of said interest on said prior mortgage, and said mortgagee has elected to and does hereby declare the whole of said sum to be due, and in addition thereto, said sum of $90.00, interest on said prior mortgage, and interest thereon amounting to $7.83, in all amounting to the sum of $124.96, and no action or proceeding has been instituted at law or otherwise to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof;

That the premises described in and conveyed by said first above mentioned mortgage are situate in the county of Pennington, state of Minnesota, and are described as follows, to-wit: The west half of the southwest quarter (W½ of SW¼) of section nine (9), in township one hundred fifty-four (154) north, range thirty-nine (39) west of the Fifth Principal Meridian;

Now, Therefore, Notice is Hereby Given, That by virtue of the power of sale contained in said first above mentioned mortgage and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed thereby, subject to said prior mortgage, which sale will be made by the sheriff of said Pennington County, at the front door of the court house in the city of Thief River Falls, in said county and state, on the 28th day of December, 1920, at the hour of two o'clock in the afternoon of that day, at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt of $124.96, and interest on $106.00 thereof at ten per cent per annum from the date of this notice to the date of sale and $25.00 attorney's fee, as stipulated in said mortgage, and the disbursements allowed by law in case of foreclosure of said mortgage, subject to redemption at any time within one year from the date of sale, as provided by law.

Dated November 6th, 1920.

Don't Prod Your Liver to Action

NR Overcomes Biliousness, Constipation, Sick Headache, Quickly. No Griping or Pain. Guaranteed.

The organs of digestion, assimilation and elimination—the stomach, liver and bowels—are closely allied, and the proper action of any of them is largely dependent upon the correct functioning of all the others.

"Whipping" your liver into action with calomel or forcing your bowels with irritating laxatives or strong cathartics is a great mistake. A better, safer plan is strengthening and toning the whole digestive and eliminative system with Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets), which not only brings immediate relief but genuine and lasting benefit. It acts on the stomach, liver, bowels and kidneys, improves digestion and assimilation, overcomes biliousness, corrects constipation and quickly relieves sick headache.

Get your system thoroughly cleansed and purified, your stomach, liver and bowels working together in vigorous harmony and you will not have to take medicine every day—just take one NR Tablet occasionally to keep your system in good condition and always feel your best. Remember it is easier and cheaper to keep well than it is to get well.

Get a 25c box and try it with the understanding that it must give you greater relief and benefit than any bowel or liver medicine you ever used or no pay. Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets) is sold, guaranteed and recommended by your druggist.

A STATEMENT TO OUR SUBSCRIBERS REGARDING THE NECESSITY FOR INCREASED TELEPHONE REVENUE

Because telephone service is a necessity in the life of a community, it is important to you as a telephone user, as well as to our employees and investors, that this Company's revenues shall be sufficient to meet its requirements.

Our revenues must be such as will enable us to pay all operating expenses, including fair wages to our employees and a reasonable return on the value of our property, if we are to meet the demands of the public for service.

A fair and reasonable return upon the value of our property is a fixed charge which must be earned, just as we have to pay wages to employees and buy materials. Otherwise we could not attract money from investors to make necessary extensions and improvements as required by the public.

On our capital stock, which is substantially less than the value of our property as sworn to before the Minnesota Railroad and Warehouse Commission, we have not paid a dividend of more than 5 per cent for fifteen years. During this year we have been forced to stop the payment of dividends, and we are not earning the interest charges on money borrowed.

This situation makes it necessary for us to ask the Minnesota Railroad and Warehouse Commission to approve an increase in our rates.

In order to understand why telephone rates must be increased at this time when many other prices are dropping, one must realize that the same conditions have not existed in the telephone industry as in private business. The prices of most things were advanced sufficiently to meet higher costs, but telephone rates have not been as our increased expenses have exceeded our increased revenues.

The telephone is subject to state regulation and when we require additional revenue we must apply to the Minnesota Railroad and Warehouse Commission for higher rates. The gathering, assembling and presenting of information demanded by the Commission requires considerable time. Because of this, necessary increases in rates are slow in being obtained and the Company must operate at a loss until relief is granted.

This statement is made in accordance with our policy of giving the public as well as our employees and investors full information about our affairs, and we feel sure that it will be accepted in the same spirit of fairness and cooperation that has always characterized your attitude toward this Company.

BANK ROBBERS PLEAD GUILTY TO GATZKE JOB

Young Men Who Held Up Cashier on Saturday Captured That Same Evening.

Secured Total of $880 at Point of Gun, Most of Which Was Recovered.

Suspected of Being Whiskey Runners and Also Guilty of Stealing Auto.

Friday afternoon, in broad daylight, two masked men held up the Farmers State Bank of Gatzke, an inland town 40 miles northeast of Thief River Falls, and escaped with $800. After a chase of eight hours, in which several shots were fired, the two men were taken near Hallock by Sheriff Anderson of Kittson county and escorted to the Marshall county jail at Warren, where they are being held pending sentence.

Overlook $5,000 in Bonds.

Shortly after 3 p. m. Friday, two men garbed in brown unionalls and with handkerchiefs tied over their faces, entered the Gatzke bank and commanded Christ Amundson, bookkeeper, S. O. Ostgard, cashier, and John Dahl, who was there transacting business, to throw up their hands. Ostgard laughed, thinking someone was playing a practical joke. A string of oaths followed from the two robbers, one of whom carried a rifle and the other a revolver, and the trio were again commanded to put up their hands. While the bandit with the pistol covered the other two men, he with the rifle ordered Cashier Ostgard to conduct him to the vault and show him where the cash was kept. A small amount of cash, $30 in quarters contained in a Lonson coin box, was taken from the vault, Ostgard not pointing out $5,000 worth of Liberty bonds. The cashier was then marched to the cash drawer, where the robber secured $850 in currency, overlooking about $175 in silver, which was standing in a coin tray on the counter. The two masked men then backed to the door and turning, jumped into the dilapidated Ford they were driving and started away.

Shots Fired at Donaldson.

Cashier Ostgard immediately called Middle River on the phone and gave the alarm. It was thought that the car was heading for Thief River Falls. The sheriff's office here was notified to be on the lookout. Hans Hanson, Marshall county sheriff, was immediately notified and set out from Warren to trail the car. The tracks were easily discernible in the light snow which covered the roads. The tracks led north towards Thief lake, but the way becoming impassable the car had been backed for a long distance to a road running straight west to the state line. Near the town of Elerth it was evident that the robbers had had tire trouble and were losing more time. Near Argyle the car had turned to the north. Surrounding towns had all been warned to be on the lookout for the robbers, who were thought to be three in number. About 9 p. m. armed citizens of Donaldson recognized the car passing through the village streets and shots were fired in an effort to cause a halt. Residents claim that the fleeing men fired shots in return, but this was later denied by the two men when captured.

Run Into Farm Gate.

Shortly after 11 o'clock the thieves turned their car into a side road which fortunately led into a farm yard. They struck a gate and while trying to extricate the car, Sheriff Anderson of Kittson county, who was close on their trail, drove in behind them and blinding them with the bright lights of his car, succeeded in capturing them without difficulty. The two men were turned over to Sheriff Hanson and conveyed to Warren.

Driving Stolen Car.

The two young men pleaded guilty and all of the stolen money was recovered with the exception of about $17. They gave their names as Earl Cook and Sam Thompson. Both are former service men. Sheriff Hanson states that he is confident that the two prisoners had been engaged in running whiskey across the Canadian border. Cook and Thompson claim that Federal and Canadian officers had "cleaned them up" of all their possesions, including an automobile, and they were endeavoring to recoup their losses in the quickest way possible. From information obtained since the capture by Sheriff Hanson, it is known that the old Ford driven by the two men was stolen at St. Vincent on Thursday and that officers had pursued them into Roseau county, where the trail was lost. The car has been identified as that stolen at St. Vincent.

The two young highwaymen will no doubt serve a long prison sentence. A special grand jury has been called for Friday by Judge Grindeland. Owing to the fact that the crime calls for a sentence of more than ten years the two men must be indicted by a grand jury before they can be sentenced, in spite of the fact that they pleaded guilty.

Bear This In Mind.

Do not wait till the last moment to do your Christmas shopping. Stores in Thief River Falls will close at 6 o'clock on Christmas Eve.

Prowling at Night Unsafe, Even in Your Own Office

L. E. Gesell, arriving from the twin cities on the Winnipeg train about 3 a. m. Saturday, left the station and stopped at his office to hurriedly glance over some papers before continuing homeward. Ed. Brooten of the night police force, on a reconnoitering tour, noticed a light in the rear of the Walker-Gesell Land company's office and a man moving in and out of the opened vault. That was enough for the valiant gendarme. Night stick in one hand and "gat" in the other, he entered the office, and when the land man looked up he found himself gazing into the muzzle of a gun that appeared to him as large as a 155 M. howitzer.

Both principals in the little scene were more than startled, but recognition took place before any shots were fired. Fortunately the two men were well acquainted or Gesell might have passed the remainder of the night in the city dungeon.

CHURCH CLOSES 20 YEARS OF SERVICE

Presbyterians of This City Will Fittingly Observe Occasion Sunday, Dec. 12.

A week from today The Twentieth Century Presbyterian church will celebrate the twentieth anniversary of its organization. Services commemorating the event will be held at the church Sunday, Dec. 12, at 11 a. m. Dr. James Wallace, head professor of the bible training department of Macalester college, St. Paul, will deliver the address. Dr. Wallace is considered one of the most gifted speakers of the Northwest and the public is earnestly invited to hear him.

On Thursday evening, Dec. 16, which is the anniversary proper of the founding of the church, a banquet and program will be given in the church basement by the ladies. Rev. R. L. Barackman will act as toastmaster; George L. Sterns will give a resume of the organization's history, and Mrs. J. M. Bishop will give "Memories" in connection with church work. Rev. Barackman will also give a short talk of a stimulating nature.

The Twentieth Century Presbyterian church, so called from the date of its foundation, was organized on Dec. 16, 1900. Of the charter members Mrs. J. F. Farr, Mrs. H. M. Hicks and Mrs. B. G. Walker are still residents of Thife River Falls and staunch supporters of the church. Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Mussey of Grygla were also charter members. The present edifice was erected in 1902, by Contractor C. M. Carlson of this city, at a cost of $2980. Nine pastorates cover the life of the church. Rev. F. D. Stone was the first pastor at the time worship was being conducted in halls and school rooms about the city. Rev. Nichol, one of the earlier pastors, is at present doing relief work in Syria, where he has been since the early days of the war. Rev. F. J. Barackman, brother of the present pastor, officiated for several years. Rev. F. J. Barackman, Rev. Gilchrist and Rev. Clair E. Boyden, immediate predecessors of the present pastor are deceased since leaving this pastorate.

Rev. R. L. Barackman, the present pastor, gives a brief comparison of church activities during the past few years. He came to his present call in 1915, at which time the church had enrolled 64 members. Not less than 180 members will be on the report to be given out at the anniversary meeting, more having joined the church during the last five years of its existence than during the first 15 years. The church was made self supporting at the time of Rev. Barackman's coming to Thief River Falls. Contributions for support of the church have increased from $1400 in 1915 to over $3200 for the present year and benevolence donations have increased from $65 in 1915 to upwards of $800 for 1920.

New Plumbing Concern Now Ready For Business

L. W. and M. H. Fossum have opened a plumbing and heating establishment at 113 Second street east, which will be known as the Union Plumbing and Heating Company. They will engage in contract work of all kinds in their line, making heating their specialty. Both are Thief River Falls men. L. W. Fossum has in recent years been employed by the Holt & George Company, which a short time ago removed headquarters to St. Cloud. M. H. Fossum recently returned from the West, having been in the employ of The Heating and Engineering Company of Denver, Col., one of the largest firms west of the Mississippi.

New Years Eve Ball to Be Given By Eklund Post

Plans for the big New Year's Eve ball which will be given by the Elmer J. Eklund Post of the American Legion are nearing completion and it is apparent that the occasion is to be made one of the largest social events of the winter season. The city auditorium will accommodate with ease the large crowd that is expected and a special orchestra will further enthuse those who shall take part. It is possible that the newly formed Woman's Auxiliary to the Legion post will co-operate in making this one of the initial successes staged thru their combined efforts.

BILLS TO HELP WHEAT PRICES ARE PRESENTED

Congressman Steenerson Introduces Two Measures For Immediate Relief.

One Would Impose Duty of Thirty Cents Per Bushel on All Foreign Wheat.

Two bills designed to help wheat farmers of the Northwest were introduced in the House when congress opened on Monday by Representative Halvor Steenerson of Minnesota.

One of these measures is to regulate grain markets, making all exchanges public markets subject to Federal control, and requiring that farmers' organizations shall be entitled to a seat on the exchanges on equal footing with other members. The attorney general is given authority to enforce compliance with the laws.

The second bill is similar to one introduced by Representative George M. Young of North Dakota last session, to restore a tariff on Canadian wheat, wheat flour and other wheat products. The tariff fixed for wheat is 30 cents a bushel, flour $1.35 a barrel and 30 per cent ad valorem on semolina and other products.

"Dumping Caused Slump."

Discussing the restoration of a tariff on wheat, Mr. Steenerson said: "One of the causes for the recent slump in the price of wheat in the United States was the dumping upon our markets of millions of bushels of Canadian wheat and several millions of barrels of Canadian flour free of duty. On account of the difference in exchange, this gave the Canadian a bonus of 15 cents, or 30 cents on $2 wheat.

"During the war and until recently, the British government did not permit Canadian wheat to enter the United States, but on July 29 it ceased entirely to purchase wheat either in Canada or the United States and has not yet resumed buying. The well thought out plan evidently was by shutting off the demand at the time that the wheat crop was being harvested and beginning to move the prices in the United States would fall, and the Canadian crop would all be diverted to our markets because there was no other place to sell.

"It is a clear case of manipulating the market by artificial means and the Underwood law which allows wheat and flour to come in free has been used as an instrument in this manipulation."

Differs From Capper Bill.

Mr. Steenerson's bill to control exchanges is entirely different from that of Senator Capper of Kansas, which proposes to eliminate all speculating by imposing a tax of 10 per cent on all future dealings in which grain is not actually delivered. After declaring grain exchanges to be public markets and subject to federal regulation the Steenerson bill provides:

"Section 2—Every such market whether heretofore or hereafter organized, shall be open to membership, with equal rights and privileges with all other members, to any person, firm, company or corporation desiring to trade in such commodities on such market, who shall make application for membership and whose methods of business operation or plan of organization shall not conflict with or contravene any reasonable rule, regulation or by-law of such market."

Stores Will Remain Open During Three Evenings

Members of the Thief River Falls Merchants' association have agreed to keep their places of business open until 10 p. m. Dec. 20 to 23 inclusive. All stores will close at 6 p. m. Christmas Eve.

Bakken Resigns; Huff is New Street Commissioner

H. O. Huff has been appointed street commissioner by the city council to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of O. L. Bakken. Mr. Bakken served as a member of the city council for several years and as its president for one term. He did not seek re-election three years ago and was appointed street commissioner by the new council, and re-appointed for the present term from which he resigned. Mr. Huff has been employed at street work here for the past several years.

GREENBUSH BANK STOPS BUSINESS FOR THIRTY DAYS

Reports this morning from Greenbush are to the effect that the State bank of that place has suspended business for 30 days. Failure on he part of farmers to liquidate their loans is given as the reason for the suspension.

There seems to be no question as to the soundness of the State Bank of Greenbush and there is hardly a possibility that the depositors will lose anything. Olaf Holdahl is president of the bank and C. J. Anderson, formerly of Thief River Falls, cashier. Bank directories show that the institution had deposits of $215,000 the first of the year and a capital of $10,000.

The stock is owned principally by local parties. The bank is the first in this section, if not in the state, forced to take such steps at this time.

FAMILY DESERTER PUT ON PROBATION

William Gregorie Ordered to Support Family and Appear Before Court Later.

Wm. Gregoire, who has been held at the Pennington county jail for the past ten days on a charge of desertion, was arraigned before Judge Grindeland at Warren yesterday and given an indeterminate sentence. He pleaded guilty of abandonment of his wife and three small children, was sentenced and placed on probation until the next term of court providing he returns to work and supports the family. Sheriff W. J. LaBree was appointed probation officer, to whom Gregoire will report once every two weeks until the court again sets. He has been released and will return to Ore, Minn., where he was at one time employed at the barber trade.

Gregoire was brought to Thief River Falls from Ore by Sheriff LaBree about ten days ago, following a claim of desertion made by Mrs. Gregoire. Formerly a barber here, he was arraigned at Red Lake Falls several months ago on a charge of bootlegging and subjected to a fine of $500. His wife and three children have been living in poor circumstances at Crookston.

The Thief River Falls Lodge of Elks Number 1308 have decided upon an extensive membership campaign to cover the period from now until January 31. To secure the best results the entire membership has been divided into teams, whose object will be to interview those residents of the vicinity who would become good, loyal Elks and an asset to the lodge. On February 1 initiation fees will be raised to $50.

The first initiation will take place on the evening of December 17. On that evening the Elk's ladies will hold a reception and musical at the city auditorium, followed by a card party, while the initiatory ceremonies are being conducted by the Elks at the Masonic hall. Elks and ladies will participate in a Leap Year ball at the auditorium following the card party and initiation. A banquet supper will be served after midnight.

PARENT BODY IS PRESCRIBED BY SPECIALIST

Weekly Luncheon of Commercial Club Ends in Spirited Discussion of Vital Issues.

Would Remedy Lack of Emergency Hospital; Christmas Tree Discontinued.

The noon-day session of the Commercial club last Thursday proved a rousing one in spite of the fact that the attendance at the weekly luncheon was below normal. Several subjects vital to the future of Thief River Falls were brought up and discussed in a spirited manner.

Officials of the club as well as many of its members have long felt that the organization has not been making the desired progress as a civic organization and that some remedy must be forthcoming. Judge Frank T. Wilson, community organizer of the University of Minnesota Extension Division, was in the city last Wednesday and expressed the desire to spend a week's time here in the immediate future for the purpose of uniting the various civic units into one parent organization which would at once become a powerful factor in community life. It was unanimously voted to extend an invitation to Judge Wilson and, he having tendered his services, it is possible that an early day may see this movement under way.

Parent Organization Prescribed.

The plan as outlined by this expert in community service calls for a closer organization of civic units; a common secretary to take over many of the duties now in the hands of secretaries of the individual organizations, such as the Red Cross, the Woman's club, the Woman's auxiliary, the American legion, the Merchants association, the Fair association and the Commercial club. This secretary to be paid a salary and devote himself entirely to that work, with headquarters at the Commercial club rooms. This plan would incidentally provide suitable superintendence of the club rooms by placing a person with authority in charge. Judge Wilson would proceed by first meeting with the executive committees of each organization.

Judge Wilson states that many cities of this size in the state; Red Wing, Estherville, Winona, St. Cloud and others, have lately adopted this prescribed plan and find it to be meeting with exceptional results.

Would Bring Pressure to Bear.

Another matter discussed was the problem of providing an emergency hospital, for use in case of epidemics and contagious diseases. At present the city has no facilities whatsoever along this line. This lack was greatly emphasized by several cases of various natures during last winter, when patients were housed in the waiting rooms of the Soo station and later very poorly accommodated in ramshackle quarters. It is claimed that the city council has been lax in this respect. Dr. O. F. Melby, George L. Sterns and Scott Laird were appointed a committee to meet with the city council for the purpose of bringing pressure to bear with respect to this lack of accommodations for emergency cases.

Through action taken at the meeting of Thursday, the practice of having a community Christmas tree here will be discontinued for this season. While the tree placed at the intersection of down-town streets was a beautiful ornament, a great deal of money was expended for the purpose, and it was the consensus of opinion among those present at the luncheon that this money could be used in a manner which would better secure peace and happiness in every home of Thief River Falls during the holiday season. Effort will be made to secure the co-operation of every civic and fraternal organization of the city in making this Christmas one of comfort for every child or grown-up in the community. The work of the Woman's club was highly praised for their efficient organization during the course of this latter discussion. Mayor Bratrud, Math Barzen and E. M. Stanton were appointed a committee to select a large committee from the civic and fraternal organizations which would foster this co-operation.

Choral Society of Fifty Voices Now in Training

The Choral society, organized on Nov. 22, met at the Commercial club rooms last Friday evening and a real "sing" resulted. About 40 members were present, and it is expected that the next regular rehearsal tomorrow evening will open with 50 voices present. Members are requested to be in their places and ready to sing promptly at 8 o'clock.

Miss Maude Johnson, director of the musical organization, in speaking of the first rehearsal Friday evening, stated that it was very apparent that Thief River Falls held some exceptional talent and that there was no reason why the organization should not become one of the foremost philharmonic societies in the Northwest. The 40 members who appeared last Friday evening started to work with a diligence that augurs well for the future. It is planned to give a miscellaneous musical program some time during the winter.

WHEAT GROWERS TO LOOK INTO MATTER

Farmers in This Vicinity Not Yet Ready to Join With New National Association.

Many farmers from this section attended the mass meeting of all wheat growers held at the auditorium on Saturday afternoon. After much beneficial discussion it was unanimously voted to adjourn the meeting and postpone the formation of a wheat growers association which should be affiliated with the United Wheat Growers organization, until such a time as further information and plans of the latter body could be secured. The meeting of Saturday was called following a talk given by C. L. Hughes of Oklahoma, on November 26, at which T. K. Rynestad was elected chairman of a temporary organization.

In view of the fact that the Farm Bureau federation is working along practically the same lines as the United Wheat Growers association and already has practically a complete national organization, the majority of those present at Saturday's meeting seemed in favor of affiliating themselves with the county farm bureau rather than forming an organization which would deal only with the storing and price of wheat. Favorable comment was made by several speakers on the work of the local farm bureau during the past season and a cross examination of J. J. McCann, county agent, revealed further methods and accomplishments of that body. At several points during the meeting the discussion neared the political.

It was the general expression that a closer co-operation was necessary between the business man and the farmer and it was unanimously agreed that the all important question now before the farmer was the marketing of his produce in such a manner as would at least cover the cost of production.

LEGION AUXILIARY MEETS WEDNESDAY

Effort Being Made to Include Every Eligible Woman in the Organization.

The newly organized Women's auxiliary to Elmer J. Eklund Post of the American Legion will hold its regular meeting at the Commercial club rooms on Wednesday, Dec. 15, at 3 p. m. Every effort is being made to secure a large attendance in order that the organization may be brought to an efficient basis and constructive work carried on. Sisters, daughters, wives and mothers of Legionnaires or ex-service men who were killed in action or who have died since the signing of the armistice, are urged to be present on Wednesday.

At the last regular meeting on Nov. 24, Mrs. T. J. Rowan, Mrs. L. H. Lawrence and Mrs. L. F. Fisher were appointed a committee on membership. Within the next few days members of this committee will endeavor to call upon every person eligible to to join the Legion auxiliary, but great assistance can be rendered by those who will become members if they will take part in the meeting next Wednesday.

CITY'S PIONEER STORE ADVERTISES ITS FIRST BIG REDUCTION SALE

Oen Mercantile Company, in Order to Reduce Stocks, Finds it Advisable to Offer Special Inducements.

On pages 12 and 13 of The Times today will be found the announcement of the Oen Mercantile company, one of the oldest as well as largest business institutions in this section. The Oen company has never been strong for holding sales of this kind, the present being in fact the first occasion in its history when such plan has been resorted to. This makes the event all the more interesting and goes to prove that merchants in all lines of business find it advisable to lower [illegible] in order to meet changed [illegible] conditions.

It will be noted by the advertisement that big reductions are made on everything in the dry goods, clothing shoe and furniture lines and this will prove welcome news just before the holidays. The sale starts next Saturday morning.

FARMERS VOICE THEIR PROTEST AGAINST DITCH

Cost Would Total $400,000, Individuals in Some Cases Being Assessed $2,800.

Several hundred farmers residing in the eastern townships of Pennington and Marshall counties are at Warren today for the purpose of protesting against the establishment of proposed Judicial Ditch No. 30. The hearing on the viewers report is being held before Judge Grindeland at the Marshall county court house. A great deal of opposition to the construction of such a ditch has developed and the meeting today promises to be a live one. The opposition, apparently, is to the large tax which will be necessary to finance construction, rather than to the ditch itself.

Judicial Ditch No. 30, was primarily intended to secure a better outlet for and to improve Ditch No. 18. It extends from the Thief river just north of the Pennington county line directly east to within one mile of the eastern boundary of Marshall county. Six laterals which have been added as necessary adjuncts to the original ditch as proposed, make a total of 34 miles of excavation, the estimated cost of which is $396,000, or approximately $11,500 per mile. The report of the viewers estimates the cost to individual farmers on lands benefitted by the proposed construction at amounts as high as $2,800.

The construction of Ditch 30 would tax townships and villages as follows: Goodridge village, $2,577; Mavie village, $706; North township, $5,719; Silverton township, $24,246; Cloverleaf township, $43,898; Goodridge township, $63,707; Reiner township, $72,416; Star township, $3,151; and in Marshall county, Adger township, $36,298; Grand Plain township, $45,761; Moylan township, $43,688; Espelee township, $40,930. In addition $13,000 would be necessary to re-construct roads along the ditch right of way.

Farmers Organize to Protest.

A ditch covering practically the same territory was proposed about two years ago, but did not favorably pass a hearing. The present ditch was petitioned for by residents of Marshall county. Judge Grindeland early last spring appointed Wm. Forsberg, K. O. Gigstad and Henry Fund as viewers, who have prepared a very extensive report.

County Auditor T. P. Anderson makes the statement that hundreds of farmers have appeared at the Pennington county court house to go over the figures and assessments as prepared by the board of viewers. Meetings to protest and organize against the proposed ditch have been held in many localities thruout the sections of Pennington county affected by the proposed construction. A great mass meeting was held at Goodridge on Nov. 29, at which time a strong organization was perfected to protest against the proposed outlay. The meeting went on record as being in favor of cutting out all proposed laterals to Ditch No. 30 and in favor of an extension to present Ditch No. 18. Otherwise the judicial ditch was not favored. Tax payers of the northeast portion of Pennington county—that section directly affected by such a ditch—claim all that is desired at present is an outlet for water now thrown upon their lands by ditches already constructed.

ELK MEMORIAL IS LARGELY ATTENDED

J. H. Hay Delivers Address at Meeting Held Here on Sunday Afternoon.

The memorial services for departed Elks held by Thief River Falls lodge No. 1308 last Sunday afternoon was largely attended and the exercises most impressive. The address for the occasion was delivered by J. H. Hay, assistant state commissioner of agriculture, who is himself a member of 1308.

Mr. Hay spoke in touching terms of the brothers in whose honor the memorial meeting was being held and of the work they had done in the world. His remarks throughout were a plea for a better understanding among men and a greater desire to work for the general good of all. Associations such as the Elks, he said, were doing much to promote a closer bond of fellowship and advance the idea of mutual assistance.

There were musical numbers by the Elks orchestra, a piano solo by Miss Laura Forde and a vocal selection by Mrs. Irma Mallory Fisher.

Ten members of Thief River Falls lodge have died since its organization, as follows: K. O. Dock, W. W. Pierce, M. C. Cutter, J. H. McKinney, H. L. Anderson, W. J. Gorman, H. G. Hieber, Geo. G. Johnson, C. A. Pitkin and Glen Blawd.

Society and Club

Golden Wedding Anniversary.

On Sunday, Dec. 5, at their home on Duluth Ave. N., Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Rolland celebrated their golden wedding anniversary, the affair being attended by a number of their children and their families. Those of the children present were their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. O. R. Miller and Irene of Crookston; Mr. and Mrs. J. Rolland, Mr. and Mrs. Eli Rolland and family, Mr. and Mrs. G. Hanson and family, and Miss Marie Rolland. Those unable to attend were Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Rolland, Mr. and Mrs. Aug. L. Rolland and Mr. and Mrs. Alfred L. Rolland, all of Hibbing and Marius Rolland of Kansas.

Mr. and Mrs. Rolland are pioneer residents of this vicinity, coming here in 1883, having spent the greater part of the time farming. Since retiring, ten years ago, they have resided in this city. The old couple are hale and hearty and can tell many interesting stories of their early experiences in this country. The home had been attractively decorated with streamers of gold crepe paper and vases of yellow chrysanthemums. At noon a sumptuous four course dinner was served. A large wedding cake formed the centerpiece. Individual candlesticks with gold shades supporting burning tapers were used at each place. The hours following the dinner were spent informally. The honored couple was presented with ten gold pieces, one from each of their ten children.

Joint Club Meeting.

The regular meeting of the Woman's club on Dec. 13 has been postponed from the afternoon to 8 o'clock in the evening, when the ladies will hold a joint meeting with the Girls' Community club at the Commercial club rooms. A committee composed of Mrs. O. F. Mellby, Mrs. Geo. Johnson, Miss Maude Johnson, Miss Irma Johnson, Miss Grace Wilson, Miss Meta Kiland were chosen to make arrangements for the meeting. The earlier part of the evening will be taken up with the following Christmas program: Community singing of Christmas carols, under the leadership of Miss Maude Johnson. "Hark, the Herald Angels Sing," "The First Noel." Reading, "The Three Wise Men," Miss Una Nelson. "O, Come All Ye Faithful," "O, Little Town of Bethlehem." Violin solo, selected, Miss Ausling Sorenson, Miss Forde, accompanist. "We Three Kings of the Orient Are," solo parts by three small boys. "Silent Night, Holy Night." Solo, "The Birthday of a King," Neidlinger, Mrs. O. F. Mellby. Reading, "Uncle Abner on Christmas," Mrs. Sterns. "It Came Upon a Midnight Clear." "Joy to the World."

Light refreshments will follow the program. The remainder of the evening will be spent in a social manner.

Delightful Hostesses.

The home of Mrs. J. F. Kieltz is the scene of a delightful party this afternoon, where she and Mrs. Ferdie Brown are entertaining a number of their friends. BEET SUGAR FACTORY IS A POSSIBILITY FOR NORTHWESTERN MINN.

Developments within the next few days may determine whether or not northwestern Minnesota will have a beet sugar industry in the near future, according to the following statement which appeared in the Crookston Times of December 3:

Following the noon-day dinner at the Crookston Association, at which Mr. Fred Ross discussed the sugar beet raising matter, a meeting was held to consider Mr. Ross' report and taken the necessary steps, if conclusions favoring such are reached, to effect the erection of a beet sugar factory here.

The result of the experiment upon the part of a number of farmers in this district during the past summer in raising sugar beets seem to offer sufficient warrant for the industry being entered into to a materially larger extent, large enough to effect the erection of the factory here as proposed. Mr. Ross has given a great deal of attention to the practical results to be attained, and has found that in addition to making a profitable crop in themselves, the beets have furnished excellent forage, and his representations to the assembled farmers and others will no doubt carry material weight in arriving at a conclusion as to the advisability of investment in the industry.

J. E. O'Brien, S. W. Wheeler and C. P. Booth have been named by President Egeland of the Crookston Association, to represent that organization in the conference with the farmers in their consideration of the project, and to lend what assistance may be desired in furthering the negotiations.

The Most Competitive Business in the World

—said Judge Fred W. Freeman recently. Continuing, he added: "The oil business today in all its phases from production to refining, to marketing, is the most competitive business in the world."

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is but one of 16,000 organizations interested in the petroleum industry in the United States. Each of these is performing a useful service or it would not be in business. Competition eliminates the unfit in the oil business, as it eliminates the unfit in every other line of endeavor.

The territory served is probably the most important farming territory in the world. The Company's opportunity for service is great, and the need for its service is ever present.

Every year the farmers of the Middle West need petroleum products in greater volume. They demand products of standard quality, delivered at regular intervals and at reasonable prices. Only through a complete organization of men, trained by years of experience, can so complicated and important a service be rendered.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is such an organization, and by concentrated, co-ordinated effort, from refiner to tank wagon delivery, it is able to render a service to the farmers and others who depend on the Company for material which enables them to perform tasks essential to the public welfare.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is directed by a group of seven business men, trained in every phase of the oil industry, and is operated by 23,000 loyal men and women, who are devoting their lives to the business.

Its owners, the stockholders, are 5526 in number, no one of whom owns as much as 10 percent of the total stock.

Any one may become a part owner in this Company, by buying its stock in the open market.

IS NOW TELLING ALL HER FRIENDS

Mrs. Lee Feels Like She has a New Lease on Life Since Taking Tanlac.

"Since taking Tanlac I feel like I have taken a new lease on life," said Mrs. H. Less, 1087 Payne Ave., St. Paul, Minn.

"I had been in a badly rundown condition for the past two years," she continued. "I had no appetite and whenever I managed to force down a few bites my food would not agree with me. Gas would form on my stomach and severe pains developed in my chest. I frequently had violent headaches that nearly drove me distracted and I was so nervous I could not get a good night's sleep. I felt weak and wasted all the time and I lost so much weight my strength was rapidly dwindling away.

"I heard so many good things about Tanlac I decided to give it a trial. After taking the first doses I began to feel an improvement and realized that I had at last found the right medicine. I have taken three bottles now and the change that has come over me is really wonderful. I have a splendid appetite and can eat anything without the least bad after effects. I am no longer troubled with gas on my stomach and the pains have all disappeared. I never have a headache and my nerves are in perfect condition. I sleep like a child every night and I feel splendid all thru the day. I am telling all my friends about this wonderful medicine."

Obituary

John M. Johnson.

John M. Johnson, residing alone on a farm in Excel township, died on Dec. 2 from pleurisy at the age of 71 years. Deceased was born in Sweden and immigrated to this country when a young man. He was unmarried and had been engaged in farming in this vicinity for a number of years. He leaves to mourn his death two brothers and a sister, who live in Sweden. Interment took place on Saturday in Greenwood cemetery.

Clara Josephine Chilson.

Clara Josephine, ten months old, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Chilson of Mylo, N. D., died in this city on Dec. 4, from an infection in the elbow joint from which she had been suffering for over a month. Funeral services were conducted Dec. 7 and interment was made in Freenwood.

Hazel Senate.

The Christmas Handkerchief Bazar

OFFERS DAINTY AND PRACTICAL GIFTS THAT EVERY FRIEND WILL BE HAPPY TO RECEIVE

We have been amazed ourselves to see what a remarkable assemblage of Handkerchiefs we have gatherd for Christmas—now that they are displayed where they can be so conveniently seen.

The past few years brought a famine in Handkerchiefs. Many people have never caught up in their supplies of these necessaries, and few women today have the courage to buy the elegant handkerchiefs that they used to possess in such liberal numbers.

So what could be a better Christmas suggestion than Handkerchiefs?

Here are all the sensible kinds, for practical service; but here are also the daintiest, most elegant kinds that tasteful women love.

See the exhibition at the new Handkerchief Bazaar.

Ladies' fine Hemstitched Handkerchiefs, each	5c
Ladies' Embroidered Handkerchiefs, at each	10c AND 15c

THIS WILL BE A GLORIUS CHRISTMAS FOR THE WIFE WHO RECEIVES NEW FURS!

Perhaps the wife has been putting off the long-for purchase for several years, because prices were so high.

Then this is the time to make the waiting worth while—to give the careful wife the joy of possessing the beautiful Furs that she has been wanting, and to buy them for a much lower price than heretofore.

It will be a gift for many Christmases—a possession that will give pride and service for many years.

THE SEASON'S CLIMAX IN SELLING WOMEN'S SUITS, COATS AND DRESSES

Today's achievement is one that could not have been dreamed of six weeks ago. Or someone may have anticipated that some such event might happen in January, or later next year.

But to be presented to the women of this community TOMORROW MORNING, with a whole season ahead, makes it the most extraordinary news that we could bring—the best individual offering that we could make, to women who appreciate fine apparel and enjoy buying it at such exceptional small cost.

Every woman in the community who could use another Coat or Suit this season, will want to see this remarkable collection.

CHRISTMAS IS COMING

Happiest words of the whole year—to the littlest child that can understand them—to the dearest old grandmother who can hear them, and to every other whole-hearted human being between.

Never was a brighter Christmas in prospect than this one. The war has gone further into the past and the evils it left behind are passing away.

What a happy thought it is going to be, when we are puzzling over gifts for Friends, to realize that Christmas money will buy so much more than it would a short time ago—more quality or quantity—MORE HAPPINESS FOR FRIENDS—may now be bought with every dollar that is spent.

OUR CHRISTMAS STORE INVITES YOU!

It never was more interesting for its array of Gift-Things, or for the attractiveness of the prices.

They tell us that this is going to be a year of sensible, practical gifts. That has been the wholesome tendency for years, and we have provided abundantly for those who wish to buy sensible, practical gift-things. Every section of our store is filled with them, and forehanded folks, who do their Christmas shopping early will be delighted with what we have to show them now.

But there will always be friends for whom the less practical things are desired—the things that one may count it extravagant to buy for oneself, but which one is so delighted to receive on Christmas morning. These, too, are here, in gratifying variety.

"Christmas is coming!"

To enjoy it most fully and avoid all its unpleasant worries, DO YOUR CHRISTMAS SHOPPING NOW—Get the best pick of the gift-things and avoid the rush and worry of those vexations days just before Christmas.

H. O. Loken.

CARRYING OUT PROMISES.

Something of value should come out of all this effort on behalf of the farmer. The fact that he has been rather neglected seems to have dawned on lawmakers, particularly in Minnesota, and there is an indication that a different attitude is to be assumed towards him in the future.

The farmer's chief complaint has been that too much of the money paid for a product of his raising has gone to people who have had nothing to do with its production and expended but little effort in its distribution. His contention is that he should receive a larger share of the amount paid by the ultimate consumer.

It is all a matter of marketing and this particular subject is now receiving the attention of many men who sympathize with the farmer's view and believe that he is entitled to a greater return on his investment and effort. Minnesota is well in the lead among the states giving consideration to the subject and is probably nearer a solution than any of its neighbors.

The incoming administration is pledged to exert every influence to bring about the desired change. Mr. Preus received a tremendous vote in the country districts on the strength of his announced program and there is no doubt but that he will do his utmost to carry it out. In this he will be most heartily seconded by the State Agricultural Commission, of which J. H. Hay, formerly of this city, is a member. The plan suggests many new ideas, chief among which is that of allowing grain growing associations representation on the boards of trade and chambers of commerce in the large grain centers. In this manner it is proposed that farmers shall have a voice in all matters pertaining to the handling and price of the grain they produce.

To a certain extent at least the Nonpartisan movement in the state must be given credit for this proposed innovation. The powerful following secured by this organization in a short time no doubt had the effect of waking others up to the necessity for doing something. If nothing else, the league provided the farmers with an agency for making their wants known and they are as a consequence in a fair way to realize the most important thing for which they contended. The complaint of the Minnesota farmer has been that he has been discriminated against in marketing and permitted to have nothing to say concerning the final disposition of his own product. The new plan will do away with this contention and will provide the agency which he has sought. For this reason he will perhaps maintain that the Nonpartisan movement has been of immense value to him, no matter what ultimately becomes of the league as an organization.

A better day is dawning for the farmer even though the outlook at this particular moment is not bright. Intelligent efforts are being made to find out just what is wrong, and this alone is a long step in the right direction. He is the most important factor of our national life and it is not particularly to the credit of our lawmakers that he is compelled to work against discouragement and difficulties such as no other class is compelled to encounter. It is to Minnesota's credit that it is among the first to seek a remedy for these conditions.

THE PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE.

President Wilson's message to congress at the opening of the regular session on Monday is more in the nature of a valedictory than a recommendation. The paper is in the usual fine Wilsonian style but contains nothing startling.

Not a word is said concerning the League of Nations, except possibly by implication. This is rather surprising as it was expected the President would lay stress upon what he evidently considers the most important matters now confronting the nation and the world.

Concrete recommendations in the message were confined to the following subjects: Revision of the tax laws with simplification of the income and profits tax; independence for the Philippine islands; a loan for the Armenians; economy in government appropriations and expenditures, and the creation of a "workable budget system;" cold storage and other laws affecting the cost of living and the federal licensing of corporations as recommended in previous messages; rehabilitation and training of disabled soldiers and sailors. The president did not endorse a bonus.

There is not likely to be any great opposition voiced to this program. Outside of the Armenian proposition none of the recommendations are new, while most of them have already been given more or less attention.

In order to curb profiteering and help bring down the cost of living the President suggests that laws governing the disposal of goods in cold storage be enacted. On this point he says:

"It would be most serviceable if it were provided that all goods released from cold storage for interstate shipment should have plainly marked upon each package the selling or market price at which they went into storage in order that the purchaser might be able to learn what profits stood between him and the producer or the wholesale dealer. Indeed, it would be very serviceable to the public if all goods destined for interstate commerce were made to carry upon every packing case whose form made it possible a plain statement of the price at which they left the hands of the producer. I respectfully call your attention, also, to the recommendations of the message referred to with regard to a federal license for all corporations engaged in interstate commerce."

The message is not a great state paper, but covers in a general way the subjects uppermost in the minds of our people at this time. There are fine passages referring to the duty of the nation in these trying times but only in these is the Wilson of four or six years ago recognized.

SITUATION IMPROVING.

The price of wheat has advanced to such an extent during the past week that the farmers now have hopes of being able to realize a return on their crop at least approximating the cost of production. The figure has not yet reached two dollars per bushel and this seems to be the goal for which the producers are striving.

There is certainly nothing unreasonable in this demand. Fair-minded men in all walks of life realize this and are not blaming the farmers for their refusal to sell at a ruinous loss. It is also pretty generally conceded that there is nothing in the grain situation which warrants any such slump as that which overtook the market about two weeks ago. There is a well founded suspicion that the drop was due largely to manipulation on the part of those who gamble in grain and that the law of supply and demand had comparatively little to do with it.

Numerous remedies are suggested, among them being the extension of loans to farmers by the government, the granting of credits to foreign nations that these may be enabled to buy our surplus, and the enactment of a tariff law which would protect our farmers from coming into competition with cheaper wheat from the outside in domestic consumption. Of these propositions the one suggesting some plan for helping foreign governments and thus stimulating export demand seems to be the most popular. It is evident that nothing in the way of direct aid from the federal the federal government can be expected, and this should in any event be invoked only as a last resort. Such action would establish a precedent that would in time prove most annoying, as the farmer is not the only one who finds himself in difficulties during this period of readjustment. A protective tariff measure would perhaps temporarily help the farmer but would meet with opposition on the part of the consumer.

Meantime the farmer is holding his wheat and if he can hang on long enough the price will be forced up before any extraordinary measure can be enacted for his relief. He cannot be blamed for his attitude. When the country needed wheat he planted it to the exclusion of other and more profitable crops. Because of high labor and seed costs he stood to lose money even at the guaranteed price prevailing at the time of seeding, and if forced to sell at the figures now quoted it would in many cases mean ruination for him. He is taking the only means at hand to force up prices and is, to some extent at least, succeeding.

One thing is certain. Every person and agency in the farming districts of the country will do everything possible to see that the farmer gets somewhere near a square deal. This is simply a matter of self preservation, as the stability of all business is dependent upon the prosperity of the farmer in these sections. It is also recognized that during the war the farmer was prevented from securing the benefits of advancing markets by reason of the government's establishing a maximum price for his product and it hardly seems fair now that he should be the first to suffer in the inevitable readjustment.

THE FARM BUREAU.

There will shortly be inaugurated a campaign for farm bureau members in Pennington county. When the result is noted it should be found that not a single farmer and but few persons engaged in other lines of business are missing from the rolls.

The farm bureau is the one activity we cannot afford to do without. In the one or two instances in this state where the organization has been abandoned after getting a start there has followed a movement for its reestablishment almost immediately.

The bureau acts as a sort of clearing house for the farmer. It is also to a large extent his club room. It is the place he brings his troubles and the one assembly in which he can talk over his prospects with persons who understand his aspirations and position. The farm bureau office is his chamber of commerce and information bureau at the same time.

There is no way of computing the value of a live organization of this kind to the farmers in the district which it serves. Its activities extend in so many different directions and its benefits are so widespread and varied that any sort of estimate is out of the question. Its work is seldom spectacular but always beneficial and often essential.

The best way to get a line on what the farm bureau is doing is to ask the farmers who have been members since its organization in Pennington county. They can recount instances in which the bureau has saved them hundreds of dollars by its prompt action in time of danger and can point to times innumerable when inability to quickly get into touch with the agent would have meant a considerable loss. They will unhesitatingly state that it has been worth a hundred times its cost to the farmers of Pennington county.

No one wants to get along without the farm bureau but we should all care enough about its maintenance to become members. The impending drive will provide an excellent opportunity for getting your name on the roll and there is certainly no excuse for your holding back. The bureau, under the leadership of County Agent J. J. McCann, has become one of the most active and progressive in the state and it should be a matter of pride with every citizen of the county to keep it in that position.

IN HOLIDAY ATTIRE.

The stores of Thief River Falls have assumed their holiday togs and are thrown open for inspection by their owners and managers. They present a beautiful spectacle and contain the wares appropriate to the season in surpassing array. The merchants extend most cordial invitations to the public to visit their places of business and assure everyone they will be welcomed in the accepted Christmas spirit.

The offering in seasonable goods this year is larger than for a number of seasons past. American manufacturers have to a large extent resumed business along their usual lines after the interruption due to the war and are in a position to supply everything needed or desired. Prices also are much lower than for some time past, all of which should make for an active and satisfactory holiday trade.

Merchants have done their share toward bringing things back to normal at this holiday season and it is now up to the public. One thing is certain—there is no excuse for any-one going out of the city for what is needed. If your wants cannot be supplied right here in Thief River Falls the articles desired simply cannot be had. It will also be found that the prices are in most instances below those charged in other town, while goods superior in quality cannot be found anywhere.

Make your Christmas purchases early. By doing so you will not only have a wider variety to choose from but will also confer a boon upon the salespeople. Buy during the daytime whenever possible as the Merchants association members have decided to keep their places open evenings only for a few days just before Christmas Eve.

WHY BUY CHRISTMAS SEALS?

"Seal your mail with the Stamp of Health" urges the 1920 Christmas Seal Sale appeal to citizens of Minnesota. The suggestion to thus "stamp out tuberculosis" is excellent. That the funds raised through the sale of the famous penny Christmas Seals in previous years have been spent to the advantage of the public is evidenced by official reports of the State Board of Health. Deaths from the "Great White Plague" decreased to 2,244 last year. The death rate from tuberculosis was 94 per 100,000 of population last year. Since it was 116 in 1911, and 108 in 1918, it is apparent that the battle against this deadly disease is the "Winning Fight" of the Christmas Seal.

MONEY TUCKED IN JEANS.

How much cash is there in your pockets?

It may be more than $28 or it may be less, but inquiries have shown that most persons in the business world, wage earners and farmers carry sums which will average about $28.

This means a lot of money that isn't working. Further statistics show that if one half of the people in the United States lived up to the figure which is said to be the average, the total would reach the staggering sum of $1,500,000,000. Carrying this money about in one's wallet amounts to an economic crime. It tends to increase the cost of living and it retards the nation's enterprise. It reduces the bank's ability to furnish credit to the industrial and business world as well as to the farmers. It causes interest rates to rise.

Eighteen banks have just failed in North Dakota. Authorities on the banking question state that the greatest harm is not done to these banks, or to those people who deposited their money with them. As a rule the banks are not "on the rocks." They have merely asked to be closed until such a time as relief of the present money situation shall allow them to open their doors with a possibility of breaking even. They are in a solvent condition. The great harm is done to the morale of the banking public—and the wallet in the pocket grows fatter still, or the sock tucked away in the mattress takes on added weight.

Possibly the banks are themselves in part responsible for this hording of spare dollars. The farmer or the business man in times of money stress is forced to pay interest at a greatly increased rate on money that he may be called upon to borrow—if he is fortunate enough to be able—but interest on money deposited remains the same. The rise of interest rates becomes far out of proportion to the rate paid on deposits.

Is the banking policy in times of stress a consistent one?

EFFERVESCENCE.

Public bath employes of the twin cities are going to have their salaries raised. "Bathe at Home" may become the slogan.

Oolai says, "if you want a thing half done, send a boy; if you don't want it done at all, send two boys; and if you want it well done, go yourself."

Warning is issued to all who are accustomed to taking their weekly ablutions on Sunday morn—better get in line with the Saturday-nighters. Sunday blue laws are going to be very exacting.

That bird from Boston who refused to accept a $1,000,000 legacy from his father's estate may have been inspired by noble motives but he's all wrong. If prices keep on coming down he could soon have bought a decent suit of clothes for himself.

A late movie success captions, "Mary was one of those metropolitan young ladies who possessed the ability to appear well dressed on next to nothing." After seeing the picture it is very apparent that the caption should have read "in next to nothing."

POOL AGAINST POOL

(St. Paul Dispatch.)

Representative Halvor Steenerson has exposed a new and altogether different violation of the Sherman anti-trust law in the pooling by foreign governments of their purchase of wheat, and manipulations of the markets to force prices downward. All previous combinations in transgression of that law have been for the purpose of raising prices.

Mr. Steenerson cites highly respectable authority for his statements in Julius H. Barnes, who was president of the United States Grain corporation.

Having discovered this combination, the next step is to combat it. It would be difficult to indict, convict, fine or imprison the British government or any other foreign government. Possibly the American agents of such foreign governments might be reached in some manner, but the suggestion of Mr. Barnes is that the government establish an agency to play the other end of the game. The foreigners having combined to prevent competition among bidders, the federal government could organize a combination of the sellers.

Mr. Barnes' idea is a variation of the proposal to revive the War Finance corporation, which operated during the war to hold grain prices fairly steady by guaranteeing a minimum price to the producer. Secretary David F. Houston of the Treasury Department and Eugene Meyer, Jr., who was managing director of the War Finance corporation, have opposed renewing that method of keeping up wheat prices. Their chief reason is that sellers of all kinds of merchandise would demand favors of the same sort. It should not be forgotten that the purpose of the wheat price guaranty was not primarily to insure a profit to the farmers but to insure the production of as much grain as possible while the war was still in the balance, so that our allies could continue the struggle with greater power. That emergency has passed.

The pooling of the wheat crop, for the purpose of meeting the pooling of the foreign demand, would resemble greatly the coffee valorization scheme of Brazil. But there are dangers in any such methods of meeting an unfavorable situation. If the price of wheat were raised by such means, the growing of wheat would be stimulated everywhere else, which is much more easily done in the case of that grain, capable of production in the temperate zone anywhere, than is possible with coffee. It would be better not to adopt any new and untried expedients without careful consideration.

An investigation of the situation may throw some valuable light on it.

ADDITIONAL FUNDS THRU LEGISLATION

Mrs. J. M. Bishop, Mrs. J. J. Richter and J. J. McCann represented Pennington county at the annual meeting of the Minnesota Public Health Association held at the Athletic club at St. Paul last Wednesday. Mrs. Bishop, former second vice-president was succeeded by Dr. A. J. Chesley, Mrs. Bishop being elected to the state executive committee.

The program outlined by the convention for the coming year, far exceeds that of previous years. A bill was drawn up and approved and will be presented at a future session of the legislature. It calls for appropriations to reimburse counties for expenditures for mothers' pensions and for additional appropriations for county sanitariums.

Further plans were announced relative to the Christmas Seal sale which will take place on December 1-10. County organizations will hold booster meetings for chairmen and sale managers previous to the first of the month. A date has not been set for the Pennington county meeting as yet. A chairman will be appointed for each township, seals and instructions to be furnished by the county chairman. Mrs. J. J. Richter and J. J. McCann will co-operate in managing the sale throughout the county.

Election Date Becomes History—Legislation to Put Incorporation Amendment Number 1—Townleyism. Defeated. May Not Have Been in Vain.

Election data and figures of the past became real history this week when the state canvassing board met and gave its official endorsement to the state election count as compiled by Julius Schmahl, secretary of state. From now on the election of November 5th last will be the basis of all future computations and analysis. A total of 797,945 ballots were cast and counted. Of the four constitutional amendments, three prevailed. Good roads topped the list with 526,936 for to 199,693 against. In the case of the other three amendments the vote was No. 2, yes, 446,959; no, 171,414. No. 3, yes, 331,105; no. 217,558. No. 4, yes, 488,497; no, 95,015. The necessary ratification vote based on the ballots cast and counted was 398,793. The vote on state officers follows: Governor: J. A. O. Preus, Rep. 415,805; L. C. Hodgson, Dem., 91,293; Henrik Shipstead, Ind., 281,402; P. I. Sampson, Soc., 5,124. Lieutenant Governor: L. J. Collins, Rep. 432,225; J. P. McConnell, Dem., 79 414; C. H. Hubbel, Nat., 6,696; G. H. Mallon, Ind, 224,601; Lillian Friedman, Soc., 10,029. Secretary of State: Mike Holm, Rep., 434,130; Lillian J. Anderson, F-L., 193,658; F. C. Burmaster, Dem., 79,941; J. M. Copeland, Nat., 7,608; J. H. Hart, Soc., 18,965. Treasurer: Henry Rines, Rep., 448,313; J. P. Wagner, F-L., 191,429; F. H. Lueden, Dem., 68,621; P. H. Phelps, Soc., 22,454. Attorney General: C. F. Hilton, Rep., 446,730; R. A. McOuat, Dem., 53,738; T. V. Sullivan, Ind., 251,488. Railroad Commissioner: O. P. B. Jacobson, Rep., 445,557; C. C. McKenzie, F-L., 177,256; R. W. Robinson, Dem., 72,964; Tom May, Soc., 23,900. Supreme Court: H. B. Dibell, 375,188; Geo. L. Siegel, 279,860. President: Harding, Rep., 519,421; Cox, Dem., 142,994; W. W. Cox, Ind., 3,828; Debs, Soc., 50,105; Walker, Prob., 11,489.

The passage of Amendment No. 1 can truly be called one of the progressive acts of the campaign. Naturally those behind its adoption are jubilant. With due consideration for the hundreds who gave their time and money in aid of the Amendment one is compelled to single out Senator P. H. McGarry of Cass county as easily the biggest booster of the lot and to whom the state owes a debt of gratitude that will grow with the years. No. 1 was his hobby and he overlooked nothing in impressing its importance upon the voters of the state. With the Good Roads amendment a reality, legislation necessary to put it in operation now has the call and Senator McGarry with characteristic energy is directing every effort at the drafting of a bill that will bring about the desired results. A state highway commission of high grade men is his idea and "No politics" his slogan. If possible he would place the appointment of the commission in the hands of the supreme court. It is the biggest thing the state has tackled in years, Senator McGarry says, and he wants the whole thing above suspicion.

One of the features of the scramble for legislative positions is the large number of former and defeated house members who are demanding recognition. They come from all sections of the state. What the average man can see in a $5 a day legislative position with board and room costing pretty near that figure is beyond one, still the supply of candidates willing to take a chance exceeds the number of jobs. Any chance of their getting by, however, is slim as there is a general feeling against their recognition.

While everything bearing the Republican brand prevailed overwhelmingly, in the recent elections such must not be taken as meaning that the disgruntled element which has menaced the state government for the past four years is down and out. Far from it. Between the Nonpartisan League, Farmer-Labor and Socialists candidates more than 300,00 votes were cornered and it is a saf bet that a majority of these wi again be on the job two years henc Debs, the Socialist candidate for pre ident found favor to the extent o over 50,000 votes. That the business interests which were a heavy factor in thwarting the designs of Townley and his crowd are not unaware of what may happen is shown in a frantic effort to take over some of the Nonpartisan League thunder and give the relief demanded. The State Farm bureau in session in the twin cities the last week and the favorable reception given many of its demands is an evidence of this fact. Even the Minneapolis Chamber of Commerce is now willing to grant trading favors to Farmer selling organizations. Much good came out of the Populistic wave of a decade ago. Perhaps Townleyism may not have been in vain.

Loyalty Basis of All Civilization

(Copyright)

Loyalty is the foundation upon which the whole structure of civilization rests. Loyalty to one's country, loyalty to one's state, loyalty to one's city, loyalty to one's business associates, loyalty to one's friends! Loyalty is essential to the ordinary progress of the world. Without it the world must be chaos.

There would be no stable government in the world were it not for the loyalty of the people to their government. There would be no successful business enterprise on the face of the globe were it not for the loyalty of the men and women who are connected with it. No church could exist for a month were it not for the loyalty of its members. The sacredness of the home would be a myth were it not for the loyalty of the members of the family group.

The loyalty of a people to its government is based partly upon sentiment and partly upon the recognition of an obligation that a people owes to its government. A people that has the benefit of good government owes a duty to that government. Those who do not recognize this duty and perform it voluntarily are compelled by law to do so. The man or woman who is protected by the government in the pursuit of life and happiness, must contribute in money and service toward the support of the government. The man or woman who, under the protection of his government which preserves law and order, is able to accumulate property, must pay taxes on that property to help maintain the government which has protected him or her. In time of war the government has the right to call upon its citizens to take up arms in its defense.

Loyalty Moral Obligation.

In governmental affairs these things are regulated by law, and the man who receives the benefit of orderly government in requested to fulfill the obligation which that entails, but in the ordinary affairs of life, loyalty is a moral rather than a legal obligation. There are laws which prevent a man from stealing from his employer or his business associates, but there is no law that requires him to be loyal to them, however, depends more upon the loyalty of its employees than upon the laws which prevent them from stealing its money. Likewise the stability of a government depends more upon the loyalty of its people than upon the laws which compel them to fulfill their obligation to the government.

It is equally true that the prosperity and growth of every individual community is dependent upon the loyalty of the people who live in it. Every citizen owes an obligation to his community, and the obligation is a moral as well as a legal one. The good citizen pays his taxes cheerfully and willingly. He serves upon the juries which administer the laws of the community. He fulfills every legal obligation that is imposed upon him by his government, but there is a moral obligation which is of still greater importance to the community. This moral obligation consists in doing everything that is in his power to promote the prosperity and happiness of his community. The man who is enabled to make his living in any community is under a moral obligation to spend his money in such a way as to help his community.

Prosperity Worth Protecting.

Anything worth having is worth protecting, and if the prosperity of a community is worth anything to the people living in it it is worth protecting. If the chance for a man to earn a good living, to live well, to give his children a good education, is worth anything, it is worth protecting.

There is just one way to protect the prosperity of a community, and that is to keep the community from being drained of its cash—working capital. The only way to do that is for the people of the community to keep their money at home. Every time the citizen of a community sends money away from home to a mail order house instead of spending it in his home stores he is disloyal to his community. It is disloyalty to the merchants only indirectly. It is disloyalty to the community of which the merchants are only a small but a very important part.

This is the moral obligation that every citizen owes to his community, just as the payment of taxes and the loyal support of his government are his legal obligations. Disloyalty of a large body of the citizens spells disaster to any government and disloyalty of any large part of the people to their community is followed inevitably by the downfall of the community. Self-interest, if nothing else, should convince every citizen of the advisability of fulfilling his moral obligation to his community.

GETTING READY FOR FARM BUREAU DRIVE

Organizers Still Busy in Counties to the South But Will Soon Be on Hand.

No definite dates can as yet be given for the Farm Bureau membership drive, but the officials of that organization are confident the campaign will be brought to a conclusion before the holiday season. Membership campaigns are at present being conducted in Clay and Renville counties, the dates for the drive here depending upon the closing dates there. The state men who are assisting in Clay county will come to Pennington as soon as they are through with the work now in hand. Organizing movements have been somewhat retarded because of the fact that several assistant organizers resigned with the coming of cooler weather.

Stewart McLeod, who is assisting with the movement in Clay county will assist here and effort is being made to secure the services of Paul Engelstad who is at the head of one of the squad which is working in Renville county. Word has been received by J. J. McCann, county agent, that Mr. Engelstad now holds the state record for the most farm bureau memberships secured in one day and is considered one of the state federation's most valuable men. His record of 31 memberships in one day also proclaims him the champion farm bureau solicitor for the entire Northwest.

J. H. Hay, deputy commissioner of agriculture for the state, made an address before a packed house at Goodridge on Monday evening. Over 300 men and women from that vicinity were present. Mr. Hay's address on the marketing question and his explanation of just how the farm bureau federation is approaching the marketing situation of today were received with great enthusiasm. In conclusion of his address Mr. Hay said, "I believe sincerely that thru the farm bureau only can the farmers do their best co-operative marketing."

When the exact dates of the membership drive are known, or when the state organizers arrive in Pennington county, it is planned to secure the services of Mr. Hay and hoped that every farmer in the community will have the opportunity of hearing him.

Withdraws Damage Claim; Contractors Ordered Paid

Coolsaet Brothers & Drees, contractors, of Marshall, Minnesota, who lately completed the installation of a storm sewer throughout the business section of the city, have not as yet secured a formal release from the claim for $1300 damages, which was submitted to the city council at a recent meeting. This claim was submitted by Charles Alexander in behalf of his 11-year old daughter, who suffered a slight injury in a fall on the sidewalk caused by debris left upon the walk through operations of the above named contracting firm. Mr. Coolsaet previous to his departure stated that the matter had been satisfactorily settled between his firm and Mr. Alexander. When a formal release is secured Coolsaet Brothers & Drees will receive the balance due them of $1300, which amount was withheld from payment of the sewer contract by the city council at its last regular meeting when Mr. Alexander's claim as read.

GYM EQUIPMENT IS ORDERED INSTALLED

The directors of School District No. 18 have authorized the purchase of equipment for the high school gymnasium and it will be installed without delay. Indian clubs, wrestling mats, parallel bars, horizontal bars and rings figure prominently in the proposed equipment. The gymnasium has heretofore been without such equipment.

Physical culture in the Thief River Falls graded and high schools is under the supervision of A. N. Tommeraasen, a graduate of St. Olaf's college, where he was very prominent in all atheletic work. Mr. Tommeraasen has formed a complete course of physical exercises through which the pupils must go daily during school hours, under the leadership of the teachers, himself taking charge of each room on an average of once a week. Great benefit is being derived from these exercises and enthusiasm over atheletics is at a high pitch. The high school foot ball team, while light in weight, through a stiff course of training emerged from the season as champions for this district. It is planned to form a basket ball team for this season equally as fast. The coaching of athletics also comes under the supervision of the physical culture instructor.

The state and nation is fast recognizing athletics and, especially, physical culture as important factors in the up-building of the school child. A bill will be introduced at the next session of the state legislature which would make the former compulsory in all public schools, and with a state aid of $500 for all high schools maintaining this department.

There are in Minnesota just about twenty-four thousand people suffering from tuberculosis. The Minnesota Public Health association has for a number of years been devoting a large part of its energies toward the alleviation of this affliction. This organization, and its county units through which it operates, employ no other way of deriving funds to carry on this and the other work it is doing in the interests of the general public health, than the sale of the Christmas penny seals.

The annual seal sale began in Pennington county just a week ago. While members of the soliciting committee report many fine sales, the enthusiasm shown is not as great as that of last year and it is feared that last year's total may not be reached. Pennington county has been given a quota of $1200. In order to reach this the former plan of conducting an eight day sale throughout the business section of the city has been modified somewhat. Booths will be placed in stores, hotels and public buildings tomorrow and Saturday, where young ladies from the high school will conduct sales. School children will carry the seals to every home in the city during the period between now and Christmas. Everyone will be given an opportunity to assist in the noble work of the Public Health association.

"FACE AT WINDOW" LECTURE SUBJECT

Dr. Robinson to Speak on Vital Topic of Day as Third Lyceum Number.

On the evening of December 15, next Wednesday, Dr. J. Q. Robinson will deliver his noted lecture, "The Face at the Window," at the city auditorium as the third number of the Lyceum course which is being brought here by the Woman's club. This lecture deals with the present unrest of the country, Dr. Robinson having spent long tours from coast to coast in search of first hand information.

Dr. J. Q. Robinson is a lecturer with a purpose. Formerly a pastor, he is ministering to the country at large only because of insistent calls from lyceum and chautauqua interests. Not only is Mr. Robinson a forceful and eloquent speaker, but he has the knowledge, and training to make his lectures entertaining and interesting.

"The Face at the Window" is the newest lecture of this gifted speaker, and the most timely for the present. A portion of the lecture will treat bolshevism in an interesting way. The title of the lecture was in part inspired by "Dings" famous cartoon, seen in many periodicals of a few months ago, which pictured bolshevism as a tramp with an ugly club, peering into the window of a working man's home, where mother and children cower in fear of him. Dr. Robinson's purpose is to convey a clearer understanding of the things that at present confront the country.

The first two numbers of the Lyceum course proved, in the opinion of all who attended, very much out of the ordinary and by far the best attractions that have ever been brought to this city. The Redpath Vawter management promises that Dr. Robinson's lecture will meet with an enthusiasm equally as great, if not greater, than the two preceding musical numbers.

Trading at Home.

Editor Times: We see and hear a lot about trading at home and boosting home institutions. The advice is patricularly directed at farmers and I admit that it is sometimes needed. But do the merchants of Thief River Falls always practice what they preach?

During the past week there have been a couple of coffee demonstrations held in the city and at these oleomargarine was served with the crackers, bread or whatever happened to be used. Now everybody knows that oleomargarine is a substitute for butter. They also know that the farmers of Pennington county sell cream to the local creamery, from which butter is made.

What I would like to ask is this: Would it not have been boosting the section a great deal more if butter from the local creamery had been served instead of oleomargarine at these demonstrations? We are not trying to educate the people to the use of oleo. Rather we are trying to create a broader market for our butter. If the people at home eat a substitute, how can we expect others to eat the creamery product?

Trading at home and boosting the home business institutions are all right and the farmers of the neighborhood should do their business here. The merchants should remember, however, that butter is produced right here at home and that oleomargarine is not.

RENEWED TESTIMONY

No one in Thief River Falls who suffers backache, headache, or distressing urinary ills can afford to ignore this Thief River Falls woman's twice-told story. It is confirmed testimony that no Thief River Falls resident can doubt.

Mrs. Geo. Williams, 412 Main Ave., N., Thief River Falls, says: "I used many remedies for kidney trouble and backache but had no permanent relief until I bought Doan's Kidney Pills at Curtis Drug Store. This remedy not only cured my back but made me feel better in every way. I am only sorry that Doan's didn't come to my attention sooner."

OVER SEVEN YEARS LATER Mrs. Williams said: "During the past seven years Doan's Kidney Pills have done the work whenever I have used them for kidney weakness. I hold Doan's in the same high estimation as when I first endorsed them."

Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Williams had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.—adv.

ALL THERE—FROM QUEENS TO PIRATES

The first all-high-school and faculty masquerade in the Thief River Falls high school was given at the city auditorium on Friday evening Dec. 3rd and was a success in every sense of the word.

The doors were opened at eight o'clock and the crowd immediately began to assemble in costumes consisting of prim aristocrats in full evening dress, Turks, Hawaiian Hula Maids, Harem dancers, negroes, clowns, fat men, Happy, Healthy Dutchmen, Hirams the Rubes, Spanish dancers, Jews, Soldiers, Sailors, Blind men, girls dressed as men and boys dressed as women, tramps shy demure country lasses, Knights of the Sherwood Forrests, Indians, Cowboys, Bold Bad Bandits and even the frivolous Queen Elizabeth with her pages and the chivalrous chavalier king, King Charles the 1st; altogether about three hundred being present.

The first few minutes of the evening were spent in mingling together and trying to detect who various persons were. After a few minutes of the opening of the party were spent, the evening's program was opened with a lynching stunt. The auditorium was partially darkened and a few sheet clad figures glided out into the hall and caught the first negro who came into their path and proceeded with a mock lynching.

Following the lynching came a suitcase race. Two people entered as contestants and were given a suitcase in which were a number of old clothes which each contestant was to don and run the length of the auditorium, take them off and pack them into the suitcase again.

Immediately after this the Freshmen put on a minstrel show which was heartily enjoyed by everyone.

The next number on the program was the grand march in which everyone should have participated. Mr. and Mrs. Tommeraasen led the march while Mrs. L. G. Larson, Hugh McDaniels, Mrs. Rayson and Mr. Holzknecht were chosen as judges, to judge and pick out of the Grand March six boys and six girls who in their opinion had the funniest and cleverest costumes at the party. The twelve people chosen were to walk across the stage and by popular applause were to be awarded the prizes which consisted of two one-pound boxes of chocolates. The people winning first prize were Lynn Halvorson, who imitated a bold bad pirate and Johanna Wedul and Julia Brudvick, who were dressed as husband and wife with their small child.

Following the Grand March was a skit given by the Sophomore class and also one by the Junior class, both of which were exceptionally good and received due applause.

Next on the evening's program was a novelty orchestra concert given by the teachers of the Central school. The orchestra consisted of wash tub, wash board, can-o-phones, toaster violin, baby piano, curtain rod trombone, cornet and piano. The orchestra rendered some very delightful and talented music, considering the instruments and talent displayed in the rendering of the numbers.

After this delightful program the rest of the evening was spent in dancing and eating of a delicious lunch, ending with a community sing of "Good-night Ladies" and a scampering to the various homes of the students.

FAST BASKET BALL TEAM BEING FORMED

Basketball fans, who have in previous years followed the local high school teams thruout their struggles for court supremacy will be pleased to know that our this year's team will be one of the best.

The high school participants of the indoor sport have been hard at work under Coach Tommeraasen's most stringent guidance for some time and seem to be in the pinkest of condition.

The squad and team still have a few rough places to be polished down, which in turn will come with more practice and as the season goes on. The necessary cogs to build a clock-like machine are in good working order and will improve as the oil of experience is poured on.

Those who will represent the high school and were fortunate enough to make the squad are as follows: Penney, Ralston, Parenteau, Herron, LaBree, Olson, Sundahl, McDaniels, Anderson, Henry and Norman Mellem, Doland Shetler, Langseth and F. Holmgren.

The official schedule for the year has not been given out but the essentials for the following games have been arranged:

Dec. 16—Fosston at T. R. Falls.
Jan. 21—Warroad at T. R. Falls.
Jan. 21—Argyle at Argyle.
Jan. 22—Warren at Warren.
Jan. 28—Crookston at Crookston.
Feb. 4—Hallock at T. R. Falls.
Feb. 11—Argyle at T. R. Falls.
Feb. 18—Warren at T. R. Falls.
Feb. 25—Warroad at Warroad.
March 4—Crookston at T. R. Falls.

By all probability the semi-tournament to decide who represents this northern district at Carleton will be held at Crookston in March.

Limerick Contest.

A Limerick contest was held by the Prowler staff last week in which the entire student body participated. The limerick given was as follows:

"A Freshman scholar with pride,
He had four punctured tires,
And a "short" in the wires,

Students submitted the last line best fit for the limerick. The line considered the best by the judges was "So the next time a Junior she tried."

It was decided to give but one prize, making this prize a worth-while one. This created some keen competition among the students, the prize being a 1921 Prowler. The winner of the contest who succeeded in walking away with the honors was Lyall Coyle. There was some difficulty in picking the winning line, considering the vast number of contestants.

Albert Stengelson took second place with the line, "How I wish I'd a Packard, he sighed," while Math Barzen carried third place with "Hurry, said she, nine o'clock has arrived."

The purpose of the contest was to stimulate some interest among the students regarding the annual. The limerick will be published in the "Prowler."

Contests of various nature will be held thruout the year, in order to bring the staff closer together with the student body, that co-operation which is necessary to make the 1921 Prowler the success of the school year. We, the staff, ask your most sincere and conscientious support toward the Prowler of 1921.

SQUAD WILL MEET OLD RIVAL DEC. 16

The first basketball game of the season will be played with our old rival, Fosston, on the auditorium floor, Dec. 16th.

It has been customary for the past years to hold this game for the grand wind-up. Under the present arrangement of the tournament which is to be held in the spring at Crookston and because of the very rapid way in which the fellows are developing, it was decided to start out big by taking Fosston into court for one big and glorious defeat. Will you be there to see the boys do it?

Agriculture in High School.

Last Friday morning in Agriculture class, Mr. Ziegler gave a short discussion on the importance of agriculture throughout the entire country. "We must consider," said Mr. Ziegler, "that everybody cannot live in the city. If it were such a thing, how could the people live and get food and especially food for the countries across the ocean that depend upon America to supply them with it. Agriculture is a very important thing to know. It will not be long, however, before it will rank first among the different industries. The study of agriculture is becoming more and more a course in high schools and also in larger institutions. The individual who chooses this course in high school or university is as highly honored as his fellow student who takes some other course. There are, of course, exceptions to all rules, but the parents may send their son to an agricultural school. He may waste his time by loafing on the streets and in many other different ways and not accomplish anything. But the student who goes with the intention of getting something out of it, may return home when he has finished and sit down, take his knife from his pocket and whittle on a stick. Look out for these when they do start, they go and make a success."

Sub-Staff Meeting.

The Sophomore annual sub-staff had its first meeting Wednesday afternoon, Dec. 1st. The meeting was called for the purpose of making out a definite course to pursue and to aid the various departments in getting work started as soon as possible.

Vernon Copp, of the Senior staff, gave a short talk on the need of material for the art department and the general tendency to put off work on the annual as far as possible. This year the material must be in before Christmas, and it means immediate action on the part of every Sophomore in the class and not merely by their staff.

Editor-in-chief of the "Prowler", Dreng Bjornarna, also gave the Sophomores some appreciated advice on how to secure contributions. The staff must personally solicit material from every member of the class, as many may have valuable pictures, jokes, stories, poetry, etc., but hesitate to volunteer it. While everything handed in cannot be used in the annual, a large amount must be contributed, so that the very best representation of the Sophomore class may be used. Mr. Bjornarna expressed the opinion that the Sophomores are able to produce a great deal of material, and it is up to every member of the class of 1923 to see that he is not disappointed.

A few of the high school girls wish to express their appreciation of the recognition made by a few of the high school boys of "puffless days." Now may we make a few remarks to a few of the high school boys of returning to pre-war status. Since there is no longer a great scarcity of materials there is no need of Hooverizing:

Morris—Get larger specks.

Jordan—Get a larger pair of trousers next time to save the expense of patching.

And since the luxury tax has been removed we advise that:

Milton L.—Try some Tanlac.

Adolph S.—Indulge in some freckle cream.

Russell A.—Purchase some hair dye.

Harold S.—Thinning salts.

Marshall R.—Lov'me perfume.

Ernest Z.—Mellin's Baby Food.

(Taken from the Urbandale Federator.)

Where can a man buy a cap for his knee
Or a key for a lock of his hair?
Can your eyes be called an academy
Because there are pupils there?
In the crown of your head what jewels are found?
What travels the bridge of your nose?
Could you use in shingling
The roof of your mouth?
The nails on the end of your toes?
Could the crook on your elbow be sent to jail?
If so, what did he do?
How can you sharpen your shoulder blade?
I'll be jiggered if I know.
Could you sit in the shade of the palm of your hand
Or beat on the drum of your ear
Does the calf of your leg eat the corn on your toe?
Then why not grow corn on the ear?

Edward F.: "No, potatoes should be planted in the ground."

Found on a grade language paper: "For sale—A nine year old cow and a Ford car with good tires. New in 1918. Will get cheap if taken at once."

Miss Elliott, in civics class: "When I went to school, I knew a boy who actually ate his text books."

Allen: "He must be a smart man today."

Miss E.: "Well, Allen, I'll tell you the truth, he's in an insane asylum today."

John Hendry: "Gee, that must have been Civics he ate."

Fat E. (speaking to Miss Elliott): "Say I won't be able to disguise for the masquerade."

Miss Elliott: "Yes, David, I sympathize with you. I never was able to disguise for anything either."

The girls' basketball squad has been chosen for the coming year. Mr. Tommeraasen foresees the girls' team to be one of the best in the northwest. Following are the names of the members: Eileen Herron, Viola Lund, Nora Lindquist, Pearl Shetler, Esther Hadrath, Myrtle Krohn, May Roberts, Helen Warner, Francis Cruzan, Anna Froseth, Ruby Bennes, Violet Krohn, Lucille McGinnity, Maybelle Swanson.

Chapel Exercises.

Thursday morning in chapel the students at the Lincoln high school had the privilege of hearing a short talk by Dr. Mellby on health in the school.

Supt. Ziegler, in introducing Dr. Mellby, defined a successful man or woman as being one who thoroughly enjoys life and is of the greatest service to humanity. This depends entirely upon the health of the individual and a person's health depends a great deal on the care he or she takes of it in youth.

Dr. Mellby spoke on the food proposition during the growing period. He described intensified farming and compared the rations fed to livestock to the human ration. The progressive farmer feeds his stock a carefully balanced ration in order to produce the best result and the same should be the case with the growing boy or girl. It is during this period that the food question is of the greatest importance. In making his rounds as a physician, Dr. Mellby said he sees a great many methods of preparing and combining foods. Very few are exactly proper, while the rest may vary from fairly good to absolutely improper for a growing child. "People eat too much meat," he said, "and not enough vegetables." He compared vegetables to the hay in a cow's ration as the very necessary bulk-forming element. Vegetables, eggs and milk, if used in the proper proportions, make a complete ration for a person of school age. It is very necessary that the digestion be kept in good order, as the digestion predetermines the condition of the blood and as everyone knows, the general health depends on the condition of the blood.

Essays on Columbus.

The following comes from a school in the midlands: The master told the boys of the third class to write a short essay on Columbus. The following was sent up by an ambitious essayest:

"Columbus was a man who could make an egg stand on end without breaking it. The king of Spain said to Columbus: 'Can you discover America?' 'Yes,' said Columbus, 'if you will give me a ship.' So he had a ship and sailed over in the direction where the thought America ought to be. The sailors quarreled and said they believed there was no such place. But after many days the pilot came to him and said, 'Columbus, I see land.' 'Then that is America,' said Columbus. When the ship came near land it was full of black men. Columbus said, 'Is this America?' 'Yes, it is,' said they. Then he said, 'I suppose you are the niggers?' 'Yes,' they said, 'we are.' The chief said, 'I suppose you are Columbus.' 'You are right,' said he. Then the chief turned to his men and said, 'There is no help for it; we're discovered at last.'"

Lyceum Course.

The second number of the Lyceum course was given in the auditorium Wednesday night, Dec. 1, consisting of vocal and musical selections rendered by the noted Elsie Baker Trio.

Miss Elsie Baker, the contralto and main entertainer of the evening, received due recognition and applause. She is known as being one of the best contralto singers in the United States and it should be regarded as a rare treat for the people of Thief River Falls to have had the opportunity to hear such a beautiful voice. Her pleasing personality and appearance also added greatly to her success.

The Trio also contained Mr. Durieux, who has a wide reputation as a cellist; both as a soloist and as an ensemble player.

The accompanist, a very able pianist, also rendered solos, which were well received by the audience.

The Woman's club is fortunate in securing such talent as has been appearing before us the last two numbers and should receive due credit.

Many of the high school students have secured season tickets and are attending the Lyceum numbers regularly.

New prices on hosiery make quite a difference to us both. You gain and we lose but we're cheerful losers. Sapero's. D9

The Senior Corner.

That noisy, noisy corner
What makes it noisy there?
Well those naughty seniors, Miss Patrick says don't play fair,
For Ernest makes an awful fuss
When Beatrice won't write notes,
And Mildred says she never does
Sew buttons on her coats.
And Myrtle with all her gracious pride
Can't afford to let her lessons slide
And Anna so tiny and neat
Can't wear any nines on her feet.
But if Eileen so young and fair,
Could only make dear Jordan really care
And Mary with her cunning look
But Viola so busy with basketball
Could never be as busy as Harold at a dinner ball.

Jokes.

Mr. Melby (in history): "What is the definition of Romance?"

Florence H.: "Oh! It's something about love."

Frances Holmgren has made it known that he would leave for Salt Lake City, Utah, in a short time.

The Lincoln high school is very proud of its new possession in the "Clinging Oak" and the "Sturdy Vine" or more commonly known as the "Big Little Family." As a result the high school is congratulating Ruby Bennes and Kermit Anderson on their success in this, "Closed Shop Union."

Have you heard the latest about Myrtle Helgeland and Al. Severson?

Miss Elliott (in Am. Hist): "Where is Tripoli?"

Elsie Granum: "In Australia."

Olga in Am. Hist.: "Kit Karson is not a woman, is he?"

Mrs. Squib: "Oh, I don't need to drive with you, if you're so afraid for the car. I can ride with Tom. He takes me out for a ride whenever I want him to."

Mr. Squib: "Yes, but I notice he always has the side-curtains up when he is driving with you."

Lynn H. (making a very elaborate recitation in English 4): "Two guys met but they didn't know who each other was."

Gladys K. (describing a rhombus): "The sides of the rhombus are parallel but they are slant."

Who said that ice isn't hard? Ask Miss Patrick about that.

Burton A.: "Oh, I'm off on all of them."

The Public Speaking class has been rather noisy lately before Mr. Pierce could get down to the room, but a little surprise was played on them today when Mr. Ziegler walked in. And oh, how quiet everything was. As Mr. Pierce came down the steps he had heard no noise from his group and wondered if they had forgotten to come to class. When he opened the door he found the class very quiet and discovered Mr. Ziegler standing near the window.

English class discussing Mr. Burchell in Vicar of Wakefield: Edward Fiterman: "Who did Clarence Vevea marry?" Ida Shields, thinking he was talking about Burchell: "Sophia."

"What is it that vibrates like one's ear drum?"

Miss Elliott: "I will expect you to be able to draw this from memory on Tuesday."

Fredolph G.: "Do we have to do it without our books?"

Light Occupation—Making Toby H. sit on all four legs of his chair.

Bill H.: "Mr. Pierce, how are we going to take Public Speaking this winter when we have a cold?"

Mr. Pierce: "Explain how you got it."

Personals.

Marion Cork returned to school on Monday morning after an illness.

Lucille Blaska, a member of the Normal department, will leave tonight for her home in St. Hilaire.

Dreng Bjornarna was confined to his home the first part of the week on account of illness.

Lloyd Alnes returned to this city Saturday morning after an automobile tour of southern Minnesota for the past week.

While taking physical training Bert U. and another boy had a scrap over the possession of the basketball. Bert got a long scratch on his cheek and the other fellow got the ball.

The English III class received instruction on library and research work from Miss Leavitt several days the past week.

Central Notes.

The girls who won prizes in the state contest on "Good Roads Amendment No. 1" are: Olive Aalund, 8th grade, third prize, two dollars; Ella Mjilde, 7th grade, third prize, two dollars; Francis Shanahan, 7th grade awards of merit, one dollar.

Hot lunches are now enjoyed very much by the grade students.

A few eighth graders surprised Miss Tanberg last Tuesday evening at her home and the party was enjoyed by everyone.

A surprise party was given for Miss Jorden by the seventh grade students at the Central school. The eighth grade teachers were invited and a good time was reported.

Very much interest is shown in regard to the health cards. All grade schools are competing to see which school can have the best record. So far the Central school has a very good showing.

Red Cross Seals have been delivered by Miss Johnson, the school nurse, and will be on sale the 8th and 9th of this month. Each room is to have a certain number to sell.

A barrel will be placed in the halls of every school for clothes which will be given to those who are in need. This will be continued thruout the year, but clothing now, before Xmas, will be appreciated.

Paper handkerchiefs are furnished by the health board for the grade schools and are used by students who forget their own.

Friday of this week Mr. Tommeraasen will be at the Central school and give instructions in physical training and will try to give them once a week.

Northrup News.

As a result of the marching contests which have been carried on thruout the grades, Miss Pelto's room holds the banner this week for the lower floor and Miss Sandum's room for the upper floor. Miss Bark's room won the contest on the upper floor for the two previous weeks and Miss Trogan's room on the lower floor. These contests have had a marked effect upon the discipline in the halls.

The normal grades have been doing practice teaching in the second and fifth grades during the past week.

Miss Johnson, the school nurse, is conducting a health crusade thruout the school. Health cards have been issued to the pupils, upon which are printed rules which the children try to live up to.

The teachers of the Northrup have begun practicing basketball. They will practice every Thursday evening.

There are still a few cases of chickenpox and whooping cough in the lower grades.

Hazel Senate.

Hazel Senate, a former member of the Junior class, d'ed last Friday morning at the Oakland Park Sanatorium of tuberculosis. Miss Senate was taken to the Sanatorium last August and her condition up to a short while ago, seemed to be improving. Her death was an unpleasant shock to her many friends.

The funeral services were held at the Larson Undertaking Chapel by Rev. Lundell.

The sympathy of the school is extended to the bereaved relatives and friends.

Normal Happenings.

Last Monday Miss Ober was unable to meet her classes on account of being ill.

Gladys Smith and Clara Eugene are out in the rural schools this week for practice teaching.

The Normal girls are creating a little excitement by making toys such as dolls, teddy bears, etc.

Ode to the Normal Department.
O. K. from beginning to end.
A sound and dependable friend,
So forceful and prudent,
I'm sure every student,
Will welcome the knowledge you lend.

It isn't raining rain to me,
But cold exams in chunks;
In every dimpled drop I see,
A dozen bitter flunks.

The test today may turn me gray,
And cook my hash too brown—
It isn't raining rain to me,
It's raining zeroes down!

It isn't raining rain to me,
But goose eggs big and blue,
A dozen Profs are watching me
So I can't pony through!

A health unto the sharper
A fig for him who crams,
It isn't raining rain to me,
It's raining cold exams.

Honor Roll.

A plan has been devised and is in effect by which a student attaining certain marks may become an honor student. Each mark above D is valued at a certain number of points: A three, B two and C one. If a student's marks during the month are equivalent to ten points, his or her name will be on the honor list and will be published in the "Progress." Twenty-two points in one subject during the year will exempt a student from the final examination and eleven points in one semester subjects.

This plan is being carried out in various other schools and is found to be very effective in bringing to the front and making known those who strive for a high scholarship and make the best of the time which is spent here in school. Students, why not do your best and get your name on the honor list?

Those who attained marks making them eligible to be put on the honor roll for November were:

Freshmen—Albert Stengelsen, Margaret Melgaard, Gladys Russell, Thordis Svensgaard, Esther Lundsether, Alice Gobler.

Sophomores—Nella Knutson, Lucille Curtis, Ole Helle, Pearl Weeks, Lorrayne Crandall.

Juniors—Johanna Wedul, Bertha Aaseby, Pearl Shetler, Sybil McGinn, Thora Moe, Bertha Husted, Alyce Bredesen.

"Gets-It" Wonder Corn Peeler

Don't be bossed through life by a pesky corn or callus. Don't let a corn tell you when to sit down. Don't wear shoes too large for you because a corn says you must. Get rid of the darned thing.

It's a revelation to corn sufferers, the wonderful way that "Gets-It" banishes corns. Spend two minutes—that's all—to apply 2 or 3 drops to any corn or callus. The pain will stop instantly. In a few seconds the corn dries right up. Soon it has loosened so you can peel it off in one complete piece, root and all.

"Gets-It" is sold by all druggists; money back on request, costs but a trifle. Mfd. by E. Lawrence & Co., Chicago.

Sold in Thief River Falls and recommended as the world's best corn remedy by Lambert's drug store, Andrew Bottelson and J. P. Curtis.

CHAMBERLAIN'S COUGH REMEDY

"Granny" Chamberlain

Whooping Cough

"The disease I most dread in Whooping Cough, for children are often permanently injured by the awful straining of the cough. You should never neglect it, and treatment should be started at the first symptom. You cannot mistake the symptoms:—protracted coughing, worse at night; peculiar whoop; labored expectoration of mucus; apparent suffocation after coughing.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy

is a positive remedy for this disease—repeat the dose frequently, for if given freely it liquifies the tough mucus, makes it easy to expectorate and counteracts any tendency toward pneumonia. There is no danger whatever from Whooping Cough when Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is freely given."

Yours for Health—"Granny" Chamberlain

MORE INTEREST IN LIVESTOCK SALES

Valley Association's Display Attracting More Attention Than Ever Before.

Sale of pure bred live stock are picking up again. At Livington, Wis., there were sold recently 27 head of pure bred Shorthorn cattle at an average of $148.14 per head. Recent sales of other breeds have been equally successful in spite of the tightness of the money market and the present values of farm products.

Inquiries received by the officers of the Red River Valley Live Stock association indicate that the winter live stock show and sales to be held in the association's pavilion at Crookston from Feb. 7 to 11, 1921, are attracting even more attention and will be more largely attended than ever before. With the new building recently completed there are 55,000 square feet of space available for live stock, farm crops and industrial exhibits, making this Red River Valley affair one of the big events of the year.

Farmers from every county in the valley look forward with much interest to this event. Without question all the counties will be well represented by having exhibits in all classes. About $5000 is hung up in premium money through the co-operation of valley, state and national associations. The premium list will be issued in the near future.

Weekly Market Review.

A better market tone, a more optimistic feeling among the trade was quite evident during the week.

Legislative action of a definite, well organized kind looking toward the organization of a Federal Corporation to finance our export business to foreign countries unable to pay for needed supplies and a plan to extend credit to our producers enabling them to recoup present losses on the possibility of stronger markets later, has finally developed and has very noticeably affected the public mind. As usual, the markets quickly responded to such reports.

Higher prices cannot practically be brought about by legislation, but it is generally realized that the present serious loss to the agricultural industry, and its resultant loss to every other industry, cannot be permitted when at least a partial remedy is available through the restoration of more buying confidence and the extension of reasonable credits to foreigners without cash.

The sentiment has become pronounced and wide spread that the longer purchasing is deferred, the heavier and the more certain its future development becomes, and confidence naturally is returning.

Continued wheat exports again resurrects the possibility of a depletion of our surplus before the expiration of the present crop year, but evidently the consensus of opinion at present holds to a belief in moderately higher wheat prices based on our domestic situation where the normal demand has been so long dormant and which will of necessity soon assert itself. There is an unprecedented disparity in the values of wheat and coarse grains but because of the strong export demand for wheat and the comparatively short wheat yields and heavy productions of corn and oats, it should be acknowledged that wheat is entitled to a good premium.

The movement of new corn thus far has been rather light. Failure to grade of much of the first arrivals is causing some anxiety among the cash trade in the filling of December sales. Producers have plenty of corn, but naturally are not frantic to sell at 40c with general costs about unchanged and the general purchasing complexion of the dollar very little changed from a year ago.

Oats are regarded in much the same position as corn—thoroughly liquidated and at a point where further material declines would be a reflection of disastrous business conditions which do not prevail.

Admitting the unlikely development of a swift return to materially higher levels we cannot now view the grain situation as unstable or subject to new low levels, but, in the face of the shift of public sentiment which now realizes the seriousness of further depression, we would rather regard the purchase of all grains as an investment.

WOOD—Dry cut tamarack cord wood. Carload lots at $10.50 per cord f. o. b. cars, Thief River Falls. We sell direct to consumer. Two or more families can club together and thereby secure their winter's wood supply at wholesale prices. Terms: cash. Write John A. Jacobs & Son, Middle River, Minnesota. d9

American Legion Notes

TO THE LEGIONNAIRES FROM THE WOMEN'S AUXILIARY, GREETINGS

The Minnesota Auxiliary of the American Legion is now an established fact.

We are organized for better citizenship, good fellowship and the square deal for the American Legion.

We are the bone of your bone and the flesh of your flesh.

We are the women who crept to the door of your empty rooms, and looked thru a mist of tears on the pillow that a dear dark or fair head used to press.

We are the women who went down with you to the railway depots of our land and returned home alone—many of us to be alone always.

We are the women who would have crossed the Atlantic to be at your side if it would have made your burden lighter and now all we ask is to stand behind you while you reconstruct the plan of your life that was broken by the call to arms.

We do not forget that this country owes you for two years taken from the most constructive period of your life and we stand solidly behind you in every measure designed to overcome this handicap.

It will be our duty and our pleasure to support to our utmost the Legion "four fold bonus," to enforce the strict observance of the Soldiers' Preference Act, the nation wide observance of Armistice Day as a National holiday and all practical plans for the benefit of sick and disabled soldiers, as outlined by the American Legion.

We ask that you let your mothers, your sisters, your daughters, and your wives know that you welcome them and that you appreciate their efforts.

HELEN HUGHES HIELSCHER
Department President.

PAID-UP MEMBERSHIPS WILL BE INDORSEMENT OF NAT'L. BONUS BILL

Elmer J. Eklund Post Starts Big Membership Drive, Expecting All Service Men to Fall in Line; Button Members Don't Count.

The 474 posts of the Minnesota department of the American Legion are putting on a big 1921 membership drive, which began the first of December and will continue until the first of January. The post which makes the best showing during that period will be declared the winner.

Service men of Pennington county and members of the Elmer J. Eklund Post will be urged to remember that the support given the Legion Fourfold National Bonus bill in the senate will depend on the enrolled and paid-up strength of the American Legion. Minnesota and other U. S. senators will construe a large paid-up membership to mean an indorsement of the Legion bill—and vice versa—so every department post will solicit service men to join the Legion or to continue membership. Button members, and those who are behind with their dues or those who take advantage of the good things that the Legion puts across without becoming bona fide members, will not count. Read instructions from the department. The service rendered the service men by the Legion has not and never will be limited to its paid up members, for the reason that there are many men who cannot afford to join and may need the services of the Legion in fighting for their claims; but too many service men have refrained from joining a post and yet have accepted all of its advantages. These men should fall in line.

Notices have been mailed to all members of Elmer J. Eklund Post Number 117 and a prompt response is expected. For the convenience of those not now affiliated with the Legion, who may desire to join, the following application blank is published through courtesy of The Times:

Dad Whitmore, Known to Many Here, Resigns Post

Thief River Falls friends and former comrades of Horace G. Whitmore, will regret to learn of his resignation as adjutant of the Minnesota Department of the American Legion. His resignation was accepted at the meeting of the Department Executive Committee on Nov. 28th, with expressions of regard and deepest appreciation of Dad's service for the American Legion.

While the Legion loses Mr. Whitmore as adjutant it still retains his services as chairman of the Soldier's Service and Hospitalization Committee, where he will have supervision of the hospitalization program of the Minnesota Department and will continue his activities for the disabled men as in the past. Assistant Adjutant P. L. O'Toole has been named as acting department adjutant.

HEADSTONES FOR GRAVES OF ALL EX-SERVICE MEN

A letter to Legion National Headquarters from the Cemeterial Division of the office of the Quartermaster General of the Army authorizes local posts or individual members of the American Legion, with the knowledge and consent of the next kin of the deceased, to make application for headstones for all unmarked graves of ex-service persons in their locality. The headstones, of a design suggested by the Fine Arts Commission are to be furnished free by the Government and shipped freight prepaid to the railroad station nearest the grave. The stones will be provided for the graves of all who served in the army, navy or marine corps, whether they died in the service or following their discharge therefrom. As soon as the specifications have been decided upon, Legionnaries will be asked to canvass their communities and submit applications for stones for unmarked graves in accordance with detailed instructions to be given in a National headquarters bulletin which will be published in the American Legion Weekly.

Insurance Reinstatement.

The Legion urges service men to reinstate a reasonable amount of their war risk insurance before the time limit, Dec. 31, 1920, thereby safeguarding their right to later convert it into government insurance policies in the event Congress authorizes the improvements to the war risk insurance law suggested by the National Convention. If not reinstated this month it cannot be converted later on.

FARM BUREAUS DRAFT GREATER STATE PROGRAM

To Request Legislative Action to Assist Farm Women in Improving Conditions.

A program drawn up at the annual convention of the state federation of farm bureaus at St. Paul on Nov. 19 was designed to create all the legislative machinery necessary for the extensive development enterprises. Carrying out this state wide program will call for new laws as follows:

Requiring all exchanges and chambers of commerce to grant membership to farmers' co-operative selling organizations on equal terms, permitting the rebating of all profits of the co-operative agency to its members on a co-operative basis.

Strengthening the state department of agriculture, by providing it with funds to organize new co-operative enterprises throughout the state, at the call of any group of citizens, without "organization" expense to the prospective members.

Authorizing the department of agriculture to conduct investigations and render binding decisions on matters affecting the distribution of the necessities of life.

Requiring the department of agriculture to issue prompt reports of current market conditions, including both prices and supplies of industrial as well as agricultural products.

Amending the cold storage law so that all goods, constituting necessities of life, whenever stored, shall be recorded and announced. This law would include all commodities "which supply food, clothing, heat and shelter."

Requiring classification of all lands open to settlement, to encourage further farm development in the state.

Establishing a system of rural credits.

Farm Women Not Forgotten.

It is designed, if the national federation fails to arrive at a definite program before its convention at Indianapolis in December, to play a large part in the adoption of a national plan, and give Minnesota the leadership in organizing the farmers of the United States to gain, by strictly economic means, a fairer share in the selling price of their produce.

Another step that was contemplated by the state convention to give Minnesota leadership in the affairs of the farm bureaus in the country, was the adoption of a definite stand, placing upon farm women a responsibility as great as that of the men in carrying out the federation policies. It was also planned to request the legislature for a law making it obligatory upon county commissioners to appropriate funds for county agents and home demonstrators, the experts who work with the farm bureaus in every county to improve conditions in the farm home as well as in the field, the local market and the terminal market.

Keep Out of Politics.

Firm decision of the Minnesota Federation to keep itself from any part in politics was demonstrated at the closing session on Saturday, when a second attempt was made to obtain the delegates' indorsement of Frank Murphy, president of the State Faird board, as secretary of agriculture. The convention earlier in the day had decided against such an indorsement on the ground that it smacked of political activity. Mr. Murphy asked withdrawal of the proposal. Several delegates expressed the opinion that the federation should at least enter politics to the extent of recommending a man for a position as important as that of secretary of agriculture, but their suggestions failed to meet with the approval of the majority present.

Relieve Your Rheumatism For 25c.

NR does it by improving digestion, assimilation and elimination—the logical way.

NR Today—Relief or No Pay

There are three vital processes of human existence,—the digestion of food, the extraction of nourishment from it and the elimination of the waste.

Let anything interfere with these processes,—let them be interrupted or improperly carried on, and sickness of some kind follows.

Poor digestion and assimilation mean failure to derive full nourishment from food and that in turn often means impoverished blood, weakness, anemia, etc. Poor elimination means an accumulation of waste matter which poisons the body, lowers vitality, decreases the power of resistance to disease and leads to the development of many serious ills.

Rheumatism,—due to some interference with the process of elimination, failure to get rid of certain body poisons,—cannot be expected to yield to any medicine that fails to correct the condition responsible for it. Could any reasonable person expect to rid himself of rheumatic pain as long as rheumatic poison is allowed to remain in the body.

Think of this. It explains the success of Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets) in so many cases where other medicines have failed. Thousands are using NR Tablets every day and getting relief. Why pay five or ten times as much for uncertain things? A 25c box of Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets), containing enough to last twenty-five days,—must help you, must give you prompt relief and satisfactory benefit or cost you nothing.

And Nature's Remedy is not only for the relief of rheumatism. It improves digestion, tones the liver, regulates kidney and bowel action, improves the blood and cleanses the whole system. You'll feel like a new person when you've taken NR Tablets a week. You've tried the expensive medicines and doctors, now make the real test. You'll get results this time. Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets) is sold, guaranteed and recommended by your druggist.

There Are Good Times Ahead

IN the many, many years this organization has lived and grown we have passed through several just such periods as this one. We have seen the country in a stage of unrest and uncertainty over and over again. We have seen it recover and come through stronger and better every time. This is an hour for optimism and courage. The future holds only good for our country.

Is there not too much croaking, too much pessimism? Are not too many people "seeing things at night?" At the bottom there is no lasting reason for doubt and fear and uncertainty. The resources of this country are far too great for that. The certainties of this country make it stand alone among all the nations of the world. If we in America lose our courage, what will become of the world?

We hope there will be a speedy adjustment of value for the farmer. Particularly do we cherish this hope because here in the Northwest the wealth of the farms is the lifeblood of commerce. In fact, the prosperity of the whole nation rests on the welfare of the farmer. At this time the statement made by Adam Smith years ago has peculiar importance: "All wealth comes from the soil." The farmer has done his duty. He increased his grain acreage as he was asked to do; he paid high prices for labor to make his crops—and now, through no fault of his, he suffers. During the war he responded nobly and promptly to every call made on him. He went beyond his means in buying government securities and contributing to humanitarian causes. In the movement to put things on a better basis, he should have first consideration.

Observation and experience during the past twenty-three years have taught us that this nation will weather this period as it has weathered the others. We have no fears for the future. The great thing for us all to do is to cultivate and exhibit the true confidence that is in our hearts.

We believe in the future—so strongly that we are preparing for a larger business during the coming year than ever before in our history. We believe this should be the attitude of all patriotic and progressive business men. So far as it lies within our power we are going to help keep things on an even keel. We shall keep steadily on, just as is to be expected of all houses of reliability and progress. Conditions are certain to change for the better within a short time and we do not propose to retard the movement by any expressions of pessimism or distrust. We sincerely hope that every person residing in Northwestern Minnesota will view things in the same light and look toward the future with full confidence in the stability of our government and faith in the people's ability to withstand this temporary slump in their prosperity.

We print this message because we believe it is our duty to do so. This nation, the strongest and richest in the world, cannot be affected adversely by a temporary uncertainty caused by a readjustment which should have been more gradual.

Optimism is the word today. There are good times ahead.

For the first time in a business career extending over a quarter of a century in Thief River Falls this concern finds it advisable to slaughter prices on its enormous stock. This is a period of readjustment and PRICES MUST COME DOWN. In this great sale first costs have been lost sight of, the aim being to turn everything in the Clothing, Dry Goods and Furniture Departments into cash as quickly as possible. Stocks are the most complete in this section and everything in these three departments will be thrown on the bargain counter.

All Sales Final and for Cash Only. No Approvals or Exchanges Allowed

Have You Your "Edison and Music?"
Get this fascinating book at once. It's free. The complete, romantic story of Edison's seven-year struggle to produce perfect realism in the phonograph.
Beautiful illustrations of the 17 period cabinets. A truly worth-while book.

Stop-See these Xmas phonographs

YOU never saw more exquisite cabinets.
The world has never produced any more exquisite cabinets.
This was the age when Europe built its most luxurious palaces, created its greatest works of art, developed its finest types of craftsmanship.
Mr. Edison's designers went back to the furniture masterpieces of this period. They adapted 17 of them for the modern American home. They made every Edison Cabinet a period cabinet,—even the least expensive.
You must see these cabinets. Only then will you appreciate what wonderful richness and atmosphere one will add to your home.
Ask about our Xmas Budget Plan. It manages your money economically. It makes 1921 help pay; and that's good business.

A Word About Prices
In 1914, as you can ascertain through practically any investment banker, the Edison Laboratories were selling phonographs on a narrower margin of profit than the other manufacturers. Since 1914, the price of the New Edison has advanced less than 15%—and a portion of this is war tax. "Edison stood the gaff" to keep his favorite invention within the reach of everyone.

[illegible] Boosts Farm Bureau; Community Spirit Lauded

[illegible]e Community club meeting held [illegible]y evening was a success in ev[illegible] [illegible]ect. The band played a number of [illegible]ieces followed by community [illegible]

[illegible] Hay gave a very fine talk. [illegible] complimented the band upon [illegible] wonderful improvement in the [illegible] weeks and he then told of his [illegible] the state agricultural department [illegible] and what work was planned [illegible] after which he spoke briefly [illegible] the farm bureau drive now on, [illegible] in Minnesota, but all over the [illegible]

[illegible]yone present enjoyed hearing [illegible]ay and expressed the hope that [illegible]ay come again soon.

[illegible] band played three more selec[illegible] and Stuart McLeod, president of [illegible]ommunity club, gave a short talk [illegible] work and experiences he has [illegible] the past two months in the farm [illegible] drive. Stuart said one thing [illegible] pleased the people of the com[illegible]ty and that was that in no other [illegible] in which he had been did he find [illegible] fine community spirit there is [illegible] here at home and that he was [illegible] to be back again.

[illegible] Henry Clark proved a very in[illegible]esting lecturer Thursday evening. [illegible]ay Ball," was his subject. Dr. Clark brought out very forcibly three leading points: team work, individuality and fair play; these being necessary both to make life successful as well as the ball game. Dr. Clark has been on the Chautauqua Circuit for twenty years and has given his "Play Ball" lecture fifteen hundred times. The third number of our Lyceum course will be here January 7, 1921.

Farewell Surprise Party.

Mesdames Josephson and Sgrey gave a surprise party Friday for Mrs. Rosaire Morin, who leaves this week for Hibbing where Mr. Morin is employed. Each lady gave Mrs. Morin a handkerchief as a gift and games and cards were played. At ten o'clock a delicious lap lunch was served. The best of wishes of Mrs. Morin's many friends go with her to her new home. The community regrets her departure.

Red Cross Short Course Soon.

A Red Cross short course in nursing will be given some time shortly [illegible] Christmas. As soon as a nurse [illegible] secured the dates will be given [illegible]. There will be two classes a day [illegible] for the school girls in the afternoon and one for the ladies of the community in the evening.

SCHOOL NOTES

Notice of Mortgage Foreclosure Sale.

WHEREAS Default has been made in the conditions of a certain indenture of mortgage made, executed, and delivered by EDWIN OLSON and MABEL OLSON, his wife, of the County of Pennington and State of Minnesota, as Mortgagors, to CITIZENS STATE BANK of Thief River Falls, a corporation under the laws of the State of Minnesota, as Mortgagee, upon and covering the following real property lying and being in the County of Pennington and State of Minnesota, to-wit:

The South Half of the Northwest Quarter (S½NW¼), Northeast Quarter of the Northwest Quarter (NE¼NW¼) and the Northwest Quarter of the Northeast Quarter (NW¼NE¼) of Section Fourteen (14) in Township One Hundred Fifty-four (154) North, of Range Thirty-nine (39) West of the Fifth Principal Meridian, containing 160 acres more or less, according to the Government survey thereof,

which said Mortgage bears date the 27th day of June, 1915, and was filed for record in the office of the Register of Deeds of Pennington County, Minnesota, on the 29th day of June, 1915, at 4 o'clock P. M., and was thereafter duly recorded in said office in Book 42 of Mortgages on Page 211, and

WHEREAS, Thereafter and on the 4th day of August, 1915, said Citizens State Bank, of Thief River Falls, by a written assignment, assigned said mortgage to Edwin White, and which said assignment was filed for record in the office of the Register of Deeds of Pennington County, Minnesota, on the 28th day of August, 1915, at 2 o'clock P. M., and was duly recorded in said office in Book 8 of Mortgages on Page 621, and

WHEREAS Thereafter and on the 13th day of October, 1915, the said Edwin White, by written assignment, assigned said mortgage to Fred W. Sharpe, Wheelock V. Towle, Joseph H. Clark and [illegible], Executors of the Estate of Ralph E. Cobb, Deceased, which said assignment was filed for record in the office of the Register of Deeds of Pennington County, Minnesota, on the 15th day of October, 1915, at 8 o'clock A. M., and was duly recorded in said office in Book 41 of Mortgages, on Page 488, and

WHEREAS Thereafter and on the 17th day of February, 1917, Albert R. Moore of Ramsey County, Minnesota, was appointed by the Probate Court of Ramsey County, Minnesota, the Court in which the Estate of Ralph E. Cobb, deceased, is being administered, Administrator de bonis non with the will annexed of the Estate of Ralph E. Cobb, deceased, in place and stead of [illegible], deceased Executor, and the said Fred W. Sharpe, Wheelock V. Towle and Joseph H. Clark, as Executors of the Estate of Ralph E. Cobb, deceased, and Albert R. Moore, as Administrator de bonis non with the will annexed of the Estate of Ralph E. Cobb, deceased, are now the owners of said mortgage, and the indebtedness thereby secured, and

WHEREAS, Such default consists in the failure of said mortgagors to pay the principal of said mortgage indebtedness, to-wit the sum of Fifteen Hundred Dollars ($1500.00), which became due on the 1st day of July, 1920, and to pay interest upon said mortgage, and the indebtedness thereby secured, since the 1st day of July, 1919, and

WHEREAS, by reason of the default as aforesaid, said Fred W. Sharpe, Wheelock V. Towle and Joseph H. Clark, as Executors of the Estate of Ralph E. Cobb, deceased, and Albert R. Moore, as Administrator de bonis non with the will annexed, of the Estate of Ralph E. Cobb, deceased, assignees, as authorized by the said Mortgage and the note thereby secured, have declared, and do hereby declare, the whole of the principal sum secured by the said mortgage, and note to be due and payable, and the same is now due and payable, and

WHEREAS there is claimed to be due upon said mortgage and the note thereby [illegible] of Sixteen Hundred and Twenty-one and 80-100 Dollars ($1621.80) (being $1500.00 for principal and $121.80 for interest thereon), and no action or proceeding at law or otherwise has been instituted to recover the same, or any part thereof.

NOW, THEREFORE, NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, that under and pursuant to the Power of Sale in said Mortgage contained, and the Statute in such case made and provided, said Mortgage will be foreclosed and the real property therein described will be sold by the Sheriff of the said County of Pennington in the State of Minnesota, or by his Deputy, at public auction to the highest bidder therefor for cash, at the Main Front Entrance of the Court House in the City of Thief River Falls in said County of Pennington, on Monday, the 27th day of December, 1920, at ten o'clock in the forenoon of that day, to pay the amount which will then be due upon said mortgage, including taxes and insurance premiums, if any, paid by said Fred W. Sharpe, Wheelock V. Towle and Joseph H. Clark, as Executors of the Estate of Ralph E. Cobb, deceased, and Albert R. Moore, as Administrator de bonis non with the will annexed of the Estate of Ralph E. Cobb, deceased, and including an attorney's fee of Seventy-five Dollars ($75.00) stipulated in said mortgage to be paid in case of a foreclosure thereof, and the costs and expenses of this foreclosure.

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of $17.13, which is claimed to be due and is due at the date of this notice, upon a certain mortgage, duly executed and delivered by Olava Lyngholm and L. H. Lyngholm, her husband, mortgagors, to Wheeler-Misner Loan Company, a corporation of the county of Polk and state of Minnesota, mortgagee, dated May 19th, 1917, and with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the county of Pennington, state of Minnesota, in Book 58 of Mortgages, on page 291, having been filed for such record May 21st, 1917, at 8:30 o'clock A. M., which said mortgage provides that if Mortgagors therein fail to pay interest on a prior mortgage therein mentioned, for the principal sum of $[illegible], on the premises hereinafter described, at the time the same shall become due under the conditions of said prior mortgage, then and in that event, said mortgagee may pay such interest and have an additional claim and lien upon said premises therefor, with interest on the amount so paid at the rate of ten per cent per annum, under the first above mentioned mortgage; that said Mortgagors have failed to pay interest on said prior mortgage in the amount of $[illegible], [illegible] of which became due May 19th, 1918, $[illegible] May 19th, 1919, and $[illegible] May 19th, 1920, and said mortgagee have paid the sum of $[illegible] interest on said prior mortgage; and

Said first above mentioned mortgage further provides that in event of the default on the part of the mortgagors therein in any of the terms and conditions thereof, the whole sum secured by said mortgage shall become due and payable at once, that the whole sum secured by said mortgage is the sum of $27.13, exclusive of said interest on said prior mortgage, and said mortgagee has elected to and does hereby declare the whole of said sum to be due, and in addition thereto, said sum of $[illegible], interest on said prior mortgage, and interest thereon amounting to $[illegible], in all amounting to the sum of $[illegible], and no action or proceeding has been instituted at law or otherwise to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof;

That the premises described in and conveyed by said first above mentioned mortgage are situate in the county of Pennington, state of Minnesota, and are described as follows, to-wit: The west half of the southwest quarter (W½ of SW¼) of section nine (9), in township one hundred fifty-four (154) north, range thirty-nine (39) west of the Fifth Principal Meridian;

Now Therefore, Notice is Hereby Given, That by virtue of the power of sale contained in said first above mentioned mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed thereby, subject to said prior mortgage, which sale will be made by the sheriff of said Pennington County, at the front door of the court house in the city of Thief River Falls, in said county and state, on the 28th day of December, 1920, at the hour of two o'clock in the afternoon of that day, at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt of $121.56, and interest on $105.00 thereof at ten per cent per annum from the date of this notice to the date of sale and $25.00 attorney's fees, as stipulated in said mortgage, and the disbursements allowed by law in case of foreclosure of said mortgage, subject to redemption at any time within one year from the date of sale, as provided by law.

Dated November 6th, 1920.

The Light Cure
You can catch more bugs in light than in darkness. Somewhere in the dark between farmer and consumer somebody is adding a whacking big unearned increase to food and clothing prices. Honest retailers and wholesalers are powerless to prevent it. But——if the searchlight could be turned on these little-understood, in-between transactions, factors like wasted labor, unequal distribution and reckless speculation would stand out in bold relief. To cure these evils, the light method is advocated by your

By farm cost accounting, Farm Bureaus will ascertain actual production costs, as a means of selling at prices fairer to both producer and consumer.
By knowledge of world markets, Farm Bureaus will avoid overproduction of one crop and underproduction of another, with resulting market glut and scarcity.
By fostering coöperative marketing, Farm Bureaus will eliminate speculators and other parasites of the present distribution system.

PHONOGRAPHS AND RECORDS
Can a horn be square?
Not on The Brunswick. It is rounded, tapering into an oval. This Brunswick Tone Amplifier, or "horn," is built to conform to acoustic principles.
Tone is developed scientifically. The Amplifier is built entirely of wood—especially chosen, seasoned and moulded. It connects directly with the tone arm.
There is NO CAST METAL throat on The Brunswick. So unnatural and metallic noises are absent.
Such advanced ideas as these, together with many others, make the Brunswick Method of Reproduction supreme.
You've never heard the finest in tone if you haven't heard The Brunswick. And proof is easy. Merely come and hear it. Make comparisons.
Don't be satisfied with the ordinary. Times change. Phonographs change. Betterments have come.
Before you decide, hear this remarkable Brunswick. Then you'll make a satisfying decision.

SCHOOL MONEY DIVISION MADE FOR HALF YEAR

Tax Apportionment, Regular and Special Aids Total $35,875 For County.

St. Hilaire District Has Largest Increase Because of New Construction.

County warrants for sums totalling $35,875.93 are being sent out from County Auditor T. P. Anderson's office to treasurers of Pennington county school districts. The above named amount covering the November school apportionment, state aid to schools of the county and special aids, was certified back to the county from the state treasurer's office and received by County Treasurer John Gullingsrud on Monday. It is Pennington county's share of the school taxes for the last half of the year 1919, payable during the latter part of 1920.

District 18 Gets Large Sum.

The sums received by individual school districts are, as a rule, smaller than those of last year. District No. 8, St. Hilaire, receives $1,600.60 as compared with $1,822.87 of a year ago, because of extensive constructive work in the form of a new school building. The city of Thief River Falls, District No. 18, receives $17,603.93 as compared with $20,528.00 for last year. An apportionment of $5,934.60 for 1,413 pupils at the rate of $4.20 per pupil, state aid of $10,536.00 and special aid of $1,133.33 make up the total received at this time. The $1,133.33 is aid received for the Smith Hughes industrial school. A tuition of $2,871, a regular aid of $2,500, an industrial aid of $2,502 and an aid of $2,200 for the training department, comprise the larger amount received.

Apportionment of $4.20.

The state apportionment is based on a rate of $4.20 per pupil throughout the school districts. The amounts received are as follows:

Holds Record For Achievement.

The telephone was invented in America over 30 years ago, and ever since, the United States has led the world in the telephone achievement and has continuously given to the public the highest known standard of the telephone service. In no other country has the telephone been so universally used and for this reason in no other country have there been such tremendous problems of engineering, construction and operation to be solved. The Bell system, that is, the American Telephone and Telegraph company and Associated companies, has earned an unparalled record for scientific development, sound financing and efficient public service.

PHONE COMPANIES ASK RATE ADVANCE

Granting Request Will Mean Increase of 30 to 40 Per Cent Over Present Tolls.

Patrons of the Northwestern Telephone company may expect a raise in rates and toll charges of from thirty to forty per cent, according to Geo. L. Sterns, manager of the local office. The telephone company has appealed to the Railway and Warehouse commission for an increase in rates and a public hearing has been arranged for December 10 at St. Paul.

"The telephone rate question," continues Mr. Sterns, "was a see-saw proposition while the lines were under government control. Over two years ago an increase in rates was requested in order to increase salaries of employees to a living wage. Postmaster General Burleson, who was in charge of all telephone lines, referred the case to the supreme court and hearings have extended over a period of 14 months. Salaries were increased somewhat by the companies, though the rates proved insufficient to meet all expenses. Reports of the Northwestern not only do not show a dividend declared or a surplus retained, but they also show that sufficient funds were not available to pay interest on borrowed money. It was also necessary to use funds which had been set aside to cover depreciation."

The Brotherhood Bank Makes its Bow to Public

(Literary Digest.)

The Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers' Cooperative National Bank opened its temporary headquarters at St. Clair avenue and Ontario street, Cleveland, Ohio, on November 1. The institution has a capital of $1,000,000 and Grand Chief Warren S. Stone, of the Brotherhood, is its first president.

The bank will not confine itself to the brotherhood. It will do a commercial savings and trust company business. It will do banking by mail. The Brotherhood has 85,000 members not to speak of the several million workers who belong to other labor organizations. The bank, of course, is open to everybody and is not an exclusive labor bank.

Government Takes Steps To Prevent Home Brewing

The bureau of international revenue hopes to stop home brewing, but it finds it difficult to determine just how to do it, except through a reminder to the public that home brewing is illegal.

As a part of its plan to put an end to the fireside manufacture of beer, the bureau announced it will put a stop to the sale of ingredients going into home brew which are advertised and made for sale as home brew materials.

The bureau denied a report that it would put a stop to the sale of malt and hops, for it has no authority to do so under the law, but it will go as far as it can to reduce home brewing and the home consumption of beer and other intoxicants made in the family kitchen or cellar.

Former Resident Writes.

"New London, Wis.
Nov. 25, 1920.

The Times,
Thief River Falls, Minn.
Gentlemen:

I missed the paper of Nov. 18, so please forward same.

Well, we had a good crop considering the dry spell but we had late rains so got our plowing all done. On Sunday, Nov. 21, we had sleet.

Mrs. Moeller underwent a serious operation at Oshkosh, Nov. 10 and has been in the hospital since Nov. 9. However she is getting along very nicely and we expect her home Saturday.

Prices seem to be dropping fast. Milk is below butter at present so we are making butter at our cheese factory. Calves, 100 lbs. or more are .11; cows, .25 and up; butter, .65.

We have had no snow as yet so cars are still being used. It is cold today but we had nice weather yesterday.

We like Wisconsin very well. There are a lot of fine neighbors. The cities are somewhat old-fashioned. Concrete and gravel roads are very much in evidence. Land is still on the boom here—good land of course.

It looks like snow today. Will close.

Yours truly,
WM. MOELLER

MARKETING OF GRAIN MAY DETERMINE EXTENT OF HOLIDAY BUYING

Cold Weather, Judicious Advertising, and Merchandise Values Prove Important Factors in Bolstering Up Retail Business.

Cold weather, judicious advertising, and "exceptional merchandise values," have assisted in increasing retail business in the leading cities of Minnesota during the past few weeks, but trade is very light as a whole; Christmas buying has not commenced and the November volume of business is considerably below 1919.

These facts were obtained during the past week by The Merchants National Bank of Saint Paul, with the cooperation of banks throughout the state. Bankers in every section sought the opinion of their leading retail merchants and made replies to these questions which were mailed to them by the Merchants National Bank:

How is retail trade in your territory?

Has recent cold affected buying?

Has Christmas buying been begun to any extent?

Do merchants believe there will be heavier Christmas buying this year, than there was in 1919?

"Indications here are that retail trade generally is a little better at the present time than it has been for the past few months."

"One firm interviewed stated that the recent cold wave has increased buying but little, but others state that it has caused quite a spurt in buying by the public and still colder weather they believe will have further influence in that respect. One firm stated that Christmas goods were moving fairly well.

"Firms generally believe that Christmas buying may be somewhat lighter this year than last but nevertheless, they are preparing for a heavy trade. One St. Paul firm states that the reason for its belief that there will be heavier buying this Christmas, is that it has been making an effort for the past month to increase business by means of exceptional merchandise values."

It was noticeable in a number of reports from out in the state that merchants who advertised effectively were getting more business than merchants who depended upon a "regular trade." Conservative reports, without comment, were received from a number of counties including Kandiyohi, Marshall, Rice, Grant, Goodhue, Douglas, Pope, Freeborn, Brown, Anoka, Becker, Kanabec, Clay, Polk, Traverse, Winona, Murray and Dakota. A number of these bankers pointed out that farmers expect to dispose of crops shortly and then may make Christmas purchases. Others forecast that farmers would hold their grain until January or February and that they probably would buy lightly.

A Thief River Falls banker said merchants declared buyers were "holding off." Recent cold increased buying in Mahnomen county. In Lincoln county farmers are expecting further price reductions. Credit sales have been heavy in Fillmore county. Light Christmas business is forecast. Business in St. Louis county was referred to as "fair to slow." Christmas buying has started on a small scale. Lower county merchants declared that all but a few customers are confining their purchases to necessities. Bargain sales are fair-trade getters in Martin county but business has been light. Cottonwood county merchants have increased their advertising. Christmas business in Marshall county will depend upon the ability of farmers to market their grain. In practically every county heard from, farmers are demanding generous credit terms from retail merchants and general store keepers.

Despite the tightness of money, Minnesota farmers, merchants and civic officials are making preparations for a busy 1921. While a few factories in small cities have shut down temporarily, and others have reduced their working forces, it has been noticed quite generally that these interruptions are regarded as temporary.

JUDGE IMPOSES LIFE SENTENCE ON HOLDUP MEN

Earl Cook and Sam Thompson Get Limit For Robbing Bank at Gatzke.

Life imprisonment in the state penitentiary at Stillwater was the sentence imposed by Judge Andrew Grindeland of Warren upon Earl Cook and Sam Thompson, the two young men who held up the Farmers' State bank at Gatzke and made off with over $880 cash on Dec. 3. Both are former service men and under 25 years of age. Hans Hanson, Marshall county sheriff, escorted them from the county jail at Warren to Stillwater on Sunday evening and turned them over to the prison authorities.

Exciting Chase Ends in Capture.

On Dec. 3 the two young men, who later gave their names as Earl Cook and Sam Thompson, entered the Farmers' State bank at Gatzke and holding the cashier, bookkeeper, and a bank customer at the point of shotgun and pistol, secured $880 in cash and escaped in a ramshackle Ford car, which, it was later discovered, they had stolen at St. Vincent a few days previous. Sheriffs of neighboring counties and people in cities and villages in every direction were notified to be on the lookout. After a long and exciting chase in which the citizens of Donaldson fired on the fugitives as they passed thru the streets of that village but without avail, the robbers drove their stolen car off on a side road, ran into a farm yard gate and while trying to extricate themselves were captured by Sheriff Anderson of Kittson county, who was close on their trail.

The robbers were turned over to Sheriff Hanson of Marshall county, who was also hot on the trail and they were conveyed to the county jail at Warren, where they pleaded guilty. Practically all of the stolen money was recovered. Investigation went to prove that the two young men had been engaged in running whiskey across the Canadian border, had been relieved of all of their possessions by government officers, had stolen the Ford car at St. Vincent, and had been pursued by officers into Roseau county, where their trail was lost.

Special Grand Jury Called.

Owing to the fact that the crime called for a sentence of more than ten years' imprisonment, Judge Grindeland called a special grand jury for last Saturday. The two highwaymen pleaded guilty to the bank robbery when arraigned and were sentenced to life imprisonment on Saturday afternoon. Escorted by Sheriff Hanson, they left Warren on Sunday evening and began their sentence at 10 a. m. Monday. Bank or train robbery at the point of a gun was made punishable by a life term of imprisonment at a recent session of the state legislature.

Co-Operative Marketing Helping Potato Growers

Pennington county potato growers are receiving their share of free advertising these days. A recent report in the city papers contains the following:

"Potato growers in Pennington county are receiving at least 80 cents a hundred pounds more for their product than is being received elsewhere because of the fact that they are marketing their wares through the newly organized Minnesota Potato Exchange, according to a report made to the University Farm headquarters by J. J. McCann, county agent for Pennington county.

"Reports from other counties, including Stearns county, Swift county and Kittson county show good prospects for potato production, according to the report. W. V. Longley, county agent for Kittson county, reported that 92 growers of Early Ohios in his county have certified seed stock amounting to 17,825 bushels."

CENTRAL HEALTH BODY IS FORMED

All Organizations in County Will Coordinate and Work Together Hereafter.

A coordinate body to be known as the Central Health Committee of Pennington county, was formed at a meeting of representatives of the various health and welfare associations of the county, held at the Farm Bureau office in the city auditorium on Friday afternoon. Dr. M. G. Milan, medical director of the Oakland Park Sanitorium, was elected president of the new organization and J. J. McCann, secretary. Other officers will be elected as occasion demands.

Six health and welfare organizations were represented at the meeting. W. A. Ziegler represented the Junior Red Cross; Mrs. Andrew Craik the Senior Red Cross; Mrs. J. M. Bishop the Child's Welfare Board; Mrs. J. J. Richter and J. J. McCann the Minnesota Public Health association; Mrs. E. M. Stanton the Woman's club; Dr. M. G. Milan the Oakland Park Sanitorium. Dr. H. W. Froehlich represented the physicians and surgeons of Thief River Falls. Representatives submitted reports of organization activities during the past year. Another meeting has been called for the middle of January, no definite date having as yet been designated.

The above named organizations, with the assistance of the physicians of the community, have of late years been working along very similar lines in an endeavor to raise the physical standard of the county, in ignorance of each other's plans and progress. Through the activities of this newly formed central committee it is expected that work will be planned and carried out in greater harmony. The primary object of the committee is to keep each organization in touch with what the other organizations are doing, thus securing a correlation of work and saving a duplication of effort.

FARM AND BANK MEN ARE AT CROOKSTON

W. W. Prichard, Sr., of the Prichard Lumber company, C. L. Hansen of the First National bank, O. Ramstad of the Citizens State bank, Robert McGinn of the Farmers and Merchants State bank, and R. M. Sheldon of the First and Peoples State bank, are among those who are attending the farmer-banker conference at Crookston today. D. McKetrich, county agent from Grygla, and members of the soliciting team of the Minnesota Farm Bureau federation, who will assist in the farm bureau membership drive in this county during the coming ten days, are also in attendance.

The object of this conference of farmers and bankers of northwestern Minnesota is to seek more friendly relations and better understanding between financial institutions and farmers. Meetings were called for Marshall, Owatonna, Crookston and St. Cloud for December 13, 14, 16 and 17, respectively by L. E. Potter, president of the Minnesota Farm Bureau Federation from Indianapolis where he is attending the American Farm Bureau convention, the plan having been approved by W. P. G. Harding, governor of the Federal Reserve board. The meetings at Marshall and Owatonna drew hundreds of farmers and bankers from points in the southern part of the state.

BIG TIME PLANNED BY ELK COMMITEE

Initiation Ceremonies Tomorrow Evening to Be Followed By Leap Year Dance.

Elks and their ladies, numbering between four and five hundred, are expected to join in the initiatory festivities and leap year ball which will be presented by the Elks' ladies at the city auditorium tomorrow evening. B. P. O. E. No. 1308 is engaging in a large membership drive which closes Jan. 31. At this first initiation tomorrow evening between 35 and 40 men of northwestern Minnesota will become true and loyal Elks and depart with their new antlers. Initiation will take place at the Masonic hall, beginning at 8 p. m., after which the Elks will adjourn to the auditorium to participate in the dancing.

The evening's entertainment at the auditorium is to be given by the Elks' ladies. Mrs. L. H. Lawrence is acting as chairman of the committee having in charge the last leap year ball of the season. A musicale will be given for the ladies while the initiatory work is going on in the Masonic hall. Card tables will be provided for those who desire to play cards until the hour set for dancing arrives. Snyder's orchestra will furnish the music. A buffet luncheon, served by caterers from the Brunund hotel, will be the feature of the midnight hour.

Superintendent W. A. Barnard of the Soo line has arranged for a passenger coach to be attached to way freight No. 66, coming from the north, to accommodate visiting members from along that line.

High School Debaters to Clash Tomorrow Evening

Thief River Falls high school will meet Roseau high school in the first debate in the elimination contest for the state debating championship tomorrow evening at 7:30. The subject is: "Resolved—That the Open Shop is Preferable to the Closed Shop in Our Industrial System." Thief River high taking the affirmative stand and Roseau the negative. The local debating team for this first contest is made up of Esther Soards, Vernon Copp and Edward Fiterman. The Girls Glee club of the high school will give two selections preliminary to the opening of the debate.

In a preliminary debate on the same question in chapel on Tuesday afternoon, the affirmative won out over the negative side; the negative in this instance being taken by other members of the debating forum.

WILL GO AHEAD WITH DITCH 68; NO. 70 CHANGED

Amount Already Spent Does Not Permit Abandonment of Project, Says Board.

If Cost Proves Excessive Matter May Be Dropped When Bids Are Opened.

The hearing of objections to county ditches No. 68 and No. 70 before the county commissioners at the Pennington county court house on Friday and Saturday resulted in the establishment of No. 68 and a compromise between petitioners for, and objectors to, No. 70. Many angles of the drainage situation and individual needs had to be taken into consideration and it was necessary to adjourn the hearing set for Friday to Saturday morning.

The county commissioners voted to establish Ditch No. 68 and advertise for bids for its construction, reserving the right to reject any and all bids in case the costs proved excessive. The ditch was petitioned for earlier in the season by farmers who now claim that the cost of its construction and the burden this assessment would entail, were not realized at the time. Many of the original petitioners objected to the establishment of the ditch on the above mentioned grounds and were in favor of laying aside the project for the time being. Considerable expense having been accumulated through the necessary engineering viewers reports, the county board voted to establish the ditch with the expectations that its construction can be delayed for a time.

Compromise on No. 70.

Ditch No. 68 as established calls for the construction of a main artery and two parallel ditches extending from points two, three and four miles west of Thief River Falls, southward along section lines of Norden and Sanders townships west of St. Hilaire, from where the route follows as a single ditch that of Judicial Ditch No. 40, emptying into Red Lake river just below St. Hilaire.

The objectors and petitioners compromised as regards the construction of County Ditch No. 70 agreeing that Ditch No. 10 already constructed may be cleaned out and deepened for its entire course, with the exception of the extreme lower end where it empties into Red Lake river, and that the approximate mile and one-half of ditch extending from the northwest corner of section 20 along the north line of sections 20 and 21, township of North, to the Thief river, be established. The two proposed laterals, extending along the west line of sections five and eight and thence to the river at the quarter line of section 17, Rocksbury township, will not be established.

Cost is Too High.

The objections to No. 70 in its entirety were based upon the estimated cost of constructing the short lateral north of Thief River Falls, the viewers' report calling for an expenditure of upwards of $15,000 for one and one-half miles of ditch and the construction of one bridge. Objections was also raised because of waters brought down from Marshall county through ditches recently constructed, and doubt as to the efficiency of ditch No. 10 in carrying off the same. Owing to the depth and inaccessibility of Ditch No. 10, the cost of further excavation and cleaning out will be great.

DITCH 30 PROJECT GREATLY MODIFIED

Plan Now is to Expend About $75,000 Instead of the $400,000 Recommended.

Approximately 150 farmers from Marshall and Pennington counties, many of whom were represented by Thief River Falls attorneys, assembled at Warren last Thursday for the purpose of protesting against the establishment of Judicial Ditch No. 30 as proposed by the engineer's report. The hearing was conducted before Judge Grindeland. After the hearing of testimony over a period of two days—Thursday and Friday—the opposing factions compromised on the establishment of nine miles of ditch called for in the original project.

The nine miles of ditch which will be established virtually constitute an extension of Judicial Ditch No. 18, or a connection leading from Ditch 18 where it turns north, westward along the county line to the Thief river. It is thought that this direct outlet will carry off waters brought upon the northeast and southeast sections of Pennington and Marshall counties by ditches already constructed. The original project as petitioned for called for the construction of this nine miles of ditch, but laterals and extensions were added until the engineers report called for a total of 34 miles. The viewers report estimated the cost of the 34 miles of construction, the building of suitable bridges and the regrading of roads, at approximately $400,000. Farmers along the proposed routing objected to this extensive excavation on the grounds that the tremendous expense could not be borne at this time. It is estimated that the cost of the nine miles of ditch established will not exceed $75,000, and that benefits equally great may be derived from its construction.

MRS. C. M. ADKINS CALLED BY DEATH

Wife of Prominent Physician Dies at City Hospital Following Brief Illness.

Mrs. C. M. Adkins, wife of Dr. Adkins, prominent physician and surgeon of Thief River Falls, died at the Physicians hospital here at 6:30 this morning. Mrs. Adkins was taken ill about a week ago. Her condition becoming serious she was removed from her home to the hospital the first of the week, undergoing a surgical operation as the last means of saving her life. The crisis of her illness was reached Tuesday, when it was not expected that she would live. Last evening her condition was reported as being slightly improved. The news of her death early today leaves the city in mourning.

Council Enters Protest Against Increased Rates

The following protest against an increase in telephone rates and toll charges was forwarded yesterday by wire to the Railroad and Warehouse commission at St. Paul by City Attorney H. O. Chommie, following a discussion by the city council in session on Tuesday evening at which George L. Sterns, area manager for the Northwestern Telephone company, entered a plea in behalf of the telephone company and its employees:

"City council and mayor of Thief River Falls protest against increase in telephone rates—rates are now as high as the public can stand. Prices on all commodities are falling and we believe the request for an increase should be denied on the merits or at least postponed until values have become more certain."

NEW UTILITY IN LONSON FAMILY WELL RECEIVED

Local Manufacturers Place Patented Improved Currency Container on Market.

Bankers Enthusiastic Over Convenience Offered and Demand Rapidly Growing.

Bankers and others in all sections of the country having occasion to ship currency by mail or express will soon have brought to their notice a device for which they have long been seeking. It is a currency container combining the advantages of absolute safety with convenience and low price. The utility is one of the Lonson family of boxes, some of which have for years been in use throughout the United States and all of which enjoy a degree of popularity never attained by any other articles intending to meet a like purpose.

This product is also being turned out by the Times Printing and Manufacturing company of this city, it having been invented by R. H. Ross, president of that concern, and patent having been applied for by him. It is furnished to the trade by the Lonson Manufacturing company of St. Paul.

All Requirements Met.

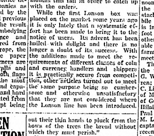
The difficulty heretofore has been to find a container that would meet the requirements of the postoffice department and express companies as to safety. As will be noted by the accompanying illustration, all previous objections have been met, the result being a one-piece box embodying strength, safety, convenience and lightness. It is manufactured from stock known as heavy red rope, the toughest and most durable paper product on the market. Corners are tripple re-enforced while walls and ends are double tickness. Both flaps are heavily gummed with the most reliable adhesive produced and capable of withstanding moisture and hard wear. Nothing can be extracted from the box without such attempt being easily noticed by the ricipient and tampering with the contents in any manner is impossible without first demolishing the container.

Made in Several Sizes.

These boxes are made up in sizes to meet the demands of banks of different classes, there being four in the group at present with the probability that more will be added as the demand develops. There is no limit to the range, and factory facilities have been installed with a view to wide expansion.

The Other Members.

More than ten thousand banks scattered throughout every state in the Union now employ Lonson utilities, testifying to the great saving in time, work and space made possible by their installation. By far the largest number are of the De Luxe variety, made especially for the nesting of unwrapped coins, while the Utility box for wrapped coins is fast gaining in popularity. Besides these there is the Lonson Fibre Envelope, made with great care of tough, heavy material and especially designed for the mailing of cancelled vouchers, remittences, bonds, abstracts, legal documents and securities. This is an envelope of extra width and capacity and helps emphasize the general utility of the Lonson line.



Growing in Favor.

The demand for the products already on the market has taxed the capacity of the factory, a double crew being worked continually for two months this fall in order to catch up with the orders.

While the first Lonson box was placed on the market some years ago it is only lately that a systematic effort has been made to bring it to the notice of users. Its advent has been hailed with delight and there is no longer a doubt of its success. With the additions made to meet the requirements of different classes of coin and currency handlers and shippers it is practically secure from competition, other articles turned out to meet the same purpose being so cumbersome and otherwise unsatisfactory that they are not considered where the Lonson line has been introduced.

TO SAVE CHILDREN FROM STARVATION

Situation in Central Europe Appalling and Aid Must Be Sent Without Delay.

Three and a half million children are facing starvation in Central Europe and an appeal has been sent to every city, town and hamlet in the United States for contributions to help in keeping them alive until next harvest. The work of collecting funds has been placed in the hands of a committee of which Herbert Hoover is president and Franklin Lane, former secretary of the interior, treasurer.

The stricken districts in which these children reside face a situation more serious than any in the world's history. They are absolutely helpless and the neighboring countries are unable to come to their rescue, being themselves in but little better condition. The entire civilized world is concerned over the probable outcome and nothing but the most liberal response on the part of the United States can avert a death roll that would be a disgrace to humanity.

It is figured that ten dollars will sustain the life of a child until such time as these nations are in a position to help themselves and President Wilson has started the subscription list by providing for 20 of the sufferers. In announcing his donation the president said:

"At Christmas time, peculiarly the child's time, we should think of this sad European problem in terms of children rather than money. Ten dollars will represent a child's life in Central Europe. I shall adopt 20 of these children as my own temporary wards and I can think of no better use to which I can put $200. I suggest to my fellow countrymen that the circles around their Christmas trees will be incomplete unless mingled with their own expectant children they shall visualize some of the waifs of Central Europe stretching out their thin hands to pluck from the bows of the trees the bread without which they must perish."

Every charitable organization in the country is assisting in this campaign, the following being prominently connected with the work: American Friends Service committee, Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America, Y. M. C. A., American Red Cross, Jewish Joint Distribution committee, Y. W. C. A., American Relief Administration, Knights of Columbus and European Relief association.

A. S. Sapero of this city has volunteered to act as chairman of the drive for Pennington county and contributions should be sent to him. Committees will be organized and the work of solicitation rushed. The churches will be asked to aid, pastors being expected to call the attention of their congregations to the matter next Sunday.

Larger Quarters Demanded To Accommodate Postoffice

The Thief River Falls postoffice may be removed to other quarters late in 1921, unless the present building can be remodelled to suit growing needs. A notice that bids will be received has been posted. The lease on the present property occupied expires Nov. 21, 1921; bids will be received up to and including April 1, 1921. The notice as posted calls for 2400 square feet of floor space, the present 1549 square feet rendering the quarters all too cramped. Unless the building occupied at present can be altered to suit government requirements, removal to another location will be necessary. The lowest bid will be the one accepted. Postmaster Morgan states that further particulars will be furnished upon request.

First Basket Ball Game of Year, Auditorium Tonight

The basket ball teams of the Fosston and Thief River Falls high schools meet at the city auditorium tonight in the first game of the season. The game will be called at 7:45. This is the first in a series of nine battles, not including the tournament which will take place at Crookston toward the end of the season. Coach Tommeraasen states that the team is in exceptional trim and that they have shown great spirit in work-outs with the second and legion teams. He predicts a good lively entertainment in this evening's clash.

Special Meeting of Elks Called For This Evening

A special assembly of the Thief River Falls lodge of Elks has been called for this evening for the purpose of introducing applications and balloting on proposed members. The meeting will be held at the Masonic hall as usual, but owing to the fact that tonight is the regular meeting of the Masonic Chapter, the Elks' assembly will be called at 7:30 sharp.

FARMERS ASKED TO TIE UP WITH COUNTY BUREAU

Intense Campaign Begins in Pennington County to Increase Membership.

Every Farm Home Will Be Visited and Advantages of Organization Shown.

Meetings Scheduled to Be Held All Over County During Coming Week.

The farm bureau membership drive started this morning with four state solicitors in the field. This number will be increased to eight tomorrow morning and on Monday the movement will be in full swing with 12 solicitors making a farm-to-farm tour of the county. Many meetings are scheduled for different places during the campaign. Each solicitor will be accompanied by a local farm bureau member. The names of every land owner and farmer in the county have been secured and each one will be interviewed, either during the main drive of a week or ten days, or during the follow-up work. Townships have been allotted to members of the soliciting crew for the purpose of convenience. The drive will continue until the county has been thoroughly gone over.

Solicitors Brook No Obstacles.

These plans were formulated and announced at a booster meeting held in the auditorium yesterday afternoon, after the change in weather and the fall of snow had been given consideration. Members of the soliciting crew who arrived here in the forenoon expressed great enthusiasm over the drive and would brook no obstacles. Travel will be by automobile where possible, by team where it is impossible to drive a car, and on foot to points it is impossible to reach otherwise. In spite of the disagreeable weather a good attendance of farm bureau members marked the meeting yesterday.

The soliciting crew is made up of the following men: A. F. Carlson, G. W. Head and Fred Clark of Warren; Ned Price, J. W. Taylor and S. C. Lind of Aitken county; C. F. Hood of Mason City, Iowa; Stuart McLeod of Goodridge; R. J. McKercher of St. Hilaire; A. F. Aino of Grygla, and Paul Englestad of Thief River Falls. M. L. Warner of Warren will act as captain of the team. This crew has recently completed farm bureau drives in Becker, Morrison and Clay counties, arriving here from Clay county.

Will Offer Explanation.

Meetings are scheduled for the following places on the dates designated: Friday evening, December 17, at 7:30 Sather school, Rocksbury township; Saturday evening, December 18, at 7:30, Weiner school, Smiley township; Sunday, December 19, at 2:00, Vallhalla hall, Rocksbury township; Monday, December 20, at 1:00, St. Hilaire; Monday evening, December 20, at 7:30 Hazel; Tuesday, December 21, at 2:00 Goodridge, and Tuesday evening, December 21, at 7:30, Erie. Captain Warner will speak at each meeting. An explanation will be offered of the American Farm Bureau federation, of the State Federation of Farm Bureaus and also of the organization of townships into units for local farm bureaus. Letters announcing the meetings have been sent out to farmers and landowners of the county where that has been possible, though but a limited number could be reached. No special invitation is to be considered necessary, according to those who have the drive in charge. Everyone is requested to attend one or more meetings whether or not they believe in the farm bureau movement in order that they may at least hear an explanation of the plan.

Typical American Organizations.

Eighty-five to ninety per cent of farmers visited in recent drives have joined the farm bureau, M. L. Warner, captain of the soliciting crew, stated in an interview. He continues: "Farmers have been wanting just such an organization as this for years and this drive affords many the only opportunity they have ever had of joining. The work throughout the United States will proceed until every agricultural county and township in 37 states of the Union have been visited in a house to house tour. The organization is partially completed at this time. In 80 counties where drives have been completed, an average of 1000 members per county have been enrolled as members.

"The Farm Bureau Federation and the county bureaus are emphatically non-political. They side with none and co-operate with every organization that is in sympathy with agriculture. It is the most sane, typically American association in existence. The bureau does, however, maintain a legislative committee at St. Paul and one at Washington for the purpose of keeping tab on all legislative work and movements."

Ask Embargo on Wheat.

An embargo for one year against the importation of wheat, wheat flour, barley, rye, oats, flax, wool, hogs, cattle and sheep is proposed in a bill introduced Saturday by Representative Young, republican, North Dakota. He also introduced a bill establishing a permanent schedule of important duties on these items after the one year embargo.

Choral Society Working On Songs For Christmas

The regular rehearsal of the Choral society at the Commercial club rooms on Friday evening drew an exceptional attendance of members. The total enrollment at present is 52 members, the tenor section showing the greatest increase in strength. The rehearsal period extended over a period of an hour and a half, some excellent work being done on "The Hallelujah Chorus" from "The Messiah" and "Lovely Appear" from the oratorio, "Redemption." The remainder of the period was spent in the singing of Christmas carols and other selections.

In order that the philharmonic unit may be able to proceed with greater efficiency, two rules which are to be rigidly enforced, have been adopted. All members of the society are expected to be in their respective places and ready for rehearsal at 8:00 p. m., sharp on Friday evenings. Roll call will take place at each rehearsal and any member absent for two successive evenings without sufficient reason will be promptly dropped from the rolls of the organization. A concert program will be given by the society sometime during February, it was announced at the meeting on Friday evening.

There's a Difference

Ever notice the difference when a man fumbles for money in his pockets, and when he draws forth a check book in paying a bill?

Isn't there something about a checkbook that commands one's respect? It shows that the owner is a man of good business sense and up-to-date methods.

You too can use this modern way of handling your money and paying your bills. Deposit with us the checks and drafts that come to you in business transactions—then pay by check.

Do You Want to Invest $1,000 in a Swedish Government Bond?

Because some of our customers of Swedish descent wanted to invest their money in bonds that were backed by the government of Sweden, the same as our Liberty Bonds are backed by the U. S. Government, we have bought a few $1000 Swedish Government Bonds.

First Come, First Served.

As you know, the Swedish Government is in very excellent condition financially. Sweden is a strong and thrifty nation. Sweden's credit is good all over the world, even in these unsettled times.

If we didn't consider them good investments, we wouldn't sell them to you. They are good, and just at this time we can let you have a $1000 bond for $990. 6% interest will be paid you the 15th of December and June of each year. They are due in 1939, but the Swedish Government reserves the right to pay them any time after June 15th, 1929, at a premium of 2%, which means at $1020.

Keep Away From Speculation.

We don't want people in this community to lose their money in high sounding schemes offered by strangers. We want everyone to know that this bank will get good investments for people, or look up the security behind any investment they may be interested in. We make no charge. We do it because we want to keep our community prosperous.

Do you want one of these bonds?

SAVE THE CHILDREN.

Money is not plentiful and there are a large number of uses for what little there is, particularly just at this time. Besides, our people are rather tired of being asked to donate toward one thing and another, such action on their part having been a feature of the program of living for some years past.

But we cannot stop yet, no matter how weary we may be. Unless we at once do something to prevent it, more than three million children will starve to death before next harvest in the Balkans. These are the innocent victims of conditions brought about by the crimes and errors of others. They had nothing to do with bringing on the disaster that has overtaken them, yet they are the principal sufferers.

Thirty-three million dollars must be raised in the United States if these children are to be saved. Herbert Hoover is at the head of a committee attempting to raise the money, all of which must come from America, neighboring European countries being totally unable to extend a helping hand, no matter how willing they might be.

America saved 6,000,000 European children winter before last by its prompt relief action. The number of dependants is at this time smaller but the need is fully as great and our duty as unmistakably pointed out. The cry reaching us from these stricken regions is the most poignant yet heard, coming as it does from starving children. The great heart of America has never failed to respond to such appeal and must not fail now.

Ten dollars will keep some child in Poland, Hungary, Austria, Czecho-Slovakia, Germany or nearby land alive until next harvest. It is not a large sum to stake against a human life but is vitally, indispensably necessary. President Wilson has stated that he will take twenty of these as personal charges and has sent $200 to the committee. Thousands of others, each according to his ability, will do likewise. There will be an army of such lifesavers scattered all over this country but there is no danger of it becoming too great.

This appeal reaches us at Christmas time when children seem to be uppermost in our thoughts. While looking out for those in which we are immediately interested, let's not forget the millions over in Europe for whom the holiday brings no promise except that of suffering and death.

Not one dollar goes for overhead or collection expense in this campaign. Every penny collected will be distributed under the direction of Mr. Hoover, which is a guarantee that it will be judiciously spent. As Americans we are all proud of having helped this man make such a wonderful record in Belgium. Let us stay with him throughout this closing chapter of the most intensely pathetic drama the world has ever seen.

THE BANKER'S POSITION.

The farmer is not the only man with troubles of his own these days. The banker also has a few vexing problems on his hands, although it would perhaps be a hard matter to convince the man who tills the soil of this fact. Not a few of those who now find themselves pressed financially—and their number is by no means confined to farmers—blame the banker when accommodations are curtailed, evidently believing that he is acting arbitrarily. Nothing is further from the truth. A banker does not do things of that kind merely for the fun of it or just because he has the opportunity. If he did he would soon cease to be a banker.

Fault is most often found with the smaller country banks—the kind with which the farmer usually does business. Very few of these institutions can carry any large amount of paper in their own vaults and it is generally rediscounted by some larger bank in the cities. Just now the amount thus held represents an enormous sum. At maturity these large banks naturally look to their country associate to make good on the loan, particularly when a money stringency for any reason hits the section. The country bank in turn must ask the borrower to liquidate. Upon refusal or inability on the part of the latter to comply there is dickens to pay all along the line. The banker has the recourse of bringing suit and being awarded judgment, but all this takes time and is a process that he very much dislikes to employ. In most cases he secures the money from some other source and carries the borrower along. This contracts his available cash reserve as well as credit and he has less money to loan to others. There is nothing arbitrary or even mysterious about it. Demanding that a loan be paid when due is strictly business under all conditions. The borrower should so regard it and not cuss the banker who, in all probability, is doing everything he possibly can to make things come out to everybody's satisfaction.

Another mistake the farmer often makes is in believing that men in other lines of business are favored while he is often left out in the cold when in need of money. The fact is that banks, particularly in the Ninth Reserve district, would rather grant loans secured by good farm paper than any other kind. At a meeting of bankers and farmers held this week in Mankato for the purpose of discussing the farm credit situation, Harry Yeager, field agent for the Federal Reserve bank, stated that agricultural and allied interests have enjoyed the benefits of nearly two-thirds of the total sum loaned out in the Ninth district. This is only natural, as agriculture is the principal industry in the region covered by the bank, but it disproves the contention advanced in some quarters that the farmer is being discriminated against.

The outlook is improving and all these things will soon straighten themselves out. Nothing is to be gained by getting mad and refusing to act rational. Such attitude can only postpone the restoration of normal times. Just remember, when particularly vexed, that we are facing a situation for which no one class is particularly to blame and which all must do their best to help remedy. Bankers, merchants and manufacturers enjoy the present situation no more than does the farmer and often find themselves as sorely pressed. By working sensibly together to bring about better conditions for all, each class will be helping itself. Prosperity in this country cannot be spotted. When prosperous conditions prevail we all come in for a share. On the other hand, when there is depression, even though temporary, we are all to some degree involved.

JOURNALISTIC WORK OF HIGH SCHOOL STUDENTS ATTRACTING ATTENTION

Here is more high grade advertising for Thief River Falls. The Publishers' Auxiliary, a trade paper for newspaper men, published in New York and circulated all over the country, has the following to say about the High School Progress page appearing weekly in The Times:

"The class in journalism of the Thief River Falls high school furnishes material each week for one page in the Thief River Falls Times. In addition to an editorial staff they have what is designated as the "prowler staff" and a perusal of the page indicates that some clever newspaper people will come out of this progressive school."

CURBING IMMIGRATION.

The house of representatives at Washington this week passed the Johnson immigration bill by a vote of 293 to 41. The measure prohibits all immigration for a period of one year, there being no exceptions and no so-called "favored nations."

This is the most stringent law of its kind ever passed by congress and is variously commented on by the country at large. The feeling is general that the senate will refuse to concur and that no bill so sweeping in its intentions can at this time be placed on the statute books.

That something should be done to check the flow of immigrants which threatens to deluge the United States by reason of the unsatisfactory economic conditions in Europe is admitted, but just how this can best be done is a matter not so easily decided. The outlook is none too bright for the laboring classes here now and would become decidedly worse if the workers were compelled to come into competition with hordes of aliens who would naturally be forced to take any kind of employment offered and at almost any wage the employer chose to pay. There was a time during the war when places might have been found for an unlimited number of arrivals, but no such condition exists now. While actual unemployment has not as yet reached alarming proportions in this country, the situation is vastly different from what it was only a short time ago and there are men and women without jobs. A condition that would make the outlook serious is easily imaginable—even though no such contingency is probable—in which case the addition to our population of a few millions of outsiders would not greatly help matters.

The United States certainly has the right to protect its own citizens first, and if congress finds that stopping immigration for a period is necessary in order to accomplish this result no fault is to be found with the decision. It may seem unnecessary to exclude certain classes—those from the British Isles and Scandinavia, for instance—but no provision can be made in their favor. More strict qualifications for admission would in all probability prove of little avail in stemming the tide and it may be that total exclusion is the only remedy. It looks like a drastic measure but we have a right to look after our own, even though the country should temporarily cease to be known as a "haven for the oppressed."

THE TELEPHONE DEMAND.

Whether or not the telephone companies should be permitted to charge a higher rate than at present for their service ought to be a simple question to answer. If the service is worth more than is now being paid and if the companies are not getting a reasonable return on their money, they should be permitted to charge more. It is a plain business problem.

Telephone service in the United States is low in cost besides being the very best in the world. The companies wish to maintain the standard and to improve it where this is possible. They say that the present rates not only precludes anything in the way of expansion and development but makes it impossible even to hold the systems at their present efficiency. If such is the case the rate raise should be permitted.

Those who have looked into the matter say that the request of the companies is just and reasonable. It is also evident that unless a larger revenue is forthcoming, costs will have to be cut in some direction and the only path such reduction can take at this time is toward employe's wages. This is the most unsatisfactory direction of all and one that the public at large is interested in seeing avoided.

The companies have not declared a dividend in five years, according to official records, and the stock has never yielded more than five per cent. It has been impossible lately to meet the interest charge on the outstanding indebtedness of the companies, to say nothing of creating a surplus as profits for the stockholders. A sufficient increase to enable the companies to meet the interest charges and actual running expenses is now asked, nothing being even yet demanded in the way of profit. In case these things are found as represented—and officers of the Railroad and Warehouse commission admit their correctness—it would look like simple justice to grant the advance requested.

The people of Thief River Falls as a rule do not want to see wages cut and will certainly object to anything that will impair the service, which is at present the best in the state. They do not want to pay more for their telephones either, but that seems to be the only alternative. At any rate, before condemning the companies it might be well to look at the subject from all sides.

BRIGHTER TIMES AHEAD.

A review of the financial and general business outlook recently sent to correspondent banks in other sections of the country by the Mechanics and Metals National bank of New York, contains a calm and dispassionate review of the industrial situation at the present time. It is pointed out that while the drop in prices of commodities of all kinds has disturbed conditions everywhere, there is healthy rebound discernible which augurs for greater stability and continued prosperity. As an indication of what the immediate future promises, the following quotation from the circular is assuring:

"In contrast with the extreme optimism prevailing less than a year ago, the severity of the present reaction has thrown a spirit of depression over the entire community. This has added to the momentum of the decline in prices and intensified the curtailment of business in a fashion that manifests afresh how strongly people are governed at times by their emotions rather than by their judgment. As a lack of buying helped to cause a fall in prices, the fall in prices has now caused a lack of buying. The depression seems at first glance to work in a downward cycle, lack of buying causing lower prices and shutting of factories, and these in turn causing unemployment and reduced purchasing power."

"Yet such a cycle cannot continue, and more than the so-called cycle which raised prices and wages to their recent extravagant heights. Conditions, discouraging as they may seem, contain within themselves the seeds of their own change for the better. The orgy of extravagance has passed. Dubious enterprises are being abandoned. Much of the labor absorbed by luxuries will now return to the manufacture of essentials. A stop is coming to the extravagant and wasteful business methods that grew up in the last few years. Insecurity of tenor and less overtime have already greatly raised the efficiency of labor. The efficiency of management will now increase; to overcome the handicaps of high costs of production and lower prices, improved methods of construction will be introduced. The freight congestion problem, which for a time seemed insoluble, is solving itself. To the gradually increasing efficiency of the railroads under private management and the return of self-dependence upon earnings, plus higher standards in loading and unloading and in car movement, has been added the factor of a declining volume of goods seeking to be moved."

EFFERVESCENCE

About time for some public spirited person to call a meeting to perfect a state organization of the Home Brewers.

Oolai says the boys about town are right pert and on the lookout since they saw the ad that advertised "New Ladies' Gloves."

A man gambled his wife away at a game of poker in Kalamazoo a few days back—but the other fellow said he was only fooling.

The article headed "It Will Surely Relieve Congestion" turned out to be—not a solution of the traffic problem, but just another one of those Brownminus ads.

In our town some of the enormous campaign posters are still on the boards. Not so bad at that. Never was the "Steady America" more pertinent than right now.

The case of Knut Hamsun, winner of the Noble prize, does not necessarily prove that the man who is a failure at everything else will succeed in the field of literature.

Griffith is in Minneapolis and claims to be looking for a "good looking man with brains." It's about time for some of the women folks to take a try at reversing an old quip.

Everyone nowadays is wondering just what effect the grafting of monkey glands onto a human will have. Probably about the same as that produced by a good stiff kick of other-cal Canadian whiskey.

OBSERVATIONS

(W. T. Noonan in Baudette Region.)

It looks as if the Christmas plum pudding will consist of only plums and pudding this year.

The speculators can force wheat down, but they can't force the farmer to raise it next summer.

You'll have to hurry if you are to avoid doing your early Christmas shopping late.

A local man claims that he bought a pig for $5, spent $10 in feed and sold it this winter for $15. What's he kicking about? Didn't he have the use of the pig all summer?

Unless the government stops the gamblers from chasing down the price of wheat the average farm will consist chiefly of a mortgage before long.

The lads used to sing "We Won't Go Home Until Morning," but they have switched to "Home Sweet Home" since prohibition made home brew so popular.

Unless he is guaranteed a decent price for his products you can hardly blame the lad down on the farm for getting down on the farm.

Exchange says that a law abiding citizen should consider it an insult to be offered a drink. But then, the Bible tells us to swallow our insults.

In an essay competition held recently a little girl described a friend as "one who comes in after the rest of the world goes out." That kiddie preached a great sermon in thirteen words.

Remember you'll have to do your Christmas shopping early unless you do it early.

The Right Start on Road Program Most Important

(Minneapolis Journal.)

The action of Speaker-elect Nolan in summoning an informal committee of the Minnesota House to early conference on good roads legislation, is entirely commendable.

It will be approved, no doubt, by all that portion of the membership that is intent on seeing that the popular mandate implied by the recent vote on the Good Road Amendment is faithfully carried out.

As the conference is to be open to all members, and as Lieutenant Governor-elect Collins promises due Senate participation, there can be no criticism that anyone has been left out.

It is already plain that good roads legislation is to be the "big thing" of the session. The leaders of the Legislature should make sure that it does not become the "good thing" of any private interests.

The State is preparing to collect large funds and to lay them out over a period of years in building up a complete system of State roads. The Legislature is called upon to provide the machinery for the purpose—the organization by which plans are to be perfected, contracts let, work supervised, economy and efficiency enforced.

Not merely honesty, but wisdom and judgment are required in getting this great public work under way. That all manner of graft must be securely guarded against, goes without saying. But graft implies dishonesty, and it is entirely possible for the organization to go wrong honestly.

Waste is an even greater peril than graft. Waste lies in wait in all public organization, because the personal incentive for economy that makes for good management in private enterprise, is lacking. Public spirit is the substitute, and public spirit is often balked by intricacy of organization and distribution of responsibility.

The Legislature will do well to set a concentrated responsibility over the good roads machinery it is about to set up. If responsibility is diffused among too many, the door is opened to abuses that mean great waste of money and loss of efficiency.

Whether one man or three should be put in control, may be a question. But in any event he or they should be clothed with full power and held answerable for results. And the pay should be put at such a figure as to make it possible to secure the best ability for this monumental work. Then it will be up to the appointing power to name the right man or men.

Masons and Stars to Hold Joint Installation Soon

Joint installation of Eastern Star and Masonic officers will be held at [illegible] Masonic hall on Monday evening, Jan. 3, this date having been set at the regular annual meeting of Masons on Monday evening and upon the request submitted by officers of the Eastern Star. The combination event will be followed by an evening of music and dancing.

The following officers were elected at the annual meeting of the Winslow Chapter No. 182 of the Eastern Star on Wednesday evening, Dec. 8: Worthy matron, Miss Effie Hamry; worthy patron, H. C. Durin; associate matron, Mrs. H. C. Johnson; conductress, Mrs. E. O. Mogensen; associate conductress, Miss Anna Quale; secretary, Mrs. Andrew Bottleson and treasurer, Mrs. C. R. Crandall. Appointive offices have not as yet been announced.

Northern Lodge No. 236 of the A. F. & A. M. held their annual election on Monday evening. Officers elected were: Worshipful master, O. E. Berge; senior warden, Ray L. Johnson; junior warden, R. F. Spen- [illegible] treasurer, C. L. Hansen and [illegible] etary, H. C. Durin. Appointments [illegible] other offices will be made at an [illegible] date. From the large number [illegible] titions submitted it is evident the lodge will enjoy an exceptionally busy season directly following the holidays. It was announced [illegible] meeting that third degree work [illegible] take place on Monday evening, [illegible] 20.

Re-Enlists as Soldier After One Experience

Omer Anderson, well known young man of this community, has enlisted for a one year period with the Fifth Engineers, which regiment is at present stationed at Camp Funston, Kansas. Orders removing the regiment to Camp Meade, Maryland, have been received and movement of troops will take place at once. Mr. Anderson is a former service man, having served 20 months in France with the 20th Engineers, Spruce division. Since his discharge from the military service, he has been employed as a clerk at Hermanson's hardware store. He left for Minneapolis last Tuesday evening.

The Thief River Falls recruiting station was discontinued yesterday. Sergeant Hinkson, who has been in charge for the past several months, has been ordered to Baltimore, Maryland.

End of Alexander Suit.

A communication from Charles Alexander, releasing Coolseat Bros. & Drees of Marshall, Minn., from any further claim for damages, was read before the city council in session on Tuesday evening. The council voted to make payment of the $1300 which was withheld from the contract price for installation of the storm sewer recently completed here by that firm, pending the filing of suit by Charles Alexander. The claim for $1300 damages was submitted to the city council several months ago, following injury incurred by Edna Alexander in falling over debris left upon the sidewalk by the contracting firm in excavating for sewer installation.

Legion and Auxiliary

[illegible] J. Eklund Post No. 117 is [illegible] of the 24 in the Minnesota Department upon whom will fall the [illegible] of redeeming the debt of comradeship to disabled legionnaires and ex-service men. Upon less than three [illegible] posts rests the duty of Minne- [illegible] in this great national campaign of the American Legion for its disabled comrades.

Not every Minnesota post has been privileged to have the honor and satisfaction of carrying out this great work—of seeing that each disabled soldier receives the compensation due him from the government and that he be put in touch with his comrades in the legion, by sending him the American Legion Weekly and by furnishing his name to some of his former buddies so that they can write him, in addition to seeing that once a week or oftener a committee from the post visits each sick and disabled soldier—whether or not he is a legionnaire—and sees that he is provided with books, magazines, smokes—the things that make the hospital life of [illegible] sick man somewhat easier. In [illegible] hospitals and sanitoriums of the state [illegible] are 457 ex-service men, many [illegible] whom are in a very critical condi- [illegible]. And the number is increasing too fast.

[illegible] R. Lawrence, Oscar Smith and Howard Smith of the Thief River Falls post made the first official call at Oakland Park sanitorium on Friday evening. Patients there are Carl [illegible] Staven of Ulan, Minn., formerly [illegible] member of Company I, 352nd Infantry, 88th Division; Wm. R. Aus- [illegible] Mahnomen, Minn., formerly a member of Company H 129th Infantry, [illegible] Division and Alfred J. Anderson [illegible] t. Hilaire; formerly a member of [illegible] pany 8, 163rd Infantry, 41 Division. The three men all saw extended service with the late American Expeditionary Forces in France.

Flowers have been sent to these patients and Legion and Auxiliary are arranging to send Christmas boxes and greetings to each. Any residents [illegible] Thief River Falls who wish to cooperate in dispensing holiday cheer to [illegible] three veterans, for whom the war [illegible] not yet over, may do so by getting in touch with Edward Brevig at the Citizens' State bank. The Legion [illegible] not consider such an act as being [illegible] of charity; rather should it signify a great esteem for services rendered the state and nation.

[illegible] illiam Austin, while a regular patient at the sanitorium, is at present [illegible] the Physicians' hospital where he [illegible] undergone an operation. Officers of the post extend a general request to all former service men to [illegible] upon him, aside from the regular [illegible] s made by Legion members.

December 15 is Date For Payment of All Post Dues

It has been the purpose of the local post and the state department of the Legion to have all membership dues paid up by the 15th of this month—yesterday. A state-wide competition has been on between posts as regards the prompt payment of the same. The department specifies that the American Legion Weekly subscriptions will be stopped where members did not pay dues previous to Dec. 15. Secretary Smith states that this has not been the practice locally and that members heretofore remitted dues promptly, if not within the time limit set. Last year all but two members sent remittances within a short time after the time limit had expired. The membership has been cut down from 212 to less than 178 thru demits or transfers granted to members who logically belonged to the Goodridge and St. Hilaire posts, which were formed after the establishment of the Elmer J. Eklund Post.

Officers of the post again request that members make their remittances promptly, as a large paid up membership will mean the heartiest of indorsements of the four-fold bonus bill. Ex-service men not at present members of the Legion are respectfully invited to join the ranks.

Preparing For Big Legion Dance Last Night of Year

The Legion dance committee has formulated plans for the New Years Eve ball, which should make the occasion one of the most enjoyable of the season. Announcements will be mailed to legion members and the dancing public early in the coming week. Though the announcements may take the form of an invitation, this does not mean that anyone will be excluded. Everyone receiving a card will be asked to notify his neighbor and to bring friends or relatives. The announcements are to serve as a method of advertising. Snyder's five-piece orchestra consisting of piano, violin, cornet, saxaphone and drums, will furnish the music. Charles Vorachek will act as floor manager. The dance committee requests all members of the legion and everyone interested in the welfare of the former service men to assist in advertising the dance and to make the occasion one to be long remembered. A committee appointed by the Women's auxiliary will stage an advance ticket sale commencing early in the coming week.

Bad Weather Holds Down Attendance at Auxiliary

Due to the weather, which took the form of a blizzard yesterday, the attendance of the regular meeting of the Woman's auxiliary to the Elmer J. Eklund Post in the Commercial club rooms was very small. Several new members were added to the rolls, however, and charter members expressed themselves as feeling greatly encouraged. The membership drive scheduled for the first of this month has been postponed until immediately after the holiday season.

Members present unanimously voted to co-operate with the Legion in securing Christmas cheer to the three former service men who are at present confined to the Oakland Park sanitorium. Christmas boxes are to be sent to these three men and are to contain those homey trifles which are so expressive of appreciation. It was also voted to assist in making the Legion dance on New Years Eve a success in every way. A committee of four was appointed for the purpose of making an advance sale of tickets to this first festivity of the new year. This advance sale will take place during the coming week. Plans were also discussed for a general meeting and banquet of legionnaries, members of the auxiliary, and their families, which event will probably take place before the close of the winter season.

Society and Club

Joint Club Meeting.

The pre-holiday season was ushered in by one of the first delightful Xmas events of the season when the members of the Girls' Community club [illegible] the Woman's club held a joint meeting in the Commercial club rooms. The hall was replete with attractive decorations in keeping with the season. Large baskets of poinsettias were used and elaborate bell-shaped arrangement of red and green decorated the chandeliers. A large candelabrum supporting red tapers adorned the refreshment table from which the guests were served. Sprays of evergreen completed the decorative scheme.

An interesting program which was interspersed with community singing of Xmas carols led by Miss Maude Johnson, was a feature of the evening. Miss Una Nelson's rendition of "The Three Wise Men" was excellent. Miss Ausilga Sorenson, who has proven herself an artist on several occasions, offered two beautiful violin selections. Her solos were accompanied by Miss Laura Forde, pianist. Mrs. O. F. Mellby, whose vocal numbers are always appreciated, sang "The Birthday of a King," accompanied by Miss Maude Johnson. In addition to these numbers Mrs. Sterng delighted the audience with a reading "Uncle Moses on Christmas." Three little boys sang "We Three Kings of the Orient Are." At the conclusion of the program a delicious lunch was served. The guests numbered approximately 125.

Season's Merriest Affair.

All who attended the dancing and card party given by the Masonic lodge at their club rooms on Friday evening are more than enthusiastic over the occasion for the evening was spent in the merriest of fashions. Fifty couples, Masons and their wives, Eastern Stars and their husbands, or Masons escorting Eastern Stars, attended.

The receiving took place in the library and billiard rooms, where many played preliminary card games. Directly the orchestra assembled, the majority of the gathering deserted the card tables for the dance floor. Circle one-step enlivened the dancers and enthused the orchestra. Square dances were even attempted and proved one of the features of the evening, for many found that the less they knew about the intricate figures, the greater the pleasure and merriment. Shortly after midnight a buffet supper was served and dancing resumed, to continue until 2:00 a. m.

Members of the Masonic dance committee state that dancing parties will be given as a monthly event thruout the winter season and feel assured that a good attendance is guaranteed by the success of this first combination event.

Christmas Services.

A splendid musical program, under the able leadership of Mrs. Irma Mallory Fisher, will be a feature of the joint Christmas service of the Methodist and Presbyterian churches on Sunday evening, Dec. 12, at the M. E. church. The choir of both churches will offer the following program:

"Arise, Shine, for Thy Light is Come," Maker—Choir.
"The Infant King," Neidlinger—Mrs. C. A. Nason.
"Seek Ye the Lord," Roberts—Choir
Duet, "He Shall Feed His Flock," Messiah—Mrs. M. W. Brink and Miss Ella Miller.
"The King of Love My Shepherd Is," Shelly—Choir.
Offertory, selected—Miss Laura Forde.
"The Birthday of a King," Neidlinger—Miss Grace Iverson.
"Hark, Hark, My Soul," Shelly—Choir.
"The Virgin's Lullaby," Buck—Mrs. Irma Mallory Fisher.
"The Festival Te Deum," Buck—Choir.

Studio Recital.

A studio recital was given on Saturday, Dec. 4, by pupils of Miss Laura Forde, piano, and Miss Ausilga Sorenson, violin. On Saturday, Dec. 11 a piano recital was held at the studio. The following program was given:

"Sparkles" (Pennington), by Maxine Johnson.
"A Summer Reverie" (Torjussen) Op. 7, by Ansof Dahlen.
"Sunshine and Flowers" (Courtney) by Francis Shanahan.
"To a Wild Rose" (Macdowell) by Theresa Fuller.
"To Spring" (Greig) by Muriel Loken.

Obituary

Mrs. Mina Hoard.

On Dec. 11 at 11:30 p. m. Mrs. Mina Hoard of 521 Riverside Ave. passed away, after a severe attack of pneumonia.

Mrs. Hoard was born in Tromso, Norway, Jan. 26, 1854, where she was married to O. A. Matheson in 1862. They came to this country in 1881. After living in Minneapolis for a year they settled on a homestead in the town of Sanders, where the husband died in 1887. To this union was born seven children of which three are still living.

In 1890 she was married to Erick Hoard. To them were born three children. On account of the ill health of Mr. Hoard, the family moved to this city, where he died in 1915.

Mrs. Hoard was a member of the Baptist church, a loving mother and a devoted Christian.

Four sons and two daughters are left to mourn her loss: Supt. A. C. Matheson, Browns Valley, Minn.; Mrs. R. B. Shetler, city; John F. Matheson, Big Sandy, Mont.; Henry W. Hoard, city; Minton Hoard, Fargo; Lilly B. Hoard, a student at the University of North Dakota at Grand Forks.

Funeral services were held from the Baptist church, Dec. 13, at two o'clock. Interment was made in Greenwood cemetery.

(Contributed)

Mrs. Erick Hoard has left our midst. She is gone but not forgot- ten. Forever will we cherish her memory.

Mrs. Hoard was of a kind and sunny disposition which won her friends everywhere. She herself being a true friend had a vast treasure in friendship. She was a most unselfish character, ever ready to lend a helping hand. It seemed as if she was never happier than when she could do some act of kindness to a needy neighbor.

Mrs. Hoard was a devoted mother, not alone to her own children, but a mother to everybody. Exceedingly brave in trouble and her faith in Jesus Christ her Savior, was profound. To Him she clung in joy and in adversity, holding fast to the end, hence there is laid up for her a crown of life.

Many are the hearts that she gladdened and many are they who reaped of her hospitality. We who knew her best realize the loss we have suffered and stand torn and bleeding at her grave. Nevertheless there is real joy in our hearts when we think of her gain.

Dear, sainted mother, you have gone to your eternal home—to the God you loved so well. Far from us to begrudge your sweet peace and rest, but Oh, for the joy, when in heaven we greet you.

A FRIEND.

Bertha O. Swanson.

Mrs. Bertha Swanson, wife of W. A. Swanson residing near Rhoda, died in this city on December 8 from pernicious anemia, with which she had been afflicted for the past four years. The deceased was 44 years, 1 month and 10 days old. Interment took place on December 11 in Oak Park cemetery.

Leland W. Swanson.

On Dec. 11 occurred the death of Leland Swanson, five year old son of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Swanson of St. Hilaire. Death followed an operation for appendicitis. The child was in a critical condition when brought to this city about ten days before. Funeral services will be held at St. Hilaire.

Margaret Egge.

Mrs. Margaret Egge of Halma died in this city on Dec. 10, from bronchial pneumonia, at the age of 79 years. The deceased was ill eighteen days. Burial will take place at Butterfield, Minn., on Dec. 14.

NEIGHBOR ACCUSED OF STEALING FLAX

Earl Reeves of Cloverleaf township, charged with having appropriated and sold 13 bushels of flax seed from a granary owned by Wm. H. Kline and B. G. Rounds, railroad employees residing at Thief River Falls, was arraigned before Judge N. W. Tarrant on Tuesday and was held to answer to the grand jury at the February term of court. He was released on $300 bail.

Kline and Rounds, who are employed by the Soo line out of this city, farmed a quarter section in Cloverleaf town this past year and have their grain stored in an isolated granary on the land. Mr. Kline testified that he found a window of the granary broken in on Dec. 11 and approximately 13 bushels of flax gone. He also stated that wagon tracks leading to the building were visible. It is claimed that on that date Earl Reeves, giving his name as Joe Smith, sold 13 bushels of flax at the Red Lake Milling company's elevator, cashing a check made out to Joe Smith at the Oen Mercantile store.

Clerks at Oen's, when put on the stand, recalled the check but could not identify Reeves as the man who cashed it. They stated that the check was cashed before the dinner hour on December 11. H. Matthew, manager of the Red Lake Milling company's elevator, positively identified Reeves as the man who sold the flax and who received the check made out to Joe Smith, but that the check was not issued until early in the afternoon of the 11th. Gilbert Durnheim stated on the stand that he saw sacks covered with straw in a wagon owned by Mr. Reeves. Mr. Mathum, who formerly resided on the farm now run by Mr. Reeves, stated that following the latter's trip to Thief River Falls he shook flax seeds from sacks which were lying in the latter's wagon.

Reeves, who lately moved onto a farm within a mile of the granary from which it is alleged he stole grain, testified that he was in the city on December 11 and that he went to the Farmers elevator for the purpose of buying coal, which he eventually purchased of the Prichard Lumber company. He stated that his wagon contained a sack of potatoes and hay for his horses. A neighbor took the witness stand and testified as to defendant's good character and standing in the section of Dakota from which both have recently moved to Pennington county.

The evidence submitted was considered as being sufficient to bind Reeves over to the grand jury.

MOVIE FILMS FOR SCHOOL AUDIENCES

Large Audiences in All Sections of County Enjoy Educational Subjects.

The showing of "The Priceless Gift of Health" and "Little Jimmy's Prayer," two educational films shown thruout Pennington county during the past two weeks by Professor D. A. Leonard of the Community Moving Picture Service, created a profound impression among the general public and particularly those who are, as a rule, adverse to the showing of moving pictures. The two films were shown in the remotest sections of the county as well as in the city of Thief River Falls and adjacent villages. Many children as well as grown-ups who have never until now had an opportunity of viewing moving pictures, were present.

Farmers Much Interested.

The showing at Singer's hall, Erie, proved an exceptional one, drawing many farmers and their families from points in Marshall county, more than twenty miles distant. The hall proved too small to accommodate the large assembly and many were turned away. The showing of the films at the Wylie school house also packed the large room to the doors and standing space was at a premium. The two features, with two supplementary films showing the production and manufacture of tea and coffee, were also shown at St. Hilaire, Sanders school, Highlanding school, Goodridge consolidated school, Mavie school, Silverton, Hazel Farmers' club hall and at the Pennington county court rooms at Thief River Falls. At each exhibition a vote of parents of school children was taken and in every instance approval of the pictures shown and of the plan to purchase one of the picture machines for county use was unanimous. Representatives of the Junior Red Cross, the Senior Red Cross, the Public Health association of Pennington county and practically all of the physicians of Thief River Falls attended a demonstration showing at the court rooms on Sunday afternoon. These also expressed their heartiest approval unanimously.

"The Priceless Gift of Health," in which school physicians and nurses are shown examining the school children and which, in a very entertaining and interesting fashion, illustrates the essential rules of health, has been shown in every city and rural school of the state of Massachusetts thru the interest of the state government. "Little Jimmy's Prayer" proved an inspiration to all and especially those children who had the privilege of seeing the film.

May Purchase Machine.

The series of entertainments was given under the auspices of the Teachers' Progressive League of Pennington county. Very small admission charges were made, but a substantial sum remained for the league treasury after all expenses were defrayed. In case it is decided to purchase one of the picture machines the entire proceeds of the ten exhibitions, minus Professor Leonard's traveling expenses, will apply on the purchase price. The machine is a very compact one, using films of a non-inflamable composition which are slightly narrower than those ordinarily used for professional purposes. The purchase price is $240. Films are rented from the United Film Corporation at a cost depending a great deal upon the nature of the picture. Other film companies are planning to offer their best attractions on this smaller film. The machines have been placed in many city and high schools and a campaign is now under way to have them available for every rural school.

Professor Leonard is the head of the Sociology department of Concordia college at Moorhead, Minn., and is also connected with the Minnesota University Extension Division. He has just completed an outline of a three month's program of educational pictures to be shown afternoons and evenings at the Auditorium, St. Paul, Minn., under the auspices of the St. Paul Institute.

REDUCTION IN WAGES OF 'PHONE EMPLOYES REGARDED PROBABLE

George L. Sterns, Local Manager, Explains Necessity For Granting Higher Rates at Commercial Club Luncheon Last Thursday.

Many interesting facts regarding the proposed increase in telephone rates were brought to light through an address given by George L. Sterns, area manager for the Northwestern Telephone company, before members of the Commercial club and business men of the city in assembly at the weekly club luncheon on Thursday. Mr. Sterns' remarks were pertinent to the public hearing granted the Northwestern Telephone company by the Railway and Warehouse commission, which was scheduled for yesterday.

Chief switchboard and assistant chief operators are receiving at the present time a monthly wage of $85 and $65 respectively. Operators wages are lower down on the scale and operators receiving instructive training are started in at a wage of but $10 per month, according to Mr. Sterns. Other employers of skilled and unskilled labor who were present at the luncheon, testified to the effect that these wages enumerated by Mr. Sterns are far smaller than the "going wages" which prevail today in most business organizations, large or small. Higher officials of the Northwestern have stated that it may become necessary to reduce wages paid employees unless the hearing of yesterday were to result in a favorable increase in telephone rates and toll charges, a procedure which would impair the service rendered patrons of the company. Local employees of the telephone company have expressed their willingness to accept a reduction in wages at such a time as it shall become consistent with wages paid in other lines of endeavor and with the cost of living. Mr. Sterns placed the financial condition of the telephone company before those assembled in such a way as to show clearly the cause for the public hearing called for yesterday. His explanation was entirely along a line which demonstrated the need of greater revenues by the company in order to at least retain the present scale of wages and to avoid any impairment of the service rendered. At the close of his talk comment was made by those present upon the excellent telephone service in this city and the secretary of the club tendered the club's thanks to Mr. Sterns.

An unusually good attendance marked the week's club luncheon. With the approach of the holiday season, their Thursday noon affairs have been discontinued until after January 1, 1921.

Woll Concert Thursday Pleased Large Audience

Carsten Woll, tenor, and Esther Erhart Woll, pianist, appeared in concert at Trinity Lutheran church on Thursday evening, before an assemblage of music lovers that overflowed into aisles and entry-way. Mr. Woll is a vocalist of ability. His voice is one of those rich, mellow tenors of high range and wonderful volume. He sang in English, French, Norwegian and Swedish. His best work was done in the Norwegian language, his native tongue.

Mrs. Woll, who accompanied the tenor in his singing and who gave several piano solos, delighted everyone. She is gifted with a pleasing magnetism and charm of personality. Her selections were well chosen and executed with a clearness and fluency which won for her the frank approval of her audience. She shared equally in the honors with her husband.

Following the concert, as an unscheduled part of the entertainment, Mr. Woll sang in a comparison with his Edison records, many of which are in Norwegian. He is considered one of the greatest singers of Norwegian songs of two continents.

RED CROSS PROGRAM FOR COMING SEASON APPROVED BY BOARD

At a meeting of the executive committee of Pennington County Chapter, American Red Cross, held at the commercial club rooms last Saturday afternoon, the action of the committee having in charge the hiring of a county nurse was approved. Dr. G. M. Milan, chairman, stated that he had been assured that a competent person for the post would soon be available. It was decided to purchase an automobile for her use, this matter being also left to the committee.

The St. Hilaire branch of the association was voted a refund of about $400 of the funds of the chapter. Mrs. H. W. Froehlich, chairman, explained that this sum, which should have been sent to Red Cross headquarters, had by mistake gone to the war relief board in New York. This happened quite a while ago and there was no way of straightening the matter out. In order that the trouble might be adjusted in the most satisfactory manner it was thought best to take the sum from the general treasury and credit it to the St. Hilaire branch.

Considerable money belonging to the chapter is held in different banks in the county and an investment committee composed of W. A. Barnard, John Bratrud and Dr. Milan was appointed to look after its investment. Certain parcels of real estate, also the property of the chapter, were placed in the hands of the same committee with the aim of disposing of them to the best advantage.

It was agreed that at present regular meetings of the committee need only be held quarterly, unless otherwise decided upon by the president.

Secure Bonus Money From State For Ex-Service Men

The First National bank of this city has this week received $5,000 worth of soldier bonus certificates from the state. This represents the amount advanced by the bank for the benefit of those who needed their money before the state was in position to secure it through the regular channels. Most of the boys who applied have already called for their share, the allotments ranging from $100 to $400. For a large number this amount comes in very handy just before the holidays.

The Times, Pennington county's newspaper, $2 per year.

CAUGHT WITH THE GOODS

We Are Forced to Unload---It's the Only Way Now

A Word From Mr. Oen, Pioneer Merchant: "It is almost 32 years since I began doing business among you folks; that's quite awhile. In that length of time I have seen this country develop from a wild prairie region to the country homes we have now. During 32 years in business I have never had a sale. I did not take much stock in them, after observing most of the so-called sales. I have made up my mind to give the folks here a real sale. You can take it from me, it means just that. I have been holding off from doing it. I thought it would not be necessary. But the backward season and the general condition of things makes this sale a demand almost. I want you all to come here with the firm conviction that you are going to buy goods far below what they are actually worth. My business career of 32 years is back of every dollar you spend here. The goods must make good or we will. REMEMBER, the sale is on ALL goods in our big Shoe, Clothing and Dry Goods Departments—its all got to sell.

It's not an Auction---Just Factory Prices. G. A. Darnell, acting for Lindeke-Warner Sons, St. Paul, will be in charge of this store until Friday, Dec. 24. Read every word---and come.

I HAVE JUST GOT TO SAY IT

When I arrived here and saw the store I was to work in I could hardly believe my eyes; the size and class of goods carried almost is unbelievable, and when I say folks, you should all be proud of this store, I mean it. In this line of work I see all kinds of towns and all kinds of stores but this one is the best it has ever been my pleasure to connect up with, and I know we are going to have a sale here that will be a world beater. Let's all get together!
G. A. DARNELL,
Manager.

ST. HILAIRE

Leland Swanson.

On Saturday evening at the Physicians' hospital at Thief River Falls, occurred the death of Leland Swanson, the five-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Swanson, who reside just southwest of St. Hilaire. Leland was operated upon for appendicitis about a week and a half previous to his death. Although he did not rally very rapidly after the operation, his death came as a sad blow to his parents. The funeral was held at the Swedish Lutheran church in St. Hilaire at 1:30 on Tuesday afternoon, after a short service at the home of the boy's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Swanson. The sympathy of all their friends in St. Hilaire and Black River is extended to Mr. and Mrs. Swanson and family in their deep sorrow.

STEINER

John M. Johnson

Thursday night, Dec. 2nd, at the Physicians' hospital in Thief River Falls, occurred the death of John M. Johnson, one of the pioneer residents of this community. The cause of his death was pleurisy. Mr. Johnson was born at Dalarne, Sweden, sixty-eight years ago. He immigrated to this country while a young man and was one of the first settlers of this vicinity, taking up a farm about one and one-half miles east of Steiner where he resided until his death. Mr. Johnson was a man who won the friendship of his neighbors and those with whom he became acquainted. Early last spring he was taken ill and spent some time as a patient, first at the Physicians' hospital at Thief River Falls and then at the hospital at Warren. He came home after a while but has never been well since. Mr. Johnson was unmarried and is survived by brothers and sisters in Sweden and relatives in this country, some of them residing near Wylie, this state, besides a host of friends and acquaintances who mourn his loss. The funeral services were held at Thief River Falls Saturday after which interment was made at Greenwood cemetery.

New Railway Rates and the Cost of Living

In its issue of October 11, the New York Times, commenting Editorially, has the following to say—

"WHEN the railways were allowed to increase rates to offset their compulsory increase of wages, it was predicted that the consumers of goods would pay both bills.

"The test of these theories is now at hand. The increase of rates is in full force, and prices of goods are falling as fast as is desirable. The higher cost of moving freight has not reduced the volume of traffic.

"The cars are moving faster and carrying more tons, with the result that fewer cars are necessary, as well as fewer men.

"That is 'making' money by saving it. The railways could not have done it alone. The shippers who used the cars for warehouses, and who loaded as little as was necessary to get carload rates, instead of as much as the cars could carry, are now co-operating with the railways.

"Here there is another hint why the increase of rates will not be a burden to consumers of goods. The costs of production will be reduced with the improvement of railway service."

	Sept. 1919	Sept. 1920
Average Trainload	765 tons	865 tons
Average Carload	29.2 tons	30.3 tons
Average Car Movement	23.7 miles per day	31.5 miles per day

YOUR TIME HAS COME

THE time you have been waiting for in order that you might buy the clothing, men's furnishings, and shoes you need for the winter at prices far below those which have prevailed for long. Are you open to conviction? If so, we are ready to prove that we can save you money on men's and boys' wear by buying at this store. A comparison of goods and prices is all we ask. We have the stock and it must be sold! The price we should get for it has been lost sight of entirely and even original costs are matters of small consequence.

These Are Genuine Bargains

And the price reduction extends to everything in the store. We are up against a condition that makes it necessary to turn a large part of the stock into cash on short notice, and the buying public gets the benefit. No other such bargain opportunity will be presented this season. Read every line of what follows; it will pay you.

Editorial.

One of the important things that are learned or rather unconsciously acquired at high school is a sense of responsibility. Each student is held responsible for a certain amount of work and for his own conduct at school. In later life a person can reach no greater heights than he can be responsible for. The high school education of today is a preparation for the years when a person must shift for himself and it is therefore proper and necessary that the student become practiced in responsibility along with the rest of his education.

The majority of the students at the Lincoln high feel a due responsibility toward themselves, their teacher and their dear Alma Mater. They realize that as the twig is bent, so is the tree inclined, and that as their conduct is in school, so will it be in the years to come. But we must admit that there are a few who do not realize their responsibility. There are a few who are in their junior and senior years, who are almost thru high school and have not yet learned that they are responsible for their conduct at school; at classes, in the halls and especially at chapel. The majority of the students take this trial [illegible] really educational and [illegible] and when one is in a part of the program they thoroughly enjoy it without any disturbance.

Let us all take advantage of the opportunity to learn responsibility as a part of our high school education. If a person is to be a success he must learn it sometime, and as in everything else, experience is a dear teacher.

Debate.

The first debate of the year will be held in the high school assembly on Friday evening, Dec. 17th, when Roseau comes here for the first of a series of elimination contests among the members of the Minnesota Debating League.

The state is divided up into ten districts, in accordance with the congressional districts. In the ninth district, in which Thief River Falls and Roseau are located, there are eleven debating teams. These will be paired off, and the four winning teams will again be paired off, until only one team remains undefeated. This team will then meet the champion of another district, and these inter-district contests will continue until only two remain undefeated. These two teams will go to St. Paul to debate for the state championship.

We have a team that is capable of winning the state championship. The members have been working diligently under the expert guidance of Principal L. N. Pierce, who has had considerable experience in debate coaching. The debaters who will represent Thief River Falls high school tomorrow night are Esther Soards, Edward Fitterman and Vernon Copp. With the proper support this team should put up an argument that will make Roseau gasp for breath and wish for a new English vocabulary. It must be remembered, however, that no matter how great a debator's ability may be, he may fall down at the last moment if he sees that very few are interested enough in the debate to be present. Let us show our visitors from Roseau that both school and city stand solidly behind their debating team.

Remember the time, Friday evening at eight o'clock.

Girls' Basketball Game.

The first basketball game of the season was played Friday evening when the girls' team of Holt came down and played the Thief River Falls team at the gymnasium. The game was interesting and exciting from beginning to end even if our girls made the game very one-sided by carrying the score up to 31 while Holt made but 2. Unfortunately Holt by mistake made a basket for Thief River Falls which raised our score from 22 to 31.

We are very fortunate in having such a bunch of peppy girls on the basketball team this year and we are looking forward to some real fast and hard-fought games after they get started playing some of the better teams.

Basket Ball December 16; Locals to Tackle Fosston

The local high school basket tossers will open the twenty and twenty-one season on Thursday evening at the city auditorium with a bang and a victory. This prediction does not mean that the locals are over-confident, but it does mean that the boys will win because each and everyone of 'em are full of real pep and fight. There will be an abundance of thrills, speed and fight for the spectators from the start until the final whistle is blown. Fosston, as the many fans of the indoor sport know from past encounters, are well capable of supplying their share of battle and from reports received are exceedingly well fixed to make it a fast and interesting game.

It is anticipated that one of the largest crowds in the history of Thief River Falls high school basketball, will see this battle for district supremacy.

That's us—check the 16th in your date book; 'cause it's going to be a big night.

Girl Scouts Organize.

Miss Johnson, the school nurse, had charge of the meeting. She explained fully the purpose of the Girl Scouts. The eighth grade girls are also allowed to be in patrols with the high school girls.

The girls in the different patrols are put on a campaign for funds. These funds will be used to finance the organization.

Miss Dix has been appointed by the girls as the leader of all the patrols. She appoints the lieutenants. A patrol consists of eight girls; from the eight girls a captain is elected.

Some of the work that the girls will take up is camping, hikes, first aid work and home work.

In order to become a girl scout, a girl must pass an examination. There are three classes to which they may belong. First class, second class and Tenderfoot. It would be the aim of every girl to belong to the first class, which they may if they pass the examination.

Every girl in high school should be interested in the work. The Girls' Scout does very much in helping better a community and the high school girls should consider it [illegible] importance.

Reserve Jan. 3. Why?

Physical Examinations.

Physical education should be combined with physical training from a standpoint of hygiene correction of defects, recreation and education.

The purpose of the training is to develop the [illegible] of [illegible] tion. The physical training given in the high school is compulsory to all students. Students who are on the basketball teams being the only ones exempt.

Coach Tommerasen supervises the work and is making great progress. The periods of Mondays and Wednesdays are given to the girls and Tuesdays and Thursdays being given to the boys. 3rd, 4th, 5th, 6th and 7th periods are given to the training.

The students are taught the proper care of the body, the teeth, eyes, diet and the needed amount of rest. Coach Tommerasen is somewhat handicapped as he is short of time and apparatus, but as soon as the apparatus arrives he will put the work ahead as fast as possible.

The physical training work is also carried out on a smaller scale in the grades, each principal being the instructor. Coach Tommerasen visits each grade on Fridays, looking over the work of the past week, which as a rule is very satisfactory.

This work has been carried on in all colleges and universities for some time and is just being introduced into high schools. This is the first year our school has offered the valuable training for its students.

The students themselves are very much pleased with the work and all are lending their sincere support towards it!

We are all anxious for the training apparatus to arrive. The work will then be pushed ahead with assured success.

Alumni Opinion Wanted.

Keen interest is being taken by the members of the alumni and letters are being received expressing appreciation of the columns of the "Progress." Various suggestions are being received which are under the serious consideration of the staff in hopes of bettering our columns. Roy Bergen, in writing from Milwaukee, where he is attending Marquette University, suggests among other things, the forming of a "forum" for the purpose of allowing the members of the alumni to express their views of interest to the school and public. The Progress is interested in receiving any letters from former alumni—let's hear from you and start the "forum" moving—sit down and write us now.

Staff Meeting.

Tuesday evening of last week the "Prowler" staff had a meeting at which the members had the opportunity of meeting with representatives of the Dakota Photo Engraving Co. They presented samples and annuals for which they had done the engraving. The propositions they gave were received favorably by the staff. No definite action was taken however, as to making a deal with them for the engraving, but they will eventually be the first to be considered when a decision is made. Valuable information pertaining to the making up and the publishing of an annual was procured by the staff through these men who were well experienced in that type of work.

All pictures such as those of the faculty, organizations, seniors and the class groups should be taken at the earliest opportunity and as many as possible now, because it will enable the staff to get the engraving done at an early date and consequently be able to publish the annual at the proper time.

To My Dentist.

The hours I spent with thee, Cruel Heart,
Have saved my precious pearls for me,
I count each patched up one of them apart
But oh, your fee—Your awful fee!

Each hour a pearl, each pearl a prayer,
To ease a jaw with anguish wrung,
I tell each one unto the end,
And there a bill is hung!

O memories that stab and burn!
O deadly drill and nerve that's lost,
I view each tooth and strive at last to turn
And ease the cost, the top, and cuss the cost.

Senior Class Meeting.

The seniors of '21 are actively engaged in planning and making arrangements for their last term here.

Tuesday of last week they had a meeting for the purpose of discussing matters of importance pertaining especially to means of getting sufficient money to defray the various expenses of the class during the coming year.

The president urged all the seniors' graduation pictures taken now, in order that the cuts may be sent to the engravers for the annual before Christmas. The individual pictures are being taken at Salveson's Studio, the price of which is $5.00 per dozen with an additional cost of 40c if mounts are desired. It was also urged that class dues be paid now, including any back dues and this year's dues of 40c per month up to date. If all the members of the class respond to this it will be an easy matter to defray expenses which the class incurs.

Mr. Ziegler spoke to the class and advised that action be taken in providing for the Annual or the Class Memorial and other incidentals. He stated that he had no doubt but what the class would succeed in this if everyone responds, cooperates and pushes the various affairs which means success to the class. Attention was called to the fact that there is a deficit from last year's publication and that it is a poor policy to go into anything before clearing previous obligations.

A proposition of backing up a troupe of college dramatists was put before the class. It was determined that it would be decidedly advantageous both financially and otherwise. A committee was selected to make the necessary arrangements. More will be said in regard to this in a later issue.

Chapel Exercises.

On Wednesday, Dec. 8th, during the regular chapel period, the high school students were favored with an address on physical education by Dr. Milan, tuberculosis specialist at the Oak Park Sanatorium.

From his speech it is found that there are three stages of tuberculosis and the far advanced cases are seldom curable. Tuberculosis often comes unexpectedly and is sometimes indicated by loss of appetite, small fever, uneven pulse and indigestion.

There is as yet no scientific treatment used to combat tuberculosis germs, but the general method used by the doctors today usually follows this outline: Plenty of rest, good food, sufficient fresh air and the amount of exercise that is demanded by the body to keep in condition. A change of climate is not essential for the patient, if he is properly cared for and given a proper amount of fresh air and food that has sufficient nutritive value. The patient must be kept in the best of spirits in order to restore the original health he has at one time possessed.

The Oak Park Sanatorium in its efforts to eliminate tuberculosis carries two important duties, namely, the treatment of patients and the removal of infectious persons of the city and the surrounding territory. It teaches the people how to care for themselves and protect the patients. It is known that the lower the resistance is, the more liable the body is of being affected by the germs and therefore the sanatorium, in a further effort to cull the disease, adds to its duties the building up of the good physique of their patients.

The local sanatorium belongs to the four counties in Northern Minnesota; Marshall, Roseau, Red Lake and Pennington counties, and is the pride of the country, and does a great deal to relieve the people of infectious persons of tuberculosis germs and also teaches them the importance of physical education to the people.

Dear Sirs: I seen your advertisement in the paper that you wanted to hire a man for sales manniger in your store so I here-by fill my application for sales manniger.

I will be 13 years the fifth of January and have entered my first year at the Lincoln high school. Like the school fine. I take the hardest subjects in school and am good to fight you ought to have been here yesterday when I cleaned up on a feller twice my size who got smart because I was a freshman. Would prefer to get my salary in advance.

In regard to recommendations I will refer you to my friend Harold Bain, who is in the same class as I am and who has known each other since we were small. Also to Supt. Ziegler, who is head push in this school. Answer next Sunday when you get time.

Any many other sci'nces they help a feller know,
But I wish they'd get busy now and do it quick,
And run some helpin' movies that would solve our 'rithmetic.
If they would answer one like this, it sure would make a hit,
And then I'd have some time to play with bat and ball a bit:
"If seven bunnies all at once four lettuce-heads could eat,
How many little bunnies then would twenty-eight heads treat?"
And when the sum was written down at once the reel would fly,
And then you'd see the bunnies run along the screen, oh my,
Just eatin' up them lettuce-heads and while you chawed your gum,
You could count them all so easy, and do that awful sum.'
Phys'ology and g'ography the Movin' Pitchers teach,
And if they'd do the 'rithmetic, why, school would be a peach.

Kapers of the Kubs.

Viola: "Gee, that scared me! I saw a shadow and it looked for all the world like the shadow of a skunk!"

Doris: "I think that must have been my shadow."

An elaborate banquet was given last Saturday evening in the store room of the Lincoln high school for the purpose of raising funds with which the Kubs, Diogenes, Chaucer and Poe will purchase a better quality of wit. Having used a cheap grade of wit formerly, the "Kapers" have met with much criticism. The evening was spent as follows:

Menu

Roast "Skinny" "Wildcat" with
"Brown" "Gravy"
"Musty" "Beans"
"Fat" "Herring" with "Eddy's" mustard
"Mealy" "Pattys"
"Hershie" and "Knuts"

The "Bill" per plate was "Enny" "Rusty" "Penny".

Programme

(Music furnished by the Dybvik Jazz Orchestra)

Music—"Swift" and "E. Z." and "The Wobbly" "Squirt," "Rags".
Toast—By Chaucer.
Music—The "Mary" "Bob" and "The Dovey" Waltz.
Piano Solo—"Curly" Blues by Poe.
Reading—The "Art" of being "Ernest," by Diogenes.

Anna: "What are some of the cities in Vermont?"

Mr. Pierce to Violette: "Miss Krohn, I want you to write a five-hundred-word paper on make-up."

Now, just what did he mean?

Miss Elliott (in American history): "What states on the border did not secede during the Civil War?"

Vernon: "Maryland, Delaware and Washington, D. C."

Miss Hoorn (in algebra): "My base is ten feet and my altitude is fifteen feet. Find my area."

Julia: "What is the difference between shipment and navigation?"

Fat: "Well, you can ship on land, but you couldn't navigate."

Matt: "I went hunting once."
Bert U.: "Did you get anything?"
Matt: "Yes, I got a wolf."
Bert: "Gee, I pity that poor farmer's dog."

Weekly Market Review.

The markets appear to be still in a convalescent stage, which is quite natural after the long period of sickness. Swift upturns create fainting spells but considerable rallying power has been displayed after declines.

In view of the large clearances of our wheat for European ports it would seem about time now for importers to turn to the countries of the Southern Hemisphere for further supplies on the steady demand for our North American surplus. It is good evidence that the Argentine and Australian supplies cannot be very dependable and the recent advance in Argentine prices further to tribes to the damage by pre-harvest rains. At any rate we see nothing that indicates a plentiful world supply anywhere.

Under such conditions it may seem at first glance rather strange that North American wheat prices should be subject to further depression, but undoubtedly the reactions are attributable to a great extent to simply a lack of domestic buying. No one is laying in the customary stocks, and the effort of retailers to dispose of high-priced flour with a profit has flattened the normal domestic demand to a strictly hand-to-mouth basis. In this predicament the "Buy-a-barrel-of-flour" movement is put forth to sustain wheat prices if possible.

Representative bankers and business men of the country are now in session at Chicago to complete plans under the Edge law for the organization of a hundred million dollar foreign finance corporation. There is an unquestionable demand abroad for all of our products, as witnessed recently by the extremity of the Austrian government buying American wheat from Holland on currency secured through the sale of the former imperial jewels. It is a question entirely of finance and the extension of properly safeguarded credits. It is undoubtedly a matter of vital importance to the entire country and certainly so to the agricultural industry.

[illegible] that corn prices are still on a [illegible] level according to some extent [illegible] phenomenally open [illegible]. The feed demand is dull and cereal supplies being more than ample [illegible] little or no stimulus for higher values.

In wheat on sharp advances there seems to be much uncertainty and a lack of faith in further advances. Reactions have been severe and no doubt it will take considerable time to restore public confidence. Measures that will be practical and a remedy to the present inability to finance distribution of supplies where needed, is the pressing problem the solution of which will stabilize all business, and we have confidence that it will be worked out satisfactorily.

RETIRED FARMER NOW FEELS FINE

"For the First Time in Ten Long Years I Am a Well Man" Says Tennyson.

"For the first time in ten years I am a well man and I owe my present good health to Tanlac," declares A. M. Tennyson, well-known retired farmer, living at 4107 East Lake St., St. Paul, Minn.

"I can't find words to describe all I suffered on account of indigestion. I couldn't eat a thing without suffering intense pain in the pit of my stomach afterwards, and gas would bloat me up till I could hardly breathe. I was always having splitting headaches and my nerves got so bad I couldn't sleep at night.

"I read several statements in the papers telling how it had helped others, so I bought a bottle and started taking it. Now my stomach trouble of ten years standing is a thing of the past. I have a ravenous appetite, am never troubled with indigestion or gas and have gained at least ten pounds in weight. I no longer suffer with headaches and my nerves are as steady as they ever were. I sleep so well at night now that I get up in the morning feeling just fine. I certainly am thankful for what Tanlac has done for me and am glad of this chance to recommend it to others."

ROSEWOOD

Farmers Club Reorganized.

An attempt was made to reorganize the Rosewood Farmers' club which has not been meeting the past year and a meeting for this purpose was called at the Rosebank building on Friday evening. About thirty people interested in the effort were present and elected Alex Hellquist, president; Selmer Haugen, vice-president; William Sorenson, secretary; Adolph Haugen, treasurer. As the club's chief work will be business transactions and social affairs within the neighborhood, a territorial area was outlined comprising three square miles in each direction from the meeting place and the secretary was instructed to secure members only within these bounds. A committee consisting of Mrs. Rudolph Sagmoen, Joel E. Shoberg and Benhard Ranum was appointed to frame a constitution and draw up the necessary by-laws for the organization. The next meeting will be held at the same place on Wednesday evening, Dec. 29. Mrs. Rudolph Sagmoen was appointed as program committee and Emil Anderson and Alfred Thorson as caterers. A delicious pie-luncheon was served before closing.

Shipping Association Elects Officers.

The fourth annual meeting of the Rosewood Livestock Shipping association was held at the Rosebank building on Saturday afternoon, Dec. 11. Business during the past year had been somewhat below former years, evidently caused by the condition of the markets this fall and early winter. 71 head of stock had been shipped to South St. Paul and had sold at a gross total of $2,146.83. Five new members had been admitted during the year: P. M. Pederson, Geo. Snyder, Ole Skaar, Knute Iverson, and Swen Swenson. As directors for the coming year F. G. Dols, Emil Anderson, Selmer Haugen, Benhard Ranum and Swen Swenson were elected. Joel E. Shoberg was reelected secretary-treasurer. The directors will have their first meeting at Rosewood on Friday evening, Dec. 17, for the purpose of electing a president and vice-president and appoint managers for the coming season.

Annual Church Meeting.

The annual meeting of the Norwegian Rindal congregation was held last Tuesday afternoon at their church north of town. Simultaneously was held the monthly meeting of the Rindal Ladies' Aid which helped to fill the building to its capacity. Rev. Geo. Larson of Thief River Falls will serve another year. Deacons for the coming year are A. T. Thoreson and Martin Evenson. Trustees: Severt Rufteseth, Even Anderson and Gust Nakken. Peder Sorenson is secretary and B. P. Sagmoen, treasurer. The past church work was reviewed, found satisfactory and it was decided to carry it on practically the same for the coming year. A sumptuous luncheon was served by the Ladies' Aid at four o'clock.

Entertain at Cards.

Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Holm were hosts at a delightful card party at their home in town last Saturday evening. Sixteen guests were present. Norwegian whist and flinch were played thruout the evening and a delicious lunch was served by the hosts shortly before midnight. Following were the guests: Mr. and Mrs. Ted Thompson and children; Mr. and Mrs. John Sagmoen; Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Dols and daughter; Mr. and Mrs. B. Ranum; Mr. and Mrs. Anton Gullseth; Mr. and Mrs. Carl Mellem and Olof Opseth.

To Visit Coast.

Enoch Nelson will leave by Wednesday for an extended pleasure trip to the Pacific coast. His first stop will be at Big Timber, Mont., where his eldest son, Nicholi, is located and after a brief visit there he will proceed across the Rockies and enjoy the season's holidays on the sunny coast.

A Xmas seal sale has been conducted thruout the school district the past week. The teacher, Mrs. Sagmoen, had charge of the sale and has been assisted by several of the upper grade pupils.

Miss LaVon Batten returned home Monday morning from Thief River Falls where she spent Sunday as a guest of her sister, Miss Lydia.

Albert Stengelson, a high school pupil at Thief River Falls, arrived here Saturday to spend the week-end with his parents west of town.

Mrs. Adolph Haugen, who has been confined at the Thief River Falls hospital for several weeks, returned home last Saturday and is improving nicely.

A Delco Light Plant agent from Grand Forks visited town last Wednesday, trying to interest the light committee here in his plants. No plant has been purchased for the town as yet, but it is generally understood that one may be installed any day.

Herbert Carlson, Joe Weiss and Albert Alby left on Friday evening on a brief business trip to Thief River Falls.

A number of the Steiner young folks were in town Friday evening to attend the Farm club meeting.

O. S. Ostgaard, cashier of the Gatzke State bank, which was robbed by yeggmen last Friday, motored up last Sunday for a day's visit with relatives north of town. While well satisfied with the speedy termination of the affair, Mr. Ostgaard expressed the hope that similar visits to his bank in the future would be few, as they are rather trying on his nerves.

Miss Viola Axelson, employed at the Physicians' hospital at Thief River Falls, spent a few days the latter part of the week visiting with her parents east of town.

Emil Blomberg, who has been at the Thief River Falls hospital for the past month with a splintered arm and hand, is improving nicely and has left the hospital and is visiting at the home of a friend. He will probably return home this week.

Joel E. Shoberg attended the Carsten Woll concert at Thief River Falls last Thursday evening.

O. J. Dahl shipped up a thoroughbred Shropshire ram from St. Paul last week which will be added to his fine herd.

Several of the young folks motored to Viking on Saturday evening to attend the Masquerade dance.

Misses Synneva and Clara Soren on last Saturday morning for Viking where the former is employed and the latter will visit for a day.

Olof Opseth motored to Viking Saturday afternoon attending to business matters.

Mr. and Mrs. Chris. Sagmoen and sons Byron, Borden and Bartlett of the town of Norden, visited at the L. L. Furan home in town last Sunday evening.

ESPLEE

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Solly and daughter, Selma, Mrs. Nelson and sons, John and Arne, were the guests at the Carl T. Hanson home on Sunday.

Rev. J. O. Hoyum and family were pleasantly surprised on Tuesday evening by the Torgerson congregation. A good time was had by all present.

Arthur Sund being unfortunate in getting a piece of an emery wheel in his eye, had to go to Thief River Falls last Sunday for medical attention. He returned home Monday and resumed his duties.

A number of farmers in the neighborhood went to Warren last week to attend the ditch hearing, returning on Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Allyn Turnbull were callers in Esplee one day last week.

Ed. Kvile called on L. J. Tenold last Sunday.

Mrs. Siver Siverson and children visited with Mrs. W. E. Chapman on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Chapman were business callers in Grygla one day last week.

L. O. Opsata was an over night visitor at the home of S. Siverson last Saturday.

Oscar Ostmoe of Thief River Falls has been visiting friends in Esplee the past week as well as attending to business matters. He returned to his home last Saturday.

Mrs. Paul Sund and sons, Victor, Axel and Arthur, were over night visitors at the home of John Sund in Goodridge on Sunday, returning to Esplee on Monday.

Mrs. J. G. Nelson was a visitor at the home of P. P. Sund on Monday.

Erwin Chapman went to Esplee on Sunday.

To the many friends of two of the prominent young men of Esplee it will be of interest to know that on November 22nd Miss Tracy Anderson of Little Falls, Minn., was married to Melvin Fundaunet. They are now happily settled in Duluth. And on November 26th Miss Beatrice Chlany of Eagle Bend, Minn., was united in marriage to Conrad J. Sund. They are settled at Dumont where Mr. Sund is principal of that school. We wish the two couples a life of great happiness.

Paul Sund called on Frank Pittman last Monday.

L. O. Opsata and P. C. Sund transacted business in Goodridge last week.

Bilious? Take NR Tonight

Nature's Remedy is Better and Safer Than Calomel. Cleans Out System Without Griping. Stops Sick Headache. Guaranteed.

Bilious attacks, constipation, sick headaches, etc. are in the great majority of cases due to digestive trouble and no reasonable person can expect to obtain real or lasting benefit until the cause is corrected.

Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets) is a vegetable compound that acts on the stomach, liver, bowels and kidneys, the purpose being to bring about healthy and harmonious action of all the organs of digestion and elimination. It acts promptly and thoroughly, yet so mildly and gently that there is never the slightest griping or discomfort.

But that is not all. Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets) have a beneficial effect upon the entire body. By improving the process of digestion and assimilation, the nourishment is derived from food, the blood quality is enriched, vitality is increased and the whole system strengthened.

Once you get your body in this splendid condition, you need not take medicine every day—just take an NR Tablet occasionally when indigestion, biliousness and constipation threaten, and you can always feel your best. Remember keeping well is easier and cheaper than getting well.

Get a 25c box of Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets) and try it. It is sold, guaranteed and recommended by your druggist.

Motor Truck Lowers Farm Costs

THE farmer of the Middle West is a business man who utilizes every labor or time-saving device to increase his profits. That's why the farmer is coming to be the heaviest buyer of motor trucks.

At seeding time he hauls his seed to the field, thus economizing hand labor; at harvest time he hauls his grain, potatoes, and other produce, to market, and distance being a less prohibitive factor, is able to secure better prices; and all through the year he hauls his live-stock and chickens to market, and is able to deliver them in better condition, and with a minimum of shrinkage.

It must be apparent, then, that in no other part of the nation is rural distribution of petroleum products quite so important as in the states served by the Standard Oil Company (Indiana). These are the farming states which supply not only the Middle West but the entire nation with food. The ten states served by this Company are well termed the bread-basket of the nation.

To be of economic service to the farmer, the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) maintains throughout the territory it serves a complete chain of bulk stations, with tank wagons for delivery throughout the rural districts. The farmer has come to know that he can depend upon this service even under most trying conditions. That busy, dark green tank wagon serves the farmer with all the faithfulness with which the milk wagon and the ice wagon serve the flat dweller in the city.

The comprehensive distribution system of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is geared to service at the lowest possible cost. The money thus saved through large scale operation is passed on to the consumer by reasonable tank wagon prices throughout the territory served.

That this complete and highly efficient system of distribution maintained by the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is indispensable to the new type of business farmer, no one acquainted with the facts can doubt.

No Charge Except For Board and Transportation Is Made to Visitors.

Farm management, farm crops, soils, livestock, production, dairy cattle, veterinary medicine, horticulture, bees, poultry, threshing machinery and tractors, for the farmers; and child training, home management, problems, foods, textiles and clothing construction, dress designs and house furnishings and home care of the sick, for the farmers' wives, are topics which will be discussed for the benefit of all who attend the Farmers' and Home-makers' Week short course which will be given at the University farm, St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 3 to 8, 1921. The doors at the University farm swing wide open for a hearty welcome to the men and women interested in mutual co-operation for still further prosperity and happiness in rural Minnesota on these dates. No fees are charged for any of the class work, entertainments or demonstrations. There is no expense except for traveling and board.

Farmers' and Home-Makers' Week has for many years been a "Red Letter Week," not only for the hundreds of men and women of Minnesota who are actively interested in the farms and farm homes of the state, but also for the agricultural teachers, investigators and college students at the University Farm.

The farmer, each for himself or herself, selects from a large and varied program those topics that are of particular value to him in his work, obtains information about it from experts, talks it over with persons from other parts of the state or with his neighbors who are also at Farmers' and Home-Makers' Week, listens to lectures, observes demonstrations, attends meetings of various associations, enjoys evening entertainments and banquets and fills the week full of edifying and inspiring experiences.

The University of Minnesota in presenting this short course furnishes the opportunity for women from far town and city to unite for the discussion and solution of home of their problems. Every woman interested in better things for her home and family as well as for her country, may expect to find there suggestions of great value.

Farmers' and Home-Makers' Week has become the general meeting place for many of the farmers' organizations of the state. This plan makes it possible to attend the meetings of several of the organizations on one trip. Those in charge of the course urge every farmer to attend and take part in the following meetings:

Minnesota Farm Bureau Federation
Minnesota Federation of Farmers' Clubs
Minnesota Livestock Breeders' Association
The various associations of breeders of Holsteins, Guernseys, Jerseys, Ayreshires, Brown Swiss, Aberdeen Angus, Herefords, Shorthorns and Red Polled cattle; horses; sheep and swine.
The Creamery Managers of the State
Poultry Raisers
Minnesota Potato Growers
Minnesota Fruit Growers
Minnesota Vegetable Growers
Minnesota Bee Keepers
Garden Flower Conference.

A bulletin giving further information may be obtained from the Secretary, University Farm, St. Paul, Minn.

COUNTY WILL HAVE RED CROSS NURSE

Dr. Milan Reports That Competent Person For Post is Now Available.

Unless the unforeseen happens, Pennington county is assured of the services of a county nurse who will arrive here early in January, according to Dr. M. George Milan, medical director of Oakland Park sanitorium, who was appointed chairman of the nursing committee of the Pennington county chapter of the American Red Cross at a meeting of the executive committee of that body on Friday. Slight relief from the apparent shortage of graduate and experienced nurses which has existed in the state for the past year is being felt, and the committee has been able to open negotiations with responsible and qualified persons.

The county chapter of the Red Cross has been endeavoring to secure the services of a nurse for the county for practically an entire year. Last January the directors voted to spend chapter funds for the purpose and application for an experienced person was immediately made. It was expected that a nurse would be secured and ready to take up her duties by the first of April, but the entire year passed without results having been accomplished owing to a shortage of women holding the necessary qualifications.

The nursing committee will consist of five members: Dr. Milan, chairman, and W. A. Barnard from Thief River Falls, and three other members from the outlying districts of the county. The latter have not as yet expressed their acceptance of the appointment. The work of the county nurse will be under the direct supervision of this committee, who will outline a definite program as to her duties. This program will include health work in all parts of the county for the coming year. The work of the nurse and her remuneration will be financed from Red Cross chapter funds. The executive committee in session on Saturday afternoon voted to purchase a Ford car for her use.

Dr. Milan in an interview stated that he considered Marshall county one of the best organized counties in the state in respect to health work, and that much credit for the organization was due the county nurse. He also stated that he did not believe that health work could proceed far without the assistance of a county nurse and that, working under the supervision of experienced persons, she could accomplish exceptional results.

POTATO MEN AIM AT UNIFORM SEED

Association of Valley Growers Formed at Crookston Meeting Last Week.

Red River Valley potato growers to the number of sixty met at Crookston last Wednesday and organized the Red River Valley Certified Seed Potato Growers association. The prime object in the formation of the association is the raising of the standard of seed potatoes to gain the consequent benefits through recognition of the Red River valley standard.

The organization of the association was effected by the adoption of articles and by-laws, but officers will not be named until a minimum of five counties have named their representatives on the board of directors. Clay, Norman and Polk counties have named their representatives, and another meeting was scheduled to complete the work of organization. S. W. Brekko was named as temporary president and L. M. Bond as temporary secretary to serve until the permanent officers are chosen.

A campaign for members among the certified seed potato growers of the valley will be conducted and the organization put on a solid foundation. Plans contemplate the employment of a full time manager for the association although the actual selling will continue to be handled through the state agency.

Bible Chautauqua Meetings—"God's Last Effort to Gather Israel." This most interesting subject will be presented on Sunday evening, Dec. 19, 7:45 o'clock at the Chautauqua hall west of the Eastside drug store. A cordial invitation is extended to all.

FARMERS ASKED TO DISPOSE OF PART CROP NOW

Suggested at Crookston Meeting That They Liquidate 15 Per Cent of Obligations.

Belief Generally Expressed That Worst Period of Depression Has Been Weathered.

Assurance Given That Federal Reserve Bank Will Aid in Every Way Possible.

More than 500 farmers, land owners, business men and bankers, attended the farmer-banker convention called by the state farm bureau at Crookston last Thursday to discuss the financial situation as it relates to the farmer and land owner. Meetings were also called for Owatonna, Marshall and St. Cloud during the week, each drawing an unusual assembly. It is the concensus of opinion that a better understanding of conditions between bankers and farmers resulted, and particularly that city bankers and federal reserve men were enabled to secure a better idea of just what conditions at present exist.

"Provide some method of finding ready market for surplus farm products in big crop years.

"Favor organization of foreign Trades Finance corporation to advance the interests of American foreign trade.

"Extend functions of federal loan banks to provide for federal loans to farmers.

"Effort to be made by farmers to liquidate their obligations to the extent of 15 per cent of the value of their this year's crop.

"Study the situation on broad scale and invent plan of adequate credit needs for agriculture that will provide conditions for orderly marketing which will make a permanent and profitable agriculture.

Strikes Popular Note.

The Pennington county farm bureau was represented at the conference by M. L. Warner, Stewart McLeod, J. W. Taylor, A. E. Carlson, C. S. Lind and G. W. Head, all of whom are members of the soliciting team conducting the farm bureau membership drive in the county at this time. C. L. Hansen, O. Ramstad, R. J. McGinn and R. M. Sheldon represented the banks of Thief River Falls.

Mr. Hansen expressed the opinion of many of those present when he stated in behalf of the country bankers that they were now, and always had been, ready to do everything in their power to promote and foster the agricultural interests. He favored the establishment of a minimum price on wheat by the government but was informed that the state and national farm bureau federations were unalterably opposed to such action.

Rural Credit Organization Favored.

The question of credit extension to farmers was discussed from all angles and by many speakers. Gilbert Hage of the Crookston Trust Co. made a plea for an extension of the service of the Federal Loan bank to provide for short time farm loans at a low rate of interest, to be used in just such emergencies as this country is now experiencing. J. C. Norby, a Fergus Falls banker, said that his experience was that the farmers were just about as anxious to liquidate their indebtedness as the bankers were to have them do so. He favored some kind of a rural credit organization that would come to the rescue of farmers in such times of stress.

Dairying Offered as Solution.

L. Jensen of Clearbrook stated that the financial situation had no terrors for his section as farmers were engaged in stock raising and dairying rather than wheat raising. His solution for the low price of wheat was more dairying and less wheat raising.

Supt. C. G. Selvig of the Northwestern School of Agriculture at Crookston stated as his belief that hope lies in the National Farm Bureau federation which could study the credit needs of the farmer and recommend a plan that would provide conditions conductive to the orderly marketing of farm products.

Secretary Mosler of the State Bankers' association said that under the present marketing system there was no danger of further crisis. That the danger, if it ever existed, was passed last October and that conditions were now on the up-grade. Other bankers spoke in an optimistic tone.

Claims Reserve Bank Liberal.

C. L. Mosher, deputy governor of the Federal Reserve bank was one of the last speakers of the day. He said: "Farmers already are treated twice as liberally by the reserve bank as any other class of men. The Reserve bank can accept farmer paper for six months; other paper can be taken for only three months," he said.

"If farmers would sell but 15 per cent of all the produce now held on farms in the ninth district, northwest agriculture could meet its obligations.

"The best recent liquidation we have had came from districts that have not had good crops for three to five years. Montana has paid $1,500,000 recently and western Oklahoma $500,000."

Third Lyceum Course Number Well Received

Dr. J. Q. Robinson's lecture, "The Paralysis of Power" delivered at the auditorium last Wednesday evening was good beyond expectations. To young and old who attended it was entertaining and instructive, with not a dull sentence in the entire lecture. Dr. Robinson was scheduled to deliver his lecture "The Face at the Window" but he changed this at the last moment giving instead what he himself styles, his favorite.

"The Paralysis of Power" is a character sketch built about a few chapters from Charles Dickens' famous novel, "Bleak House." It teaches the paralyzing influence of idleness and the absence of the necessity to work. Dickens in his story, shows the ruin that came to a young man because of his dreams of a great inheritance, and the wasting of his youth in idleness. Dr. Robinson makes it teach an inspirational message.

The attendance at this third number of the season's Lyceum course, which is being brought to Thief River Falls through the efforts of the Women's club was small, the inclement weather of last week being in part responsible. The fourth number of the course does not appear here until January 26, when the New York Lyric Singers, a mixed quintette of talented metropolitan singers, present the last musical number on the Lyceum schedule.

SANTA CLAUS FUND MAKES GOOD START

Voluntary Contributions Will Insure Some Degree of Christmas Cheer For All.

There will be no municipal Christmas tree in Thief River Falls this year but those among our citizens who might through adverse circumstances be compelled to forego all holiday cheer because of this fact will be looked after. President E. M. Stanton of the commercial club, has been made the custodian of voluntary contributions to be used in providing food and fuel for poor families in the neighborhood and he reports the following sums as having already been received: Merchants' association, $50; Commercial club, $25; Woman's club, $25; Community Girls, $25; Odd Fellows lodge, $25; Farmers' and Merchants' State bank, $25; Sons of Norway, $10.

This is a very satisfactory showing, particularly when it is remembered that not one cent was asked for. It is known that other organizations, concerns and individuals will contribute before the time comes for making purchases and the expectations are that a considerable sum will be raised. The money will go principally for necessities but in families where there are children something having a more Christmassy touch will be included.

POPULATION OF CITY NOW 5652 ACCORDING TO DIRECTORY COUNT

Compiler Finds 2261 Persons Over 18 Years of Age—Johnsons Lead by Good Margin, With Olsons and Andersons Next in Line.

The Johnsons of Thief River Falls have it—the majority—according to Ley's 1921 City Directory, which is just out. Listed in the new and complete volume are two Jones, 10 Smiths, 25 Larsens or Larsons, 27 Pedersons or Petersons, 35 Andersons, 46 Olsons and 70 Johnsons, out of a total of 2261 names of persons above the age of 18 years. Using the multiple 2½ as in computing the total city census for former issues of the directory, gives Thief River Falls a population of 5652, a gain of 352 persons for the past two years.

The new directory, compiled and published by John H. Ley of St. Cloud, who has spent the greater part of two months here securing the necessary information, is a marvel of completeness in every department and should prove a great time saver to those who will accustom themselves to using it properly. Unlike the census, all information for the directory was taken by the double check system which reduces errors and omissions to a minimum. Election of officers has taken place in many civic and fraternal organizations since the volume was compiled, hence corrections could be made in such instances; but otherwise the veracity of statements can be relied upon to a great extent.

Among other features, the directory embodies a department of miscellaneous information in which may be found the names of city and county administrators and administrative bodies, of bank directorates, of fraternal and civic organization heads, and a complete church directory. A brief but thorough street directory, showing the location of all streets, is given. The bulk of the 158 page book is composed of an alphabetical list of all residents of the city who are over 18 years of age, showing their occupation and place of residence. In addition to the above mentioned features, a complete street guide, listing the names and residence numbers of homes and business places according to street and avenue, and a classified business directory, are to be found in the back of the book.

The Merchants association urge Christmas shoppers to wind up their shopping as early Friday as possible. The stores will close promptly at 6 o'clock to allow employers and employees to spend the evening with their families.

BONDS MUST BE VOTED TO MEET SCHOOL DEFICIT

People of District 18 Will Soon Be Asked to Authorize Issue of $75,000.

Banks Are Unable to Handle Warrants Under Present Money Conditions.

Now Overdrawn $45,000 and $30,000 More Will Be Needed This Term.

School district No. 18 will vote on a bond issue of approximately $75,000 at a special election called for the first week in January. The board of education has recommended this sale of bonds as being necessary in order to keep the Thief River Falls schools in operation during the coming months or until the first tax money for the year 1920 is received in March.

Local banks are at present carrying about $45,000 in school warrants and are unable to handle more under present circumstances. As it will require upwards of $30,000 to keep the city schools in operation during the months of January and February a bond issue is imperative to allow warrants to be put on a cash basis and to pay the running expenses for those months.

Floating Indebtedness of $45,000.

The payroll alone of the city schools approximates $10,000 per month. Owing to the increase in salaries granted last year and to other increased operating expenses, for which no tax was levied for the year 1919, an indebtedness of $33,000 was incurred during the school term of 1919-1920. An additional indebtedness of $12,000 has accumulated during the first semester of the present term, leaving a total floating indebtedness of approximately $45,000.

The proposed bond issue will finance the schools until the first installment of the taxes for 1920, payable in 1921, is received in March. The July and September settlements will leave them in good financial condition for the start of the school term in 1921, thru the increased levy for the year 1920.

Board Recommends Issue.

It is planned to float the $75,000 bond issue at six per cent interest. The special election is necessitated because of the fact that the board of education is vested with the power of authorizing bonds for refunding purposes but not for funding purposes. The board has recommended the sale and the voters must authorize it at the election to be held the first week in January, after which the sale will be advertised in accordance to law, and bids received.

Members of the board of education state that it will undoubtedly become necessary to close the schools here unless the sale of the bonds is authorized by the voters.

Glee Club Entertains Patients at Sanatorium

The young ladies of the high school glee club accompanied by their director, Maude Johnson, entertained at Oakland Park Sanitarium last evening for the patients of that institution. Each member of the club had prepared a Christmas package which was delivered to a patient in an informal manner. Christmas carols were sung in the hallways of the building and the holiday spirit dispensed in every way possible.

Investigate Operations By Foreign Governments

Congressman Steenerson appeared before the judiciary committee last Thursday in support of his resolution to investigate the operations of foreign governments in our grain markets, which operations, he claims, have excluded all competition for the purchase of export wheat and have depressed the price more than a dollar a bushel. He cited the statement of Julius Barnes, president of the United States Grain corporation, and a letter from Edwin M. Flesh, vice president of the same organization, in support of his allegations.

The resolution requests the commission to investigate the operations of said governments in our grain markets, especially in the buying, selling and exporting of wheat, and whether any of these operations constitute a violation of the anti-trust laws of the United States.

Methodist Church.

The first Christmas tree celebration will be that given by the Methodist Sunday school this evening at the church. The pastor, Rev. J. B. Smith, says that the eagerness with which the young folks have been looking forward to the event and the readiness to take part in the program promises a feast of good things. All persons not regular attendants at any other church will be welcomed warmly to these exercises.

On Sunday the pulpit will be occupied by Rev. J. C. Craig, both morning and evening. At the close of the evening service the first quarterly conference of the current year will be held. All are invited to these services.

The collection this year at the Methodist Christmas tree festival will go toward the relief fund for the children of the Near East.

Cold Weather and Drifted Roads Make Traveling a Hardship at This Time.

One Worker Secures 99 Per Cent of All Farmers Called on in Black River.

The Pennington county farm bureau membership drive which was opened a week ago, was discontinued last night in spite of the exceptional results which were being accomplished. Bad roads and the increasing cold weather are given as the reasons for discontinuance. A house to house tour of the county on the part of the membership team is necessary to the best results, say state officials, and this is not possible under the present conditions. Roads are badly drifted, making it impossible to travel with a car except on the main highways. Driving with a team has its difficulties and work can not proceed in an efficient manner.

County Tour Incomplete.

The drive was opened on December 16 and has continued under increasing handicaps. M. L. Warner, captain states that the drive was continued until last night only with the expectations that a favorable break in the weather would facilitate matters. About one-third of the farmers in the county have been visited. The work will continue as soon as the weather and conditions of the roads permit.

Members of the soliciting team and officials of the farm bureau express extreme gratification with the results shown by the first week of the drive. The membership of the county organization has grown to approximately 200. Rocksbury, River Falls, Smiley and Black River townships have been pretty thoroughly covered by the membership team in a house to house visit. Work is partially completed in Goodridge, Highlanding, Reiner, Star and Deer Park townships, while it has just been started in Sanders township. The western section of the county is as yet practically unvisited.

Captain Warner states that fully 90 per cent of the farmers visited have enlisted with the organization. R. J. McKercher, who has been operating in Black River township, in which he makes his home, takes the honors for the first week of the drive by having secured a membership enrollment of 99 per cent of the farmers called upon.

Meetings have been held during the past week at the Sather school in Rocksbury township, at the Weiner school in Smiley, at the Valhal hall in Rocksbury, at St. Hilaire, Hazel, Goodridge and Erie. The meetings drew large turnouts and much enthusiasm was shown when the purpose and results of the organization were made known. The meetings at Erie and Hazel drew an exceptional attendance and every farmer present signed up as a member of the farm bureau.

The final meeting until weather permits the drive to continue will be held tonight in Polk Center township, at the school, 2 miles north of Wiley.

Mr. Warner who has been directing the drive thruout the county, in speaking of the success of the farm bureau movement, stated that it was becoming stronger thruout the United States and gave as an example of the success the membership drives are attaining the fact that 95 per cent of the farmers in the states of Iowa, Illinois and Missouri, are now members of the farm bureau county or state organization.

ALUMNI TO ELECT OFFICERS TUESDAY

Former Graduates of Thief River High School Will Also Give Short Program.

The alumni of the Thief River Falls high school will hold their regular annual meeting at the city auditorium on Tuesday evening, December 28, at 8 o'clock. The business session and election of officers will be followed by a short program. Dancing will be one of the features of the evening as will a buffet luncheon which will be served by caterers from the city hotels.

Invitations will be sent to the alumni and members of the senior class of 1921 the last of this week. It is the intention of the committee to reach every alumnus and high school senior but in case anyone is missed, officers of the alumni extend to them a cordial invitation thru these columns.

ROSEAU DEFEATED IN FIRST DEBATE

The debate between the teams of the Thief River Falls and Roseau high schools at the Lincoln auditorium here on Friday evening, resulted in a unanimous decision on the part of the judges in favor of the affirmative, which stand was taken by the local squad. The subject, which will be debated throughout the state in an elimination contest to determine the championship, was: "Resolved, That the Open Shop is Preferable to the Closed Shop in Our Industrial System." The debating forum of the city high school was represented in this instance by Esther Soards, Vernon Copp and Edward Fiterman. The negative stand was taken by Magnaheld Heyerdahl, Hilda Ulven and Vernon Caine of the Roseau school. The judges were Supt. S. L. Johnson of the St. Hilaire school; M. W. Holtsapple of the Middle River school and Superintendent E. O. Norby of the Goodridge school. Each speaker was allowed a rebuttal of five minutes.

Some exceptional work was shown on the part of the six debaters, though the decision of the judges would indicate that the presentation of the local team far out-classed that of the Roseau visitors. The next meet will be determined by the results of the first set of elimination debates which were held throughout the Ninth congressional district during the past week.

L. Nathan Pierce, principal of the city school and the coach for the local debating team, has requested that the stand taken in this first debate of the series be made clear, owing to the fact that many people in Thief River Falls are under the impression that the high school favors the open shop in our industrial system. This question of the day has been designated by the state as the subject for debate. If debating teams can agree upon which stand is to be taken, allotment is made in that manner. If they do not agree a coin is flipped to determine which school will take the negative and which the affirmative side of the question. Any team going far towards winning the state high-school debating championship will undoubtedly have to debate on both sides. Schools are working on the subject primarily from a debating standpoint. The instructions handed the judges read: "You will neglect personal prejudice and decide on the merits of the debate, not on the merits of the question."

FINAL DECISION OF COUNCIL ON PAVING MATTER

Promises Definitely to Determine on Tuesday What Course Will Be Followed.

Tendency of Material Prices Will Be Closely Investigated in the Meantime.

Disposition is to Go Ahead Unless There Are Weighty Reasons For Postponements.

The next regular session of the city council on Tuesday evening, Dec. 28, is expected to see the city praving program settled once and for all, according to expression on the part of members of that body at a special session this week. The meeting of Tuesday was called to act upon a proposal submitted by the Capitol Trust company of St. Paul, but little was accomplished owing to different opinions on the financial situation expressed by members present. Council members and Mayor Bratrud are certain that a definite decision will be reached Tuesday.

The Capitol Trust company, in the proposal submitted to the council, agree to take complete charge of the preliminary work necessary to opening for bids on the two or three hundred thousand dollar bond issue contemplated by the city to finance the paving program scheduled for 1921, at a commission of one-half of one per cent of the entire issue. This would include the printing and preparation of certificates, and all legal work by a competent bonding attorney, which would allow the bonds to be offered for sale unconditionally. The submitting of such a proposal undoubtedly means that the Capitol Trust company would enter into the bidding on the bond issue. No particular rate of interest has been guaranteed. Members of the council will undoubtedly agree to hold out for a rate of not more than six per cent on the first issue.

Is Good Time to Sell.

The council was divided as to the advisability of proceeding with the sale of the bond issue at this time, as well as the paving contract itself. Confidence in the hope that the price of material and labor would decrease further before the contracting company starts work this coming spring was expressed, as was the belief that a better contract could be secured. Bonding companies have said that the best time of the year to advertise for bids on the sale of municipal bonds is early in January, according to H. A. Brumund, president of the council. Other members were of the opinion that a lower rate of interest could possibly be secured if the advertising of the sale were to be postponed until spring, owing to the unsettled financial condition that exists at present. It was also suggested that the present contract calling for the paving of 24 blocks thruout the business section of the city, could possibly be curtailed to include the paving of a much smaller number until such a time as the cost of construction should be suitably reduced.

It is expected that a decision will be reached on Tuesday evening, as to whether or not the municipal bond issue is to be made and advertised during January. There is also the possibility that effort will be made to evade the entire paving program for the coming year, although there is no disposition on the part of the council to take such course unless the outlook is such as to make it appear clearly against the public interest to proceed with the program as heretofore contemplated.

Finest Elk Party of Year Brings Out Unusual Crowd

After properly initiating between 30 and 40 candidates at their lodge room on Friday night the Elks foregathered at the auditorium for the purpose of winding up the evening as well as the social festivities of the present year with a dancing party. The ladies were already there when the herd members arrived, together with the orchestra. The room was beautifully decorated and tables were arranged along the walls for those who would rather play cards than dance. There were not many of these.

At midnight an excellent lunch was served under the supervision of Louis Garvey, the new manager of the Hotel Brumund.

The affair was one of the most enjoyable of the many sponsored by the Elks during the past season and they have come in for considerable praise for the excellent manner in which everything was looked after.

Special Christmas Movie For Children on Saturday

Manager Brumund of the Princess and Lyceum theatres will give a matinee especially for children on Saturday morning beginning at 10 o'clock. A picture appealing particularly to the youngsters at this time will be presented and everything will be arranged so as to give them a good time. H. A. and J. H. Brumund will both be on hand to look after the welfare of the audience and every precaution will be taken to insure their comfort. Candy will be distributed free of charge and all appointments will be in keeping with the spirit of the season.

LEGION MEMBERS ARE URGED TO ASSIST IN CHRISTMAS SEAL SALE

Commander Calls Attention to Large Number of Former Service Men Who Are Tuberculosis Victims.

Minnesota men and women who served in the World war are vitally interested in the success of the 1920 Christmas Seal Sale, it is emphasized in a letter from F. W. Galbraith, Jr., national commander of the American Legion, mailed to every Legion post in the state by officers of the Minnesota department.

Commander Galbraith calls attention to the menace of tuberculosis as disclosed by the World war. The "White Plague" killed 160,000 persons in the United States while deaths in service totaled but 67,882. Draft and camp examinations found 1,500 Minnesota young men victims of tuberculosis. Total draft rejections on account of tuberculosis were 70,000 and 41 percent of all men under the care of the Bureau of War Risk Insurance are "White Plauge" victims.

"The seriousness of this problem has been brought home to the American Legion which now is bending every effort to alleviate the condition of our disabled, thousands of whom are afflicted with tuberculosis and are without proper hospital treatment," states Commander Galbraith in his letter to the National Tuberculosis association.

"Members of the Legion are vitally interested in your community education and organization preventive plan, which in my opinion combats the evil at its source. I have been a hearty supporter of your Christmas Seal campaign for many years. There is all the more reason why Legion men and women should support it this year."

Elks Planning Christmas Cheer For Unfortunates

Members of Thief River Falls Lodge No. 1308, B. P. O.E., are arranging for their usual Christmas benefactions. A committee, headed by H. W. Protzeller, has been appointed by Exalted Ruler G. Howard Smith and is collecting the names of parties who without some assistance from outside would fare but scantily during the holidays. Inmates of Oakland Park sanatorium, Physicians hospital and city poor house will all be remembered and some plan for their entertainment will be worked out. If any families in hard circumstances are found, fuel and food will be provided as well as something in the way of presents for the children. The program will extend to the smaller towns of the neighborhood in which members of No. 1308 may be residing and these have been urged to send in the names of needy parties in their neighborhood.

Citizens League Sponsors Social Events in Kratka

The Progressive Citizens League of School District No. 11, Kratka township, will give a basket social at the school house one mile southwest of the Kratka bridge on the evening of December 29. The officers of the organization extend an invitation to all.

The league was organized on November 12 at which time the following officers were elected: President, Allen Rehm; vice president, Sophie Brieland; secretary, Elsie Rehm and treasurer, Myrtle Hofdahl. Since that time the league has sponsored several enjoyable social affairs, which met with great success. They have also arranged for a Christmas tree and program at the school tomorrow evening.

Church Choirs Present Joint Musical Program

The musical program given by the Methodist and Presbyterian choirs at the Methodist church on Sunday evening drew an attendance that filled the church auditorium and lecture room to capacity. Many were turned from the doors because of lack of room. The two choirs in unison, directed by Mrs. L. F. Fisher, rendered some of the most beautiful sacred music ever heard in this city. The "Festival Te Deum" by Dudley Buck, one of the most difficult of anthems, and "Hark, My Soul" by Shelly, sung by the joint choir of twenty voices, were two of the most noteworthy triumphs of the evening. Several vocal solos worthy of great mention were also given.

This is the first time that the two capable choirs have presented a joint program and the results were far beyond the expectations of the many who were able to gain admittance. Approval of their efforts is unanimous and lovers of music express the hope that other similar programs will be given during the present season.

MR. SCHUSTER COMES TO THE FRONT:

Every Thief River Falls resident should read what Mr. Schuster says, and follow his example. He has used Doan's Kidney Pills and speaks from experience. Is there any need to experiment with imitations or untried kidney medicines?

Chas. Schuster, 622 St. Paul Ave., Thief River Falls, says: "From my experience with Doan's Kidney Pills I can say they are just as advertised. My back has been bothering me for a long time and I couldn't bend over without pain across my loins. Some mornings I couldn't get out of bed my back was so sore and stiff and I was obliged to get up nights on account of kidney weakness. As soon as I started taking Doan's Kidney Pills I had relief and I have felt better ever since."

A Word of Appreciation

WE WISH at this time to extend to our patrons our sincere thanks for the liberal patronage of the past twelve months.

THEIR attitude toward this store proves that our efforts to secure something just a "little better" are appreciated. The fact is most encouraging and confirms us in the opinion that our idea is the correct one.

CONDITIONS in the clothing trade are somewhat uncertain and unsatisfactory, but we wish to assure our customers that they will receive the benefit of every downward trend and be protected as long as possible against any move in the other direction.

OUR plan of doing business embraces the closest co-operation with the public. This begets confidence on the part of both and proves an invaluable asset when conditions sway out of their regular orbit. It is our boast that never during the trying period which now is happily passing has any purchaser been led astray through our advice.

IT is our aim and constant endeavor to build a business here that will prove dependable under all circumstances. In this we believe the public will uphold us.

THANKING one and all and wishing for you a joyous Christmas season and a Happy and Prosperous New Year, we remain,

Very respectfully,

THE HOLIDAY SEASON PROMPTS US TO EXPRESS TO YOU OUR APPRECIATION AND THANKS FOR THE BUSINESS YOU HAVE INTRUSTED TO US FOR THE PAST YEAR, AND ALSO TO EXTEND OUR BEST WISHES FOR A MERRY CHRISTMAS AND A HAPPY NEW YEAR.

Happy Days

THE days are here when gloom, and fear, and trouble must depart; when everyone must think of fun, and joy be in each heart; when greed and hate every trait that's selfish or that's mean should take a tip, and pack its grip, and leave the happy scene. Friend unto friend does now extend a wish for luck and cheer. For Christmas Day and New Year, gay, we make this wish sincere; May these days bring you everything that makes for gladness, true—and may they bless you with success that lasts a whole life thru.

MERRY CHRISTMAS.

The Times wishes all its readers a Merry Christmas. The period that has passed since this wish was last expressed has, on the whole, been kind to our people. If at times it has seemed as if things were turning out badly, with the outlook far from reassuring, we have found that our worst fears have failed to marterialize and that nothing turned out quite as serious upon actual contact as it promised to be when we first caught sight of it coming towards us.

As is usually the case, the people of the United States have more to be thankful for than those of any other nation. Our problems are grave, but not nearly so grave as are those of other countries. The outlook at least holds a promise of brightness, whereas with a large number of peoples in other parts of the world there can be found but little grounds for a similar feeling.

This should make us glad of the fact that we are living in America and anxious to assist those who are not so fortunately situated. We would all enjoy this Christmas season more were it not that there is so much misery in the world. In sections of Europe thousands are facing starvation, a condition not even approached by the few in this country. There will be only misery in store for these in any event, while death through hunger will be the inevitable result for many unless we come to their relief. This opens an opportunity for giving a Christmas present really worth while. The best plan for doing this will soon be presented and we should be ready and willing to respond. We will all be happier if conscious of having done what we can to alleviate this great suffering, which will fall with particular severity upon the children. It is the one Christmas present demanded by civilization at this time.

A DIFFICULT UNDERTAKING.

The people of Grand Rapids in this state—or some of them—are trying to have the name of their town changed. They have come to the conclusion that the designation is confusing, there being two or three places in other states with the same name. Their case is somewhat aggrevated by the fact that a sizeable city in Michigan is called Grand Rapids and that in abreviating the state's name, as is the almost invariable custom, errors are easily made, greatly to the detriment of the smaller town. Their demand for a change is very natural.

But it is not an easy matter. About five years ago, upon his arrival in Thief River Falls, the first thing the present editor of The Times started out to do—after finding a place where he did not have to pay board in advance—was to suggest that in the interest of economy and convenience it would be a good thing if a word or two were lopped off the name of the city. The attempt was not a success. Nice ladies wrote sarcastic notes pointing out several apparent defects in the editor's general makeup while a number of large, rude men threatened to alter the contour of his classic mug if he did not desist.

The Grand Rapids folks will find it a hard problem. Any name that has stuck to a commudity for half a century or so is liable to stay stuck. And it does not particularly matter whether it is a very common one like Grand Rapids or a most unusual one like Thief River Falls.

THEY KNOW ITS VALUE.

Everyone realizes that this is not a particularly favorable time for asking a man to join anything that costs money. For this reason the responce met with by the solicitors for farm bureau members proves that our farmers realize the importance of keeping that organization at its top efficiency by becoming members and thus lending their support. Field workers report that in many townships the membership will represent 75 and 80 per cent of resident farmers.

This is an excellent showing and proves that the bureau has been found of value. When the movement was first launched three years ago the farmers for the most part looked at it askance, many of them finding in the proposition a subject for considerable ridicule. The idea that any man coming out of a college would be able to teach anything about practical farming struck them as being too absurd for consideration. He might be a good fellow, of course, and perhaps needed the job, but so far as any practical results were to be expected from his work, that was out of the question.

They have changed their minds. Those who have come into direct contact with the work of the bureau—and this includes the large majority—would not be without it for four times its cost. They know that the advance made in general farming, stock raising and special departures, would have been impossible without the aid of the farm bureau and its executive agent. The organization has given them a special department toward which they could look with every confidence of having intelligent attention paid to their presentations. Others might be willing to help them but nothing else was organized for that particular purpose. It is the one place where they are always sure of a hearing and of getting direct action on any matter of essential concern to their class. It is their complaint department for one thing and information bureau for another.

In some counties more than 90 per cent of the farmers have joined the bureau. Pennington may not do quite as well just now but even this record will be improved on before very long.

A DANGEROUS PRACTICE.

The national board of fire underwriters has called attention to the danger lurking in the Christmas candle movement. The idea is very pretty and there is no objections to be advanced on the score of its intention, but the results of following it out are full of danger and should be brought to the attention of everyone.

The plan of placing a lighted candle in the window on Christmas Eve is a very old one and the tradition is that it will light the Christchild on His way and bring happiness to the home.

Now a solemn warning is sounded against such display of sentimentality. It is claimed that the placing of candles near curtains with the intention of leaving them until burned down—or even if removed before that time—is so great as to endanger both life and property.

Three years ago a similar suggestion was made by the Red Cross when it was urged that service flags be placed in windows with a candle behind them. When the dangerous nature of such performance was called to the officers' attention a hurry call was sent out urging that great care be exercised and that elecric lights be substituted for candles.

While the idea itself is beautiful it hardly seems worth the risk. In many homes the inmates would go to bed leaving the candle burning and the result might be most serious. With inflammable material of many kinds scattered about rooms it is certainly the part of common sense to keep flames as far removed as possible.

STARTING OFF WRONG.

A kick that would make a mule's look wan and weak should be the answer of the people to the proposed plan to have the Babcock road system handled by a commission of five unpaid men. As a rule men who work for nothing are worth almost that much. A better plan would be to engage an executive at $25,000 or more a year, and see to it that he is big enough to earn his salary.—Baudette Region.

The only way in which a more unsatisfactory plan than that proposed could be employed would be by making the committee larger. There would no doubt be a grand rush for the places. Most men would be tickled to death to have an oppdrtunity of becoming personally responsible for the proper expenditure of ten millions of dollars without in any manner being compensated for their time and trouble.

If The Times is correctly informed as to the tentative program, no time should be lost in knocking it in the head. Of the five men to be appointed on this committee it is the intention to have one from each of the three large cities, leaving two to look after the interests of the rest of the state. This might suit Minneapolis, St. Paul and Duluth—and again it might not. These cities are as a matter of fact more interested in having good roads in the country districts at a distance from their municipal limits than in improving the already excellent roads in their immediate vicinity. The farther from the centers of population the new highways extend the better for the centers. In making up this program it hardly seems probable that wishes of the people living in these cities were consulted.

If the plan is carried out this supervising board will contain one man representing everything north and west of Duluth and another performing the same duty for all the rest of the state outside the twin cities. As soon as this is generally understood there will be howl go up that will start the Babcock enterprise off under a cloud of disappointment and suspicion.

If there must be a supervisory committee—and it is by no means certain that such is the case—it should be composed of men representing every section. One from each congressional district would be a much better plan than the one proposed. This committee might act as an advisory body, each member acquainting himself particularly with the conditions in the district represented by him. Where important questions arose this committee could act as a board of appeal to which such controversies as arose over the best plan to be followed in any given locality might be referred. The members should be paid for their work. No very satisfactory results could otherwise be expected.

This Babcock road proposition has moved along in a highly pleasing manner to date. Let's not at this late hour do something that will jeopardize its success. Any plan that even remotely appears as if it might benefit the larger cities to the detriment of the rest of the state would surely have this effect.

Development and Value of Full Page Advertisements

(Rock County Herald.)

The first retail store in America—or anywhere—to use one entire page of a daily newspaper for its announcement was "The Fair," a Chicago department store. This was a little more than thirty-five years ago.

When "The Fair" used its first page of newspaper space, the other merchants of Chicago concluded that the store would kill itself by such methods. The store, however, prospered amazingly, and is today one of the greatest retail establishments in America.

In this first full page advertisement the fashion was set of presenting store news in a store's advertisment—not merely claims and statements and generalities, but prices of things, details about articles of merchandise. The advertisement become a source of information for any prospective buyer. It possessed news value, for it described opportunities to save money—chances to secure unusual things at attractive prices.

As a matter of course, the example thus set by the Chicago store was quickly followed by stores in every big city in America—although many merchants felt that the example was an evil one, and simply set a ruinous pace, which only stores with great financial resources could afford to follow—even for a little while. That everywhere in America, the full page store advertisement was to become as common as had been the three-inch one, did not seem a reasonable supposition.

Up to the time mentioned the merchants of America had looked upon advertising wholly as an expense—not as a means of income, of profit and of public service. Cost alone was considered, not benefits to be derived. There had been an idea prevalent that a good store need not advertise. And so long as that idea prevailed in America, there were no really great stores. The advent of the full page advertisement was also the advent of the full-sized store—of the store devoted to public service, rather than to "private bargaining," as theretofore.

For the day of full publicity for stores marked the final passing of the store that had no fixed prices. The fashion of advertising prices made necessary an undeviating policy as to them, and placed all patrons upon an equal footing. In the days when advertising was unfashionable, few stores adhered to marked prices; and few patrons expected to really pay the prices demanded. The buying and selling of merchandise was, therefore, founded upon the business methods of the itinerant Assyrian frailties, and vanities for their immodest profits. With the coming of the new method of advertising prices, no store would be able, any more, to give to one buyer an advantage over another one.

Within the 35 years that had passed since the "full page" advertisement came into use, store management has undergone a complete and admirable change. Now, a store must make service its watch-word. It is a public institution. It purveys merchandise to the people in the light, and explains in its advertising why and how it happens to be able to offer goods of a particular kind at unusual prices.

And the people have come to view the functions of the stores in a better light. There still remain stores that do not advertise—but there is not, today, a single one of the slightest importance of which this may be said. So that the store that does not advertise is at once under suspicion—suspected of not being able to prosper under the "Advertising Test"—of not having goods to sell that would sell more readily because people were told all about them. So, where in the old days, unprogressive merchants argued that it was undignified for a good store to advertise, the managements of even hte most exclusive stores now-a-days realize that nothing at all can be accomplished without publicity.

It is quite indisputable, therefore, that adequate store-advertising has changed the conditions of merchandising, and re-made the buying and selling habits of the people completely. And that the change has been vastly for the better seems too evident to require comment.

DOES NOT DISAPPOINT

Ten years ago there was much poverty in the north country, much actual shortage of food and clothing.

That condition has changed, year after year, until now the average family are fairly comfortable and fairly prosperous.

Ten years ago a large proportion of the families on the homesteads did not own a cow. Now there are almost as many cows in the townships as there are people.

The capable and industrous have prospered until many of them are worth thousands of dollars. Those less capable have greatly improved their condition.

This is not a get-rich-quick country, but it is a mighty good country for those who prefer to court prosperity by steady effort over a period of years.

It does not disappoint.

OBSERVATIONS.

(W. T. Noonon in Baudette Region.)

A friend has promised us a quart for Christmas. It isn't the value but the spirit connected with a gift that counts.

Mink furs have dropped 400 per cent. They are so cheap that the working girl won't want them any more.

If they pass that law to put the electric chair in use in Minnesota, convicted murderers are going to be terribly shocked.

In another week a lot of husbands will wish that when the government deported the Reds it had included red neckties.

"Find No Whisky Buried in Cemetery" was a headline in Tuesday's Duluth Herald. Unfortunately the same can't be said of whiskey victims.

The big difference between Texas lands and Northern Minnesota lands is that the former sells for $300 an acre and the latter produces $300 an acre.

Now they claim that women won't be good jurors because they change their minds too often. They would be better than the average mule jury, which has nothing to change.

There is one nice thing about the Canadian liquor that comes to Baudette. It won't be so difficult to swear off it at New Year's.

That woman who is suing for divorce because her husband pasted her with a pie has the wrong idea. She should make up with him and go into the movies.

Cannot Escape Paying For Paper Taken From Office

Recently the supreme court of Minnesota handed down a decision in which every publisher in the state is interested, says the Houston Chief. There is not a publisher in the state but has had the experience with persons telling him they did not order the paper and although they had enjoyed it for months refused payment for the same. It is impossible for publishers to keep every name got on the subscription list. Now the supreme court in a recent decision says: "One may accept delivery and make use of a newspaper delivered to him, just as he may other things, under such circumstances as to make a contract implied in fact between him and the publisher." Every man who receives a newspaper knows that the publisher expects him to pay for the same and if he keeps on taking it from the postoffice under the supreme court's ruling, be compelled to pay for it.

And then there is the newspaper account of the 'game loser who gave up when the stork brought the 34th'—but it developed that it was only a congressman friend of the family who gave up buying a suit of clothes for the father.

"If a member of congress talks sense, wears common ordinary clothes, respectable hair and a clean collar, he is not news," editorializes the American Legion Weekly. It should all be easy, but some of them seem to find the first utterly impossible.

Burrel-Horejsh.

On Tuesday evening at 5:30 o'clock occurred the marriage of Robt. Howard Burrel to Miss Marie Horejsh. Judge Tarrant performed the ceremony. The couple was attended by Miss Anna Horejsh, sister of the bride and Chas. L. Schultz. The bride lives with her parents on Arnold Ave. S., while the groom is a fireman on the Soo, with headquarters in this city.

Skamfer-Odegaard.

Lester E. Skamfer of Abercrombie and Miss Gertrude Odegaard of Oslo, were united in marriage on Saturday afternoon at 4:00 o'clock at the Trinity Lutheran parsonage. Rev. Sweger, pastor of the church officiated. The couple was attended by Emil Flaa of Abercrombie, friend of the groom and Iren Odegaard, sister of the bride. Mr. Skamfer is superintendent of the Oslo school while the bride, previous to her marriage, taught in the same school. She is a graduate of the local high school. The newlyweds spent Sunday in this city visiting numerous friends and after a brief wedding trip will be at home at Oslo.

Lovell-Linde.

The many friends of Miss Agnes Linde, daughter of John O. Linde of this city, will be interested to learn of her marriage on Dec. 18 to Chas. C. Lovell at Vancouver, Wash. They will make their home at Portland, Ore., where the groom is employed by the Bridal Veil Lumber Co. The bride is well known in this city and attended the local schools, graduating from the high school with the class of 1913. Since that time she had been engaged in teaching school until the recent war when she was in the employ of the government. Since then she has been engaged in stenographic work. Miss Thrine Dosland, formerly of this city, now residing at Perley, acted as bridesmaid. The Times joins her host of friends in extending congratulations.

Birthday Party.

A delightful holiday event was the birthday party which Miss Gladys Christianson held at her home on Dec. 12th in commemoration of her 11th birthday anniversary. Sixteen of her young friends had the pleasure of the occasion and the hours between four and seven were pleasantly spent in playing various games. The decorations were in keeping with the season. Before leaving each guest was presented with a gift. The honored guest was also the recipient of many beautiful gifts. The guests included Lillian Johnson, Marian Reynolds, Dorothy Swedenburg, Bernice Hoppa, Irene Hanson, Eloise Carlson, Gertrude Bartlett, Lulu Rice, Ione Loken, Mildred Engen and Randall Noper, Earl Benson, Gordon Johnson, Carl Swedenburg, Harold Rustad, Richard Mabey.

"How does the Woman's Auxiliary help the Legion?"

That is the question which is being asked by many people of this community. Officers of the local post know of no better way of answering that question than by pointing out that the advance sale of tickets to the New Years' Eve ball given by the Elmer Eklund Post, is being put on by the newly formed Auxiliary.

By way of answering the question, the following paragraph as taken from the weekly bulletin submitted to Legion posts by the Minnesota department is printed.

"A joint Christmas party of the American Legion Post and the Woman's Auxiliary unit is being held at Two Harbors and a large increase in the membership of both organizations is expected to result from this display of community spirit. Other posts are holding joint meetings too, because they find it stimulates interest and attendance. St. Paul Post No. 8 Auxiliary gives the boys a little supper every meeting night—next night the boys will be called upon to judge the best of some score or more of juicy apple pies baked by the auxiliary members. The post used to have a hard time securing a quorum—now they come in droves! This cooperation between the Legion and its Auxiliary means a great gain in strength in carrying forward American Legion policies and arousing interest in post activities."

The weekly bulletin submitted by the Minnesota department of the American Legion, contains the following statement:

"A number of irresponsible ex-service publications have recently been collecting subscriptions in various parts of the country, including Minnesota. The Zero House is one of them, and the Veteran Motor Review is another. Unless you know positively that strangers represent publications of nation or statewide reputation, correspond with Department Headquarters before subscribing. Warn the people of your community to this effect. A paper known as The Bugle Call, published on the Mesaba Iron Range, has no authority to represent itself as indorsed by The American Legion."

The Legion will put a strong basket ball team into the field again this winter, the first game to be played at the city auditorium on the 5th or 7th of January, when the fast Fosston team or a team traveling out of the twin cities will be met. Holzknecht, Kiland and Hermanson of last year's team; McGinn, Hadrath and LaBree, stars of last year's high school team; Carlson, a new man connected with the Thief River Falls Candy company, and Brown, a former high school star and many others, have been showing up in first class fighting shape on the floor. There will be a keen competition for position. G. W. Connell who coached the Legion last year is acting in the same capacity this season.

Obituary

Mrs. C. M. Adkins.

Mrs. C. M. Adkins passed away at the Physicians' hospital on Thursday morning, Dec. 16. Marie M. Hill was born Sept. 18, 1880, in the state of Kansas. On Jan. 1, 1908, she was married to Dr. Chas. M. Adkins. They resided a short time in Kansas when they removed to Ogemah. From there they removed to Grygla where they remained for a period of seven years. A year ago the family came to this city. The funeral services were held at the home Sunday afternoon, Rev. R. L. Barackman, pastor of the Presbyterian church conducting. Interment took place in Greenwood cemetery. She leaves her husband, four children, several relatives and a large circle of friends to mourn her untimely departure. Mrs. Adkins became a Christian and a church member at an early age and was a member in good standing in the Presbyterian church at the time of her death. She was a woman of rare spirit and beauty of character. The whole community extend her sorely bereft family the sincerest sympathy.

Mrs. W. A. Swanson.

Mrs. Bertha O. Swanson, wife of W. A. Swanson of Rhoda, passed away near Thief River Falls on the evening of Dec. 8 after a lingering illness of many months. About four years ago Mrs. Swanson had a blood transfusion performed at Grand Forks. Since then she was really never strong. Some time in October she was obliged to confine herself to her bed. Everything was done for her that could be done, but of no avail, although at times it did seem that there was hope up to the last day or two, when a decided turn for the worse took place.

Mrs. Swanson was born and raised in Goodhue county, Minn. She was 44 years, 1 month and 10 days old at the time of her death. She leaves to mourn her loss a husband, three stepchildren, a lot of friends and relations, a mother, Mrs. T. Ellingson of Makoti, N. D., four sisters, Mrs. Ben Telle of Meralrand, Mrs. Carl Swanson of Northfield, Mrs. Lars Nuderdahl of Willowmar, Sask., Mrs. Gilbert Thompson, and two brothers, Elling T. Ellingson and Ole Ellingson, all of Makoti, N. D.

Mrs. Swanson was quietly laid at rest in the Oak Park cemetery near Rhoda on Sunday. Her coffin was nicely decorated with floral offerings. Rev. Leirfallen officiated.

Christmas Seal Sales are Below Last Year's Record

While the 1920 Christmas seal sale is progressing in fine fashion, the results do not approach those of last year, according to officials of the Pennington County Health association. Stamps are being placed in the hands of school children, who are accomplishing exceptional results. Shirley Anderson and Margaret Melgaard have made sales that break all records for high school solicitors, J. J. McCann, county chairman of the drive, states. Miss Anderson sold $20 worth of stamps the past week-end, and Miss Melgaard sold $20.25 worth. Rural districts and villages of the county have not made returns as yet. The seal sale closes the first of January.

New County Agent Named For Neighboring District

William L. Fetridge, formerly of Oshkosh, Wis., has been appointed county agent for the district composed of eastern Marshall and western Beltrami counties, with headquarters at Grygla. Mr. Fetridge is a practical dairy farmer and will give particular attention to the development of that industry in his new field. He is reported as well pleased with the section to which he has been assigned and is certain that it has a bright future. Particularly does he declare himself enthusiastic over the prospects for alfalfa growing.

Miss Ann Patterson who is engaged in teaching at Coleraine, came up from St. Hilaire Tuesday, where she is spending the Xmas vacation with her parents and spent a brief period as the guest of numerous friends. Miss Patterson formerly taught in the local schools.

Their Medicine Chest For 20 Years

IT is characteristic of folks after they pass the allotted "three score years and ten," to look back over the days that are gone and thoughtfully live them over.

I find myself, at seventy-one, frequently drifting back a quarter of a century, when I see myself in the little drug store I owned at Bolivar, Mo., making and selling a vegetable compound to my friends and customers—what was then known only as Dr. Lewis' Medicine for Stomach, Liver and Bowel Complaints.

For many years while I was perfecting my formula I studied and investigated the laxatives and cathartics on the market and became convinced that their main fault was not that they did not act on the bowels, but that their action was too violent and drastic, and upset the system of the user; which was due to the fact that they were not thorough enough in their action, some simply acting on the upper or small intestines, while others would act only on the lower or large intestines, and that they almost invariably produced a habit requiring augmented doses.

I believed that a preparation to produce the best effect must first tone the liver, then act on the stomach and entire alimentary system. If this was accomplished, the medicine would produce a mild, but thorough elimination of the waste without the usual sickening sensations, and make the user feel better at once.

After experimenting with hundreds of different compounds, I at last perfected the formula that is now known as Nature's Remedy, which I truly believe goes further and does more than any laxative on the market today. The thousands of letters from users have convinced me I was right, and that the user of Nature's Remedy as a family medicine, even though he may have used it for twenty-five years, never has to increase the dose.

My knowledge of medicine and the results of its use in my own family and among my friends, before I ever offered it for sale, caused me to have great faith in Nature's Remedy from the very first.

And now as I find myself nearing the age when I must bow to the inevitable and go to another life, my greatest pleasure is to sit each day and read the letters that each mail brings from people as old or older than I, who tell of having used Nature's Remedy for ten, fifteen and twenty years, and how they and their children and grandchildren have been benefitted by it.

It is a consoling thought, my friends, for a man at my age to feel that aside from his own success, one has done something for his fellow man. My greatest satisfaction, my greatest happiness today, is the knowledge that tonight more than one million people will take a Nature's Remedy (NR Tablet) and will be better, healthier, happier people for it. I hope you will be one of them.

RIPEN ALFALFA SEED ON FARMS IN PENNINGTON

First Time Farmers Here Have Succeeded in Procuring Native-Grown Stock.

Result Considered of Great Importance in Establishing Standard Plant.

Much Land Last Year Sowed to Sweet Clover in Preparation For Alfalfa.

Harry Woolson, the well known farmer and stockman living five miles east of Thief River Falls in Silverton township, and Henry Eliason of Highlanding township, have on hand several hundred pounds of Grimm alfalfa seed which was ripened on their lands during the past season. These are probably the first instances in which quantities of alfalfa seed have ripened in the northwestern part of the state. It has been considered difficult if not impossible to ripen the seed in this climate and only very small amounts have previously been produced.

Grimm alfalfa seed is selling at prices ranging from seventy to eighty cents per pound and the growers should find a ready market for this acclimated seed. Growers are expected to receive with enthusiasm this announcement that the seed can be properly ripened in this section, as the high price of suitable seed has excluded many from planting this excellent forage. Ten pounds of seed to the acre is the average sowing.

J. J. McCann, county agent, states that during the past year 360 acres of Pennington county lands were planted to alfalfa and that this acreage will be increased to over 800 acres during the coming summer. Where planted in Pennington county, excellent results have been secured. In many instances growers secured three cuttings, which brought the average yield per acre for the year to more than six tons. The same land will yield an average of two and a quarter tons of tame hay. Sweet clover will yield approximately the same number of tons as alfalfa but does not constitute as palatable a forage.

Considered Best Locality.

The soil of Pennington county is remarkably adapted to the growing of alfalfa, being rich in lime, which is one of the essential elements necessary to the growing of the plant. Mr. McCann also states that Pennington county and the immediate vicinity has proven to be one of the best localities in the entire state as regards to the growing of alfalfa as a forage. It is considered one of the coming crops of this section.

Approximately 2000 acres of ground in the county are now sown to sweet clover by way of preparing the soil for the planting of alfalfa seed. In many instances a chemical preparation has been used to inoculate the soil where it was desired to raise alfalfa. This is rather an expensive measure and is not necessary when sweet clover is previously grown on the soil, sweet clover serving to inoculate the ground as efficiently as the chemicals used. Seed ripened and threshed in this section should prove a great factor in increasing the alfalfa acreage in the county, as it will be acclimated and adapted to this soil, securing good results with the first crops.

Common Thresher Used.

Mr. Eliason on May 20, 1918 planted an acre of ground with a chemically inoculated seed. As it was not possible to cut the crop for forage the first year owing to the fact that the plant did not root well, a common mower was used to clip the tops after the plants had reached a heighth of several inches. This clipping took place twice during the first season and the result was a well rooted sod. Three crops of forage were cut during the season of 1919.

During the last of June this year the acre of ground yielded seven large loads of forage. Cattle destroyed a great part of the new crop which followed; but the balance when cut late in September and threshed, yielded approximately 200 pounds of excellent seed. The alfalfa was threshed in a common grain thresher of small cylinder, the straw after the first threshing being passed through the machine for the second time.

Mr. Eliason states that he does not consider two cuttings a season advisable where it is desired to ripen for seed and that his success this year with the second crop was due to the extremely warm weather which existed during the month of September.

Excellent Milk Producer.

He further states that the plowing of land to be devoted to alfalfa raising should take place in the fall, and that the soil should be well packed. It has been his experience that ground should be carefully selected, as a high, well-drained soil is required to avoid the possibility of the plant being drowned out by excessive rains. Alfalfa after cutting proves easy to handle, though it is necessary to rake it into windrows before it becomes too dry, in which state the leaves are lost.

According to Mr. Eliason all stock takes very readily to alfalfa as a forage. He has found it second to no other as a milk producer and that hogs thrive upon it.

ACTIVE WORK FOR JUNIOR RED CROSS

Chapter Reorganized and Will Continue Work With Entire County as Field.

Plans which will effect a complete reorganization of the Pennington county chapter of the Junior Red Cross were formulated at a meeting held at the office of County Superintendent of Schools George M. Gunderson on Saturday afternoon. It is expected that the reorganization will be completed by the first of the coming year. Those present at the meeting were: Elaine Swanson, field representative of the state department of the American Red Cross; L. S. Johnson, superintendent of the St. Hilaire consolidated school; Mrs. J. J. Richter of the Pennington County Public Health association; Superintendent George M. Gunderson; W. A. Ziegler, superintendent of the Thief River Falls schools; John Nystul, instructor in the Goodridge school; Ruth Johnson, Thief River Falls school nurse; Andrew Dahl, health committee chairman of the Teachers Progressive League of Pennington county, and Myrtle Satre and Nettie Johnson, committee chairmen of the Teachers Progressive league.

Mr. Gunderson received his appointment as chairman of the Junior Red Cross from the chairman of the parent body, Mrs. H. W. Froehlich. He has appointed Superintendent L. S. Johnson of the St. Hilaire school as vice chairman, John Nystul of Goodridge as secretary and Superintendent W. A. Ziegler as treasurer.

Reorganization in the out-lying sections of the county will proceed thru the Teachers' Progressive league. Each school will be made a unit of the organization. Superintendent Johnson will assume charge of the work in the St. Hilaire school and Superintendent Norby in the Goodridge school. A creditable junior organization already exists in the schools of Thief River Falls.

Yearly dues have been set at 45 cents per school. Dues formerly were 25 cents per member, which resulted in accumulating the sum of approximately $700 now in the treasury. This fund was a factor taken into consideration when reorganization was discussed, owing to the fact that it would undoubtedly revert to the senior organization if the Junior Red Cross should be discontinued. It is planned to devote this money toward the carrying out of some county project, preferably one that would assist in the protection of the public health.

WANTS TAX LEVIED ON BANK DEPOSITS

Congressman Believes Billion Dollars Annually Would Be Provided by Bill.

A tax of one-quarter of 1 per cent on all bank deposits is proposed in a bill introduced by Representative Treadway of Massachusetts, a Republican member of the House ways and means committee.

Mr. Treadway estimates that such a tax would net a revenue of approximately $1,000,000,000 annually.

Collection of the tax would be made at the time deposits were made, and institutions affected would include all national, state and private banks, trust companies, brokers' offices and other institutions, firms or corporations receiving any money on deposit subject to withdrawals by check, cash or otherwise.

Mutual savings banks, co-operative building and loan associations and similar institutions organized and operated exclusively for the benefit of their members would be exempted.

The bill was referred to the House ways and means committee, which is considering changes in internal revenue schedules.

Mr. Treadway said that the latest report of the comptroller of the currency "shows that the amount of exchanges of clearing houses of the United States for the year 1919 was $387,001,941,000."

COST OF PRODUCING WHEAT FIGURED OUT; SHOWS LOSS AT $2.24

"Citizen" Maintains That it Costs $29.04 Per Acre to Raise Cereal Under Present Conditions—Takes Over 14 Bushels to Pay Expenses.

It costs $29.04 to raise and market a bushel of wheat at the present time, according to a correspondent of The Times in this city. He has made a table showing the cost of each operation connected with the production of an acre of wheat, his figures being as follows:

Plowing	$ 2.00
Seed (1½ bu. at $2)	3.00
Seeding	.45
Dragging	.22
Harvesting	1.75
Shocking	.33
Threshing	1.50
Taxes, local	.60
Land rent (¼ of crop)	5.00
Interest (land val. $75, 5%)	3.75
Board	2.60
Profit allowed (15c per bu. on 13 bu.)	1.30
Hauling (8c per bu)	1.04
Feed (50c per 10 acres)	3.75
Total	$29.04

With wheat at $2.24 per bushel and a yield of 12 bushels the receipts from an acre would be $29.12. If the price is $2 per bushel the following would be the result: A yield of five bushels per acre would net $10, leaving the grower $19.04 to the bad; if he secured a crop of 10 bushels he would be out $9.04, while if his yield ran up to 13 bushels he would still be short $3.04 when it came to covering costs.

Queer Sights and Sounds Reported at Haunted House

A couple of chairs get together and do the shimmy; the table pirouettes about, alternating on its four legs; the stovepipe does a grapevine; the books turn over a few new leaves and decide to stick to the stately waltz; the sofa glums onto the kitchen range and they shake a wicked hoof in a one step; the family bible even loosens up and cuts a few capers. Elderly ladies disappear and reappear at will; strange footsteps are heard tramping up and down the walk, but no human is visible; odd colored lights glow in the rooms; lavender colored smoke issues from the chimney; queer noises emanate from the attic; the very trees in the yard move about at will. All of these and many more queer sights are said to have been seen in or near a supposed haunted house on North Tindolph avenue.

MRS. CHAS. DEWEY WELL AND HAPPY

"The Wonderful Relief Tanlac Gave Me Would Make Anyone Rejoice," She Says.

"It's enough to make anybody rejoice to get the wonderful relief a few bottles have brought me," declared Mrs. Chas. Dewey, of 2600 Colfax avenue, Minneapolis, Minn.

"For about four years before I got Tanlac I suffered from a severe case of indigestion and stomach trouble. The little I ate would sour in my stomach and gas almost shut off my breath.

"I also suffered a great deal from constipation, and I had such terrible spells of headaches and dizziness that I would have to lie down until they would wear off. My sleep was very poor and restless, and I would get up in the mornings feeling about as bad as if I hadn't gone to bed at all.

"This was the condition I was in when I first heard about Tanlac, and since taking this medicine I never had a better appetite in my life than I have now. Everything seems to agree with me perfectly, for I never have a sign of indigestion or gas, and my breathing is free and easy.

"I am no longer bothered with constipation and the headaches and dizziness have entirely disappeared. My sleep is sound and refreshing, and I'm feeling just fine in every way. I owe my present good health to Tanlac, and I certainly am grateful for all it has done for me."

Think it Over.

Students! That long-looked for Christmas vacation has arrived. In these "whirl-wind" times, two weeks is a long time and should have some consideration, that it may be spent in the best way possible. It is a vacation that you can be thankful for because it comes in the middle of the school year when each student and teacher as well, would expect and needs a rest. It is a time when your mind can relax and when your body receives more physical exercise, enabling you to be more fresh and ambitious during the coming new year. This does not mean that during vacation one should make himself as lazy as possible for in this bustling world of today such a thing would make everything as well as yourself come to a stand still. Therefore keep up your pep and ambition and make use of it during your vacation by doing something worth while. It will pay you. There are many useful things that can be done and yet not hinder the spending of your vacation as you first had planned. Think it over.

Vacation.

The schools of Thief River Falls closed today for a two week's vacation. In this bustling, bustling world of ours, two weeks is a long time and we may soon expect radical reformers to condemn the scandalous wasting of two weeks of very valuable time in a person's high school career. Now of course both faculty and students want a two week's Christmas vacation, but whether or not we are to keep on having it will depend a great deal on the attitude of the students toward it. Everyone will agree that a vacation during Christmas will do a student good. A happy sojourn with friends and family, mental relaxation for two weeks and a life of freedom during the cold, snappy Yuletide should make a student come back with greater determination, added zest, and a clearer mentality. If we all show this, we may be confident of a two weeks' vacation each year.

Vacation Time.

"Vacation time is the playtime for everyone," so goes the old saying, but this is not true necessarily, for one can gain complete rest and enjoyment from his vacation by being busily employed, provided his employment is different than his usual one. A vacation spent this way is a benefit to the spender, for it enables him to see that his profession is not the only one; and it also broadens and makes more keen his outlook on life in general.

On the other hand, a vacation may be spent in taking a "complete rest," perhaps reading a few books; seldom reading really "worth while" books, or else wasting their time doing nothing. A vacation spent in this manner, may have its benefits, but it is doubtful, for a brain that is in the habit of being used at every moment, loses some of its keenness by inactivity, even of the shortest duration. Then too, it does not rest a person to waste his time away; one often hears the expression, "I'm tired out, from doing nothing," and the time that is not spent in a profitable manner does not prove a benefit to anyone.

Do not waste your vacation time by remaining inactive, get busy, if you are a person that uses your physical powers in the daily routine more than your mental powers, then cultivate your mental powers. If you do this you will not only astonish yourself at your hitherto unrecognized ability, but you will also be astonished at the many benefits you have derived from this change and you will never go back to the old manner of spending your "playtime."

Chapel Exercises.

Monday morning the students of the Lincoln high school had the privilege of hearing another timely and very interesting talk on public health, by Mrs. J. M. Bishop, who spoke in the interest of the sale of Red Cross seals.

"As you came marching into the assembly," said Mrs. Bishop, "I noticed that you do not need physical assistance and therefore you should do everything in your power to help others who are not so fortunate.

"There is now a tendency among people to think of the good old days that were. I am only going to tell you of times which were not as good as they are now, and you will find that we have a great deal to be thankful for. I well remember conditions 18 years ago when there was no health inspection and people seemed to care little or nothing about sanitation and general health conditions. I once visited the Washington school. There was a girl who had a loathsome, communicable disease, who was attending school regularly because we had no school nurse and nothing was done to isolate communicable diseases. We started working for a school nurse, but it was an unappreciated, unfruitful undertaking. People were not used to having public school nurses and could not see why we should have one.

"At about the same time we started working for a sanitarium, but we encountered the same obstacles as in the case of the school nurse. One business man, on being confronted with the proposition, said that his father and two sisters had died from tuberculosis, at home. Now the reason that they died from tuberculosis was because they stayed at home. Tuberculosis is communicable, preventable and curable. While all patients who are taken to a sanitarium are not cured, they will at least not spread the disease to a number of innocent relatives and associates. I remember one pitiful case of a settler on the reservation east of town. He was suffering from the last stages of tuberculosis and came in to town and asked for a place to die, as he was living alone in a practically unsettled country. But we had no place to send him.

"Do you know that the percentage of tuberculars in the Red River Valley is higher than in any other section of the United States? This is caused largely by the pulmonary weakness of the Indians during the transitionary period from barbarism to civilization, and the tendency among the Scandinavians to overwork and neglect sanitation.

"Tuberculosis is one of the most dreaded diseases in the world today. In the United States there are over a million people who are afflicted to a certain degree. In Minnesota alone we have 20,000 cases. More people die from tuberculosis in the United States each year than the entire population of St. Louis county. Practically everybody is infected with tuberculosis before the age of 21. If a person's health is good he recovers; otherwise his chances of recovery are greatly decreased.

"The children are depended upon to educate the public in the matter of health promotion. Health is wealth. All the education a person may secure will avail him nothing, if his health is impaired. Every person in order to succeed must have some impossible ambition. Our ambition should be, 'A Minnesota Without Disease.'"

On Wednesday morning at the usual chapel time the student body was fortunate in having such a capable orator as Dr. Froehlich talk to us on the importance of health.

In introducing Dr. Froehlich, Supt. Ziegler briefly showed us the vast importance of health by the following remarks: "School may make a man a walking Encyclopedia, but this will only develop into a striking failure unless his health is taken care of."

Dr. Froehlich introduced his talk with a few remarks concerning the greatness of our present day opportunity which will some day become a realization, that is if we give our mind and body a chance to live. We may do this by "Building our own Defense," the predominating topic of the doctor's talk.

As individuals we are actors taking a part in a great play of life. Each and everyone of us plays a decisive part. To uphold this part we must "Build our own Defense" physically. In doing this the doctor explained the importance of physical training in high school, the proper food and the keeping of regular sleeping hours. The necessity of proper clothing was impressed upon our minds by a few brief illustrations. His crusade on the tobacco habit was strong.

The doctor's subject of "Build Your Own Defense" was divided into four parts, physically, mentally, morally and spiritually. In explaining these four important foundations to success he gave some splendid descriptions and discussions, much to the welfare of future life of the present day student.

Hamline Players.

On the evening of Jan. 3rd, Hamline Players of Hamline University, St. Paul, Minn., will appear at the auditorium under the auspices of the high school seniors and will present T. W. Robinson's well known three-act drama entitled, "Caste." These players have been making short tours for the past years, but this year they are booked for a month's trip through Minnesota, Wisconsin, North and South Dakota and a few southern Canadian towns. Last year these same players were out for two weeks and presented Israel Zangwill's well known play, "The Melting Pot." Every effort is being made this year to surpass their last year's success.

The play is one that is true to life and whose characterization is exceptionally good. The play has an English setting and is a story full of love and pathos which ends the life long struggle between the classes and the masses. At the time when the that of the English and American working men is so important to the world as a whole, as our papers attest, the play has a special intrinsic interest.

The students of the high school will canvass the city for the sale of tickets and you may expect them during the next week. The tickets will also be on sale at Lambert's drug store, prices being 50c, 75c and $1.00. Get yours now.

The Debate.

The debate Friday evening between the Thief River Falls and Roseau high school teams resulted in a complete victory for the representatives of the Lincoln high, debating the affirmative of the state question, "Resolved, That the Open Shop is Preferable to the Closed Shop in our Industrial System."

The Roseau team, altho swamped with proof and unrefutable argument, fought gamely and refused to admit defeat until the decision was given. Considering that this was the first debate of any importance that the members of our team have taken part in, we shall expect more from them in the next debate. The members of the Roseau team also showed debating ability and had it not been for a lack of experience and the sensation of speaking on a strange platform for the first time, the decision of the judges might not have been so decidedly in our favor.

The representatives of the Roseau high school were: Hilda Ulvan, Magnhild Hegerdahl and Vernon Cline. They were accompanied by Anna Connelly Olsen, as the coach, Carl Erickson being unable to accompany the team.

The judges were S. L. Johnson of St. Hilaire; M. W. Holtsapple of Middle River and Prof. B. O. Norby of Goodridge.

Lost to Fosston.

The Lincoln high school basketball team lost the first game of the season to Fosston last Thursday, by a score of 20 to 16.

The Fosston team was a little late in arriving so the game was not called before nine o'clock. Parenteau got the tip-off at the start and the game was on. LaBree was fouled during the first two minutes, but Fosston failed to make the free throw. Fosston made the first basket in the first three minutes of play. They made a free throw after Penney was fouled for traveling. Both teams were somewhat wobbly at first and tried a number of long shots. Fosston was fouled twice, but LaBree missed the basket in the free shots. Fosston made two long shots and the quarter ended with a score of 7-0.

Parenteau started the second quarter with a basket, making the score 7-2. Ralston was fouled for holding and netted another point. A short shot and the score was 10-2, with the visitors in the lead. Fosston was fouled for holding. LaBree shot and brought our score up to 3. Parenteau adds two more points with a basket. Time was called. Play was started with Penney shooting a basket. Both teams were going fast and there seemed to be little difference in their strength. Fosston was called for a personal. LaBree shot and missed. Penney was called for a personal, but Fosston also shot and missed.

Herron was called for a personal and Fosston added another point to their score. The first half closed with a score of 11-7.

The second half opened with both teams fighting desperately and trying long shots. Fosston made a point after a personal was called on Penney. Two personals were called on Fosston, but both shots were missed. Parenteau netted a point by shooting the third personal on Fosston. The score at the end of the quarter was 12-8, with Fosston still in the lead.

Another personal was called on Fosston in the beginning of the last quarter, but our boys were unable to benefit by it. Fosston made a basket by a short shot. Penney makes a point after a personal on Fosston. Fosston shot another basket. Penney shot a basket and increased our score by two points. Fosston made two baskets and one free throw, making the score 20 to 16 in favor of Fosston at the end of the game.

Coach Tommerasen was ill and was unable to attend the game.

Personals.

Clarence Knudson and Dreng Bjornaraa conducted the Modern History and Physics classes last Monday in the absence of Mr. Melby.

Edward Lundberg, after spending eight months with relatives in Hibbing, returned to this city last Saturday to resume his studies at the local high school.

Bernhard Sundahl was absent from school three days last week on account of illness.

Kermit Anderson, for the first time in the history of the school, received a "B" in Physiology.

Mr. Melby (in Chemistry): "This equation is unbalanced."

Alfred Dybvik, who has made extended visits to Goodridge the past three weeks has resumed his studies at the Lincoln high school.

Mr. Tommerasen, the physical culture teacher, has resumed his duties after a week's illness.

Reuben A. (translating in Caesar): "There was a small swamp, not very large."

Clarence K. (selecting a magazine for a report): "Put me down for Life."

Eileen Herron (demonstrating the Harper's Bazaar magazine in English IV): "Well, this department is devoted to fashions."

Esther H.: "Oh, I'm going to get on the honor roll next month on my good looks."

Burton A. (who had just dropped his pencil): "You know that 90 per cent of the times a piece of bread falls on the floor it falls on the buttered side and it is the same with my pencil because almost every time it falls, it falls on the point and breaks off."

Central Notes.

Manual Training.

The boys of the eighth grade are now making foot-stools, plant stands, book-racks, etc., in Manual Training. They have not been making very much headway on account of short periods, but as they are interested in getting their work ready before Christmas, they will be given two periods a week.

Boy Scouts Organizing.

A large part of the eighth grade boys are again organizing the Boy Scouts. They are now holding meetings in the Methodist church basement on Tuesday nights where they have plenty of room for exercises. Mr. Sultean has been chosen Scout Master and Dave Gustafson as his assistant. The patrols are being formed and other beginnings being started. Nearly all the boys that have enrolled are in hopes that this troop will never break up.

Eighth Grade News Weekly.

The Eighth grade students of the Central school are editing a weekly newspaper in which the activities of the school are written up. "The Little Big Paper" is taking exchanges from the United Press and other active papers.

The editor of the "Little Big Paper" is Maurice Holzknecht and the assistants are Emmett Shanahan and Bonnie Barnett.

The editorials and news items are worth reading and discuss the news of the school as fully as any large paper discusses the news of the outside world.

Girls Take Interest in Cooking.

They are taught to cook nourishing foods in the proper way. So far they have prepared baked potatoes, apples, macaroni with cheese, tomato soup and creamed carrots. In a short time they will have a lesson on Christmas candy.

The Girl Scouts.

The Girl Scouts are being organized and many girls have enlisted and are very enthusiastic about the organization, especially those of the Central school.

Christmas Spirit at Central.

Since Christmas is near the Central school has been preparing for it. A barrel has been placed in the hall for the purpose of putting things in for the poor people who will not have a very happy Christmas.

Christmas stories are being written in the seventh and eighth grades.

The Kindergarten children are decorating their rooms with pictures and holly wreaths.

Many Christmas seals have been sold and many more will be.

Third Lyceum Number.

Third Lyceum Number.

The third number of the Lyceum course was held in the city auditorium last Wednesday night. Mr. J. Q. Robinson, purposeful lecturer spoke on "The Paralysis of Power." This lecture is a character sketch built about a chapter from Charles Dickens' famous novel "Bleak House" and is probably one of Dr. Robinson's best speeches. It is highly endorsed by everyone, because of its great message that it sends to the heart of every listener. Charles Dickens, in his story, shows the ruination of a young man, because of his dreams of a great inheritance and wasting his youth by chasing the non-important things of life. Dr. Robinson is an eloquent and forceful speaker, with a worth-while message. He also has the knowledge and training to make it entertaining and interesting.

Northrup News.

In the marching contest which is being conducted in all the grade schools, the Northrup succeeded in winning the felt banner. The winning school keeps the pennant for a period of two weeks. In the Northrup school the pennant will be displayed in the lower hall near the front entrance. In last week's contest at the Northrup, Miss Trogen's room won on the lower floor and Miss Bark's room on the upper floor.

The Normal girls are still doing practice teaching in the fifth and second grades.

Miss Hoyt, first grade	$ .80
Miss Nepper, first grade	.54
Miss Trogen, second grade	3.80
Miss Kleber, second grade	.92
Miss Adams, third grade	5.08
Miss Sandum, third grade	6.50
Miss Smith, fourth grade	9.45
Miss Whipps, fourth and fifth	8.59
Miss Bark, fifth grade	1.65
Miss Pelto, sixth grade	12.39
Total	$49.62

On Wednesday afternoon, Dec. 22, all the grades in the building will congregate in the lower hall to sing Christmas carols. The following Thursday all the grade schools will assemble in the auditorium for the same purpose.

Christmas Vacation.

The Thief River Falls schools close today, the 23rd, for the Christmas vacation. The reason for closing on Thursday is that Christmas comes on Saturday and a number of the teachers and students who live out of town wish to reach their homes before Christmas day. School was held on election day so no time will be lost. School will commence after vacation on Monday, Jan. 10.

A Freshman's Letter to Santa.

Dear Santa:

I would like to let you know what I want for Christmas this year. You will find my stocking hanging by the chimney. Please Santa, bring me a bean shooter, my stocking is the tiniest one with white heels and toes. I would also like a pair of long trousers and a "Pony" for my Caesar. Don't let the Seniors know, but I would like a rag doll and some peanuts and some all-day suckers.

Your friend,
JOHNNY?

Six Barrels of Potatoes for 99c.

On September 14, Mrs. Sarah. S. Hancock, of Bridgeton, New Jersey, sold six barrels of No. 2 potatoes through a New York commission house for $1.50 a barrel—a total of $9.00. After deducting $2.10 for barrels, $3.51 for freight, $1.50 for cartage and $.90 for commission, the firm sent Mrs. Hancock what was left—99c.

Think of it! Six full barrels of food for only 99 cents!

The quick relief for such cases is direct coöperative marketing of vegetables, fruit, grain and livestock by the full carload.

Michigan potato growers saved $700,000.00 last year by letting a trained sales manager market their crop coöperatively. There is no longer any question as to whether it will work—fourteen thousand coöperative associations are working in the United States today.

There is a big, new force in the United States which advocates coöperation. It is the American Farm Bureau Federation. It also supports all other sound relief measures for farmers, such as cost accounting, knowledge of world markets and legislative reforms. You can help in the fight for these measures by becoming a member of your County Farm Bureau.

You can help, too, by reading that great national farm-service weekly, THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN. You will find it always in the thick of the farmer's fight—never neutral and never dull. Fifty-two big, inspiring issues, crammed with helpfulness, entertainment, hope and courage, will be delivered in your post-box for just $1.00 the year. Yes, your check is good.

ROSEWOOD

Christmas Singing.

The singing of beautiful Christmas songs outside of candle lighted windows throughout the community, will be a holiday feature again this year. This pretty custom was established through the efforts of Mrs. A. S. Holm last year and as it met with splendid success and the hearty approval of the people, it will be tried again. Last year the singers were few and traveled by foot from home to home. This year it is the plan to cover a somewhat larger territory, and a horse-drawn sleigh with merry tinkling bells and the best local singers have been secured. The sleigh will start from town shortly after six o'clock on Friday evening, Dec. 24, and will proceed northward first. All homes in town, and within a short distance north and south along the main road, having lighted candles in the windows will be visited. Leave your shades open on Christmas Eve, light candles in your windows, show your friends and neighbors that the Christmas spirit has invaded your home; feel friendly and cheerful and watch for your own reward.

Elects New Manager.

The first meeting of the new director board of the Rosewood Shipping association was held at the business room of the Farmers State bank last Friday evening. Emil Anderson was elected president for the coming year and Selmer Haugen vice president. It was decided to have only one manager for the coming year as neither the trade nor the territory is large enough to warrant having two. Benhard Ranum accepted the office as manager for one year. Adolph Haugen, former manager, was appointed director. The secretary was instructed to have new constitutions printed as there are several new by-laws not included in the old.

Entertains Birthday Party.

Mrs. A. S. Holm was hostess at a delightful birthday party in honor of her husband last Tuesday evening. A sumptuous six o'clock supper was served and the remainder of the evening was happily spent at conversation and cards. The following were the four guests: Mrs. Rudolph Sagmoen, Isabelle Sagmoen, Herbert Carlson and Joel Shoberg.

Mrs. Carl Mellem entertained the Swedish Ladies Aid and Y. P. S. at her home south of town last Wednesday. A fair sized gathering was present and a tasteful luncheon was served. Rev. W. Drotts of Viking was present and delivered a short speech suitable for the occasion.

Peder Sorenson, who has spent the last two years in Canada, came home on Friday evening for a visit with his folks. Mr. Sorenson has spent a brief period this fall touring western Canada and the coast arriving here from Vancouver, B. C.

The Rindal Christmas tree festival will be held this year at that church on Sunday evening, Dec. 26. There will be a long program rendered by the pupils of Rosebank school, and considerable singing and music.

Upon receiving a telephone message that her sister, Mrs. Sumpter, was ill at the Thief River Falls hospital, Mrs. Rudolph Sagmoen left on Thursday evening for an over night stay at that place. She was accompanied by Miss Isabelle Sagmoen.

Mrs. Adolph Haugen and Annie Blomberg were east-bound passengers to Thief River Falls last Thursday evening where the former will seek medical aid.

Misses Tena and Nina Westby are this week entertaining a girl friend from their former home near Goodridge.

Mr. and Mrs. Anton Gullseth and Ingrid Nordhagen were among the shoppers at Thief River Falls last Wednesday.

Chester Dols, a high school student from Thief River Falls, spent the week-end with his parents here.

Croup

"I don't think there is a more anxious time for parents than when their children have croup. Without they are prepared with Chamberlain's Cough Remedy they must wait for the doctor and listen to the choking, metallic cough and watch their little one gasping for breath.

You know the great danger of croup is the formation of a false membrane in the larynx, and until this is expelled relief cannot be obtained, and the spasmodic choking continues. Give Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in frequent doses. It will loosen this membrane and cause the child to expel it by vomiting.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy

is an absolutely safe and certain remedy for croup, and if given as soon as the child becomes hoarse, or even after the croupy cough appears, it will prevent the attack."

New Railway Rates and the Cost of Living

In its issue of October 11, the New York Times, commenting Editorially, has the following to say:—

"WHEN the railways were allowed to increase rates to offset their compulsory increase of wages, it was predicted that the consumers of goods would pay both bills.

"The test of these theories is now at hand. The increase of rates is in full force, and prices of goods are falling as fast as is desirable. The higher cost of moving freight has not reduced the volume of traffic.

"The cars are moving faster and carrying more tons, with the result that fewer cars are necessary, as well as fewer men.

"That is 'making' money by saving it. The railways could not have done it alone. The shippers who used the cars for warehouses, and who loaded as little as was necessary to get carload rates, instead of as much as the cars could carry, are now co-operating with the railways.

"Here there is another hint why the increase of rates will not be a burden to consumers of goods. The costs of production will be reduced with the improvement of railway service."

	Sept. 1919	Sept. 1920
Average Trainload	765 tons	865 tons
Average Carload	28.4 tons	30.3 tons
Average Car Movement	23.7 miles per day	31.4 miles per day

Notice of Mortgage Foreclosure Sale.

WHEREAS Default has been made in the conditions of a certain indenture of mortgage made, executed and delivered by EDWIN OLSON and MABEL OLSON, his wife, of the County of Pennington and State of Minnesota, as Mortgagors, to CITIZENS STATE BANK of Thief River Falls, a corporation under the laws of the State of Minnesota, as Mortgagee, upon and covering the following real property lying and being in the County of Pennington and State of Minnesota, to-wit:

The South Half of the Northwest Quarter (S½NW¼), Northeast Quarter of the Northwest Quarter (NE¼NW¼) and the Northwest Quarter of the Northeast Quarter (NW¼NE¼) of Section Fourteen (14) in Township one Hundred Fifty-four (154) North, of Range Thirty-nine (39) West of the Fifth Principal Meridian, containing 160 acres more or less, according to the Government survey thereof,

which said Mortgage bears date the 25th day of June, 1915, and was filed for record in the office of the Register of Deeds of Pennington County, Minnesota, on the 29th day of June, 1915, at 4 o'clock P. M., and was thereafter duly recorded in said office in Book 12 of Mortgages, on Page 211, and

WHEREAS, Thereafter and on the 16th day of August, 1915, said Citizens State Bank of Thief River Falls, by a written assignment, assigned said mortgage to Edwin White, and which said assignment was filed for record in the office of the Register of Deeds of Pennington County, Minnesota, on the 20th day of August, 1915, at 2 o'clock P. M., and was duly recorded in said office in Book 8 of Mortgages, on Page 624, and

WHEREAS Thereafter and on the 18th day of October, 1915, the said Edwin White, by written assignment, assigned said mortgage to Fred W. Sharpe, Wheelock V. Towle, Joseph H. Clark and Edmund S. Durment, Executors of the Estate of Ralph E. Cobb, Deceased, which said assignment was filed for record in the office of the Register of Deeds of Pennington County, Minnesota, on the 18th day of October, 1915, at 8 o'clock A. M., and was duly recorded in said office in Book 11 of Mortgages, on Page 468, and

WHEREAS Thereafter and on the 17th day of February, 1917, Albert R. Moore of Ramsey County, Minnesota, was appointed by the Probate Court of Ramsey County, Minnesota, the Court in which the Estate of Ralph E. Cobb, deceased, is being administered, Administrator de bonis non with the will annexed of the Estate of Ralph E. Cobb, deceased, in place and stead of Edmund S. Bigness Necessary for Service

IN some farm operations, in many manufacturing lines, and, more particularly, in refining and distribution of petroleum products, large scale operations are essential to insure maximum economy and service.

The production of crude oil varies but little on account of seasonal changes, and the refining processes are continuous operations.

The consumption of petroleum products, however, varies widely with the season. In summer, consumption far out-strips production, while during the winter months the reverse is true.

To prepare himself for the summer rush, the oil refiner, who is ambitious to render a maximum service, must operate his refineries at full capacity throughout the year, and must provide adequate storage to take care of his surplus output during the winter months, and store it against a day of maximum demand when the country roads and city boulevards are crowded with machines, and the farmer has his tractor in the field.

To perform this service requires the investment of huge sums of money, and the maintainance of a complete organization at all times.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is ambitious to be a leader in the petroleum industry. It is ambitious to render to the people of the Middle West as near a perfect service as care, thought, and adequate resources can devise.

In carrying on its business, the Company has invested more than 185 million dollars; it operates four large refineries in which it manufactures the many varieties of petroleum products needed by the consuming public.

Its permanent organization consists of about 23,000 efficient loyal men and women, working under one head, to render a service which makes it possible for you to get a gallon of gasoline, or a quart of oil, or a pound of grease, when you want it, and wherever you may be.

A MERRY CHRISTMAS

In wishing our friends and neighbors a Merry Christmas it is with the hope that the coming season will hold for them nothing but good fortune.

We wish also at this time to extend our thanks for the liberal patronage bestowed since the last previous anniversary of the Christmas season and to assure our patrons that it will be our aim to serve them in the future as faithfully as in the past.

Business conditions are looming brighter for all of us—for the farmer, the workingman and business man alike.

Let confidence be your watchword. Confidence in your country, your section, your neighbor and yourself. When this is gone nothing much is left, while if we have confidence nothing very serious is liable to happen to us.

GRAIN EXCHANGE RIGHTS GRANTED FARMERS' AGENT

This is Aim of Bill Introduced By Congressman Steenerson to Aid Grower.

Would Permit Co-Operative Society Members to Hold Board of Trade Seats.

Penalty Provided For Discrimination Against Any Person So Operating.

The Times is in receipt of a copy of the Steenerson bill, introduced last Friday in the house of representatives and having for its purpose the regulation of grain exchanges in the United States. The measure is intended to provide the farmer with an agency through which he can keep in touch with the market trend and give him a more direct voice in the final disposal of the products of his farm. The bill is known as H. R. 14667, and reads as follows:

"Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That every organization within the United States, of whatever form or kind, maintaining or operating a regular place of business or trading room for members only, in which the members sell or exchange grain for themselves or others in interstate or foreign commerce, or buys or sells or ships or handles grain in interstate or foreign commerce, in accordance with the Grain Standards Act of the United States or the grades and standards prescribed by the Secretary of Agriculture pursuant to or under authority thereof, is hereby declared to be a public market, and subject to the provisions of this Act.

"Sec. 2. That every such market, whether heretofore or hereafter organized, shall be open to membership, with equal rights and privileges with all other members, to any person, firm, company, or corporation desiring to trade in such commodity on such market who shall make application for membership and whose methods of business, operation, or plan of organization shall not conflict with or contravene any reasonable rule, regulation, or by-law of such market. All members shall be required to comply with all reasonable rules, regulations, and by-laws of such organization, which may include the payment of a reasonable membership fee and reasonable assessments equally applicable to all members. The words "company" or "corporation" herein designated shall include co-operative associations organized under the laws of the United States or of any State. Any rule, regulation, or by-law of such market which shall be designated or construed as controlling, limiting, or modifying articles of incorporation, constitution, or by-laws, of any association, company, or corporation in the distribution of its profits to its stockholders and members shall be deemed to be unreasonable and void.

"Sec. 3. That every such organization which shall adopt any rule, regulation, by-law, or order of whatever kind or form, or which makes any order in violation of the provisions of this Act, or which shall refuse or unreasonably delay to admit any such applicant to full and equal membership in such organization, or which shall refuse to trade or deal with any member or permit any member to refuse to so deal with any other member on an equal basis with all other members, or which shall adopt, prescribe, construe, or apply any rule, order, or regulation which shall have the effect of, or tend to avoid or violate any of the provisions of this Act, is hereby declared to be a monopoly in restraint of trade and a violation of the anti-trust laws of the United States, and further trading in said market or organization, either by the organization itself, or any member thereof, shall be unlawful.

"Sec. 4. That whenever any such organization, or any officer or agent thereof, shall violate any of the provisions of this Act, the Attorney General of the United States shall institute appropriate proceedings in the name of the United States to enforce compliance with the provisions of this Act, and to restrain such organization and all members thereof from thereafter continuing in such violations and from any further trading in such market, either directly or indirectly."

BIG CHECKS FALL OFF AT CREAMERY

Drop in Price and Seasonable Slump Responsible For Drop in Check Amounts.

Secretary Peter Engelstad of the Thief River Falls creamery this month made out fewer checks for over $50 than has been the case for a long time. There are 25 names in the list as against 198 for the month of June. On the other hand the price in midsummer ranged around 65 cents per pound for butterfat while at the present time it is quoted at about 45 cents. The higher price naturally was productive of a greater number of big checks as well as the fact that June is the most favorable of the entire year while November is perhaps the worst.

P. Engelstad, $210.52; Hans Anton, $227.84; Jens Kierk, $192.53; Henry Koop, $192.36; Henry Pope, $116.07; Fred Copp, $103.87; R. M. Johnson, $92.69; Chris Nelson, $91.04; Albert Johnson, $90.03; E. Edman, $75.94; Waldie Christenson, $73.78; A. C. Simonson, $70.25; Palm Bros., $74.55; S. Wiberg, $69.29; Paul Engelstad, $67.38; F. M. Kline, $66.39; C. Christenson, $61.92; Peder Sabo, $58.76; Ole Skaar, $57.61; C. M. Hoverstad, $57.40; Ole Johnsrud, $51.74; N. A. Nelson, $51.38; Ole Jaranson, $53.40; R. Oen, $53.40; H. C. Woolson, $50.49.

DULL UNDERTONE IN CATTLE TRADE

Light Receipts at Start of Week But Market Fails to Rally. Hogs Strong.

As was expected, Christmas week started with lighter receipts of live stock in all departments of the trade both here and at the seven principal markets, South St. Paul receiving on Monday 3,800 cattle, 8,400 hogs and 1,800 sheep, and seven points aggregating 43,400 cattle, 97,000 hogs and 38,100 sheep, against 71,100 cattle, 119,000 hogs and 43,300 sheep a week ago. The narrow demand for dressed beef and veal is strongly emphasized, however, when the live market fails to rally in the face of current light receipts. This is also a season of heavy poultry consumption, a factor that must be reckoned with at this time. Some good shortfed cattle are beginning to come, best selling up around $9.00 to $9.50, but quality as a whole is showing little betterment, and most of the stuff is common to medium, bulk of steer sales ranging from $5.50 to $7.50, with a scattering up to $8.00. Most of the butcher cows and heifers are selling from $4.00 to $5.50, with a fair showing up to $6.00. Sales of canners and cutters are ranging mostly from $2.50 to $3.75, and bologna bulls from $4.00 to $5.00. Best veal calves are going at $8.00. Best feeding steers are selling around $8.00, with bulk of stockers and feeders from $4.50 to $7.00.

The hog market has advanced somewhat compared with the low spot of last week, and good butcher hogs sold today around $8.60, with best pigs and underweights in keen demand at $8.75 to $9.25. Best native lambs sold early at $9.00, with aged ewes stopping at $3.00, and yearling ewes up to $4.00.

JURY LIST DRAWN FOR WINTER TERM

Petit Jurors Will Not Convene Until February 8—Grand Jury on Feb. 1.

The names for the grand and petit jury lists for the February term of the district court were drawn by Clerk of Court Adolf Eklund, Sheriff W. J. LaBree and Justice of the Peace W. E. Wood of Smiley township. The grand jury will assemble at the Pennington county court rooms at Thief River Falls at 10:00 a. m., February 1, 1921. A calendar of cases to be brought up will be issued during the latter part of January.

A communication has been received by Clerk of Court Adolf Eklund from Judge Andrew Grindeland stating that the petit jurors will assemble at 10:00 a. m. February 8, instead of on February 2 as is the usual custom. Judge Grindeland will conduct a hearing of objections to Judicial Ditch No. 30 at the Pennington county court rooms on February 2 and will hear court cases on February 3rd and 4th, consequently district court will be adjourned to February 8.

May Demand Removal of Scales Now in Streets

Platform scales in the city streets thruout the business section may be removed early in the spring in preparation for the extensive paving program which will be carried on should the city council deem them obstructions to traffic. H. C. Johnson of the Nortz Lumber company, appeared before the council at their meeting on Tuesday evening with the request that the firm be allowed to maintain the platform scale in front of their property on Main avenue, but no action was taken by the council. At present there are six or seven scales located in the business section of the city. The council discussed the possibility of installing a city scale which would replace those being used at present.

North Minnesota Editors Meet at Crookston Jan. 20

Co-operation of editors, printers and publishers of Minnesota with the advertising and publicity agencies of the state for better mutual understanding, more profitable business and more efficient public service is the announced purpose of the annual business meeting of the Northern Minnesota Editorial association at Crookston from January 20 to 22. For the first time in the history of the association advertising agencies, railway advertising managers and publicity experts for wholesale jobbers and for the state fair have been invited to meet with newspaper men.

Among the subjects listed for discussion are: "Businesslike and Unbusinesslike Methods of Country Publishers," "Railway Advertising and the Rural Press," "Advertising the Minnesota State Fair," "Co-operation Between the City and Country Press," and "A Message From North Dakota."

Card of Thanks.

Notice of Change.

The meetings formerly held in the building west of the Eastside Drug store, will be continued in the library basement. There will be service every Sunday evening at 7:45 and Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock. On Christmas day there will be given a children's missionary program at two o'clock and preaching service at three. Sunday evening the subject will be: "The Future Inheritance." A cordial invitation is extended to all.

The Times job department has a fine equipment of new material and turns out the best work on short notice.

STREET PAVING NOW HINGES ON SALE OF BONDS

If Money Can Be Secured at a Reasonable Rate Project Will Be Carried Out.

Council at Meeting Tuesday Evening Took Final Steps in Important Matter.

City Would Lose Thousands By Failing to Proceed With Program Begun.

The city council at the regular meeting on Tuesday evening unanimously passed a resolution accepting a proposal submitted by the Capital Trust and Savings bank of St. Paul in which it is agreed to take over all preliminary work necessary to the sale of the bonds covering the paving project in Thief River Falls for the coming year. The proposal includes the services of a bonding attorney, all necessary printing, and the opinion of a bonding attorney to be given on the day of sale of the bonds which will allow the sale to be made unconditionally. The Capital Trust and Savings bank is to be remunerated for this service by one-half of one per cent of the face value of paving certificates sold during the year 1921. Provisions have been made whereby bidding for the bonds may be re-opened in case suitable bids are not received. In case the bonds are not sold the Capital Trust is to be remunerated by a payment of one-half of one per cent of the face value of bonds advertised.

Action Ends Controversy.

This action has been taken following prolonged controversy over the advisability of advertising for the money necessary to carrying on the paving of Thief River Falls streets and definitely puts the project under way. Members of the council expressed themselves as greatly encouraged and influenced by opinions of many prominent business men of the city who were present at the meeting. Several speakers also appeared in opposition to undertaking the paving program at this time. Members of the council express themselves of the opinion that but for the hearty encouragement of these business men the proposition would undoubtedly have been left on the table as in previous hearings. Members of the opposition were in the minority at the meeting.

Approximately $300,000 would be necessary to finance the 24 blocks of paving originally proposed. It is possible that $200,000 worth of certificates will be offered for sale. This would permit paving of the streets of the business section of the city, with the elimination of various stubs and outlying streets designated in the proposed area.

Preparatory Work Dead Loss.

All angles of the present situation were given due consideration. Approximately $25,000 has already been expended for the installation of storm sewers throughout the paving district in preparation for the work which was scheduled for the coming summer. The advisability of attempting to evade the present contract with the Bitulithic Contracting company of Winnipeg was discussed. Members of the council during the early part of the meeting expressed themselves as willing to abandon the project entirely if objectors could present some suitable plan of financing the work already done and the payment of possible damages to the paving contractors. This was considered in the nature of a dead loss. A marked reduction in the contract price would be necessary to offset this loss and opinion was expressed to the effect that it would be impossible to secure a more favorable contract than the one already signed.

Consider Contract Exceptional.

Mayor Bratrud explained the contract with the Bitulithic people, which was entered into over a year ago. The contract was considered an exceptionally good one at the time. The Bitulithic company operates in Canada and the contract price was lowered due to the rate of money exchange existing between the United States and the Dominion. Cement, which is the largest item of expense in paving, was more than 68 cents lower per barrel in price at the time of the signing of the contract than now. The paving company offered an exceptional contract owing to the fact that large projects in Canada had been dropped, the machinery and necessary help had been retained and it was necessary to keep their forces in operation. Mayor Bratrud, with local dealers in cement who were present, gave as his opinion that it would probably be impossible to contract for paving at a lower figure.

No Payments Until 1922.

Citizens present and members of the council stated, in discussing the present financial situation, that were the paving project dropped for the time being, the cost of the work already done and any damages paid the contracting firm who already have machinery on the ground, would have to be paid by the property owners during the coming three years and that this tax would be greater for the years in question than the yearly payments on pavement bonds. If the bonds are sold no payments will be required until the year 1922, by which time the financial condition is expected to have returned to normal. Property owners affected by the paving will, in case the bonds are sold and the contract carried out, pay for the improvement in 20 annual payments, the first to be made in 1922.

Money For Local Aid.

Hope was expressed that the money arising from the sale of the paving certificates could be placed in the city banks until required for paving purposes and the statement made that this would greatly benefit the city and the entire county by relieving in some measure the present financial pressure.

Those opposed to paving during the coming year or in the immediate future, stated that the cost would be a burden that should not be assumed at this time.

The present condition of the city streets was commented upon, as was the high and continued cost of putting them in suitable condition should the paving program be abandoned.

Council Lauded.

Business men present at the meeting lauded the council for its conscientious efforts in reaching all angles of the question, stated as their opinion that the members were well able to cope with the situation and that the city would abide by their decision in the issue at hand.

The council voted unanimously in favor of accepting the proposal of the Capital Trust people, which is the first step toward making the sale of the municipal bonds. The certificates will be advertised as soon as the necessary preparations can be made. If satisfactory and reasonable bids are not received the sale will be readvertised. It is thought that an interest rate of approximately 6 per cen can be secured.

MERRY CHRISTMAS AT OAKLAND PARK

Sanitarium Patients Not Forgotten By Their Friends During Holidays.

Christmas day was observed at Oakland Park Sanitorium in a manner the patients are never likely to forget. On every hand the aim seemed to be the bringing of the maximum of good feeling into the lives of those whose condition prevents them from taking an active part in the festivities of the season.

On Wednesday evening the Lincoln high school glee club, under the direction of Miss Maude Johnson, visited the sanitorium in a body and sang for the patients. There were also gifts for each one and a plentiful supply of delicious home-made popcorn balls.

The Christmas tree celebration of the inmates and staff was held on Friday evening, at which time every patient was again generously remembered with gifts from the sanitorium officers, Elks' lodge and businessmen of the city. The latter part of the evening was most enjoyably spent in games of different kinds.

On Saturday morning the singing section of the Girls' Community club sang Christmas carols and brought remembrances of the occasion for those in their audience. In the afternoon more fine singing was heard, a considerable number of the Sunday school children from the Swedish Lutheran church giving a delightful program.

Dr. M. George Milan, physician in charge, and Miss Karen Knudsen, superintendent, wish to express to the people of the city their deep appreciation for the many kindnesses shown their charges and to assure those who in any manner aided in these Christmas festivities that their efforts to brighten the occasion were successful in the highest degree.

CHURCH PROGRAMS COVER FIVE DAYS

Yuletide entertainments and Christmas tree festivities at the churches of the city extended over a period of five days, the first program being given Thursday evening at the M. E. church and the last at the First Swedish Lutheran church on Monday evening. The Presbyterian Sunday school entertainment was also give Thursday evening. The tree exercises of Trinity Lutheran church were held at the city auditorium on the evening of Christmas day in order to accommodate the great crowd of children and parents. St. John's Lutheran and Zion Lutheran churches held their programs and lighted their trees on Christmas eve.

The fact that the entertainments were distributed over the five evenings allowed a greater attendance for each one, many children with their parents being able to attend several programs. The fact that Friday, Saturday, Sunday and Monday were the coldest days of the winter did not materially affect the attendance at any of the church celebrations.

Elmer Smith of Lancaster arrived Monday evening to attend a party at the Barzen home that evening and also the alumni annual reunion at the Auditorium Tuesday evening. He returned to his home Wednesday morning.

RAISE $1,000.00 IN SHORT TIME FOR WORK OF RELIEF

All Recognize Need For Quick Action if Starving Children Are to Be Saved.

Working Girl Adopts Three Waifs as Her Share—Drive Will Close Dec. 31.

Traveling salesmen who had ceased work for the holiday season, on Friday morning came to the rescue of the European Relief Council fund in Thief River Falls and by noon had raised $500 in cash offerings and pledges. At a special meeting of the directors of the Pennington county chapter of the American Red Cross held at the Commercial club rooms on Tuesday afternoon, it was voted to donate a lump sum of $500 toward the national collection for the suffering children of Central and Eastern Europe. This sum, which will be taken from the funds of the county organization, brings the total for the county to over $1000, or enough to save the lives of 100 starving children until the next harvest time.

Great credit for the success of this relief movement in Thief River Falls is due to A. S. Sapero, merchant, and Ole D. Ostby, Nate Harris, E. M. Bennes, Andy Anderson, Chris Storholm, F. Brown, Loren Johnston and H. L. Larson, traveling salesmen who reside here.

$500 in 90 Minutes.

Mr. Sapero, who was appointed county chairmen by officials at state headquarters, endeavored to enlist the aid of civic organizations but owing to the approach of the holiday season it was impossible to secure their assistance in time to complete the work by the first of the year. The eight knights of the road, who were already in the city for Christmas week, assembled Friday morning at Mr. Sapero's request, and when it was decided to attempt the campaign the business section was quartered and each quarter thoroughly solicited by a team of two of the salesmen. In one hour and a half over $500 was pledged or already paid in.

No quota was specified for the city or county. It was thoroughly understood that contributions were to take the form of an offering. Sums ranging from 50 cents to $30 were contributed with commendable cheerfulness, many expressing regret that their means did not allow them to give more. Each person who pledged $10 or more will receive a beautiful engraved Invisible Guest Certificate.

Would Adopt Three.

Several farmers from outlying districts of the county, when they learned of the movement to rescue the starving children, appeared unsolicited and made $5 donations. Miss Minnie Matson, an employe at Oakland Park sanitarium, voluntarily called upon Mr. Sapero and donated $30 to the cause. It developed that this was not made up of many smaller collections but was taken from her savings and given with eager willingness. When questioned, Miss Matson stated that she felt called upon to "adopt three of the invisible little guests for at least one year."

The campaign for funds will be concluded here the first of January. Mr. Sapero states that the present total will be swelled by voluntary contributions from all sections of the county. No one will be urged. Anyone may contribute any amount, no matter how small. Checks may be mailed to Mr. Sapero or C. L. Hansen, Thief River Falls. Mr. Hansen has been appointed treasurer.

$10 Saves a Life.

Herbert Hoover, who has been pressed into service as the head of the European Relief council, has found, after a careful investigation, that not less than three and a half million children in Central and Eastern Europe are facing starvation and must die before spring unless the people of America come to their aid. The amount needed to prevent this terrible catastrophe is placed by Mr. Hoover at $3,000,000, which is approximately only 30 cents for every person in the United States. The small sum of $10, Mr. Hoover declares, will save the life of one of these starving children until the next harvest.

TOWNS MAY SECURE FARM INSTITUTES

Can Have Series of Instructive Meetings During Winter if So Desired.

Farmers' institutes thruout the state of Minnesota are scheduled to commence immediately after the conference of county agents and extension workers which will be held at St. Paul Jan. 10, 11 and 12. County Agent, J. J. McCann issues the statement that the institutes may be secured for any town in Pennington county by making application at his office. He further states that a very successful institute was held at Goodridge last year and that it is hoped that some of the other towns of the county will take advantage of this valuable instruction this year. The work is conducted thru the state university department of agricultural extension division.

Institutes will be conducted thruout the state during January, February and March. No three-day short courses will be conducted this winter, but the work will be confined to one and two-day meetings. For some of these educational sessions the department will have an institute corps composed of two men, or two men and a woman, to take up general farm subjects and economics work. For others, specialists from the extension division will be available—one man to a meeting to give work along some special line, like farm management problems, soils and fertilizers, plant pathology, live stock subjects, etc.

A letter from C. H. Welch, assistant director of the agricultural extension division, received by Mr. McCann states that in any community desirous of having an institute meeting it will be necessary to appoint a committee to do the usual advertising, etc. The department will furnish posters and will also send circulars to farmers whose names may be furnished them. The salaries and traveling expenses of the speakers will be borne by the department, local expenses to be taken care of by the community.

LOCAL BASKETBALL TEAMS CLASH JAN. 1

Former School Stars Issue Challenge—Feel Confident of Gaining Victory.

The high school basket ball team will meet the city or Class of 1920 team at the city auditorium on Saturday evening, Jan. 1. The game has been called at 8 o'clock. The last named team is made up of former high school stars who played on the fast team of 1920. The high school team has been through some good workouts since playing the game with Fosston and is said to be in exceptional trim. Members of the team and fans who have been watching practice, predict a fast game.

The Class of 1920 team issued a challenge, saying that it was confident of victory. The high school team claims the challenging quintette will be obliged to put up a real battle to score.

The proposed lineup is as follows:

Class of '20		H. S.
LaBree	c	Parenteau
McGinn	[illegible]	Penney
Hadrath	f	Ralston
Schuster	g	LaBree
Flattum	g	Herron

MARRIAGE LICENSE RECORD IS BROKEN

Figures Prove That Girls Must Have Taken Advantage of Leap Year Privilege.

The records of Clerk of Court Adolf Eklund show that the marriage license business in Pennington county for the year just closing exceeded all speed limits and shattered all records of former years. Up to yesterday noon 124 marriage licenses had been granted and Mr. Eklund expected that this total would be increased by several more before New Years' Eve closes. The year 1915 established the previous record, with 123 licenses granted.

In 1916, Leap Year, 120 marriage licenses were issued. Following years fell off to as low as 102 licenses granted in 1918. But with the coming of leap year again the clerk of court's office has been a busy place and the record of 1915 has been shattered. Mr. Eklund said that his expectations of granting several more licenses before this old year shuffles off is based upon the belief that some of the ladies will at the last moment make use of the privilege granted them but once in four years.

The total number of licenses granted during the past years are as follows: 1911, 94; 1912, 106; 1913, 96; 1914, 116; 1915, 123; 1916, 120; 1917, 110; 1918, 102; 1919, 107; 1920, 124.

AUTO TAX RATE UNDER NEW LAW IS MADE KNOWN

Intended Schedule Ranges From $13.75 on Used Ford to $129 on New Packard.

Commissioner Babcock's Recommendation to Legislature Aims at $18 Average.

Expectations Are That Figures Will Be Revised Downward When Session Meets.

A tentative schedule of license fees to be charged motor car owners in Minnesota under the Babcock amendment, whereby personal property and other assessments on automobiles will be abandoned in favor of a single direct levy, based on selling price and weight, to support the state highway system, has been announced by C. M. Babcock, state highway commissioner. This schedule, which will be the department's official recommendation to the legislature, provides an assessment which ranges from an annual tax of $13.75 on used Ford cars to $129 on new Packards, almost certainly will be revised downward by the legislature before it is finally applied.

Clerks Tabulate Records.

At the direction of Oscar Swenson, chairman of the house highways committee, clerks are busy classifying cars now licensed in Minnesota, so that the schedule may produce the actual average of $18 a car as proposed.

The schedule announced is as follows:

Car—	Weight	New	Old
Ford	1,480	$16.25	$13.75
Dodge	2,500	37.50	30.00
Studebaker (Lt6)	2,400	39.40	32.00
Buick	2,950	45.70	36.35
Franklin	2,445	50.00	37.00
Hudson	3,450	68.00	54.00
Detroit Electric	3,000	82.00	62.00
Cadillac	4,200	105.00	85.00
Packard	4,470	129.00	100.00

Coupled with the tentative tax schedule was a statement that scores of indorsements for the present system of administering the state's highway affairs under the highway department as now constituted, are being received at the capitol, including resolutions addressed to J. A. O. Preus, governor-elect; Louis L. Collins, lieutenant governor-elect, and W. I. Nolan, speaker of the house of representatives.

1920 Licenses to Be Good.

The maximum tentative schedule announced, aimed at providing an average revenue of $18 a car, is based on estimates that 70 per cent of Minnesota cars are low priced, 20 per cent medium priced, and the other 10 per cent equally divided between high priced automobiles and motor trucks. If these estimates are borne out, the average annual tax on low priced cars will be $15, the highway department said.

The proposed Minnesota schedule, Mr. Babcock said, is about on a parity with motor car assessments in other states, except that in Minnesota no personal property tax will be charged against cars. Practically all other states add the personal property assessment to the road tax against automobiles, according to the commissioner.

Iowa, for example, he said, collects 1 per cent of the car's valuation, plus 40 cents for each 100 pounds weight and the personal property tax, in addition to these. Wisconsin, which levies a flat fee of $10 on all motor cars and adds personal property tax, has nevertheless to sell general bonds for road building. Fees in Ohio and Illinois are $8 on cars of 25 horsepower, $12 on 35 horsepower and $25 on cars of 50 horsepower or more, in addition to road levies and personal property taxes.

Grand Ball By Legion to Usher in the New Year

Cards announcing the second annual New Years' Eve ball to be given at the city auditorium have been sent out by the Elmer J. Eklund post No. 117 of the American Legion. Plans which will make this one of the social landmarks of the coming year have been completed and those who enjoy dancing to god music and having a general good time are guaranteed a lively evening. Snyder's five piece orchestra, consisting of piano, violin, cornet, saxaphone and trap drums will furnish the music. Charles Vorachek will act as floor manager.

The announcements have been sent out, the grand ball is not given as an "invitation affair." The Legion cordially invites the dancing public to attend and assist in the merry-making that will usher in the new year. Members of the Woman's Auxiliary to the post have been conducting an advance sale of tickets and it is evident from the success of the sales that a large crowd will be in attendance.

Representative Berve to Locate in City For Winter

H. O. Berve, attorney at law and former representative from Marshall county, will locate in Thief River Falls during the winter, taking charge of the office of Senator O. A. Naplin while the latter is attending the coming session of the legislature. Mr. Berve was at one time employed in the office of Attorney J. M. Bishop here and is therefore no stranger to our people.

BEHAVED WELL IN 1920, SAY RECORDS

Arrests in Thief River Falls Have Averaged Only Four For Each Month.

Municipal Judge N. W. Tarrant states that though the passing year is unanimously alleged to be a bad one, it is bad in some respects and good in others—and he produces his records to back up his statement.

During the year of 1919 ten arrests for assault and battery were made in the county, as compared with four arrests made for the same offense in 1920. Six arrests for drunkenness in 1919 and six for 1920 were made. In 1919 five persons were arrested for killing small game out of season, while none were made for that offense in 1920. In 1919 a total of 41 arrests for all offenses and misdemeanors were made. In 1920 a total of 49 arrests had been made up to last evening.

Other arrests during 1920 were as follows: Wife desertion, 1; for the issuing of bogus checks, 2; for the killing of a neighbor's dog, 2; bootlegging, 2; for the use of obscene and abusive language, 2; for operating motor vehicles while under the influence of intoxicating liquors, 1; for selling of unwholesome, unpleasantly odoriferous and otherwise uneatable eggs, 2; for petty larceny and larceny, 2; for driving a car with muffler cut out, 1; for speeding and driving without tail lights at night, 14; for the failure of children to attend school, 2; miscellaneous, 5.

One search warrant for the investigation of an unlicensed drinking place was issued—and nothing was found.

LIVESTOCK MEN TO MEET IN ST. PAUL

Indications Are That a Number Will Be in Attendance From This County.

The annual meeting of the Minnesota Livestock Breeders' association will be held at the University Farm, St. Paul, at 10:15 a. m., Jan. 6. This is considered a very important day to the livestock interests of the state.

An interesting program is being prepared, consisting of addresses by President L. D. Coffman, University of Minnesota; Hon. T. E. Cashman, Owatonna; Dr. C. E. Cotton, State Veterinarian; Dr. C. W. McCampbell, Manhattan, Kansas; A. J. Glover, editor of "Hoard's Dairyman," Ft. Atkinson, Wis., and George McKerrow, of Pewaukee, Wis.

The business session of the association will conclude the program. Some very important matters vital to this industry, will be taken up. At 7:00 p. m. a banquet will be held in St. Paul.

The annual meetings of the Minnesota Hereford Breeders' association, the Minnesota Sheep Breeders' association and the Minnesota Swine Breeders' association, will be held on Jan. 5. The Cattle Breeders' associations will hold their annual meetings on Jan. 7.

A letter received by County Agent J. J. McCann from W. A. McKerrow secretary of the Minnesota Livestock Breeders' association, urges every farmer to attend one or all of these meetings and states that every farmer in Minnesota should take an interest in the livestock associations which are doing so much for the industry of the state.

Joint Installation Date Moved Forward One Day

Winslow Chapter No. 182 of the Eastern Star and Northern Lodge No. 236 of the A. F. & A. M., will conduct a joint installation of officers on the evening of January 4. The date for the joint event was previously announced for the evening of January 3, but a change in plans was necessary. The ceremonies will be followed by a short musical program, dancing and a buffet luncheon. Tables will be available for those who desire to play cards.

GOOD FELLOWS PROVIDE CHEER FOR THE NEEDY

Baskets of Food, Fruits, Candy and Fuel Go to Homes Otherwise Overlooked.

Thirty-Seven Families in City Find Relief Decidedly Welcome at This Time.

Lack of Fuel is Serious Problem With Many and These Will Be Given Assistance.

Thief River Falls members of the Amalgamated Brotherhood of Good Fellows, whose activities are particularly noticeable about this time of year, saw to it that there was something in the nature of Christmas cheer in homes where this would be lacking were it not for a little outside assistance. The work was financed by the Elks lodge primarily but the voluntary donations in the hands of President E. M. Stanton of the Commercial club, sent in by members of that body and the Retail Merchants' association, were added to the appropriation made by the Elks, it being very properly figured that more could be accomplished by placing all efforts of this nature for the city in the hands of one committee. H. W. Protzeller was made chairman, and the task of finding the needy families begun. This proved to be the most difficult part of the program but the work was very thoroughly done and no effort spared in locating those who otherwise would be overlooked by Santa Claus.

Necessities Provided First.

Thirty-seven baskets were filled, mostly with necessities such as groceries, but fruits and candies were liberally included where there were children in the family. In four or five instances fuel was also provided, it being found that the recipients were in immediate danger of suffering from the cold. Mr. Protzeller states that but one instance of absolute destitution was found but that there were a number in decidedly straitened circumstances. In such cases the contents of the baskets were varied to meet the conditions, but as a general rule they were made up as follows:

Five pound pork roast, potatoes, one peck; flour, 25 pounds; corn, two cans; peas, two cans; pork and beans, two cans; pineapple, two cans; oatmeal, five pounds; milk, two cans; coffee, one pound; sugar, two pounds; butter, one pound; bread, two loaves; cranberries, one pound; candy, two pounds; peanuts, two pounds; apples, two dozen.

Wherever the family was large the quantities were increased, the aim being to make the distribution absolutely fair and equitable. The business men from whom the supplies were secured cut off everything in the shape of profit and even cut into the original cost quite a ways.

The Elks' committee found places for a few baskets in nearby towns, notably Goodridge and Lancaster, and these were attended to. The patients at Oakland Park sanitarium were remembered in a most appropriate manner and everything possible done to remind the unfortunate among the city's population that it was a season of good will and kindly remembrance.

The Fuel Situation.

It was found by the investigators that a scarcity of fuel was the most pressing difficulty in a number of cases. Immediate needs were looked after but the funds available did not allow of going very far in this direction. The committee was assured by Mayor John Bratrud, however, that every case brought to light would be investigated and the necessary steps taken to prevent suffering.

Bank Official Resigns; Will Move to Twin Cities

T. M. Thronson, assistant cashier of the First and Peoples State bank, has resigned and will leave the institution the first of the year. He will depart shortly for the cities for the purpose of investigating a business opening presented to him there but has not as yet definitely decided upon his future course. Mrs. Thronson and children will remain in the city until spring even though Mr. Thronson should decide to engage in business at another point before that time.

Mr. Thronson became connected with the First and Peoples in July, 1918, and has been a popular and accommodating official. He is a capable young man and his removal from the city will be generally regretted by those with whom he has come in contact in a business way.

Holm Names Assistant.

Mike Holm, who takes office as secretary of the state the first of the year, has named J. P. Bengtson, instructor at Northwestern Agricultural college, Crookston, as assistant secretary. Prof. Bengtson was formerly superintendent of the Roseau schools and has been active in promoting boys and girls club work throughout the section. He has a wide acquaintance, particularly in the northwestern section of the state, and is most highly regarded everywhere.

STATEMENT BY COMMITTEE OF GOVERNORS

(Convened at Harrisburg, Pa., December 2, 1920.)

The following statement of the Committee of Governors should have your careful consideration and then passed on to your neighbor and friend. The statement possesses an excellent spirit. With this idea in mind to start the new year, we believe that the present conditions will work out to the mutual benefit of all.

Let every individual do all he can to help and encourage his neighbor. Let there be a complete mobilization of the financial and spiritual assets of every community. Neither God nor the Government ought to be asked to help those who do not first make every effort possible to help themselves.

There ought, however, to be a united effort in every community to keep any good man from being destroyed because he cannot immediately meet his obligations. Under existing conditions it would be the acme of inhumanity and of unwisdom to force any debtor into bankruptcy if by the most liberal indulgence he would ultimately be able to pay. Business failures do more than wreck business; they ofttimes destroy men.

Liberal indulgences and renewals should be granted by the manufacturers to the jobbers, by the jobbers to the merchants, by the merchants to the individuals. It is no time for a creditor to seize his debtor by the throat and savagely say: "Pay me what thou owest."

Hanson, Frances Holzknecht, Perry Borgie, Myrtle Knutson and Albert Halvorson.

Vorachek-Grane

Miss Anna Vorachek, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Vorachek of this city, and John S. Grane of Grafton, N. D., were married on Monday at six o'clock at the bride's home. Judge N. W. Tarrant performed the ceremony. Miss Esther Samuelson attended the bride while Chas. W. Vorachek acted as best man. Only immediate relatives and friends of the contracting parties were present. Immediately following the ceremony a wedding supper was served. The newlyweds left on the flier that evening for the Twin Cities where they will spend their honeymoon. They will be at home at Grafton, N. D.

Progressive Whist Party.

Among the social events of the holiday season was a whist party given at the Math Barzen home on Monday evening, when Roy and Bernard Barzen, students at Marquette university, who are spending the holidays at home, entertained a number of their friends. High honors were awarded to Denis McGinn, while Miss Florence Aalberg carried the lowest score. Each was presented with an appropriate gift. Delicious refreshments were served by the hosts at midnight. The guests included Misses Kathleen Ures, Ruby Anderson, Margaret Rustad, Sybil McGinn, Derothy Bottelson, Mary Prichard, Margaret DeCremer, Lucille Burns, Florence Aalberg; Messrs. Carl Sundahl, Hugh McDaniel, Denis McGinn, Ernest Zeh, Chas. Prichard, Ambrose Zeh, Leland Schuster and Elmer Smith.

Larson-Anderson.

On Sunday, Dec. 26, at the N. K. Anderson home occurred the marriage of their youngest daughter, Esther Isabelle, to Lester Myles Larson of this city. The ceremony, which was performed by Rev. C. M. Grimsrud of St. Hilaire, took place at 3 o'clock in the attractively decorated living room in the presence of immediate relatives and friends. The bridesmaids were Mrs. Erling Dahl, sister of the groom, and Miss Caroline Rhodegaard. The groom was attended by Theo. Anderson, brother of the bride, and Erling Dahl. Mrs. Palmer Peterson, of Angus, sister of the bride, played the wedding march. The bride is well known here, having been employed for the past year by the Oen Mercantile company. Mr. Larson is employed by the Kleanall company. The couple will leave in a few weeks for Kendall, Wis., where they will make their home on a farm.

Auxiliary Notes.

Mrs. J. O. Sether of the Women's Auxiliary, with E. P. Brevig of the Legion, on Friday visited former service men who are patients at the Physicians hospital here and at Oakland Park sanitarium. Packages containing Christmas cheer in the form of home made goodies and books were left to be presented to the men at Christmas tree festivities and were held at each institution during the evening. The packages were made up by the ladies of the Auxiliary and members of the local post of the Legion.

Patients at Oakland Park sanitarium are Carl M. Staven of Ulen, formerly a member of Company I, 352nd Infantry, 88th division; and Alfred J. Anderson of St. Hilaire, formerly a member of Company I, 163rd Inf., 41st division. Wm. R. Austin of Malung, Minn., formerly a member of Company H, 129th Inf., 33rd div., is at present confined to the Physicians hospital. All were with the late A. E. F. in France.

Miss Wood and Miss Rafferty will serve as bridesmaids at the wedding of Miss Ruth Brown and Clarence Andrews, this evening.

Mrs. Jensine Dock.

On Dec. 27 occurred the death of Mrs. Jensine Dock, wife of Leonard Dock of Roseau, at Oakland Park sanitarium. The cause of death was pulmonary tuberculosis. The body was shipped to Roseau for burial.

We Never Have SALES

Goods have to be marked too high to permit of Cut Prices and Sales.

You Must Know the Merchandise Conditions of Today

Every Reduction in the Market is at Once Reflected in our Prices.

We Sell on Today's Market Prices.

We consider it a privilege to co-operate with the buying public of this community, in eliminating as far as possible the cost of distributing merchandise, getting the goods to the ultimate consumer without the middlemen's profits. There has never been devised a more effectual system than that pursued by our organiation. It is not directly within our sphere to cope with the proplems of marketing farm products, but it is ours to solve the problem of supplying the merchandise to the consumers with the least possible expense, and greatest possible efficiency and satisfaction, and to this end is all the energy and ability of our splendid organization employed.

If the production and distribution of coal for instance was in the hands of an organization like the J. C. PENNEY CO., whose object was to save the consumer every dollar possible instead of holding him up for all that he will stand, you would be buying coal for one-half to two-thirds of the present prices. (And we are not blaming our local coal dealers. If they are to blame, we haven't discovered it.)

We recognize that the interests of the community are all interdependent. The rural community can neither prosper nor suffer without the towns prospering or suffering in like proportion. In the same way does the prosperity of the rural community depend on that of the towns. If we expect a good farm community, we must have a good town. And a good town means one where business is in good hands, men who have learned the truth of the motto: "He lives best who serves best," and who have considered, "If every citizen were just like me, what sort of town would this be," and whose considering is fruitful of better service.

We are not all content with our achievements. Every success we attain but opens to us larger visions of service. But we do believe that Thief River Falls (and that includes its surrounding country) is a better community because it has a J. C. PENNEY CO. store.

An ex-merchant, traveling salesman, came into one of our stores not long ago, not to sell us goods but to buy a shirt and some underwear, and to inquire as to what he could do to induce the J. C. PENNEY CO. to open a store in his home town in Wisconsin. He said he had grown up in that town and had been a merchant there for years. All he had, he had made there. He felt he had enjoyed many benefits in his home town but had not contributed his share, and he wanted to do something for his home town. He could think of nothing better than use his influence to get a J. C. PENNEY store located there, for he noted as he traveled over the country how that gave towns an advantage over their neighbors.

What Young Miss or Youthful Matron Would Like a New Coat for Half?

That may seem like startling news to you. Certainly it would have been to us, if we had been told a few months ago that we should offer the superb coats we were then buying for HALF of our intended selling prices.

But this has been a season of astounding happenings—a season that has smashed the profits for merchants, but a happy buying time, we should think, for our customers.

Of course, the most astounding opportunities of the whole season are being presented THIS WEEK—just to clean up stocks, to start the New Year with new goods.

Don't miss YOUR opportunity, for such bargains can't come soon again.

HAPPY NEW YEAR.

In looking backward it will probably be found that old nineteen-twenty behaved pretty well toward most of us. The people of this section at least have escaped disasters and visitations of a serious kind and have even been permitted to have and to hold a sufficiency of everything needful to enable them to help out those who were less fortunately situated. We all have a lot of things to be thankful for if we will only look at them in the right light.

The opening of the new year finds us optimistic and taking a cheerful view of the future. The outlook, if not particularly brilliant holds enough of brightness to justify us in refusing to entertain any but the most sanguine hopes.

Let us all decide at this time to make 1921 the best and most successful year of our entire history, to take a livelier interest in the development of our city and section, and to work in every way possible for the common good of all our neighbors. That kind of determination is absolutely necessary in order to obtain the best results.

May 1921 hold in store for our people nothing but happiness and prosperity. This is the wish of The Times at this season.

OPPOSED EVERYWHERE.

Turning the road building program of the state over to an unpaid commission is going to prove a decidedly unpopular proceeding, if one may judge from the expressions found in the newspapers. A number of prominent editors refuse to regard the propositian as advanced with any serious hope of its being adopted, professing to see in the plan assurances of nothing except that time will be wasted, cooperation made impossible and the people rendered suspicious. When Senator McGarry suggested the plan he no doubt thought that it would meet with general acceptance, but the result has been otherwise. Everywhere confidence is expressed in the ability of Commissioner Babcock to handle the matter in a more satisfactory manner if left alone. He knows just exactly what was the intention of the law establishing the road fund and would only be hampered by a supervising committee having power to upset the entire program in case the members so saw fit. The city papers have not as yet taken a very decided stand on the matter, although they have been forced to recognize the fact that the plan is not popular. Says the Minneapolis Journal:

"Friends of Highway Commissioner C. M. Babcock over the state are beginning to declare themselves against creating a new commission and in favor of leaving the entire administration of the state road system in his hands. The Thief River Falls commercial club the other day passed resolutions opposing the proposed unpaid commission of five and expressed 'confidence in the ability of Mr. C. M. Babcock, our present highway commissioner, to manage and in all things supervise the construction of all highways to be built under the provisions of said amendment and under such laws as may be enacted to carry out the provisions thereof.'"

AGAIN WE'RE OFF.

Street paving is just a little nearer at this moment in Thief River Falls than it has been at any time since the project was first broached. We'll pave if we can find someone to loan us the money. This should not be a particularly difficult matter, even in these times, as the city's credit is A1 while the people are almost unanimously behind the paving project.

It is to be hoped that this will end the long controversy. One year has been devoted to court trials, injunction proceedings and repudiation of contracts, and the city has lost money by the delay. There are those who profess to believe that by delaying still longer the work can be done at a much lower price, but past experience fails to bear out their contention. It would have been a great deal cheaper and vastly better for all concerned if paving had been undertaken ten years ago when the subject first came up. There is certainly no guarantee that a similar advance in costs will not take place during the next ten years.

It is figured that the city should be able to borrow two or three hundred thousand dollars at six per cent which is reasonable enough under present conditions. There will be a big demand for money during the next few years at least and no one need expect to secure loans at the favorable figure prevailing before the war. It is even doubtful if a period of extremely low interest rates is desirable. Rates reflect the business trend exactly and when at an unusually low figure indicate unmistakably that the demand for money is light and development work at a standstill.

Communities having large improvement projects in hand may be the fortunate ones next year and for some time following. It is quite conceivable that the country may be up against a comparatively dull season, in which case it will prove most fortunate if there is considerable work of a public nature to fall back on. Looking ahead and arranging how to provide men with work later on is decidedly good business.

Everyone will be glad that the matter has finally been settled—or at least advanced so far that an early settlement is probable. While nothing much may have been lost by the delay, it is certain that nothing has been gained. The council's action will be upheld by all but a very few, and even those will in a short time admit the wisdom of the course pursued.

WHERE A LITTLE COUNTS MUCH

When the eleven hundred dollars subscribed for the relief of the starving children of Europe reaches the proper officials, the people of Thief River Falls will have taken under their collective wing 110 starving babies. The sum is not as large as most of us would like to see it, but is a fairly good showing for the city at this time and under present circumstances. Very few would have predicted when the drive was launched that even this amunt could possibly be secured.

Ten dollars will keep a child in one of the stricken countries alive until next harvest, when, it is hoped, these nations will be able to help themselves. Such being the case, our citizens are entitled to feel that they have saved from death 110 of these little victims. This is but a very few when the three million lives threatened are taken into consideration, but if other communities do as well the magnitude of the horror will at least be greatly reduced. Many thousands must die from want no matter how quickly and liberally the United States comes to their rescue, but millions who would have shared the same fate will be saved by our people's action.

The solicitors say that not in a single instance did they find a grudging giver. Every man and woman approached expressed their approval of the drive and were only sorry that they could not make their contributions larger. The young woman who handed Chairman Sapero $30 with the remark that she wanted to feel that she had at least helped to keep three babies alive was a rare instance, to be sure, but she expressed the feeling behind every donation made.

There is still time for those who were overlooked in the rapid canvass to help the cause along. The money may be sent direct to A. S. Sapero, chairman, or C. L. Hansen, treasurer, Thief River Falls. No sum is too small to be welcome. Large contributions are not even asked or suggested. But every little bit helps.

The Norman County Herald is boosting the appointment of Martin Widsten of Warroad as United States marshal when the time comes for President-elect Harding to relieve John Wessel of this post. Martin would fill the bill admirably and will certainly have the support of a host of boosters in this section of the state in case he decides to go after it. If the Warroad newspaper man can succeed as well when working in his own behalf as he has in putting Congressman Steenerson through in many a hard-fought battle, there is no doubt of the outcome. The Times doesn't know just how badly Martin wants this job, but if he wants it all, we're for him.

DON'T KICK THE FAT IN THE FIRE.

(St. Cloud Journal-Press.)

The voters by a magnificent majority did a splendid thing for Minnesota in ratifying Amendment No. 1.

It is an achievement to be protected from the sinister influences. With from eight to twelve million dollars to be expended annually for the next twenty or more years, there are many itching palms. There are contracting firms with none too good reputations, naturally having no love for Commissioner Babcock, that will go to any length to undermine his authority.

Already there are signs of attacks to be made upon him, very clever in conception. One proposition is to have a new highway commission of five members. Another is to have directors in each Congressional district, all to receive good salaries.

When the highway commission was created, it had three members, all serving without salary. Hon. R. C. Dunn, the father of the highway commission, as a member of the state senate, brought about the change, to have one commissioner only. The Journal-Press at that time did not see the wisdom of the change, but experience has justified the judgment of Senator Dunn.

The owners of automobiles and trucks, who will pay into the state treasury for good roads several millions of dollars each year, want that money honestly and efficiently expended. They seriously object to making a fat nest for politicians, who would be a handicap in the good roads program, rather than a help.

Commissioner Babcock, who had the brains to work out the best way ever devised to help Minnesota, who is a thoroughly honest man, who understands the problems to be worked out better than any other man in Minnesota, whose heart is in the great work, should be given the right of way, to lift Minnesota out of the mud.

There must be concentration of authority and responsibility. The people want value received for their money. Divided authority, carving the state into districts, with representatives from each section, each ambitious to make a good showing for himself, will breed friction. Commissioner Babcock proposes to start the building of permanent highways where the travel is heaviest, which is the honest and logical way. There is not a county in the state but wants good, permanent roads, regardless of how they voted on the amendment. Given a pull-hauling commission, there will be an open wedge for political influences, which will be used to the fullest extent by the big contractors, who are out to get the money from the state.

Every dollar paid in by the automobile and truck owners should go into road building and maintenance. None of it should be used for a political machine, or to fatten the profits of owners of patent processes.

Give Commissioner Babcock a chance to make good, and don't handcuff him with a lot of red tape. The legislature meets every two years. If he does not come up to the demands of the job, the legislature of 1923 can easily find a remedy.

Let the present legislature keep its hands off the commission, and refuse to be used by either selfish corporations, profiteers or politicians.

The building of a trunk highway system is an executive job. There is no more sense in having five commissioners than there would be in having five governors of Minnesota.

EFFERVESCENCE

If the officer who killed the dancer for bareing a plot was justified in the shooting, many of our prominent terpsichoreans might do well to repair to their dressing rooms.

"Short skirts are an aid to morals. The short skirt of today does not make the men look longer," says Margaret E. Sanger, self-confessed feminist, in her lecture, "What Men Should Know." Maybe not, Margaret, but they sure do make them look oftener.

The feminine half of the younger generation today wears her furs in the summer time and looks as if she might be expecting a regular old nor'wester to come along; while in the winter time she garbs herself as if she expected a chinook.

Oolai says he thinks that while an elastic law which would permit petty grievances to be settled with bare fists might result in a few more black eyes and bloody noses, it would save airing a lot of soiled family linens in court.

The man who believes all he says doesn't always say all he believes.

OBSERVATIONS.

(W. T. Noonan in Baudette Region.)

A colony of Mennonites may locate in Beltrami county. It may be all right if they don't get the idea that the eighteenth amendment refers to soap.

A motion picture concern offers a prize for the bare idea of a good plot. "Bare idea" is right. Eve was overdressed compared to the average movie actress.

In sending gifts to friends in the twin cities a righ powered rifle, a coat of armor and a paid up insurance policy will be found appropriate and useful.

There is a labor shortage at Stillwater owing to lack of prisoners. Minnesota raises bumper crops of everything except criminals.

About this time next week they will be taking up subscriptions for the widows of the lads who think that Christmas is a wood alcoholiday.

The price of paper went down a couple of cents this week. It can now be bought for only three times what it is worth.

We met a lucky chap the other day. He wanted a bottle of bootlegger liquor but he was dead broke.

Since pulpwood jumped to $24 a cord the homesteaders are wondering why Santa Claus came so early this year.

A patent medicine manufacturer died the other day at the age of 81. He knew enough not to use his own stuff.

Food prices dropped 13 per cent in November. But what interests most of us is how much did they drop in Minnesota?

FARMERS INCREASE WINTER GRAIN AREA

Weather Thus Far Favorable to Wheat and Rye in Northwestern Section.

Minnesota farmers seeded 617,000 acres of rye this fall. This is a slightly greater acreage than that from which the 1920 crop was harvested. Seeding of fall rye in the northwestern part of the state was somewhat retarded by the dry fall and inability to properly prepare a seed bed. The rest of the state had a most advantageous season in which to seed rye and as the prices had not slumped prior to seeding time, there was an incentive to seeding this crop.

The growth of rye progressed under favorable conditions and went into the winter with a strong, vigorous root growth, even stand and good vitality. The condition of the rye on Dec. 1, as reported by the bureau of crop estimates for Minnesota, was 94 per cent of normal.

The acreage of winter wheat seeded in Minnesota this fall is 10 per cent greater than one year ago, the total being 75,000. This increase is due to the very poor spring wheat crop for 1920 in the south central part of the state. This is where the greater portion of the winter wheat raised in this state is grown, so that the farmers generally decided to seed winter instead spring wheat for the 1921 crop.

The season this last fall was fairly good for preparation of seedbed and the growing season was decidedly favorable, so that the condition of the winter wheat, which has a good stand, color and root development, is placed at 95 per cent of normal.

Many Trust in Unknown

(Copyright)

A curious trait in human nature makes itself apparent very frequently. That is an inclination to trust in the unknown rather than in that with which one is familiar. A person is liable to take a chance, even though he may know that the odds are 100 to 1 against him, instead of being satisfied with lesser rewards about which there is no possibility of doubt.

It is possibly the flaring up of the ever-present gambling instinct but there is something more in it than that. There is in it the unexplained tendency on the part of most people to reach for the chimerical and ignore the tangible and substantial thing which is near at hand. Man is seldom satisfied with those things that are within his grasp, but is reaching always for the unattainable. Too often, he loses that which he might easily gain by blindly pursuing that which is always just out of his reach.

Why "Con" Man Thrives.

Coupled, in a way with his faith in the unknown is the tendency on the part of so many people to place confidence in a stranger in preference to one who is known and has been tried and proven. It is this tendency which makes possible the operations of the "con" man, the get-rich-quick artist, the unscrupulous promoter and the salesman of worthless mining stocks. The man who would not think of trusting Bill Jones, his next-door neighbor and fellow church member, will confidingly turn over his life's savings to a stranger who unfolds a tale of riches to be won. Bill Jones might talk his head off in behalf of a legitimate proposition without getting a dollar where the slick stranger with the worthless proposition can get thousands.

It is these two tendencies which, apparently, are so widely prevalent among all classes of people that have made possible the success of the great mail order houses in the big cities. A knowledge of psychology is as important to the mail order man as a knowledge of business practices. He plays upon these tendencies of man to take a chance, to trust in the unknown rather than the known, to place confidence in the stranger rather than the friend.

Hope to Draw Prize.

Those who buy merchandise from a mail order house are moved partly, whether they realize it or not, by that trait in their nature which prompts them to trust in the unknown rather than in that with which they are familiar. They are hoping, it may be unconsciously, that they will draw a prize. They do not know what they will get, for it is impossible for one to know what he is going to get when he orders merchandise from a picture and a highly colored description in a catalogue. He is taking a chance on the unknown.

Buying merchandise from the local merchant, on the other hand, contains none of these elements of chance that enter into the dealings with the mail order house. When one buys a stove from the hardware store in his home town, he may get none of the thrills that come from taking a chance but he will get a stove that will last longer and keep him warmer than the one that he might get from the mail order house and to the average individual, these things are likely to be more important than the thrills.

Using your Eyes.

When you buy from the local merchant you see the thing that you are buying, you inspect it carefully, examine the workmanship and the quality of the material of which it is made and in many cases you have the privilege of testing it before paying for it. You have not only your own eyes and knowledge of values to rely upon, but you have the advantage of the advice of the merchant who has an expert knowledge of the merchandise which he is selling and who, in 99 cases out of 100, can be relied upon to tell the truth about it. Then you have the guarantee that is backed not only by the retail merchant, but in many cases by the manufacturer. If the article which you buy does not prove satisfactory after it is given a fair test, you can take it back to the store where you bought it, in most cases, and get your money back.

Why a person will place his confidence in a stranger rather than a friend or will trust in the unknown rather than in that which is tangible, is something that is hard to understand. Even the mail order house does not pretend to know why it is so but it accepts conditions as it finds them and makes the most of the opportunities that they offer.

Local Council Formed By Friends of Irish Republic

P. J. Keating has been requested by State President J. L. Lynch of Minneapolis to take the initiative in the forming of a council of the American Association for the Recognition of the Irish Republic, and has accepted the assignment. The 12 members necessary in order to secure a charter were quickly signed up and their names sent to headquarters. As soon as the proper credentials arrive the work of securing applications will be taken up in earnest and Mr. Keating says he is positive there will be a council of 200 at least representing Thief River Falls. Men of all nationalities are eligible to membership and many have already applied for admission.

Important Meeting of Farm Bureau Members

A meeting of the directors of the Pennington County Farm Bureau association has been called by Paul Engelstad for 1:00 p. m. Friday, Dec. 31. The meeting will be held at the farm bureau office in the basement of the auditorium. Matters of much importance concerning the work of the bureau will be taken up at the meeting.

The directors of the organization are A. J. Anderson, Harry Woolson, V. C. Noper, Stuart McLeod, G. M. Gunderson, Fred Bearbower, J. W. Denhart, Robert McGinn and L. A. Lampert. Officers are: President, Hans Anton; vice-president, R. J. McKercher and secretary-treasurer, Paul Engelstad.

A Gentle Hint.

The party who found the pocketbook containing $50 in bills near the Citizens' bank corner on Christmas Eve, removed the money and again threw down the wallet, is pretty generally known and the action is not referred to in a very complimentary manner. If said party wishes to avoid a great deal of unpleasant comment he or she will mail the $50 to box 1132, city. There was no excuse for this act of dishonesty and discourtesy as the name of the owner was stamped on the pocketbook. d30

Sale of Christmas Seals Better Than Last Year

The sale of health seals in Pennington county has been progressing very favorably in the rural districts as well as in this city and the neighboring towns, according to statements made by officials of the Public Health association. Each rural school teacher in the county had been given a supply of seals and judging from the reports arriving daily at County Chairman J. J. McCann's office, the returns will exceed those of last year. Mr. McCann states that all township chairmen, as well as rural school teachers are to be commended for their excellent work in the selling of the seals. The seal sale closes with the year. All reports are required to be in at the central office on or before January 10.

Dr. Vistaunet Returns.

Dr. P. L. Vistaunet returned this week from Chicago where he has just completed a post graduate course at the Cook County hospital, Dr. Lindlake's college and sanitarium of Natural Therapeutics and the Dr. Howard College of Chiropractic. He intends to again locate permanently in Thief River Falls.

"WAS SURPRISE OF MY LIFE" HE SAYS

St. Paul Man Wants Public to Know How Remarkably Tanlac Restored Him.

"Well, sir, I never heard of the equal of Tanlac in all my life, for it has built me up until I am not like the same man," was the enthusiastic statement made recently by Theo. F. Sirba, 461 Osceola Ave., St. Paul, Minn.

"Several years ago my health just went all to pieces and there was not a day when I was free from suffering from indigestion, constipation, nervousness and a general run-down condition.

"I spent a lot of money for all kinds of medicines and treatments but without any satisfactory results, was losing weight and strength constantly and finally thought I would just have to give up altogether.

"But right there was where Tanlac gave me the surprise of my life, for since finishing the fourth bottle all of these troubles are gone. My appetite and digestion are fine, my nerves are steady and I sleep like a top at night. The change in my condition is simply wonderful and I want my friends and the public to know Tanlac is what made the difference."

A String of Hungry Waifs of More Than 1900 Miles

The appeal of the European Relief council, with Herbert Hoover at its head, for funds to care for three and one-half million European children until next Summer, tells a thrilling, throbbing story when reduced even to cold statistics.

Hoover has promised to obtain sufficient food, clothes and medicine and to administer to the waifs of Poland, Austria, Hungary, Germany and portions of the Balkans, if a fund of $33,000,000 is provided.

This means the equivalent of 30 cents from every man, woman and child in America. It means, also, that one of the most stupendous relief efforts ever undertaken can successfully be carried out at a cost of less than ten dollars per child.

Less than the cost of a family Christmas dinner at a first class hotel!

Can it be done? Hoover says it can. Seventeen thousand hospitals, feeding kitchens, clinics and the like can be maintained until next summer he insists. When the 1921 harvest is reaped American aid will permanently be withdrawn, as it was withdrawn from Belgium, France and Italy.

If these starving waifs, to be fed by America this winter, were grouped at a gigantic table, it would be 1900 miles long—longer than the length or breadth of continental Europe, longer than the distance from the American border to the Gulf of Mexico.

BOARDS OF TRADE OPEN TO FARMERS

This is Purpose of Bill to Be Introduced Early in Legislative Session.

A bill declaring chambers of commerce, boards of trade or exchanges where members deal in grain, livestock or other farm products to be public markets and providing for the regulation of membership thereof and the rights of members therein, has been drafted by the legislature's agricultural committee composed of Representative R. A. Wilkinson of Lake Elmo, chairman; R. W. Hitchcock, Hibbing; J. G. Gerlich, Mankato; George Wicker, Kasson; T. J. Green, St. Paul; W. O. Norton, Minneapolis; A. E. Rako, Bemidji; O. C. Neuman, Wheaton; N. T. Moen, Fergus Falls, and Elias Nordgren, of Northbranch.

The bill provides every such market, whether heretofore or hereafter organized, membership to any farmer, corporation, association or persons desiring to deal in such commodities. Co-operative associations organized under the Minnesota law would be admissible.

The Times job department has a fine equipment of new material and turns out the best work on short notice.

Notice for Sealed Bids.

Sealed bids will be received at the office of the County Auditor in the City of Thief River Falls up to 3 o'clock P. M. on January 4, 1921, for the publication of the Notice and the Delinquent Tax List for 1920, and for the Financial Statement, and for all legal publications for Pennington County, Minnesota, for the year 1921.

Dated at Thief River Falls, Minn., December 22, 1920.

County Board for Pennington County,

County Auditor.

ORDER ROADS TO ADVANCE RATES FIFTY PER CENT

Interstate Commerce Commission Prevents Minnesota Law From Being Applied.

Rate Discriminatory Against Interstate Commerce is Contention.

Unless Courts Interfere New Order Goes in Effect Not Later Than Feb. 1.

State railway commissions of Arkansas and Minnesota were ordered last Wednesday by the Interstate Commerce Commission to increase state passenger rates and baggage charges to the level now prevailing in interstate commerce. The commission held that the present charges in the two states amounted to a discrimination against interstate traffic.

In Minnesota the state rate for passenger fares was set at two cents per mile by the legislature, but the carriers asked an injunction which prevented the state commission putting pre-war rates into effect.

The Interstate Commerce commission, in ordering the raise in fares, quoted the transportation act as its authority to raise rates in opposition to state laws made by legislatures.

Changes in the Minnesota rates must be made by February 1, the commission ruled.

The Minnesota decision, written by Commissioner Aitchison, was unanimous.

Court Action Probable.

Ira B. Mills, chairman of the Minnesota railroad and warehouse commission and Assistant Attorney General H. C. Flannery are of the opinion that the order of the Interstate Commerce commission to the state commission to increase baggage charges to the level now prevailing in interstate commerce would be taken to the courts.

Restraining Order Secured.

Railroads in Minnesota, through their attorneys at once secured a temporary restraining order in United States court at St. Paul preventing state officials from attempting to enforce the two cents per mile passenger fare law.

The order was granted by Judge Booth and served on Attorney General Hilton and members of the Minnesota railroad and warehouse commission.

"The railroads have taken the first step," said Mr. Hilton, "but the state would have promptly opened litigation had the railroads not done so. The state will make answer and the hearings will be held before three federal judges probably within a month or six weeks."

STOP!

Give a little consideration to our position. The more closely you understand it the more thoroughly convinced you will be that every word of what follows is the absolute truth. In common with every progressive clothier in the country, we stocked up heavily for the winter's business. The weather turned against us for one thing and money tightened up until it became difficult for even the soundest mercantile establishments to secure the cash needed to meet immediate obligations. We foresaw this very condition as long ago as last October and at that time threw onto the bargain counter the finest line of clothing, furnishing goods and shoes carried in this section during the most sensational sale ever staged in the history of Northern Minnesota.

NOW WE MUST CLEAN-UP

We find it expedient to reduce our stock still further and in order to do will quote prices that can under no possible combination of circumstances be duplicated before the fall of 1921 or spring of 1922. Our stock for next spring is already bought—as is the case with all merchants in our line. The remaining fall and winter goods must be turned into cash in order that we may be enabled to take care of balance due on fall bills. WE MUST HAVE THE MONEY and are not only sacrificing everything in the way of profit in order to secure it quickly, but have decided to take no count of original costs. A glance through the offerings below will convince any fair-minded person of this fact.

The prices we are quoting now are so low it is almost inconceivable that they will be lower in the fall. We will have to take this loss sometime and prefer to do it now and clean up the stock. Think these things over. Any truthful merchant will tell you the situation has been correctly set forth.

Debate.

The next debate in which the Thief River Falls high school debating team will participate will be with East Grand Forks, on Jan. 15. What side of the question the locals will take and the place of the debate has not yet been determined. This debate should be an excellent one, as both teams were winners in their first debate. East Grand Forks defeated Red Lake Falls in their first elimination contest and Thief River Falls defeated Roseau in the same series.

We are looking forward to a victory over East Grand Forks to carry us a long step forward toward the State championship.

Girls' Glee Club.

The Girls' Glee club, directed by Miss Johnson, gve the patients at the Sanatorium a surprise last Thursday. Each girl of the Glee club provided a present for one of the patients, while Miss Johnson and Miss Poppitz furnished pop-corn balls.

Before distributing the presents a number of Christmas carols were sung by the Glee club, after which Dr. Milan gave a short speech of appreciation, in behalf of the patients and nurses.

The patients enjoyed the program and about nine o'clock the girls departed.

Senior Class Meeting.

A short class meeting was held on Tuesday at 3:30. The matter of class dues was discussed. Class members were urged to remit their dues as soon as possible. Harold Smithers announced the sale of tickets for the Hamline players, which will appear on Jan. 3 under the auspices of the Senior class.

Carl Sundahl and Rufus Barackman, representing the alumni association, spoke a few words regarding the alumni reunion. All members of the class were urged to be present. This is the only gathering of its kind held during the school year and all alumni and prospective seniors are urged to attend.

The Hamline Play.

The sale of tickets for the coming play to be presented by the Hamline players, under the auspices of the Senior class, has been very successful and a very good attendance is expected. The play is of exceptionally good quality and though an amateur production it is really of professional standard.

The play is a modern one. The story depicting the present day aspects of the age-long struggle between the masses and classes in England, holds the audience from beginning to end. A love plot, featuring the struggles of a young member of nobility, who has become enamored of a worthy girl of humble station, against his ancestral traditions as exemplified in his aristocratic mother and friends, is the center of interest. The action hinges upon the estrangement and final reconcilation of the aristocratic marquise and the "Pall Mall" Captain Hawtree to the simple ideals of sometimes rude hubbub of the working classes.

This tour is the longest ever attempted by the Hamline players and the "Caste" will be presented from Minnesota to the coast.

Tickets are on sale at Lambert's drug store at the popular price of 50c, 75c and $1.00.

Normal Department.

Last week Mr. Shaw spoke to the Normal department during arithmetic class, on insurance. He named the various kinds of insurance and explained them in such a way that a new understanding of insurance was gained. He emphasized the wide field covered at the present day by insurance. The Normal girls appreciated Mr. Shaw's beneficial talk.

On Thursday, Dec. 16, the Normal girls entertained their teachers and the teachers for whom they have taught at a Christmas party. The Normal rooms were tastefully decorated with red and green and the Christmas spirit was to be seen on all sides. The evening was spent in games and music, after which refreshments were served. During lunch Santa Claus arrived and remembered each of the guests with a Christmas token.

Last Wednesday evening a number of the Normal girls enjoyed a sleigh ride party to the Conklin farm east of town. The evening was spent in making pop corn balls for the Christmas party at the Normal rooms.

Knox School Notes.

Wednesday afternoon the 6th grade of the Knox had a spelling contest, every student of the class taking part in the affair. The winner was given a box of candy.

The Knox school sold 4,600 seals. This is a great amount, and the pupils are given much credit for the work they have done. Miss Miller's class sold the most of any class in the school, making a record of 1,540 seals.

The teachers who had Christmas programs during the week are Miss Lofgren, Miss Miller, Miss Nylander and Miss Friested. The programs were composed of Christmas carols, recitations, etc.

Wednesday afternoon the first grade, Miss Lofgrn's room, gave a very dainty Christmas party. A very nicely decorated tree was the center of attraction, around which the children played games. The tots were given presents, and also candy and nuts. The children were very happy but more so when Santa arrived. He gave each child a little present, then bid them a Merry Christmas, and the merry afternoon was closed.

The following play was presented as part of the Knox school Christmas program and was written by Harold B. Will of the fifth grade:

"The Browns' Christmas."

Act I. Time, 11 o'clock, morning. Place, an old hut in France. Characters:

The father ——————— Emil Dostal
First child, Ruth ——— Hilda Olson
Second child, Mary —— Frances Rounds
Third child, Robert —— Chester Dahlen
James and Santa, Frederick Wengeler
Rich lady ———— Dorothy Shirley

Scene: The father and children are seated around an old table on which are a large bowl of milk and some hard, black bread. They are sitting on three stumps and are very poorly clad.

Mary, tearfully: "This is Christmas and nothing to eat but black bread and milk."

Father, sighing: "Yes, my children, I wish I could have earned more money, for I think you will not get any presents this Christmas. We are too poor and I hardly believe kind persons will come to us this year as they did last."

Children: "Oh, how awful. No presents!"

Father: "No, my children."

Father, surprised: "Who could be calling?"

Ruth: "Who could?"

Mary starts for the door but it is thrown open suddenly.

Mary: "Oh!"

Ruth: "Oh!"

Father: "What is it?"

Both: "Robert! Is he dead?"

A rich lady, whose name is Celia, enters.

Celia: "No, Robert isn't dead."

Celia, looking about the scanty place: "What! Is this what you call Christmas? Nothing to eat but black bread and some milk?" (In a whisper aside to James:) "Go down to the stores quickly and buy clothes and gifts for this family."

Father, having overheard: "But—"

Celia: "Yes, I know you are going to say that I am too kind, but who would not be so with all the money I have?"

James returns, laden with clothes, food, gifts.

Celia, to James: "Come tonight with the gifts. Come dressed as Santa Claus. (Exit.)

Act II. Time, 8 o'clock evening. Scene: The family is seated in a semicircle about the hearth, dressed in fine clothes, given them by Celia. A rap is heard at the door. Ruth goes promptly to the door and opens it.

Ruth: "Oh! Who is this?"

Santa enters, carrying bag of presents. He walks over to tree and lays them below its boughs. Celia arranges gifts nicely.

Santa: "Now, my children, let us celebrate."

The children, who had been staring with wide open eyes and mouths, walk slowly to the tree and accept their presents, names being on all of them. They open the packages.

Roebrt: "Hurrah! I have a jack knife!"

Ruth: "And I have a doll!"

Mary: "And I have a story book! I'm going to begin reading it right tomorrow."

Santa, satisfied, to father: "My young mistress has assigned you a place in our factory."

To Mary: "She asks that you come to her home and be her little maid. Now I take my leave."

All: "Hurrah! Now we may live happy!"

Northrup News.

The teachers of the Northrup school will spend their Xmas vacation as follows:

Miss Pelto, Two Harbors, Minn.; Miss Kleber, Little Falls, Minn.; Miss Hoyt, Stewart, Minn.; Miss Nepper, Vulcan, Mich.; Miss Trogdn, Monticello, Minn.; Miss Adams, Luverne, Minn.; Miss Whipps, Minneapolis and Northfield, Minn.; Miss Smith, Minneapolis, Minn.; Miss Sandum, city; Miss Bark, Duluth, Minn.

Christmas parties were held in all the rooms Wednesday afternoon. The rooms were decorated in Xmas trimmings and most all the rooms had Christmas trees. The mothers of the children were invited to attend.

Central Notes.

The poster contest of the seventh and eighth grades has been decided. The posters are original and are made by the students.

The purpose of the posters is to see which grade is entitled to first prize. The grade receiving this will have its poster sent to Minneapolis. The posters have been arranged as follows:

No. 1—Originality.
No. 2—The American National Trait.
No. 3—Spectacular.
No. 4—Christmas Spirit.
No. 5—Red Cross Sentiment.
No. 6—Tenement House.
No. 7—Carry On.

The Taming of the Shrew.

Scene I—Characters

Petruchio—A rich man from Verona.
Katherine—A young girl.
Bavtista—Katherine's father.

Time, morning; place, Katherine's home.

Old Babtista and Petruchio are seen talking in the garden.

Petruchio: "I have come from all over Italy for your daughter, may I have her."

The old man anxious to have his daughter married says: "Yes, you can have her but she has an awful bad temper."

Petruchio: "What care I. I am not afraid of her."

So Babtista goes in and tells Kate. As Kate comes out she says: "A nice way to ask a girl in marriage."

Petruchio: "Good morning, Kate."

Kate: "They call me Katherine."

Petruchio: "I don't care what people call you, I call you Kate."

As he says this he bends over to kiss Katherine, but she gives him a slap in the face.

Petruchio: "Do that again and I'll cuff you."

Old Babtista is seen coming out of the house.

Petruchio: "Now when we are talking make no deny or—

Babtista: "How is she coming?"

Petruchio: "She is just fine, she has been kissing and hugging me so much that I had to stop her."

Babtista: "Why, that is fine, isn't it, Kate?"

Petruchio: "I'll be over tomorrow and get you for the wedding."

Kate: "I'll see thee hanged tomorrow."

But Babtista consented to the marriage and Petruchio went home.

Scene II—Characters

Kate, Babtista, Petruchio, other guests. Time, morning; place Kate's home.

The people are seen running in and out of the building looking for Petruchio who was supposed to come to be married. At last they saw him coming in a battered up hat, ragged clothes and shoes full of holes. When he came in the people told him that he should not be married in those clothes.

Petruchio: "Well, she isn't marrying my clothes is she, she is marrying me!"

After the wedding there was to be a feast and Kate wanted to go in but Petruchio took her and rode home.

Scene III—Characters

Kate, Petruchio, Groomio, Tailor. Time, evening; place, Petruchio's home.

As Petruchio comes in the door he calls his cook, Groomio and tells him to get them something to eat. As Groomio goes Petruchio and Kate sit down and in a minute Groomio appears with a big roast and sets it down on the table.

Petruchio (as he looks at it): "Groomio, this meat isn't fit for a wife like I've got, take it away!" And with that Petruchio took the table cloth and threw it and all the food on the floor.

Petruchio: "Call my tailor in."

In a little while the tailor comes in with a suit for Petruchio.

Kate: "Why, ladies do wear caps like that. I'll have that one, (as she espied the cap)."

Petruchio: "No you won't, (and with that he threw them away.)

Scene IV—Characters

Petruchio, Kate, an old man, Babtista.

Time, afternoon; place, on way to Babtista.

Kate and Petruchio are talking of going to Babtista's home.

Petruchio (seeing the sun): "Isn't the moon bright?"

Kate: "Why that is the sun."

Petruchio: "It's the moon or we won't go to your father."

Kate: "Why yes, it is the moon."

Petruchio: "Silly, it's the sun."

Petruchio: "Good-day Grandmother."

Petruchio: "It's a lady or we'll go straight back home."

Kate: "Oh yes, it is a lady."

Petruchio: "No it isn't, it's a man."

On they went until they reached Babtista's house and the same conversation passed between Babtiste and Petruchio as with the old man.

Scene V—Characters

Petruchio, Kate, Kate's brother-in-law, other guests.

Time, towards evening; place, Kate's home.

The people are teasing Petruchio for marrying such an illtempered wife but Petruchio declared he had the best wife, so they wagered that the wife who was best would come at her husband's bidding. First one man tried.

First man (turning to his servant): "Tell my wife to come here."

Servant goes and returns saying she cannot come because she is working.

Next it was Kate's brother-in-law, "Servant, bid my wife to come here now."

The servant comes back saying she will not come because she thinks he is making jest of her.

Next it was Petruchio's turn.

"Groomio, I command you to bring my wife here this minute."

In a minute Groomio came in holding Kate by the hand. Then Petruchio said that Kate should bring in the other two wives and she came back with both of them. Then Petruchio unmasked and said he would be a kind loving husband if Kate would be a kind loving wife and so they were.

Personals.

The Norse class, under the instruction of Miss Svedahl, had a party on Tuesday evening, Dec. 21, in the high school gym. For entertainment they had dialect speeches and played various games. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. Ziegler and a few members of the faculty.

We are glad to hear that Mr. and Mrs. Pierce and Mr. and Mrs. Tommerasen will remain with us thruout the Xmas vacation.

Miss Brown, who resides in St. Paul, left for her home Thursday evening.

During the absence of Mr. Melby, different students have conducted his classes. Dreng B. has had charge of the Modern History class and Clarence K. the Physics classes. The Industrial history has been fortunate enough to have Supt. Ziegler a few of the days.

Mr. Melby, Science instructor at the high school, has been absent from his labratory the last few days on account of a severe attack of tonsilitis. We are very sorry to hear that it will be necessary to have his tonsils removed.

Mr. Tripp, instructor of Agriculture will renew his stock-judging class of the year previous after the Xmas vacation. It is believed that he will have a crack team this year.

Dreng Bjornaraa has been having an attack of yellow jaundice, a sickness that demands a great deal of rest and for this reason he has been absent from his classes at the high school off and on for the last few days.

The General Science class conducted by Miss Brown made a very interesting trip to the Power House last Wednesday. They made a study of the machinery and the mechanism of the large engines.

Chapel Wednesday Morning.

During chapel exercises Wednesday morning Mr. Ziegler explained the meaning of the words "Efficiency of Integrity," which are placed on the wall on the rear of the stage.

He explained first the meaning of Efficiency, which means capable of doing a thing in the right way. He emphasized that there are two classes of people, the efficient and the inefficient, and that the best place to learn to become efficient is at school.

Integrity means being honest or giving the other fellow a square deal. To have integrity means to be efficient and if the people had more integrity the world would be more efficient.

Tuesday morning in chapel the students of Lincoln high were favored with a reading by Miss Nelson of this city. She gave "The Other Wise Man."

The story is of a Persian Magi who had received visions of the coming of the Christ-child. He traded off all his property for three jewels, and set out on a journey to Bethlehem, to give them to the new-born King of Israel. He was delayed by several cases of suffering along the way, which he helped to his utmost ability; and, pressed by dire necessity, gave away the jewels. He did not reach Bethlehem until the family of Joseph had departed for Egypt, but continued the search for a number of years. The search did not terminate until at the crucifixion, when a rock fell on the head of the Magi and he finally met the Lord in Paradise.

Miss Nelson gave a wonderful presentation of the theme, and the faculty and students highly appreciated her visit.

What Christmas Carols Did For Jack Dickson.

In one of the large hospitals of the city of Chicago lay a small boy suffering from a severe attack of typhoid fever. His feverish face was heavy on the white pillow and his brown eyes looked meaninglessly into those of the visitors. He was five years old, and all alone.

Miss Jean Langdon, the teacher of the baby class in Sunday school, noticed the lonesome lad when she was on her way to visit a friend. Altho she was in a great hurry she sat down on the bedside and began to talk to Jack. Each day they talked, and soon become well acquainted. She interested him by telling him of her Sunday school class of little boys and girls like himseuf. She promised to ask Dr. Conner if they could not up on Christmas day to sing Christmas carols to him.

If Jack improved as he had done during the last few days, Dr. Conner said they might. Jack was determined to gain and so he did, and on Christmas morning the voices of twenty-five children filled each crevice of the hospital until the very walls themselves re-echoed with the Christmas cheer, and brought especially great joy to Jack Dickson.

During the next week he learned the carol, "Away in a Manger, No Crib for a Bed," and saw that he, even if he was born of humble parents and was now an orphan, could become great. Repeatedly in his sleep he would sing "Be Near Me Lord Jesus, I Ask Thee to Stay, Close By Me Forever and Guard Me, I Pray."

Jack started school and became interested in many things. He kept on going to Sunday school for a while but the other boys ridiculed him for singing hymns and he soon forgot all he had learned in Sunday school.

When he went to high school and college he was always too busy to go to church and was always "so tired" and "needed a rest."

He then thought of Christmas as a time to try to get the most for your money's worth and to give some present to each one from whom they were received.

He became a very famous man. In fact, everyone knew Mr. Dickson, the head of the greatest steel and iron establishment in the world. But one thing failed him. He had forgotten about Christmas and even made his employes work on Christmas.

Having made arrangements with a friend to see him on Sunday he was obliged to go to church. While at services as he gazed listlessly out of the window over the snow covered ground, his mind wandered until he was brought back to his senses by the sound of music. "Silent night, holiest night, all is calm." But why wasn't everything calm in his life on this day of all days? He looked up at the director of the choir. Who was that and where had he seen that person before? Looking at the various members of the choir he he recognized his old Sunday school mates. But who was this director? Oh, he knew it was Miss Jean Laugdon, who had first told him of Christmas. That night Mr. Dickson went home with a new object in view and the next Christmas sang carols once again.

A Santa For Jim and Jack.

"What's up, Jim?" asked Jack of his little pal, who seemed very dejected. "Hain't ya sold yer papers yet?"

"Tain't that. It's Santa Claus. I ain't seem him for a whole two weeks and it's Christmas eve today."

"Looky here, Jim," growled Jack rudely. "Aren't ya ever goin' to grow up? You'll never get along in this world if you don't cut out the fairy-tale stuff."

This is how the boys first came to meet their Santa Claus. One wintry night in late November Jimmy and Jack, two ragged little newsboys of the American metropolis, had been aroused from their reverie before a brilliantly lighted toy shop window by a kindly voice. Upon looking up the boys had beheld a little old man as round and plump as he was tall. From beneath his snug-fitting cap his glossy white hair shone. His rosy mouth smilled merrily between his sleek white mustache and short beard. Like old St. Nicholas himself, his eyes were blue and ever twinkling.

At this the old gentleman had laughed so heartily that the two children had joined in the merriment. They had seen their new friend but twice since that memorable night. Jimmy didn't doubt Santa Claus long. "What a silly I am," he scolded himself. "Of course Santa Claus is busy so near Christmas. But he's coming tonight, I know. He wouldn't forget a single soul, not even me."

Matter-of-fact Jack shrugged his shoulders impatiently at this. And so the two boys parted for the night—the one sullenly with dim prospects for the morrow—the other lightheartedly with visions of hobby horses and snow-shoes before his eyes.

Let us follow Jack as he slowly wended his way toward the tenement district. He was deep in contemplation and did not observe the taxi that was so closely approaching him. The vehicle had struck him, gashed and bleeding to the street before he had realized his danger.

Christmas day dawned cold and clear. A ray of sun shining through a window of the magnificent Belmont mansion of New York City awoke a certain small boy. He looked about him for a moment. Something attracted him more than the beautiful furnishings of the room and the gaily lighted Christmas tree at the foot of his bed. A plump little old man with white hair and beard was sitting at the bedside looking thoughtfully at the sick boy.

"It's Jimmy's Santa Claus," exclaimed Jack, sitting up suddenly. But he was obliged to lie down again because of a sharp pain in his side.

"You mustn't stir, my boy. You'll be all right soon," assured Santa Claus. Then he related the events of the preceding night to Jack.

Santa Claus was really Mr. Richard Belmont, a wealtry broker of Wall street. He lived alone in this large house, for his wife had died long ago and his son had married and left him. He wasn't lonely, though, for he had many boy and girl friends. They, too, had named him Santa Claus because every Christmas eve he visited many poor children of the city, bringing toys and clothing to them and food and financial aid to treir parents. Last evening he was returning from his mission of benevolence when his taxi had struck down his little friend, Jack. He had taken the boy to his home rather than to a hospital because he knew the boy would be happier there on Christmas day.

"And let me tell you something more," Santa Claus leaned further over tre boy, "You're going to be my boy now. I owe it to you after the trouble you have suffered because of me. Would you like to come and live here, Jack?"

For a moment Jack could say nothing. Then he broke into tears and cried passionately. "I ain't deservin' this kindness. I wouldn't believe you was really Santa Claus, but now I know. It's Jimmy what's been deservin' this right along. He ain't got no ma nor pa either and he's a good pal, and it wouldn't be fair to him. No, Mr. Santa Claus, I couldn't."

Santa's face beamed with pleasure now. When it came to making little waifs happy there was no limit to the dear old soul's generosity.

"Why, bless your unselfish little reart," and Santa laughed his merry little laugh that never failed to drive away the blues, "Jimmy's going to be in on this wonderful secret of ours, as sure as my name's Santa Claus."

It wasn't long before the jolly fellow was seated in a taxi chuckling merrily to himself to think how happy at least two newsboys of New York were going to be before another Christmas rolled around.

Jimmy's happiness knew no bounds when he heard that he was to go to the Belmont mansion to live.

"I knew Santa Claus wouldn't forget me, but I never dreamed that I was going to be his very own little boy and go to the North Pole (that's his house) to live."

Letters to The Times

THEY LIKE THE WEST; VERY LITTLE FROST AND ABUNDANT RAIN

O. I. Oien Family Pleased With the Country About Ferndale, Wash., But Find it Very Different From Minnesota.

After a residence of nine months in the state of Washington, being located near Ferndale, the O. I. Oien family greets old friends and neighbors through a communication to The Times. They have found things different in the West, but seem to like the country better than do most of those who have left this section for the purpose of making their homes on the coast. The letter is dated Dec. 23 and is as follows:

"As it is Christmas time and marks the close of a nine month period since we took up our residence here in Washington, we take this means of letting all our former friends know how we like the West.

"We are all well and enjoying nice weather. It does not seem like near Christmas time to us out here, with the grass still green and seldom a frosty night. We have had only five or six nights of real frost so far this fall. We are having lots of rain, however, and somethimes think it's getting too much. The wet is forgotten, however, as soon as the sun comes out. The sun seems brighter here than elsewhere, perhaps because we do not see it every day. You may think it must be very disagreeable with so much rain, but I don't know. People here wish for rain because it is always warm when it rains and the air is just sweet. But if it stays dry for any length of time it gets cold—such a biting cold wind. Even I prefer the rains now. To be sure it spoils our roads, but in summer time there is sunshine every day from morning until night and it is really too dry for farming, especially on sandy land, of which there is so much here in Washington. I would advise anyone from the East coming out here with the intention of buying land to look out for sand.

"There is a great amount of fruit raised here and the cannery is a busy place in summer. It reminds me very much of the scene about grain elevators back in Minnesota and North Dakota, with the farmers standing in line awaiting their turn to unload. So it is here with fruit, only it has been brought in automobiles and trucks.

"Dairying is the main branch of farming followed here and the milk condenseries and fruit canneries are more necessary to this part of Washington than the sawmills ever were, although the mills are necessary in order to do away with the timber. The modern sawmill is a decidedly complicated affair, but the big logs are handled like toothpicks and turned into lumber faster than I can tell about it.

"A few days ago we were very much surprised to have Mrs. Ed. Emerson, formerly of Thief River Falls, call on us, and in our imagination we visited many places in the old home town while she was here. Mr. and Mrs. Emerson live in Bellingham now and we expect to see them often. We are wondering who will be next to visit us from Thief River Falls. My brother, Mr. C. Oien, has been planning all summer to pay us a visit this winter, but has always changed his mind at the last minute. Guess he thought he had better not risk his life on a train over the mountains, but stay home and be safe. If he ever shows up here he will no doubt come by way of the Panama canal so he can travel over the water route clear to Bellingham. Ole Haraldson is feeling fine and enjoys the climate here very much.

"Well, my letter is getting long so I must close with our best wishes for the new year."

RENEWED TESTIMONY

No one in Thief River Falls who suffers backache, headache, or distressing urinary ills can afford to ignore this Thief River Falls woman's twice-told story. It is confirmed testimony that no Thief River Falls resident can doubt.

Mrs. Geo. Williams, 412 Main Ave., N., Thief River Falls, says: "I used many remedies for kidney trouble and backache but had no permanent relief until I bought Doan's Kidney Pills at Curtis Drug Store. This remedy not only cured my back but made me feel better in every way. I am only sorry that Doan's didn't come to my attention sooner."

OVER SEVEN YEARS LATER Mrs. Williams said: "During the past seven years Doan's Kidney Pills have done the work whenever I have used them for kidney weakness. I hold Doan's in the same high estimation as when I first endorsed them."

Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Williams had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.—adv.

The Peder-Reusla family were callers at the M. Bakken home last Sunday.

Rev. Leirfallen Speaks.

The Mayfield church congregation had a fine Xmas tree entertainment in their church last Sunday afternoon. A splendid program was rendered, mostly by the school children and by some of the older folks present.

Rev. Leirfallen in his short address touched upon the subject of how we as human beings likened unto the Xmas tree. He said: "The beauty of the Xmas tree is not apparent until the candles are lit. Just so with us human beings. The beauty of our lives does not manifest itself until the light of God can be seen thru the windows of our hearts."

Pass it Along.

Ye scribe has been off duty so long that it begins to appear like uphill work to take the pen in hand to pass along the latest "doings" in this neck of the woods. However from now on we don't expect to pass up anything that comes our way. We haven't got much time to "rubberneck," so we will ask those interested to put us next to the little things going on and we will do the rest. In the meantime we wish you all a Happy New Year. May 1921 be a year of good cheer, joy and gladness to all of us.

MAYFIELD

The Christmas tree program given in the Cloverleaf school on Dec. 23rd was well attended.

Miss Celia Bjorge, teacher in Dist. No. 35, left for her home near Thief River Falls for a week's vacation. School opens again on Jan. 3rd 1921.

Johanna Wedul, student at the Thief River Falls high school, arrived at her home here on Dec. 24 to spend her two week's vacation.

J. P. Jornson called at the Stennes home last Wednesday evening.

The school closed in Dist. No. 60 on Dec. 24 for a two week's vacation. Mrs. Netteland left for her home near Highlanding and will return for the opening of school Jan. 10.

Mr. and Mrs. Nels Krantz arrived at the J. F. Kiel home on Dec. 24 to spend the holidays.

The following families spent Christmas day at the John Larson home; H. C. Jespersen, William Jesperson and J. P. Johnson.

Efficiency at the Throttle

THE automobilist appreciates good gasoline most when he steps on the throttle and notes the efficiency in performance of his engine—blueprint efficiency alone means little to him.

Knowing this, the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has devoted much of its energy to the development of a motor gasoline which not only stands the grueling test of research laboratories, but which has proved its efficiency in thousands of cars operated under every-day road and weather conditions.

The Company has studied the needs of the motorist at first hand, and has developed Red Crown, its motor gasoline, to a point where it meets exactly the needs of the automobile engine operating under conditions obtaining in the Middle West.

The efficiency of Red Crown symbolizes the spirit which animates the Company as a whole in its endeavor to render an intelligent, efficient service to the public generally.

The tremendous increase in the number of automobiles and trucks from 1,253,000 in 1914 to 7,459,507 in August, 1920, has made more apparent than ever the absolute necessity of a comprehensive, dependable system of distribution.

The development of such a system has changed from something merely desirable to something vitally necessary. The best gasoline in the world is useless if you cannot get it when you want it.

Every step from refining to final delivery is of such importance to the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) that its interest never abates until the gasoline is delivering maximum motor mileage; until its lubricating oils are helping to do the work of the world to the satisfaction of the ultimate consumer.

The greatly increased yield of gasoline which this Company has been able to recover from the crude obtainable has been accomplished without sacrifice of quality.

Red Crown and Polarine performance are the best proofs of Standard Oil Company (Indiana) service.

"You may be Sure"
says the Good Judge

That you are getting full value for your money when you use this class of tobacco.

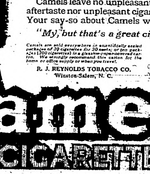
The good, rich, real tobacco taste lasts so long, you don't need a fresh chew nearly as often—nor do you need so big a chew as you did with the ordinary kind.

Any man who has used the Real Tobacco Chew will tell you that.

Put up in two styles

W-B CUT is a long fine-cut tobacco
RIGHT CUT is a short-cut tobacco

No sir-ee, bob!
No premiums with Camels—all quality!



CAMELS quality plus Camels expert blend of choice Turkish and choice Domestic tobaccos pass out the most wonderful cigarette smoke you ever drew into your mouth!

And, the way to prove that statement is to compare Camels puff-by-puff with any cigarette in the world!

Camels have a mild mellowness that is as new to you as it is delightful. Yet, that desirable "body" is all there! They are always refreshing—they never tire your taste.

Camels leave no unpleasant cigarette aftertaste nor unpleasant cigaretty odor! Your say-so about Camels will be:

"My, but that's a great cigarette".

The brides are sisters and the happy couples left Friday for Torgerson, where a reception was given them at their father's home. We wish them a long and happy wedded life.

High School Notes.

The Christmas entertainment given on Thursday afternoon was well attended and the program was of the very best. The teachers are surely deserving of much praise for putting on an entertainment of so high order. The children all did so well that it is impossible to mention each one. The high school orchestra, composed of Grace Day, pianist, Joseph Christianson, cornet, and Roy Olson, made its first public appearance and the music was enjoyed by all. The teachers all left Thursday evening for their holiday vacations.

ROSEWOOD

Christmas Program at Rindal.

The annual Christmas tree festival at Rindal church was held last Sunday evening and similar to former years it was a very successful undertaking and by far the largest holiday celebration in this vicinity. The church was tastefully decorated in holly and Christmas colors and a massive evergreen brilliantly illuminated by scores of candles and covered with a profusion of glittering ornaments, majestically adorned the northern half of the stage. A greatly appreciated program consisting of recitations, songs, etc., was rendered by the pupils of Rosebank school. After the program bags containing apples and confections were distributed to the entire assemblage and a large number of Christmas presents were distributed among friends and neighbors. About 175 persons were in attendance at the exercises.

Give Christmas Dinner.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Sagmoen at their home south of town entertained a number of relatives from Rosewood at Christmas dinner last Saturday. The rooms were prettily decorated in Christmas colors and the afternoon was delightfully spent in music and conversation. The guests included the following: Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Furan, and children, Willard, Burton and Violet; Mr. and Mrs. John Sagmoen and children, Gladys, Verna and Glenn; Mr. and Mrs. B. P. Sagmoen and daughter, Isabelle.

Entertain Relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. John Ranum entertained a number of friends and relatives at their home Christmas eve. A delicious supper was served in the earlier part of the evening and the remainder of the time was delightfully spent in conversation and at cards. The following were the guests: Mr. and Mrs. Benhard Ranum and children, Mrs. K. Ranum, Otto and Fred Ranum, Miss Ruth Ranum, Olof Opseth and A. Opseth.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Mellem had as their guests for Christmas dinner, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Mellem and children, Emil Mellem and Mrs. T. Mellem from south of town.

Sing Xmas Carols.

The carol singing on Christmas Eve outside candle lighted windows was very pretty and much appreciated. The evening was very still and beautiful and the strains of the old Xmas hymns floated like fairy echoes thru the calm winter air. The pale cold light of the full moon gave a mystic illumination to the whole and hard indeed must the hearts have been not to be smitten by this Christmas spirit. A hearty thanks to the partakers in the singing.

Mr. and Mrs. Jos. J. Serbus and son left on Thursday evening for their former home town, Olivia, to spend the Christmas season with relatives and old neighbors.

Miss Hilda Westby of Minneapolis came home last Thursday and will visit over Christmas with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. I. M. Westby.

Is a mother who has once used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, for she makes a point of telling other mothers about it, who in turn pass the news on. It is this that has made Chamberlain's Cough Remedy a household word throughout the world. Just ask some mother in your community what she thinks of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy—she will tell you that it enables her to get her children through the winter without coughs, colds or croup, and that at first approach of a cold she herself takes
Chamberlain's Cough Remedy
She will tell you that it is as thoroughly reliable for the youngest child as for the oldest member of the family. You can give it to the baby, the children going to school, or take it yourself, always with the same result—a quick relief."

CHARGE YOUTHS WITH BREAKING INTO BUILDING

Wave of Petty Larceny Believed Checked by Arrest of Four Young Men.

Arthur Charboneau, Whose Record is Bad, Confesses and Implicates Others.

Home of A. S. Sapero Broken Into on Three Different Occasions Within Year.

With the arrest of Arthur Charboneau, Ekard Lane, Victor Norquist and Richard Bartlett on Saturday, it is thought that the wave of petty larceny and house-breaking in Thief River Falls may have been brought to an end. The above mentioned youths, all of them between the ages of 18 and 20 years, were arraigned before Municipal Judge N. W. Tarrant on Monday morning, charged with having entered the residence of A. S. Sapero, 223 Duluth avenue north on the night of December 31. They waived examination through E. M. Stanton, their attorney, and were bound over to the grand jury. Each was required to furnish $250 bail.

On the same night the Zeh & Curran grocery store was entered thru a rear window, but the proprietors have been unable to determine whether or not any merchandise is missing.

Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Sapero upon returning from the American Legion ball after the hour of midnight, found the telephone upon the floor, a dining room window open and many fresh snow tracks upon the floors. Later investigation proved that a small amount of money and cigars had been taken. Suspicion having long centered on a gang of whom Charboneau was the recognized leader, Sheriff W. J. LaBree, Mr. Sapero and Mayor John Bratrud cornered that young man on Saturday morning and finally forced a confession from him. His confession and other circumstances led to the arrest of the four youths on Monday morning.

This is the third time in less than two years that Mr. Sapero's home was entered by persons whose evident intentions was robbery. The first instance was about a year ago and the second was less than three weeks ago. Mr. Sapero states that he had always suspected members of the gang and his supposition proved correct upon young Charboneau's confession. Charboneau also confessed to several other house-breaking jobs that have been staged here.

Business houses and homes have been entered from time to time and Charboneau's confession also includes many or all of these affairs. In other instances, automobile tires, automobile accessories and other articles of merchandise or personal property have been taken. It is thought that the Zeh & Curran store was entered in the hope that extracts containing alcohol would be found. No evidence has as yet been adduced which would indicate that any of the four young men arrested were implicated in this last thieving errand.

Charboneau, about seven years ago, was given an indeterminate sentence to the training school at Red Wing following a minor crime. This sentence was suspended and he was released on probation. Early in 1915 he broke into a house and was put in the school where he served one year, being released for exceptional conduct.

Returns From Southwest.

W. L. Hall, Jr., returned the first of the week from a ten-day business visit to St. Louis and other points in the Southwest. He also visited at the home of his parents in Arkansas while away and found conditions in that section very similar to those existing here. The neighborhood in which his people reside is devoted largely to fruit raising and as a very satisfactory price was received for the year's crop the district is not feeling the pinch of hard times prevailing in the cotton growing districts farther south.

FINE QUARTERS FOR INDUSTRIAL CLASS

New Addition to Smith-Hughes Building Ready For Second Semester Opening.

The interior of the new addition to the Smith-Hughes Industrial building of the city high school is nearing completion, and with the beginning of the second school semester all of the space on the main floor as well as in the basement will be occupied by the various classes. The departments of auto mechanics and forge work are to be located in the basement of the building while the departments of mechanical drawing, painting and decorating, carpentry and cabinet making are located on the main floor. The building is well lighted and ventilated in order to make work and study a pleasure.

The newest and latest among the various trades to be taught in this industrial section of the Thief River Falls schools will be a course in color study for water-color rendering, especially worked out for painters and decorators. The course consists of the following: Formation of colors of spectrum, secondary and tertiary colors, position of colors in the chromatic scale, making of color charts, classification of colors, designing, application of colors in wall and ceiling decoration; and instructions in sign painting. It is planned to add China painting later.

M. A. Schmitt, manual training instructor of the industrial school, has made color work one of his specialties and will leave nothing undone which would tend to make the new course a success.

Mr. Schmitt requests that it be made clear that this course in color study is not only open to high school students but to painters or others who might wish to make use of this opportunity to secure instruction, suggestions and information. Professional painters are particularly urged to get in touch with the department, as it is desired to start the second semester of the school year with every painter, young or old, in attendance.

EXPECT ACTION ON DRAINAGE BILL IN HOUSE THIS WEEK

Red Lake and Clearwater River Projects Expected to Receive Favorable Action.

The Red Lake Drainage bill will be acted on by congress this week, according to information received by C. G. Selvig, president of the Red Lake Drainage board, from Congressman Steenerson, who introduced this bill. This bill provides for improving the Red Lake and Clearwater rivers within the Indian reservation.

GRAND FORKS PAPER FORCED TO SUSPEND

Lack of Funds and Poor Collections Temporarily Ties Up The Daily American.

Manager John B. Brown of the Grand Forks Daily American, a Nonpartisan league newspaper, announced this week that the newspaper had suspended business temporarily. Whether or not the suspension would be made permanent will be decided at a stockholders' meeting January 11, it was declared. The North Dakota Tidende, a Norwegian weekly affiliated with the American, will also cease publication.

The last issue of the American was issued Friday, but it was not until Monday noon that the employes were notified of the suspension and the plant closed.

Lack of funds and inability to collect outstanding indebtedness and money due on notes, was given as the reason for suspension, by Manager Brown. Mr. Brown denied the American corporation was bankrupt.

The Grand Forks American was incorporated for $100,000, with 1,200 stockholders. It made its first appearance September 30, 1918.

SUCCESSFUL DRIVE BY ELKS NEARS END

The membership drive which was put under way by the B. P. O. E. No. 1308 early in December will be concluded January 31, at which time the membership fee will be raised from $35 to $50. Concerted action is being taken in order to enroll as many new members from the northwest section of the state as possible before this raise goes into effect. Captains numbering 25 were appointed in the city of Thief River Falls, and they in turn appointed lieutenants to assist in thoroughly soliciting the men, young and old, of the community who might possess the qualities which go to make good and loyal Elks. The captains are to report as to headway made either on January 7, or at the next regular meeting night, January 21.

A. Anderson is acting as chairman of the membership drive committee. He is assisted by committeemen G. W. Connell, H. W. Protzeller, W. W. Prichard, Jr., and S. C. Coumbe.

Applications have up to the present time been coming in freely and Chairman Anderson states that there is every possibility of the membership of the local lodge being raised to 600 with the conclusion of the drive. The new-member movement is being conducted with great enthusiasm with the view of hastening the erection of an Elk's home on the property overlooking the river at the foot of Third street, which property was acquired during the past year.

Zaucke Presents Claims of North Section to Board

William F. Zaucke, village clerk and booster extraordinary for Baudette, stopped over on Monday night on his way to Bemidji where he was to meet up with the board of county commissioners the following day. "Bill" went as a representative of the Baudette Commercial club and his particular mission was to impress upon the county dads of Beltrami county the necessity for stationing a farm bureau agent in the northern section. The country along the Baudette and Rainey rivers is developing rapidly as an agricultural section and it is figured that a county agent would help things along.

QUICK WORK AT COUNTY BOARD'S FIRST MEETING

Many Matters of Importance Disposed of by Commissioners in Record Time.

O. J. Peterson Re-elected Chairman; Other Officers Same as Last Year.

Levy For Sinking Fund Doubled. Salary Changes Few and Increases Small.

The annual meeting of the Pennington county board of commissioners held at the court house on Tuesday, proved one of dispatch and the shortest annual meeting on record. The session called for 10:00 a. m. was adjourned until 1:30 p. m., owing to absence of members. Having all business well lined up it was possible to conclude the same in a short additional session held in the evening.

Re-elected for Fourth Term.

Chairman Oscar J. Peterson was re-elected for the coming year, this making the fourth term of service in that capacity. J. S. Roy was reelected vice-chairman. The standing committees will remain the same, with the exception of the road and bridge committee, on which all members of the board and County Auditor T. P. Anderson will serve.

The bond submitted by Lars Backe, elected Judge of Probate in November, was read and approved. The bond incorporates his oath of office.

A bounty of five cents was placed on pocket gophers killed in the county; and a bounty of three cents on grey and striped gophers. It has heretofore been the practice of many townships in the county to duplicate this award. No bounty was set on crows.

$6,000 Levy for Sinking Fund.

A tax levy of one mill, or approximately $6,000 was voted for the support of the sinking fund. The levy of last year was one half this amount, but it was considered necessary to increase it in order to maintain a sinking fund of from $15,000 to $20,000. Several bond payments fall due within the next few years, one of the most important of these being the Highlanding bridge bond.

The matter of an increase in salaries for several county officials was discussed at length. The salary of Superintendent of Schools George M. Gunderson was increased from $1320 per year to $1440, in addition to which all of his traveling expenses will be paid. The salaries of County Sheriff W. J. LaBree, County Attorney Theodore Quale and Court House Custodian Paul Midderigh, which also came under discussion, were allowed to remain the same as of last year.

It was voted to appropriate $125 towards the support of the Minnesota Red River Valley Development association. This appropriation is the same as that made last year. It was considered that this amount is more than returned to residents of the county who send exhibits to the annual winter show held at Crookston, in addition to the general benefit derived from development work.

Thomas H. Bjerke and Peter Hedin were designated as county delegates to the tax conference which will be held in St. Paul on January 19-20. Chairman O. J. Peterson and County Auditor T. P. Anderson are ex-officio delegates to the conference, which will take up a discussion of the tax burdens thruout the state. Members of the state board of equalization will be present at this conference. While voting will be confined to county delegates, the meetings are open to the general public.

A petition for a new school district embracing sections 19, 20 and 21, the south half of section 17, the southeast quarter of section 18 and the southwest quarter of section 16, Mayfield township in Pennington county, and section 30 and the north half of sections 28 and 29, Garness township in Red Lake county, was read and approved. A hearing of petitioners will be set for an early date. It will also be necessary for Red Lake county to arrange a hearing on the same petition.

The report of the board of audit was submitted and approved; County Treasurer John Gullingsrud's books given a preliminary audit and several small matters disposed of.

The next meeting of the board will be held on January 12, at which time the financial statement for the year 1920 will be submitted.

HEARS REPORT OF NORWAY UPRISING

Attempt at Revolution Said to Have Been Foiled by Action of Authorities.

Plans for a sensational revolution in Norway, which have become known to the authorities, are printed by the newspaper Politiken, Copenhagen, quoting accounts published by the Verdensgang of Christiana.

According to the Verdensgang, the labor party which, it says, joined the Moscow internationale in 1918, intended to start the uprising by setting fire to enormous lumber stores in Christiania, reckoning this would draw the entire attention of the capital. As soon as the fire began to rage, the newspaper states, the revolutionists planned to occupy the barracks, the police headquarters and the telegraph and telephone stations, arrest the cabinet members and generals and then telegraphically advise the provinces of the revolution and of the successful conquest of the capital.

It was expected, Verdensgang is quoted as saying, that the conquest of the provinces would be easy, being only a question of courage, discipline and arms. The newspaper states that the plan leaked out and the authorities were informed.

No definite date was given for the execution of the alleged plan, it being said that it was set merely for a convenient moment.

Revenue Men Make Good Haul on Soo Line Train

Revenue officers who boarded the south-bound Soo line limited near the Canadian border on New Year's Eve, confiscated 22 quarts of good Canadian "hootch." Passengers of all descriptions were able to contribute a quart or two. No arrests followed the confiscation.

EXAMINATION OF EX-SERVICE MEN IS NEW ORDER

Thief River Falls Designated as Headquarters For Northwestern Counties.

Will Conduct Hearings to Determine Eligibility For Vocational Training.

Former Soldiers Urged to Present Themselves Before Board Without Delay.

Thief River Falls has been designated by the Federal Board for Vocational Training as headquarters for an eligibility squad which will conduct periods of intensive examinations of former service men in the northwestern counties of the state, according to C. J. Batten of the state vocational department, who was in the city last Thursday for the purpose of making preliminary arrangements. The Commercial club rooms have been offered for use of the squad for the two days of medical examinations. The American Legion and the Red Cross have been requested to aid in locating all former service men who suffer a vocational handicap in order that all cases may be "cleaned up" in this district before the eligibility squad moves on.

This action is taken following a radical change in the method of determining a former service man's vocational disabilities and in obtaining vocational training for him. It is planned to eliminate all red tape and the applicant for vocational training will be examined and entered into training at once. Previous experience under the method now obtains show that some men have been obliged to wait from three months to two years before finally admitted to vocational training. The drive is to be statewide, starting early this month. The eligibility squad will conduct examinations here during the month of February, according to tentative plans announced by Mr. Batten.

Minnesota, which is a part of the Tenth district, will be divided into 16 sub districts, each under the supervision of an eligibility squad.

Service men who feel that they have vocational disabilities and that they are entitled to training, should present themselves to this squad when the drive opens here. All expenses incidental to the examinations here will be borne by the Federal board, it is explained. These items of expense include transportation, meals and lodgings. The state department is in possession of the names of approximately 50 former service men in this section of the state who have at one time or another presented claims for vocational education. Working through the American Legion and the Red Cross an effort will be made to reach every man, states Mr. Batten.

Compensation, it is explained by a member of the eligibility squad, in no way conflicts with a man's right to avail himself of vocational training. The one thing that the eligibility squad determines, is whether the applicant's disability is a vocational handicap, and whether it is traceable to, aggravated by or due to service. His physical disability, moreover, must be in the nature of a vocational handicap that has unfitted him to pursue his former vocation and necessitates taking up another.

Detailed explanations of the two day period of examinations in Thief River Falls will be issued at an early date by the Federal board, Mr. Batten announced.

Holiday Celebration of Norway Sons, Daughters

The annual holiday celebration of Snore lodge, Sons of Norway, will be held at Masonic hall on the evening of Thursday, Jan. 13. Attendance will be limited to members only and children will be charged admission the same as grown folks. Attorney Hans O. Chommie will deliver the principal address and there will be other speakers. A musical program will be given and there will be the usual lunch.

PARTY PLEDGES MUST BE KEPT, PREUS ASSERTS

New Governor, in Inaugural Address, Reminds Legislature of Election Promises.

Co-Operative Marketing, Iron Ore Tax and Primary Reform Among Laws Urged.

J. A. O. Preus, victor in one of the most momentous election campaigns in the history of the state, was inaugurated governor of Minnesota at 11 a. m. Wednesday before a joint session of the state legislature in the house chamber. The inauguration was scheduled for noon but took place at the above mentioned hour as a result of an unexplained confusion. The oath of office was administered by Chief Justice Calvin L. Brown.

Before Mr. Preus took the oath of office retiring Governor J. A. A. Burnquist spoke briefly, sketching the accomplishments of his administration and expressing his deep gratitude to the people of Minnesota for their cooperation during his term of office.

Declares For Issues.

Standing on the speaker's platform in the house chamber, and facing a floor crowded with Senate and House members and galleries crowded with spectators, Governor Preus spoke on issues which he had discussed during the recent campaign. His message was frequently interrupted with applause. At its close he was given an ovation.

On the main themes of his address, the former auditor declared for:

Co-Operative Marketing.

Enlargement of powers and personnel of state department of agriculture to permit it to aid in organization of co-operative selling agencies to handle farm products and have memberships in terminal selling associations.

Tonnage Tax on Iron Ore.

A fair and equitable tonnage tax. A net profits tax in lieu of all other state taxes upon the property, accompanied by a reduction in the percentage of the so-called ad valorem tax for other purposes.

Primary Election Reform.

A return to party designations in the legislature and convention system for party nominations, safeguarded at its source by requiring delegates to be elected by the primary method.

Better Roads.

Wise laws to be passed by the legislature to provide for the building and administration of the trunk highway system and co-ordination of the good roads system with Minnesota's parkway plans.

Soldier Bonus.

To raise rates of interest on state bonus bonds to permit their sale, so that all of Minnesota's soldiers, marines and sailors may receive their state bonus without delay.

Reorganization Plans.

To make the state auditors office an auditing office only and to creat a new state department to care for the natural resources of the state. auditing office only and to create a

Economy.

Appointments Delayed.

Governor Preus established a precedent when he failed to announce a single state appointment. As a result the office of state auditor, which he himself vacated, was left without a head. The incoming executive announced that he would have an important announcement to make in regard to the auditorship and the Minneapolis judgeship some time today. This left the inference that he does not intend to announce other appointments at present.

Only One New Face Seen At Court House This Year

The only new name on the courthouse roster at the opening of the year is that of Lars Backe, judge of probate, who on Monday took his oath of office. Judge Backe succeeds Judge Ira C. Richardson, who served with credit for one term.

The new official is a pioneer resident of Thief River Falls, as is his predecessor. He has held offices of public trust on different occasions, among them being that of mayor of the city and has served faithfully and well wherever placed. That he will carry the same conscientious application into his new post goes without saying.

Adolf Eklund, clerk of court, began his second term on Monday, he being the only other official elected in the county last fall, outside of the county commissioners.

Hamline Players Failed To Make Much of a Hit

The Hamline Players of St. Paul, appeared at the city auditorium here on Monday evening under the auspices of the high school in Robertson's three-act comedy-drama, entitled "Caste." Though the attendance was average, no favorable comment on the play as presented has been heard.

Attends Managers' Meeting.

E. W. Hinrichs left Tuesday for Grand Forks for the purpose of attending a meeting of managers of the J. C. Penney stores thruout the Northwest. This is the first meeting of the kind held since the Thief River Falls branch of the Penney chain was established and Mr. Hinrichs will have a very satisfactory report to submit. He is expected back tomorrow.

Elk's Dance Tonight is Second of Winter Series

The Thief River Falls lodge of Elks will give their second dance of the winter series at the city auditorium this evening. Dancing will start promptly at 9 o'clock, the music to be furnished by Snyder's five-piece orchestra. It was at first planned to make this a carnival event but subsequent plans call for a "regular old dance" with all in attendance contributing to the good time.

SUDDEN SUMMONS TO AGED CITIZEN

Hemorrhage of the Brain Brings Death to S. O. Quammen in Few Hours.

Swen O. Quammen, retired farmer and former business man, died suddenly last Wednesday night of hemorrhage of the brain. He was 70 years of age.

Deceased was born in Norway and emigrated to America with his young wife nearly 50 years ago. After a short residence in southern Minnesota the couple moved to North Dakota, Mr. Quammen taking up a homestead near Grand Forks. He continued the pursuit of farming until 1909 when the family came to Thief River Falls.

Mr. Quammen was married twice, there being nine children born to the first union, six of whom are living. They are Ole, a resident of Idaho; Lars, who resides in North Dakota; Selmer who conducts a farm about five miles from Thief River Falls; Mrs. Asle Sondreal of North Dakota; Mrs. G. N. Evenson and Mrs. John Bye of Nymore, Minn. The mother died in 1902 and in 1905 Mr. Quammen was united in marriage to Miss Lena Johnson of St. Hilaire, who survives him. Two children were born to them; Judith, aged 16 and Ruth, 12 years of age.

The funeral was held from Trinity Lutheran church on Saturday, Rev. T. E. Sweger officiating. The remains were shipped to North Dakota for burial.

Mr. Quammen was a highly respected citizen and his sudden death caused genuine sorrow among his wide circle of acquaintances. While he complained of feeling poorly during the day he had been down town until about four o'clock. One of the last men he talked to was Undertaker C. B. Larson, who received a decided shock when notified to come and take charge of the body of a man to whom he had been talking only a couple of hours previously.

COUPLE FROM CANADA WEDDED HERE AS NEW YEAR IS USHERED IN Young Couple Assisted in Their Efforts by Number of Enthusiastic Citizens Who Rout Out Proper Officials For Them.

Harry W. Marceau, energetic young insurance man of Winnipeg, Canada, routed out city and county officials at a late hour New Year's Eve and was united in marriage to Hazel Vera Klima, also of Winnipeg, shortly after the hour of twelve. The young couple stated that their object in traveling here for the marriage was in order to surprise friends.

Miss Klima and Mr. Marceau arrived here on the Soo Limited at 9:40, immediately calling for a taxi. Leonard DuChamp answered promptly and escorted them to Municipal Judge N. W. Tarrant's residence. The latter became one of the party which set off in search of Clerk of Court Adolf Eklund, who was attending festivities suitable to the evening. Mr. Eklund was located at 11 o'clock and the marriage license was issued at 11:30. When all was in readiness for the ceremony Miss Klima said: "Do you know, I'm just superstitious enough not to want to be married at the last moment of the last hour."

Consequently the ceremony, which took place in an office at the Pennington county court house, was delayed until a few moments after the birth of the new year. Judge Tarrant officiated. Sheriff W. J. LaBree, who had also been pressed into service in the search for Mr. Eklund, and Leonard DuChamp, acted as witnesses.

The bride wore her mother's wedding gown, an exquisite creation of white duchess satin veiled in white silk tulle and trimmed in rare old rose point lace. The long panel train of satin fell from the shoulder where it was held in place by a straight decolletage band of the rose point lace, which, coming over the shoulders, outlined the V neck of the bodice front, from which points of the satin reached to the shoulders. The gown had kimona sleeves. The lines of the satin skirt were broken with a drapery of the tulle, forming a double point tunic. From the girdle at the left a long spray of orange blossoms reached to the hem. The tulle veil, flowing to the end of the train, was held to the coiffure with a simple arrangement of three puffs of tulle across the front, outlined with orange blossoms that fell in little clusters over the ears.

FARMERS WOULD KEEP OUT COWS NOT CERTIFIED

Ask County Commissioners to Prevent Importations of Animals Not Tested.

Farm Bureau Also Goes on Record as Favoring Early Action on River Drainage.

The special meeting of the directors of the Pennington county farm bureau held at the bureau office in the city auditorium on Friday evening, opened with a long discussion on tuberculin testing of cattle as conducted thruout the county. Harry Woolson, Stuart McLeod, R. J. McKercher and Fred Beerbauer were appointed a committee to appear before the county commissioners in an effort to have that body go on record as prohibiting any animal being imported into the county without having successfully passed the tuberculin test. If the importation of untested cattle is prohibited, the state veterinarian will complete the testing of all cattle owned and held in the county free of charge, according to a statement made at the meeting Friday.

It is a recognized fact that Pennington county now has more tested and accredited herds within its boundaries than any other county in the state or nation. It is thought that if the board of commissioners will take the requested action that other counties in the state will rapidly fall in line in this respect.

The proposed dredging of the Red Lake river was also discussed at considerable length, the board of directors going on record as being highly in favor of the project. A telegram was sent to Congressman Steenerson at Washington, urging the need of drainage in this section of the state.

Directors R. J. McKercher, Harry Woolson, Hans Anton, C. W. Correll and Paul Engelstad were appointed as a legislative committee of the Farm Bureau association of the county.

The financial condition of the bureau was discussed and was said to be entirely satisfactory.

"Our hats are off to County Agent McCann" was the expression of directors present, when the discussion of progress shown by the Pennington county bureau was under way. A vote of thanks and approval of his work during the past year will be tendered Mr. McCann. Secretary Engelstad gave as an unqualified statement that the Pennington county bureau can show more progress than any other county farm bureau organization and credited the success of the partially completed membership drive conducted in the county during the later part of December, to the results shown by the last two years work. Several of the directors present, who have assisted in membership drives in various counties thruout the state during the past season, also stated that in soliciting new members the accomplishments of the Pennington county bureau were pointed out and found to be winning arguments and that the eyes of the state were upon developments in Pennington county.

SIX BILLION LOSS TAKEN BY FARMERS

Producers, Group Marketing Committee Believes Better Times Are Just Ahead.

"There are better times ahead. The slump in conditions has cost the farmers of America $5,000,000,000, according to accepted statistics, but they have swallowed the pill and are straightening up and looking ahead."

This is the consensus expressed at the convention of the farmers' marketing committee of 17, representing food producers of many states, and hundreds of thousands of dollars.

Chairman C. H. Gustafson, of Lincoln, Neb., says that the loss sustained by the farmers by the recent declines in prices, meant that the purchasing power of 6,500,000 food producers had been cut to the minimum. However, they believe the pendulum has swung to the extreme as far as they are concerned, and when other articles reach the same basis upon which food products now rest, the country will be ready to go ahead on a firm basis.

Some of the delegates were astonished when they had to pay 60 cents for an order of corned beef and cabbage in Chicago—the same beef and cabbage they had produced and sold for about 11 cents.

Last Fire Call of Year.

The fire department answered the last call of the passing year a few moments before 12 o'clock New Years Eve. The alarm was occasioned by a chimney fire in the Meehan block. No damage resulted from the fire. Fire Chief Midderigh expressed great approval of the promptness with which all members of the department answered the call and at the speed with which the apparatus was rushed to the scene of the supposed blaze.

FARMER HOLDS THE KEY.

In a statement issued to its patrons the Bank of North Dakota urges the farmers of that state to sell a sufficient amount of the grain held by them to at least partially pay their debts. Coming from such a source the advice is certain to attract a good deal of attention.

The bank states that while there is some question as to whether or not the holding of grain by farmers is responsible for the present financial situation in the state, it is very apparent that in the majority of cases where banks find themselves in difficulties it is caused by the refusal of farmers to make substantial payments on their notes. In view of this fact, says the statement, "with certain qualifications, the Bank of North Dakota feels that it is warranted in joining with other financial institutions in advising the adoption of this policy to the farmer."

In this section grain is being marketed at a much better rate than at any previous time this season and if the price holds at a reasonable level there is every hope that the movemnt will soon be normal. Farmers realize that they can gain nothing by acting in an arbitrary manner and as soon as they are satisfied that they have not been singled out as the class which is to stand the brunt of a general decline they will take their losses, if such result, exactly as do men in other lines of business. Many of them will soon be applicants for money for the spring operations and it is realized that securing it will be out of the question unless they now show a disposition to help general liquidation along by paying their outstanding obligations. They cannot expect to borrow money on next year's prospects while this year's crop remains in their graneries unsold.

The situation is steadily improving and with more liberal liquidation of debts on the part of the farmer it will grow better by leaps. Very few persons have blamed him thus far for his stand, but the time has now come when we must all sacrifice something in order to stabilize future conditions in this country.

THE GRIND BEGINS.

The forty-second session of the Minnesota legislature convened on Tuesday morning and from now until early spring laws of more or less importance will be ground out with more or less speed.

This session starts off under circumstances just a little different from any that have previously prevailed. At no time in the state's history have the wishes of the people, as these apply to important legislation, been so clearly indicated. A program of sufficient length and importance was presented to the voters at the last election to keep the lawmakers busy during the entire session, and the verdict in the case of these measures was so unmistakable that their enactment into law will be little more than a ratification.

First, perhaps, in importance is the Babcock good roads amendment. A lot of hard work will be required in order to provide the machinery for carrying out this one project alone but as there is but little difference of opinion as regards the main features of the plan its progress should be comparatively rapid.

Governor Preus, who is regarded as completely in accord with the majority of the members, advocated certain legislation during the campaign and was given an unprecedented vote on the strength of his position. His program includes a tonnage tax on iron ore and a bill providing for this will probably be passed in spite of the fact that the State Tax commission looks at the proposition with but little favor. Another of the Governor's pet measures is a law permitting grain associations to hold seats on boards of trade dealing in farm products. Such law will doubtless follow the lines of the measure with similar intent now before congress.

Conservation of the natural resources of the state, flood control and laws to assist the men who come to make homes on our undeveloped lands are among the things to be expected from the present session.

Th forty-second legislature has most of its work cut out in advance. The presiding officers are exceptionally capable men and the membership regarded as considerably above the average. There should be some really worth-while results to record.

The Roseau Times-Region says that The Times is mistaken in claiming that alfalfa seed had never been successfully ripened in Northwestern Minnesota until this year, when two Pennington county men succeeded in securing a fine supply. It seems that Roseau county has raised seed of this kind during the past three years. We are glad of it and hope that the same thing is true of every county in this section.

Last Year's Basket Team Defeated in Snappy Game

The Class of '20 basketball team who issued a challenge to the high school team early in the past week, went down to defeat at the hands of the latter in a fast game played at the city auditorium Saturday night. Basket shooting was exceptional on the parts of both teams. The high school quintet displayed the best team work and generally out-played the Class of '20 team, who were in poor condition owing to lack of practice. It looked like a victory for the high school team of last year until during the final quarter, when, with the score 23 to 24 in their favor, the quintet representing the school for the present season, made a spurt and shot three free throws and one basket. The final score stood at 27 to 24.

AUDITOR FOR G. N. R. R. TESTIFIES

"Tanlac Can be Depended Upon" He says—Gains Sixteen Pounds.

"Before I took Tanlac I decided that something had to be done and that quick, and Tanlac has met the situation in every respect," said Walter Munsing, an auditor of the Great Northern Railway company, with headquarters in Minneapolis, Minn.

"I had suffered for nearly two years with my stomach and kidneys and was just about down and out. Everything I ate seemed to settle in a hard lump in the pit of my stomach and gas would bloat and pain me so badly I could hardly stand it. I lost weight and last winter was hardly able to do a bit of work.

"Sometimes when I stooped over my back pained me right over my kidneys until I could hardly straighten up, and at night I often lay awake for hours without getting a bit of sleep. I seemed to get weaker and felt more and more tired, but after I took a few doses of Tanlac I noticed an improvement.

"I have now taken seven bottles and my stomach trouble is gone. I don't have the pains in my back any more and I sleep well at night and have gained sixteen pounds in weight. I owe a lot to Tanlac, and I heartily recommend it, for I know from my experience that it can be depended upon for results."

Legion Basket Team Takes On Fosston For First Game

The basket ball team of the Elmer J. Eklund post of the American Legion will meet the Fosston Legionnaire team at the city auditorium here on the evening of Friday, January 7th. The game will be called at 8 o'clock. Fans know the fast teams that Fosston usually puts out and consider the prophecy of a real battle superfluous. Hadrath, Holzknecht, LaBree, McGinn, Kiland, Carlson and Hermanson have been showing the best of form at practice. No definite line-up has been given out by Coach G. W. Connell.

This will be the first game played by the local legion team and one that all basket ball fans have been waiting for. Long practice has left the players in exceptionally good form and stellar work may be expected. The Legion is making every effort to insure a good turn-out for this first game.

Kinghorn; Electa, Mrs. J. L. Stitt; Warden, Mrs. H. C. Durrin; Sentinel, Edward Brevig.

The officers installed by the Masons were the following: Worshipful master, E. O. Berge; senior warden, Ray Johnson; junior warden, Ray Spencer; secretary, H. C. Durrin; treasurer, C. L. Hansen. The appointive offices will be filled at a later date.

Brown-Andrews.

A wedding of more than ordinary interest was solemnized on Thursday evening, Dec. 31, when Miss Ruth Kathryn Brown, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Brown of this city, became the bride of Clarence Edward Andrews.

The wedding took place at 6:30 o'clock at the Presbyterian church, Rev. R. L. Barackman reading the service in the presence of 100 relatives and friends. Preceding the ceremony Mrs. Irma Mallory Fisher sang, "O Promise Me" while Carl Sundahl sang, "Because." Holly and evergreen were used exclusively in the church decorations. The improvised altar was banked with evergreen and a large candlebra supporting tall burning tapers was the only adornment.

The ushers who headed the procession were Roy Brown, Charles Prichard, Elinor Overland and Ralph Rasmussen. They were followed by the bridesmaids, Misses Lucille Burns as maid of honor, Mary Prichard, Meta Kiland, all of this city, Zora Mae Rafferty of Minneapolis and Mildred Wood of Warren. They were attired in attractive frocks of organdie in pastel shades with tulle hats to match. Each carried a lovely basket of flowers. Little Jeanette Mogensen as flower girl, wore a charming pale blue frock, fashioned with rich lace. Her basket was filled with white blossoms. Master Theodore Braggens of Warren, dressed in white, carried the ring on a dainty white satin pillow in heart shape. The bride who entered with her father, who gave her in marriage, was met at the chancel steps by the groom and his best man, Norman Dybvik, a brother. Her gown was a lovely model of oyster white crepe elaborated with silver lace. She wore a beautiful hand embroidered parisienne veil caught about the coiffure with orange blossoms. The veil is a possesion of Mrs. Geo. Walker of Minneapolis, formerly of this city. Mrs. Andrews is the ninth bride to have worn it. The bridal bouquet was a shower arrangement of white Killarney roses and lilies of the valley.

The bridal party proceeded to the alter to the strains of Lohengrin's bridal march, played by Mrs. C. O. Erickson. The recessional was Mendelsohn's wedding march.

Immediately following the church service a reception was given at the Evelyn hotel. Vases of pink and white flowers were used on the table in the dining room. A large bride's cake graced the table at which the bridal party was served.

In the receiving line with the bride and bridegroom were Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Brown, the bride's parents and Mr. and Mrs. A. Dybvik, parents of the bridegroom. Mrs. Brown's gown was a creation of brown charmeuse with all-over lace, with which she wore a smart silver lace hat with ostrich trimming. Mrs. Dybvik wore an attractive gown of brown with accessories to match. The out-of-town guests were Mrs. W. A. Braggans and daughter Grace and son Theodore of Warren, Miss Zora Rafferty of Minneapolis and Miss Mildred Wood of Warren. Mr. Andrews and bride left that evening on the flier for the twin cities to spend their honeymoon, after which they will return here to make their future home.

The bride is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Brown, who have made their home in this city for the past year and a half on their return from Texas where they sojourned for nearly five years. Mr. Brown is one of the leading attorneys in this section of the state. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Dybvik of this city and is employed by the Mogenson Clothing Co. Their numerous friends here extend the heartiest congratulations.

This Is Better Than Laxatives

One NR Tablet Each Night For A Week Will Correct Your Constipation and Make Constant Dosing Unnecessary. Try It.

Poor digestion and assimilation mean a poorly nourished body and low vitality. Poor elimination means clogged bowels, fermentation, putrifaction and the formation of poisonous gases which are absorbed by the blood and carried through the body.

The result is weakness, headaches, dizziness, coated tongue, inactive liver, bilious attacks, loss of energy, nervousness, poor appetite, impoverished blood, sallow complexion, pimples, skin disease, and often times serious illness.

Ordinary laxatives, purges and cathartics—salts, oils, calomel and the like—may relieve for a few hours, but real, lasting benefit can only come through use of medicine that tones up and strengthens the digestive as well as the eliminative organs.

Get a 25c box of Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets) and take one tablet each night for a week. Relief will follow the very first dose, but a few days will elapse before you feel and realize the fullest benefit. When you get straightened out and feel just right again you need not take medicine every day—an occasional NR Tablet will then keep your system in good condition and you will always feel your best. Remember, keeping well is easier and cheaper than getting well.

Whooping Cough

"The disease I most dread is Whooping Cough, for children are often permanently injured by the awful straining of the cough. You should never neglect it, and treatment should be started at the first symptom. You cannot mistake the symptoms: protracted coughing, worse at night; peculiar whoop; labored expectoration of mucus; apparent suffocation after coughing.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy

is a positive remedy for this disease—repeat the dose frequently, for if given freely it liquifies the tough mucus, makes it easy to expectorate and counteracts any tendency toward pneumonia. There is no danger whatever from Whooping Cough when Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is freely given."

Hundreds of Yards of Beautiful Cretones, Curtain Goods, Draperies, Terrycloths, Burlaps, Overdrapes. All to go at

Just Half Price

We would think it an opportune time to buy your spring curtaining as you'll not get these prices after the sale. Think of it! $10.00 worth of curtaining and only have to pay $5.00 for it, or $25.00 worth and only pay $12.50 for it. You can hardly believe it, but we must cut down our altogether too heavy stock, cost us what it may. We of course realize that our losses will run up into the thousands. But this stock is ours. We own it and it's paid for. So there's no one else but Loken Brothers to lose. But then the benefits will all go to you—our friends and customers.

The JANUARY CARNIVAL of ECONOMY

Bring a Note of Encouragement for the New Year

You may say good-bye to the old slavery of high prices. Let us hope that they are gone forever. Of course, this first deep cut into old prices may be more favorable to you than any prices you may see again for many months. When the new season comes, with its larger requirements of goods, there may be a slight advance again, for a time.

But NOW the price-bars are DOWN—way down to the bottom of what you dare hope until Summer at least. First, the manufacturers cut prices and accepted big losses, to create large January selling, and we have co-operated in the fullest degree by shaving down our own profits—for this big January event.

The price news that we print on this page should be abundantly convincing; but we want you to COME AND SEE THE GOODS AND THEIR PRICES RIGHT HERE IN THE STORE.

No matter what you have been expecting, we think you will be as much surprised as you will be delighted to realize what we have accomplished in providing the most wanted goods, of every sort, at prices that nobody would dared to have prophesied a few months ago.

The day for doing without things is past—.

The time to possess and enjoy wanted goods is here. For while your dollars are still plentiful, they now buy HALF AGAIN AS MUCH as they did a few weeks ago.

Isn't that worth celebrating a New Year for?

Doesn't it justify us in feeling so enthusiastic about this greatest January occasion since the war began?

Come and celebrate with us tomorrow and see how much more your dollars are worth than they were a short time ago.

Reclassification of Cilerk Pay Urged by Steenerson

A bill further to reclassify the salaries of postal employees, "on an equitable basis," has been introduced by Representative Halvor Steenerson of Minnesota, chairman of the committee on postoffices and postroads. "Owing to decisions of the controller of the treasury and rulings of the postoffice department, the law passed last June has been given a meaning contrary to its purpose," said Mr. Steenerson. "Special clerks whose salaries were fixed at $1,900 and $2,000 have been actually reduced to $1,500 because the department has set a limit of the latter amount on men engaged in distribution. Other inequalities have resulted which are to be corrected if my bill passes."

Lecturer Delivers Forceful Address

A lecture entitled "Christian Science: A Study in Causation," was delivered by Mary G. Ewing, C. S. B., at the Princess theatre on Tuesday evening. The theatre was filled almost beyond capacity. Miss Ewing is a member of the board of lectureship of the mother church, the First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston. Her forcefully delivered lecture is summarized in the following:

"The great French lexicographer, Larousse, defines metaphysics as 'knowledge of first causes and of first principles' and in this sense Christian Science is exact, accurate, demonstrable metaphysics. Mrs. Eddy gave its keynote when she wrote, 'Spiritual causation is the one question to be considered.'

"Our false theories about life and its origin have led us to accept material beliefs about all things, and we have named our mistaken sense of substance, matter, and accepted as real and inevitable its phenomena. Having accepted a false premise, it is impossible to make any correct or reliable deduction, and so it is absolutely necessary to get back to the truth about life itself, in order to have any basis for right reasoning.

"The great mission of Christian Science is to teach us to think accurately, independently, spontaneously, and to reason honestly from the standpoint of understanding of true causation. This ability to think clearly and correctly, which is ours as a God-given capacity, enables us to understand the law of divine Principle and so to detect and uncover the falsity of the phenomena which are contrary to divine Principle; it also arms us with power to dispose of such phenomena in proportion to our understanding of their ephemeral and unreal character.

"Now disease is one of these phenomena which lays great claims upon our daily experience and holds the human race in bondage, and I know that I am right in saying that health will never be gained nor will it ever be maintained by any system that fails to eradicate disease. It is unquestionably true that the very foundation of all discordant human conditions lies in a mistaken sense of the source of life itself. Jesus meant this when he said, 'It is the spirit that quickeneth; the flesh profiteth nothing,' and today in the accurate and systematic teaching of our Christian Science text book, we have the explanation of the rule Jesus laid down and the necessary guidance for its proper application to our every need.

"Back of all manifestation of evil lies the false supposition of an evil intelligence, of a mind opposed to God and this false supposition, utterly untrue and inactive as it really is, is still the only source for that which seems to be malicious, destructive, hateful and hating, and from this suppositítious source spring all the principalities and powers of materialism,—the tyranny and domination of sensual and selfish aims and purposes. I urge upon you the persistent refutation of this calumny of error from the standpoint of the utter falsity of its origin,—from the standpoint of the absolute, scientific knowledge of Life. In this process of acknowledging Truth and denying and correcting error we discover that knowing of the truth which is to make us free, and through this educational process which Christian Science demands we are led to reject promptly and positively the suggestions of disease, of poverty and sin and fear of death.

The true brotherhood of man, real democracy,—these are ideas of Mind which are to be understood and demonstrated, and for this reason Christian Science undoubtedly affords the only consistent and permanent solution of the problems of labor and capital, of temperance and social reform, of the equal rights and responsibilities of men and women, of civil, religious, and racial liberty. The liberator is Love and Love alone, but not a weak and erring, sensual affection that selfishly condones or ignores the claim of evil. That alone is worthy the name of love that is identified with Principle,—that is keen and searching and unfailing in its detection of wrong, and unswerving in its demand upon the individual to separate himself from evil and walk uprightly. The sacrifice of false sense, of wayward will and lust for personal power and glory is demanded repeatedly by Love; but in reward for obedience to this demand, Love bestows the crowning reward of sonship in the kingdom of God. This is the proof of the healing efficacy of Christian Science and it is applicable to every detail of human experience in the life of the individual and of the nation.

"We can never show too grateful a love, too humble an appreciation of the mighty spirit and the tender compassion which impelled Mrs. Eddy to seek and to gain this great gift of knowledge, and to pour it, a veritable balm, into the hearts of the waiting world. In the beginning she had to beg and beseech, with tears running down her cheeks, to be permitted to help the afflicted out of their sufferings, but today the warm and pulsating affection of tens of thousands of those resurrected from sin and disease bear witness to her magnificent achievement. We love and reverence her for her purity and devotion t good, for her self-abnegation and h generous and loving sacrifice for o welfare, for the keenness of her v ion and her intuitive grasp of t deep things of Mind. We pay h homage and acknowledge her abs lutely unique place in the world's hi tory as the Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science and we heed both the spirit and the letter of her car est admonition, 'Follow your Lead only as far as she follows Christ.'

The New Year

To you and yours may this be a Health-full New Year.

For good health begets Happiness, Peace of Mind and Contentment.

So then, our New Year's wish for you embodies all things that human heart could wish for, and we sincerely trust that all these and more, may be realized by you to the full.

Would Reclaim Valuable Lands.

Frank Anderson and son, Oscar, were out circulating a petition last Monday and Tuesday in support of the bill now before congress (H. H.-14311) calling for the drainage of lands and the dredging of the Clearwater and Red Lake rivers. If this bill should pass it will mean wonders to the northern part of the state. It will not only be the means of placing an unlimited acreage of wild land at the disposal of homeseekers, but it will restore thousands of acres that have heretofore been useless.

Cats Get Jones' Goat.

We don't very often tell tales out of school, but this is one on Jones, and we are going to violate the rules.

J. R. Jones or better known as old Horse Jockey Jones, is one of these old fellows who doesn't believe in ghosts, or that it is anything suspicious about the killing of a cat. The other day he made away with a bunch of cats, and afterwards bragged a little of the fact that when he undertook to do a thing he always did a good job, and then again at the supper table he touched upon the subject and said that some people dislike very much to do this job, but it never troubled him in the least to do it. Old Jones being a little forgetful at times started upstairs to go to bed without the aid of a lantern and lo and behold, he happened to step on the tail of a cat that he didn't know was there. The old cat let out a meow that nearly sent old Jones through the roof. Jones in his bewilderment didn't dare to move or light a match to satisfy himself whether it was one of the supposedly dead cats or a ghost that was after him. He finally spied the old cat setting on the floor still treating her bruised tail, and he worked up enough courage to reach the bed. The next morning he came down as usual but only a little bit paler than customary. Anyway he related the incident and said: "I never was as scared in all my 81 years of earthly existence as I was last night." If you have any cats to kill don't ask Jones to do it. He says this "scare of his life" settles the cat killing question with him once and for all.

The Oil Well and the Oil Whale

THE miracle of mechanical development which has revolutionized the world and has changed man's habit of life, even in the remotest wilderness, was made possible by the discovery of oil in 1858, and the development of oil refining, in which the Standard Oil Company was a pioneer and leader.

With the development of the petroleum industry came a cheap, efficient, easily secured lubricant, capable of keeping the bearings of the heaviest machinery running cool and without friction.

It is the thin film of mineral oil which has made possible the great mechanical inventions of the modern world. When population was scarce and widely scattered, the surplus animal and vegetable fats were sufficient to grease the simple machinery of that day, but with the vast development of mechanical power these sources of lubricants would be quite inadequate.

The old system and the new may be visualized by comparing the "grease rag" of Madeira with the marvelous automatic force feed lubrication in your automobile. In Madeira the native walks ahead of his team, smearing the cobblestones with a grease rag, while you drive comfortably, because petroleum has made automatic lubrication possible.

Correct lubrication is the life of industry, and correct lubrication depends entirely upon petroleum. All other products of crude oil, while adding much to the prosperity, comfort and gayety of the world, could be given up without the disastrous consequences which would follow the elimination of the petroleum lubricants.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) manufactures a large number of oils and greases, each designed to meet an especial need. To serve industry better, the Company maintains a staff of lubricating experts whose business it is to study the problems of individual industries, and determine the lubricants necessary to increase the efficiency of machinery, and to prolong its life.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is proud of its position as the manufacturer of the lubricants used by so large a number of important industries throughout the nation.

Can Guessing Win?

Between the prices paid to the producer and by the consumer there is a staggering difference.

There is one way to assure both farmer and consumer a fair price for food—that is through careful Farm Cost Accounting. The Farm Bureaus are instituting a national campaign to hurry the Government investigation of the costs of actual food production and distribution. Once the whole problem has been carefully and publicly sifted, it will be possible to put prices on a basis of justice to both producer and consumer and to eliminate the unreasonable unearned profits that are made "in the dark."

Every farmer owes it to himself to further the cause by lending his individual support to the work of the Farm Bureau. There's only one sensible way to run the race for fair profits. Leave in the stable the willing but crippled mule, Farm Cost Guessing, and make the running on the thoroughbred, Farm Cost Accounting. It's the only way to win.

This conclusion is not a snap judgment by THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN, but the result of careful study. Our editors and investigators travel 300,000 miles a year to study farm problems and to report the best farm opinions of the country. We voice the honest opinions of the American farmer. THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN contains famous fiction, striking pictures, great cartoons, and lots of smiles—it comes 52 times in a year—but perhaps it is most appreciated for its practical helpfulness. It makes money for farmers. Only $1.00 for a year's subscription will prove it to you—send bill or check.

A Christ-Child Story.

Once upon a time, long, long ago, a little boy was walking all alone through the streets of a large city. This was the night before Christmas. There were a number of people on the streets, fathers and mothers, uncles and aunts, sisters and brothers, and even old grandfathers and grandmothers, all of whom were hurrying with large bundles of presents [illegible] the little ones at home. There [illegible] express wagons, and even old [illegible] were rattling by. And the very [illegible] carriages were on the streets. But the little boy seemed to be without a home and wandered from one street to the other. No one took notice of the boy except Jack Frost, [illegible] bit his bare toes and the ends [illegible] his fingers. And the north wind, too, seemed to know where the poor child was, for it blew against him and pierced his ragged garments through and through, making him to shiver with cold. Place after place he went by, looking in through the windows with longing eyes. He looked in upon the glad, happy children who were helping with the Christmas trees and trimmings for the next day.

The child said to himself: "Here [illegible] there is so much happiness and gladness, some of it may be for me." So with gentle footsteps he walked up to a large house. Through the windows he could see a large Christmas tree already lighted. There were a number of presents hung upon it. Slowly and softly he climbed up the steps and rapped at the door. The door was opened by a large manservant. He had a very kind face, but his voice was deep and gruff. "There is no room for such a child as you," he said. He looked very [illegible] at him as he spoke; maybe he remembered his little ones at home [illegible] was glad that they were not out [illegible] this cold and bitter night.

[illegible] the boy turned back into the [illegible] he wondered why the man had [illegible] thus, for surely, thought he, [illegible] children would love to have [illegible] other friend join their Christmas festival. But the little children inside did not know that the boy had knocked at the door.

The streets grew colder and darker every minute. He walked on sadly, saying to himself: "Is there no one in all this great city who will share their Christmas with me?"

He crept up to the window pane of a big house and rapped gently upon it. A little girl came to the window. She saw the boy, but she only shook her head and said: "Go away and come some other time. We are too busy to take care of you now." He had to go back into the dark, cold streets. He turned again. The wind was blowing and whirling past him and seemed to say: "Hurry on, hurry on, we have no time to stop. 'Tis Christmas eve and everybody is in a hurry tonight." There was no one left upon the streets at this time, and the few who remained did not seem to see the child. When suddenly ahead of him there appeared a bright single ray of light. It shone through the darkness into the child's eyes. He looked up smiling and said: "I will go where the small light beckons. Perhaps they will share their Christmas with me."

Running past all other houses, he soon reached the end of the street and went straight up to the window from which the light shone. It was a very poor, little, low house, but the boy cared not for that. The light seemed still to call him in. The light came from a tallow candle that was placed in an old cup with a broken handle, in the window, as a glad Christmas eve. There was neither curtain nor shade to the small, square window, and as the little child looked in, he saw standing upon a neat wooden table a branch of a Christmas tree. It was very pretty. By the fireplace sat a lovely mother with a little child on her knee and another beside her. The two were listening to the story that the mother told. She must have been telling a Christmas story.

The little wanderer crept closer and closer to the window pane. He gently tapped on the door, and the children looked up. "What was that, mother?" asked the girl.

"I think it was someone rapping on the door," said the mother. "Run as quickly as you can and open it, dear, for it is a cold night to keep anyone waiting in this storm."

"O, mother, I think it was a branch tapping against the window pane," said the girl. "Do, please, go on with our story." Again the child tapped upon the door. "My child, my child," said the mother, rising, "that certainly was a rap on the door. Run quickly and open the door. No one must be left out in the cold on our beautiful Christmas eve."

The girl ran to the door and opened it wide. The mother saw the ragged stranger standing without clothes. She held out both her hands and drew him into the warm, bright room. "You poor, dear child," was all they said, and putting her arms around him she drew him closer to her breast. "He is very cold, my children," she exclaimed. "We must warm him."

"And, we must love him and give him some of our Christmas, too," said the girl.

"Yes," said the mother, "But first we must warm him."

The mother sat down to the fireplace and took the little boy in her lap, and her little ones warmed his hands with theirs. The mother smoothed out his tangled curls and kissed his face. By and by the girl said to her mother, "May we not light the Christmas tree and let him see how beautiful it looks?"

"Yes," said their mother. With that she seated the boy on a low chair by the fireplace and went to the simple things which from year to year she had kept for her children's Christmas tree.

They were so very busy that they did not notice the room had filled with brilliant light. They turned and looked at the spot where the boy sat. His ragged clothes had changed to white beautiful garments, his tangled curls seemed like a golden light about his head; but most beautiful of all was that his face shone with a light so dazzling that they could scarcely look upon it.

In silent wonder they looked at the child. Their little house seemed to grow larger and larger, until it was as wide as the whole world, and the roof of their low house seemed to expand and rise until it reached the sky.

With a sweet, gentle smile, the wonderful child looked upon them for a moment, and then slowly rose and floated through the air, above all tree tops, beyond the church spires, higher than the clouds themselves, until he appeared to be a shining star in the sky above. The children said in a whisper: "Oh, mother, it was the Christ-child, was it not?"

And the mother answered in a low tone: "Yes, and it is said, dear children, that each Christmas eve the Christ-child wanders through the village."

Declamation.

Under the supervision of Mr. Pierce, the public speaking instructor, a class has been organized in declamation. Those who have already signed up for declamation are Mildred Huglid, Eileen Herron, Anna Leimers, Beatrice Sandum, Mildren Botnelson, Myrtle Krohn, Viola Lund and Maebelle Swanson.

The object of organizing this group is to select two representatives of this school to meet contestants from all over the Red River valley. The above mentioned people will hold an elimination contest the middle part of January, and the two people receiving the first two places will meet out-of-town contestants here the latter part of the same month. From this contest the winners will meet other contestants in a final contest at Crookston, which will decide the winner for this district. The winner from this district will then be entitled to a trip to the same, public speaking contest in Minneapolis.

Letter From Alumnus.

The following interesting letter was received by The Progress from Mrs. Eldon M. Miller, formerly Miss Florence Shetler, class of '18, who is now residing at Gold Beach, Oregon. The alumni are taking a keen interest and we look forward to hearing from many more:

"Gold Beach, Ore., Dec. 11.—After reading Miss Fasel's letter in your issue of Dec. 2, I, too, have decided to write. I can only voice the same thoughts she did in regard to The Progress. I think it is indeed splendid. Heretofore the annual was the only medium of expression of school activities but now we hear from you all once a week, which is certainly far better.

"I, too, am on the 'western rim of the continent,' as you said. If I were to go two hundred yards farther west I would be due for a dip in the briny deep. When I first came here the continual roar of the Pacific sounded like the roar of a gigantic locomotive. I could hardly go to sleep at night because of it. Now I am so accustomed to it that I never notice it.

"I wish that you might all come here for a week's vacation and see the things the coast country has to offer. Let's pretend you are all here for this Christmas vacation and take a week's ramble. Leave your wraps at home as it is too warm to wear them here. Everything is green, the flowers are blossoming and we see all sorts of birds here all year long.

"This is Monday morning and we are all bound for the 'Devil's Back Bone,' a sharp ridge of solid rock, to dig clams and fish for sea trout and kelp fish. While some of us fish the rest of you can dig clams. You will find the clams are a little hard to dig but after we get them prepared for eating you will agree with me they are worth the effort to get them. The kelp fish are a dark green and so called because you find them where a sea weed called 'kelp' grows. Kelp is gathered and burned and that is where a great deal of potash and iodine are obtained. On dressing the fish we find the meat is a dark green, too, but upon frying it turns a pinkish white. Here, too, we will dig for beads and arrow heads in an old Indian burial ground. If you are fortunate you will dig up a skull, which makes a good case for a tobacco jar if properly hollowed out. (Several people here have them but I haven't come to that stage yet.)

"Tuesday: We will visit Agate Beach and Otter Point today. Agate Beach will afford us a great deal of pleasure as it is a very fascinating occupation—the gathering of agate. An agate is a transparent stone and thus far I am unable to find out how they are formed. A great many contain moss and make beautiful sets for rings, pins or cuff links when they have been polished. I have four very beautiful moss agates that I picked up myself—two have brown and green moss, one yellow and one white moss. But the ambition of every agate 'picker' is to find a 'water agate.' This is an agate which contains a drop of water. I have not as yet realized that ambition. You have enough agates, you say? Then let us visit Otter Point. This we find is a big rocky point running out into the ocean, the top of which is very level. Right in the center we find a hole through which we can see the tide waters of the ocean a hundred feet below. This hole is about five feet across and worn through about ten feet of rock. Directly under us is a cave which has been formed by the water washing through the rocky wall. Going to the other side we see the mouth of the cave and can readily see the water splash as the breakers hit the walls of the cave. We are all tired out and wet. Tired because we have climbed a steep cliff to reach Otter Point and wet because in your anxiety you forgot to watch the breakers while gathering agates, and the biggest breakers often drench us from head to foot. Those of you who wore your best shoes will be surprised to see them crack up and literally fall to pieces. Salt water is very injurious to leather so it pays one to wear rubber boots on a trip to Agate Beach.

"Wednesday: Everyone ready? We are off for the mussel rocks today. A mussel is what we knew back east as a 'clam.' These rocks are under the water at high tide, but at low tide one can easily reach the rocks. We need a hammer to loosen them as they fasten themselves to the rocks and it is impossible to remove them with your hands. There are rocks as large as a house entirely covered with living mussels. When we are gathering them of course we take only the largest and we find that walking on mussel shells is rather uncertain. We will build a fire and put some water on to boil. In this we put our mussels. After boiling for about an hour they are ready to eat. Now the shells can easily be opened and we behold a bright orange object—the mussel—and it is certainly delicious. Did you bite on something hard? We find that it is a small pink pearl. These have no commercial value but they add to one's 'collection.' All newcomers to our coast country get a hobby of collecting things. I got it and I wish you could see the things I have. I have arrow heads, beads, sea lion teeth, agates galore, flint, sugar pine cones (these are over a foot long) star fish that I picked up myself and dried, and several other articles.

"Thursday: Today we are off to the oyster rocks. When I first came west I was asked if I had ever seen or eaten rock oysters. I naturally said 'no,' that I had never heard of them. I am sure you will be as surprised as I was on my first visit to these rocks. Did you see those grey-green rocks lying close to the water's edge? You say upon examining them they are like a common, ordinary rock. So they are from the exterior view. Now we take a pick-axe and break them open. Inside of the solid rock we see a white object that throws out a tiny stream of water. This is the oyster. No one has yet been able to explain how these oysters came to be inside of these rocks, with no inlet or outlet to their little homes. They make splendid soups and taste very much like cove oysters.

"Friday: Everyone must be up early and have their hiking outfits on—we are going on a bear hunt. On this hunt we are accompanied by a Mr. Coy, who is a bear hunter and has bear dogs. If we are fortunate they will scent a bear soon and tree it after a few hours' run, and we can witness the shooting, skinning and cutting up of the carcass. After this is done we will all enjoy a piece of fat, juicy, bear steak. All bear hunts do not take place in one day. If the bear is thin the dogs will sometimes run it for twenty miles before treeing it. Mr. Coy told me that his dogs have very often stayed three and four days at a tree without a bite to eat.

"Saturday: Today I am going to send you home so you will have Sunday to recuperate somewhat after your outings and journey back home.

"These are but a few of my experiences since coming here. I would like to write again of the salmon fishing, lumbering industry and more hunting trips if you would be at all interested. These things seem small matters but they add a great deal to one's knowledge of this old world.

"Hoping I haven't worn you out by your trips and wishing you students of Lincoln High all success in your undertakings, I am, Sincerely, Mrs. Eldon M. Miller."

Kinds of Editorials.

The following paper was read in the Journalism class, written by one of the students, differentiating the kinds of editorials that are written for a newspaper:

A surprising difference of opinion exists among newspapers relative to the editorial in the newspaper. Some newspaper men point back to the days of Greely and Bennett, when the editorial was in the zenith of its power; and others who stand just as staunchly declare that the editorial page no longer wields influence and that its usefulness is waning.

Without arguing the merits of the case, it is patent to any observer that the editorial of a generation ago is fast disappearing from the columns of most of America's dailies. As a type it was sometimes pompous, usually scholarly and informational, and in the hands of a master often did much to shape policies and opinions. Today it has lost to an extent these qualities and is less dogmatic in temper, shorter and less weighty in content.

The change has been brought about because the real power of a newspaper today lies in its facilities for disseminating news, for exposing corruption, for turning the light into dark places and for preventing wrong doing by mere fear of exposing which its existence makes sure. It is the news pages of a paper that men fear today and it is the information contained in those pages that influences the world in basing its opinions and shaping its policies. Still another cogent reason for the change may be found in the fact that the newspapers of today have emerged into complex commercial enterprises that place great stress upon business success.

Then, too, the older type of editorial was written by men who were not so persistently impelled by the mania of haste, but gave time to reflection and to careful interpretation of facts, basing their expression of opinion upon mature judgment. Correspondingly the earlier reading public was more dependent upon the editorial columns for guidance than is the average newspaper reader of today, whose first requirement is for the news, not for the interpretation of events. He is able to think for himself. Exhaustive and lengthy editorial dissertations yield, first, to short, crisp paragraphs that give the editor's comment in two hundred words, and second, to a more sane, perhaps not less significant, type of editorial.

Editorials and editorial paragraphs in newspapers of today are not exempt from the action of the general laws that govern news. They must be timely. They should be interesting. They ought to be authoritative in basic information and trustworthy in the expression of balanced judgment and intelligent opinion. The editorial differs from news in that it usually attempts to draw a conclusion from a given set of facts. Usually these facts are of current importance and recently have been developed in the paper's own news columns. In literary style and form of expression editorials differ according to the purpose to be subserved. A formal news editorial is a threefold division—the statement of truth, its exposition, and the deduction therefrom.

Another type of editorial which has exerted not a little influence throughout the country because published in a chain of newspapers that reaches from New York to the Pacific coast may be characterized as the "heart to heart" style of editorial utterance. This type takes as its theme some popular measure which has the support of the people—pensions for aged teachers, the suppression of the ice trust, summer outings for the poor children, decrease in gas rates, and the likes. With stinging invective the editorial message flies straight to the mark without mincing words.

The facetious editorial is written in seemingly casual manner upon a theme with more or less humor. It may have a little educational value, less power to mould public opinion, and no weight to arouse inquiry, but it undeniably affords entertainment through its playful mingling of common sense with delicate satire. It has "human interest" qualities but is not timely. Often it is nothing more than a medley of ingenious opinions, half serious, half humorous, proffered in a delightful frank fashion with no attempt to reform the world.

Conservative papers preserve the dignity and amplitude of their editorial departments. The tendency of the radical and so-called yellow journals is to reduce it in size, to lighten it in weight and at times to omit it altogether.

The merit of an editorial, however, may be measured by many different standards, so that to maintain that one form is better than another is either an arbitrary act or the mere expression of one's opinion.

A Public School Idye.

Ram it in, cram it in,
  Children's heads are hollow
Slam it in, jam it in,
  Still there's more to follow—
Hygiene and history,
Astronomic mystery,
Latin, etymology,
Botany, geometry,
Greek and trigonometry—
Ram it in, cram it in,
  Children's heads are hollow.

Rap it in, tap it in,
  What are teachers paid for?
Bang it in, slam it in,
  What are children made for?
Ancient archaeology,
Aryan philology,
Prosody, zoology,
Physics, clinicology,
Calculus and mathemetics,
Rhetoric and hydrostatics—
Hoax it in, coax it in,
  Children's heads are hollow.

Rub it in, club it in,
  All there is of learning;
Punch it in, crunch it in,
  Quench their childish yearning.
For the field and grassy nook,
Meadows green and rippling brook;
Drive such wicked thought afar,
Teach the children that we are
But machines to cram it in,
Bang it in, slam it in—
  That their heads are hollow.

Scold it in, mold it in,
  All that they can swallow;
Fold it in, hold it in,
  Still there's more to follow.
Faces pinched, sad and pale,
Tell the same undying tale—
Tell of moments robbed from sleep,
Meals untasted, studies deep,
Those who've passed the furnace thru
With aching brow, will tell to you
How the teacher crammed it in,
Rammed it in, punched it in,
Rubbed it in, clubbed it in,
Rapped it in, slapped it in;
  When their heads were hollow.

The First Christmas.

One night hundreds of years ago in a country far across the sea, some shepherds were watching their sheep on the plains. The stars were shining brightly in the sky, the sheep and lambs were lying near by, and everything seemed very still. The shepherds did not dare to go to sleep for fear the wolves would come out from the woods and carry off the sheep. So they stayed awake and watched and also talked together. They were strong men; they dressed in coarse clothes and held sticks in their hands. They talked about the coming of a King, because they had heard that some day a King was coming, and they wondered how he would look, and what he would do.

They said: "When he comes he will be seen here, in Bethlehem, for that is what it says in the bible."

Then out of the sky came a beautiful angel, and then they saw a beautiful great light, the light of the glory of God. It was so strange that the shepherds were afraid. "Fear not," said the angel, "for I bring you tidings of great joy, which shall be to all people. For this day in Bethlehem Christ is born, and this is the sign which is sent to let the people know. You could find him lying in a manger with his mother by his side."

Then suddenly they saw many angels with their wings outspread, the whole sky was filled with their light and their music. They were singing, "Glory to God in the Highest, and on Earth Peace and Good Will Toward Men." They sang a long time until suddenly the music and the light faded away into Heaven. And the night seemed quiet again as before. They were glad because the King for whom they were waiting had come at last. So they hurried to the town of Bethlehem with their sheep following them.

They came to a stable. There with the donkey, and cows and sheep around Him, lay a baby.

He was lying in a manger. The shepherds knew He was the King because He was to be found in a manger.

Besides Him was His mother, caring for Him. So at last the shepherds found Christ, the King, for whom they had been hunting or waiting.

Journalism.

Ivan is a handsome young man;
Hazel's dad has a tin can.
I wonder where Elsie got her sweet looks,
Perhaps it was from studying books.
Ruby and Pearl, alike are they,
Laurence B is a nice kid they say,
Merles' nose is very red,
Don't you think he is well fed?
Camille, oh, she's a nice little kid,
Hilda wears a blue and white lid.
Helen V. has pretty curls,
Florence J. wears dainty pearls;
Margaret W. and May act like twins,
Myrtle O. is well supplied with pins,
Eleanor is a nice little girl,
Alice Gobber is quite swell enough for an Earl.
Clifton Connor acts like a prune
Harriet Morgan jiggs like a coon.
Palma reminds me of a full bloom rose,
Alice Paulson is a little inclined to pose,
Math Barzen walks with a great stride;
Clifford in Mr. Pierce, is apt to confide
Herbert Keene is a jolly fellow
Don't you think he looks well in bright yellow?
Albert Stengelson is a studious boy,
I think we ought to buy Orrin a toy.
Helen C. has a very white nose,
I wonder now, has it even been froze.
Edith to her friend sticks like glue,
If she didn't Adelenn would feel rather blue.
Melvin E. is a country lad,
Bob McGinn's sweater is the latest "fad."
Margaret M. sits carelessly reading a book,
In comes Evelyn, who looks like a cook.
Ethel and Annie, good pals are they,
Gladys Kolden is very happy and gay
Michael Parenteau is a dark hero,
He takes after the Emperor, Nero.
I like Gladys W., very well,
John S. is quite a great swell.
This duty is very painful to me
Therefore some other class is excluded, you see.

Norse Class Christmas Party.

On Tuesday evening, Dec. 21 the Norse classes under the supervision of their Norse teacher, Miss Svedal, gave a Christmas party. The guests of the evening were: Mr. and Mrs. Ziegler, Miss Morley and Miss Dodge.

The early part of the evening was given over to the pupils who presented an interesting program which is as follows:

"Charge of the Light Brigade (Parody) Johanna Wedul.

"Horatius at the Bridge" (Humorous) Esther Lunsetter.

Song: "Annie Laurie" (Parody) Miss Dodge, Nella Knutson, Mildred Loftness.

"Norsk og Unorsk" Ingaborg Baystad.

Value of Foreign Languages, Supt. Ziegler.

After the program a stunt contest was pulled off, three prizes of tissue paper, red, black and white, were given to each person, also one clothespin, and two short pieces of cord. The object was to see who could dress the doll, into the best looking Norwegian costume. Clare Lund was given the prize in this contest.

The lunch that was then served was a typical Norwegian mid-day lunch, the menue was as follows:

Lefse Sandwiches
Fattigmand, Rosettes, Krumkake
Berline Kranser
Cake Coffee

During the lunch a large box was brought in and each person drew a gift from the box. The rest of the evening was spent in playing Norwegian games and twelve girls performed a clap dance, much to the amusement of the guests. All present had a very enjoyable evening.

Exchange Notes.

There was a young fellow called Clayt
Who walked with the girls and came late.
  But this bold little boy
  Was not plum full of joy,
When told to report prompt at eight.

He met her in the meadow,
When the sun was sinking low,
They strolled along together
In the twilight shadow's glow;
How patiently she waited
As he lowered all the bars,
Her brown eyes cast upon him
As radiant as the stars;
But she neither smiled,
Nor thanked him—
I'm quite sure she knew not how
For he was but a farmer's lad,
And she a Jersey cow.

A Freshman informed us that a mule should be ridden horseback.

Teacher: "For what reason may the speaker have kept his hands in his pockets?"

Witty Pupil: "Probably because they were cold."

In a shoe store was the following sign: "Place your feet in our hands."

Teacher: "What are elephants' tusks made of?"

Soph. "Ivory."

Teacher: "What is ivory?"

Soph.: "Soap."

Physiography teacher: "What happens when there is an eclipse of the sun?"

Bright pupil: "A great many people come out to look at it."

What great stunt usually escapes notice?"

Prowler Staff Meeting.

A Prowler staff meeting was called Tuesday evening for the purpose of assigning work to be carried on thru the holidays.

There have been a number of photographs handed in but the joke department is having some trouble in securing jokes.

The work will be pushed forward with speed after the holidays.

Work Promises Well.

The project work carried on by the students of the various agricultural classes promises well from both standpoints of profits and educational value. From a recent check made by Mr. Tripp on the project work of last year, which is at present coming to a close, it was found that the students as well as receiving an additional knowledge on the work have made from $175.00 to $850.00 during the summer months. Those that are carrying on this work seem to be well pleased and very much interested in their work because it gives them a very advanced start if they wish to include it as part of their life work.

How to Raise Poultry.

The following is an article written by Elmer Bonne, who is taking project work on poultry and who is following out this work in actual practice.

In order to make a profit on chicken raising it is necessary to have good stock and in order to have good stock one must begin with a good foundation. In order to get good results with the offspring the pens must be mated in accordance, such as dark and light matings or applying to different class of chickens. Picking out best pens and mating with best roosters bring best results. The poultry raiser should also take care to see that when mating pens, that if the hens are light they should be mated with dark males, and if the hens are dark, they should be mated with light males.

In raising chickens for profit the feeding and care of the flock have a great deal to do with it too. The chickens should have a clean dry place to stay. The coop should be well ventilated and in cool weather the coop should be warm and dry.

The feeding of chickens is a very important part. They should have a good ration that is balanced in accordance to their needs. A laying hen for instance, needs feeds containing a large percentage of protein. If fed feeds rich in carbo-hydrates she will get fat and quit laying. Last winter we received as high as seventeen eggs a day from less than 20 hens. The rest of the stock was young.

I fed them many different kinds of feeds. In the mornings I fed them scratch feed, which was usually oats. About the middle of forenoon I fed them mash. At noon I fed them warm warm feed again and in the middle of the afternoon I fed them scratch feed, wheat or oats. In the evening just before roosting time they received corn. They needed something fattening to keep them warm over night. The mashes were sometimes buttermilk with middlings, and for a while they had buttermilk to drink at all times. I also kept a hopper that was always filled with bran and oyster shells. They got all the bran they could eat. Bran is very light and if they are filled up on that they will not get fat anyway. They should always have fresh water, and they should always get all the greens possible. The same feeding applies to growing hens, only they should not have as rich feed as mature chickens. Their bones and muscles are growing and they should therefore have feeds which are rich in protein. In the winter time chickens should have a larger amount of carbo-hydrates than in summer, because they use a large part of it to keep warm.

Our coop had electric lights in it, which made it a longer day for the chickens, and therefore they would scratch later and we received more eggs than we would otherwise. We also managed to keep the coops warm. In the evening before closing it, we would put a little heater in to keep the chill out. The only way is to get the eggs while the prices are high. By keeping the chill out we also kept the combs of the show birds from freezing.

We won a number of prizes on our birds. We won about six prizes at the Red Lake County Poultry show and about ten prizes at the Pennington County Show at Thief River Falls. All but two of these prizes were won on the Barred Plymouth Rock. These two were won on the Buff Orpingtons.

We have had only one breed of chickens which is Barred Plymouth Rocks. Lately we started up with Buff Orpingtons. We purchased some very good Orpington stock to begin with. We sent for two roosters that we paid $10.00 each for and a number of hens at $5.00 each. We bought setting eggs and paid as high as $10 a setting. The reason there is a loss on the record is due to the fact that we had to pay big prices for stock and setting eggs when starting up with Buff Orpingtons. We want to get a good foundation and it costs a great deal to start, but it will come back.

The greatest value received from carrying on this project was the knowledge of making a profit at chicken raising, such as feeding hens for winter eggs, production, raising pure bred stock, etc.

displayed by the boys of the entire city. Weekly meetings are being held on Tuesdays in the basement of the Methodist church. More than the number of boys allowed to one troop are presenting themselves at the meetings and the organization of a second troop is being considered.

E. A. Soltau has been elected scout master. C. D. Gustafson, T. J. Carr and T. C. Orme are acting as a scout committee. Four patrols are included in the troop, namely, Eagle, Earl Rice leader; Beaver, Clifford Storholm leader; Wolf, Cleon Bottleson leader; Owl, Allison Stitt leader.

Several of these patrols have already taken hikes and entered into other activities fostered by the Boy Scout movement. In addition to the meetings of the troop various patrol meetings are conducted by the patrol leaders in the homes of members for the purpose of preparing the boys for the passing of the required tests. Twenty boys have already made splendid records and others are waiting their turn to pass.

The object of the Boy Scout movement is to instruct the youths of the country in becoming model citizens. The scout motto is "Be Prepared."

ROSEWOOD

Rosewood Farmers Club Adopt Constitution Wed.

The Rosewood Farmers club held their second meeting this season at the Rosebank building last Wednesday evening. There was no program furnished for this meeting, but after the general business session the remainder of the evening was spent in partaking of a delicious luncheon and social parlor games. About thirty persons attended. The next meeting will be held at the same place on Friday evening, Jan. 21, when Mrs. Ebba Sagmoen will have charge of the arrangement of a social program and Emil Hellquist and Adolph Haugen will act as caterers. There are now 28 members enrolled in the club. The executive board decided to lower the price of the luncheon to 15 cents commencing at the next meeting. The committee on the constitution and by-laws reported at this meeting and after being read and discussed, both were by vote accepted. The following articles and by-laws from the constitution may be of general interest to other clubs and persons not as yet members:

Art. III. The officers of this association shall consist of a president, a vice president, a secretary and a treaurer. They shall be chosen for their business ability rather than for their popularity, and shall hold office for one year and until their successors have been duly elected and qualified.

Art. IV. The annual meeting shall be held at the Rosebank building on the first Friday evening in December each year, and other meetings shall be held at a place and date designated at the previous meeting.

By-laws Sec. 2. The club shall aid and further business associations among its members, particularly such associations as pertain to the purchase of necessary supplies, and the purchase and management of live stock, agricultural and garden products.

Sec. 3. From time to time the club shall give entertainments under supervision of the program committee for the benefit of its members and those whom they may choose to invite.

Sec. 4. Any member after due hearing may be expelled from the club by a majority vote of the active supervise the case. Any general damage shall be paid out of the club's treasury.

Sec. 9. Profane language, spitting or throwing refuse on the floor or walls and willfull disturbance of the club's activities shall be punished by exclusion from the club. Non-members causing same shall not be permitted in the room.

Sec. 10. The executive board shall have charge of the meeting place; shall see that the building is properly lighted and warmed, that seating capacity as far as possible is available, that the doors are kept open at the time set for assembling and that members and visitors are kept comfortable.

Sec. 11. By-laws may be amended at any regular meeting with a five days' posted notice by a majority vote of the active members.

MR. SCHUSTER COMES TO THE FRONT.

Every Thief River Falls resident should read what Mr. Schuster says, and follow his example. He has used Doan's Kidney Pills and speaks from experience. Is there any need to experiment with imitations or untried kidney medicines?

Chas. Schuster, 622 St. Paul Ave., Thief River Falls, says: "From my experience with Doan's Kidney Pills I can say they are just as advertised. My back has been bothering me for a long time and I couldn't bend over without pain across my loins. Some mornings I couldn't get out of bed my back was so sore and stiff and I was obliged to get up nights on account of kidney weakness. As soon as I started taking Doan's Kidney Pills I had relief and I have felt better ever since."

Goings-Carlson.

The marriage of Hazel Goings and Edward Carlson occurred on Wednesday, Dec. 29 at high noon at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Patton. The wedding was very simple in all its appointments. The marriage vows were pronounced by the Rev. A. F. Nelson of the Swedish Lutheran church while Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Pearson acted as attendants, Mrs. Pearson being a sister of the groom. Only a few of the immediate relatives witnessed the ceremony. A wedding dinner was served at the Patton home and the couple left the same day for the Twin Cities from where they will go to Kearney, Neb., to visit the bride's father, J. G. Goings, and also visit various points in Kansas. They will be at home to their many friends on a farm at Morganville, Kansas after April 1.

E. B. Sorvig Injured in Strange Accident Dies

Selma O. Hoff, Edla, Martin, Henry and Harold Hallstrom left on Saturday morning for Winger, Minn., where they were called by the death of Edwin B. Sorvig. Mr. Sorvig, who conducted a garage and electric light plant in Winger in partnership with his two brothers, was found late in the evening of Dec. 22 lying on the cement floor of the power the body his skull had received a severe blow and he never fully regained consciousness. Just how the accident occurred no one will ever know but it is thought that his overcoat had been caught in the large belts in some manner and he was whirled around several times before becoming released. For a week with the help of competent physicians and trained nurses Mr. Sorvig fought for life. It is believed that he could have recovered from his terrible injuries but pneumonia set in and he passed away on the evening of Dec. 29, just one week after the accident. Funeral services were held on Monday at the Norwegian Lutheran church in Winger and in the Gossen church near Erskine of which church Mr. Sorvig had been a member since childhood. The body was laid to rest in the Gossen cemetery, friends from far and near paying their last respects to the young man who was only 26 years of age at the time of his death. The churches were beautifully decorated and the floral offerings were profuse.

Mr. Sorvig was well known in Black River and St. Hilaire and his many friends in the vicinity were greatly grieved to hear of his death. The deepest sympathy is extended to his widow, who was formerly Miss Lilly Hallstrom, his four month's old son, and his parents, brothers and sisters who live near Erskine.

COUNCIL VOTES DOWN PROPOSAL TO HALT PAVING

Request of Property Owners Association Disregarded and Bids Will Be Asked For.

Demand That Petitioners First Find Way to Insure Against Possible Damages.

Resolution Authorizing Sale of $292,000 in Paving Certificates is Passed.

At a meeting of the Property Owners association held in the basement of the former United church last week the following resolution was adopted:

> "That the executive committee be directed to use every honorable means to postpone for this season the proposed paving project."

The names of 26 members of the Property Owners organization and the signatures of 60 other taxpayers of Thief River Falls followed.

Such was the document read before and submitted to the city council at the regular session on Tuesday evening by a representation of the executive committee of the Property Owners association, which body is laboring in opposition to the paving program for Thief River Falls as scheduled for the coming summer. Rasmus Oen, O. Ramstad and Martin Evenson appeared on behalf of the above named organization.

Expect Prices to Fall.

Mr. Evenson, acting as spokesman for the delegation, made the request that the petition or resolution be filed in the records of the city and made a part of the minutes of the meeting and that the appearance of the delegation before the council become a matter of record. A motion made by Councilman Froseth and seconded by Councilman Ness in favor of granting the request failed to carry.

Mr. Evenson, when questioned as to the reasons of the Property Owners organization for desiring the delay, stated that it was the opinion of the body that prices were on the decline and that it was calculated that big money could be saved by a delay in carrying out the contract. He further stated that the organization which he represented aimed at a delay in the paving project rather than a cancellation of the contract. President H. A. Brumund and other members of the council said that until objectors to the paving project could furnish some acceptable method or plan for financing the preliminary work already accomplished in the paving district and any expenditure necessary to a cancellation of the contract with the Bitulithic Contracting company, entered into last fall, no effort would be made to cease operations and that present plans would be carried out.

Council Chamber Filled.

It had been predicted that the regular session of the council would be a warm one, as it was known that the opposition to the paving project expected to be in representation, and the council chambers were filled to capacity by property holders of the city, business men and interested citizens.

A resolution authorizing the sale of paving certificates totalling $292,000 was unanimously passed, instructing the city clerk to advertise for bids. Following the publication of the notice for bids on the bond issue, the required time will have elapsed by February 8, on which date bids will be opened by the council.

It was stated that the city's share of the paving tax would amount to over $38,000, that being the amount necessary to paving intersections of streets and along the frontage of municipal buildings.

The discussion of minor matters followed and the council adjourned after a comparatively short session.

Commissioners Sell Ditch Bonds—Approve Statement

The county commissioners in a short session on Wednesday afternoon effected the sale of county ditch bonds aggregating $9,500 to the Kalman, Mattison & Wood Company of St. Paul. This bond issue finances the construction work on County Ditch No. 35. The bonds carry an interest rate of 6 per cent.

The Pennington county financial statement for 1920, submitted by County Auditor T. P. Anderson, was also passed upon.

SMALL ATTENDANCE AT CLUB LUNCHEON

Resolution Voices Objection to Handling of Babcock Road Project By Commission.

E. M. Stanton, president of the Commercial club, at the luncheon on Thursday announced that on December 19 directors of the organization drew up a resolution in which the club went on record as being opposed to the creation of a commission to take over and handle all matters contemplated by what is known as the Babcock Amendment to the Constitution of the State of Minnesota. The resolution expressed further, "confidence in the ability of C. M. Babcock, our present highway commissioner, to manage and in all things supervise the construction of all highways to [illegible] under the supervision of said [illegible] under such laws as may be [illegible] carry out the provisions thereof."

A copy of the [illegible] sent to Senator O. A. Naplin [illegible] presentatives A. J. Hemstad and [illegible]alter E. Day. This action was taken because of the proposal to create a commission of five persons acting without pay to administer all affairs coming under the workings of Amendment No. 1, or the Babcock Amendment, which was favorably voted upon at the election of last November.

The attendance at Thursday's luncheon, the first since they were discontinued for the holiday season, was small and no new business was brought up for discussion. Mr. Stanton in his talk of a few moments, again urged those present to co-operate in an effort to insure a large attendance at the Thursday luncheons, which offer an unusual opportunity for the discussion of all civic matters.

CITY BANKS ELECT OFFICERS FOR YEAR

All Show Excellent Business Gains and Officers Consider Outlook Encouraging.

The annual meeting of stockholders of the First National bank of Thief River Falls was held on Tuesday afternoon. Reports of officers showed the affairs of the institution to be in a highly satisfactory condition and that in spite of unsettled conditions it had functioned throughout the year in such manner as to greatly increase its prestige and standing. The statement of condition, just issued, shows the bank to have resources aggregating nearly a million dollars with a capital and surplus of over $100,000. The following were chosen directors for the ensuing year: C. L. Hansen, Daniel Patterson, Rasmus Oen, J. P. Curtis and E. M. Bennes.

Immediately after the stockholders' meeting there was a session of the newly elected directors at which the following officers were chosen: C. L. Hansen, president; Rasmus Oen and E. M. Bennes, vice presidents; W. H. Akre, cashier; H. F. Booren and Miss Marie Nelson, assistant cashiers; L. C. Nielsen, bookkeeper; Rueben Hadrath, stenographer.

The annual meeting of the Citizens' State bank was held on Tuesday, Jan. 4. Great satisfaction was expressed with the efficient administration during the past year and the present financial condition. The officer and directorate personnel remains the same with but one exception, E. P. Brevig having been appointed second assistant cashier. The officers are: President, Olaf Ramstad; vice presidents, Louie Hanson and A. M. Langseth; cashier, T. L. Melgaard; assistant cashier, C. W. Vorachek; second assistant cashier, E. P. Brevig and teller, Carl Gulrud. Miss Hazel Conklin will act as stenographer and Fred Erickson as bookkeeper.

Directors of the bank are Olaf Ramstad, Louie Hanson, A. M. Langseth, T. L. Melgaard, Charles Vorachek, Rasmus Oen and Christ Amundson. The usual dividend was declared.

The stockholders of the First and Peoples' State bank met on Friday: Math Barzen, A. M. Sheldon, Halvor A. Loken, Perl W. Mabey, Bernhard Knutson, A. G. Loftnes, Hans Anton, A. G. Wedge, Jr., O. D. Ostby, H. S. Dahlen, Carl Larson, R. M. Sheldon, Dr. A. J. Paulson and F. J. Stebbins were elected directors. Mr. Stebbins is the new member of the board. A. M. Sheldon, president; Math Barzen and H. S. Dahlen, vice presidents and R. M. Sheldon, cashier, were re-elected to their respective offices. No assistant cashier to fill the vacancy arising thru the resignation of Theodore M. Thronson, several weeks ago, was appointed.

L. A. Hermanson, teller; Miss Dora Holmes, assistant teller, Alvin Holzknecht, bookkeeper and Miss Inez Johnson, stenographer, make up the remainder of the bank personnel.

This bank also starts its new fiscal year in the very best condition and the officials believe that even the slight money stringency that has been experienced in this section is rapidly passing.

Greenbush State Bank is Reopened; Closed 30 Days

The State bank of Greenbush on Monday re-opened its doors to the banking public, after having been closed for slightly less than 30 days. Sufficient funds were paid in by old stockholders to again put the bank in sound financial condition.

Consolidation of the Peoples' State bank and the Greenbush State bank has been virtually effected, as the affairs of the latter are being administered by officers of the former named bank. The consolidation will be completed at an early date. At a meeting held on Saturday, the following officers were elected: Hans Lerum, president; N. K. Czyrson, vice-president and Chas. J. Anderson, cashier.

Abe Bost is Acquitted.

Abe Bost, colored, a farmer of Kratka township, charged with having "pulled a gun" on Stephen Singer and Joe Kilen, was tried before Judge N. W. Tarrant in municipal court here on Wednesday. He was acquitted by the jury which was out but a short time. Singer was removing a cook shack, the property of Bost, from the latter's land, when the owner appeared with a gun in hand and persuaded him to desist.

HIGHER PRICES PREDICTED FOR SPRING BUYING

Indications Are Unmistakable That Low Stage of Selling Level Has Been Reached.

Merchants Find Replacements Quoted at Big Advance Over Present Retail Price.

Persons who fail to take advantage of the price reductions now being made in practically every part of the country, hoping that commodity costs will drop still lower, are liable to find that they have played a joke on themselves. There is a limit to the downward swing of prices and indications are that it has just about been reached. This is the impression to be gathered from reports issued by business houses and mercantile agencies at any rate.

Thief River Falls merchants claim it will be impossible to long maintain the present low price level, to say nothing of making still further reductions. Retail prices on many classes of goods today in Thief River Falls are far below replacement cost, a condition that can continue only for a very short time without spelling disaster for the business man. No man can sell goods below cost and remain in business and only resorts to this method in times of unusual stress or marked depression. He may need a lot of money on short notice and take this means of securing it, foregoing profits in order to meet pressing demands by wholesalers and manufacturers. This has been the reason for the unusual price reductions by Thief River Falls business houses as well as those in nearly every other community in the country. The selling campaign was not brought on by the merchant because he feared the bottom was going to fall out of prices and leave him with a large stock of goods on hand, because he was certain that such was not the case. The simple explanation is that he needed the money—and needs it yet.

Higher in the Spring.

Salesmen are now arriving with samples for spring and anyone who imagines there is going to be a further reduction at that time should look over the quotations. In practically every line it is found that prices quoted at the present time by Thief River Falls merchants are lower than the wholesalers' spring quotations on the same goods. This means but one thing—prices must again advance when present stocks are gone.

The merchant who was in business at the time the advance due to the war began getting under way and who followed business methods in the handling of his stock, made some money. This is not being denied. Now, however, when the swing is in the other direction he must take his loss or keep the goods on his shelves. He prefers the former course—if he is wise—trusting to the future to take care of itself. He cannot sell goods for less than he pays for them, however, and must secure his profits on replacements, no matter what he decides to do with stocks now on hand.

The public has been misled by this price-reduction campaign, according to business men. It was but natural that there should be a demand for lower prices as soon as war conditions were removed, and business generally responded to the demand, even though economic factors gave warning that the course was unwise. Misleading propaganda, it is also maintained, has been in a large measure responsible for mistaken notions on the part of the public.

Warnings of Advance.

There is hardly a question but that right now is the most favorable time for making purchases of any kind that has presented itself in years. It is almost as certain that none so favorable will be seen for a long time to come. Any person who is open to conviction and possesses even a slight knowledge of the causes which operate to establish general price levels will recognize the soundness of this reasoning and proceed accordingly. Wholesalers have warned their customers not to cut prices further as there is no possibility of being able to refill their shelves except at a considerable advance. The purchaser who takes advantage of the very exceptional offerings now made will save money, and the propagandists, agitators or publications who are attempting to mislead the public into thinking that anything is to be gained by holding up purchases and thus causing a stagnation of trade are serving the country but poorly during a most trying period.

No Promotions Possible At End of First Semester

Owing to the fact that the Eighth grade of the city schools is overcrowded, it will be impossible for that grade to receive promotions at the end of the first semester of school work from the Seventh grade, consequently the Seventh will be unable to receive promotions from the Sixth grade and so on down through the remaining grades, according to a statement issued by Superintendent of City Schools W. A. Ziegler. Scholars may be promoted from the Eighth grade to the high school but not in numbers large enough to accommodate promotions from the Seventh.

Owing to this condition no A and B division promotions will be made to take effect at the opening of the second semester of school work January 24, as was formerly announced. It is thought that this plan of semi-yearly promotion of pupils can be worked out better at the end of the school term than at the present time.

More Purebred Holsteins For Pennington County

Fred Beerbower left the first of the week for points in Iowa and Illinois for the purpose of securing a carload of purebred Holstein cattle. Mr. Beerbower expects to retain about one-half the number purchased for himself, the rest going to the farm of M. T. McFarland. An attempt will be made to include one herd sire in the lot and it is also the aim to find one or two cows possessing particular exhibition features.

As Mr. Beerbower is one of the best judges of stock of this class to be found in this section there is no question but that he will bring back the very best there is to be found in the sections visited. The purchase will make a valuable addition to the purebred herd census of the county.

Wheat Advances 12c This Week; Rye Very Strong

Advances 12 Cents Per Bushel During Past Week—Rye in Unusual Position.

Wheat and rye have been consistently advancing in price all through the week, the latter grain maintaining its position as a remarkably close second to the leader. Wednesday's close for cash wheat in Thief River Falls was $1.65 per bushel as compared with $1.53 a week ago, an advance over the low point reached of 13 cents per busel. Rye closed at $1.44 yesterday, an advance of 13 cents for the week.

Receipts are reported as being lighter than at any previous time this season, a condition that prevails all through the Northwest.

BENSON DRY GOODS STORE IS DAMAGED

Fire Tuesday Forenoon Causes Loss of $2,500—Quickly Extinguished.

At 10 a. m. Tuesday, fire broke out in the Martin Benson dry goods store here, resulting in an aproximate damage to building and stock of $2,500. It is thought that the loss to Martin N. Benson, proprietor of the store and John Aos, owner of the building, will be fully covered by insurance.

The fire originated in the ceiling of the first floor of the building near a chimney, spreading between joists and rafters and to the roof by the time the city fire department, the calling of which was delayed by severed telephone connections, arrived. No difficulty was encountered in extinguishing the blaze which had acquired but little headway. The damage to the building will not prohibit the resumption of business after a short period of time for readjustment. Prompt action in clearing away dry goods from the immediate vicinity of the blaze on the part of early arrivals and the thorough manner in which the building was cleared of all damagable stock by clerks and volunteers, resulted in a minimum loss from smoke and water. Practically the entire stock was carried to adjacent places of business. Living apartments on the second floor were likewise cleared of household furniture.

NAPLIN NAMED ON GOOD COMMITTEES

District's Lower House Members, However, Fare Poorly in Appointments.

Senator O. A. Naplin of the Sixty-fifth district, was appointed a member of a number of important committees when Lieut. Gov. L. L. Collins made up the list on Monday, being made a member of the following: Corporations and commerce, reapportionment, temperance, and towns, counties and municipalities. For a minority faction member this is considered as being very good.

By reason of reducing the number of committees from 38 to 29 quite a number of changes from two years ago is noted both in chairmanships and members in the senate.

The house members from the Sixty-fifth can hardly be said to have fared well in committee appointments. Mr. Day and Mr. Hemstad are both members of the committee on State Development and Immigration as well as on Universities and Schools. Besides these Mr. Day is a member of the following: Public Health and Hospitals, Reapportionment and Towns and Counties. Mr. Hemstad's only other committee assignment is Public Domain.

A Baseless Rumor.

It has been rumored that an epidemic of diptheria has broken out in Thief River Falls. City health authorities state that but one mild case exists on the east side of the city and that no cause for alarm prevails.

COUNTY NURSE TAKES UP WORK OF RED CROSS

Miss Marie Knudsen Accepts Position and Will Begin Making Rounds at Once.

Principal Field Will Be Country Districts, Leaving City to School Nurse.

Cost of Maintenance is Estimated at $3800 Per Year By Budget Committee.

Miss Marie Knudsen, the nurse who will work under the auspices of the Pennington County Chapter of the American Red Cross, has entered upon her duties and will soon have her work sufficiently laid out to enable her to begin her rounds. At a meeting of the chapter last Saturday afternoon Miss Knudsen stated that for the present she would attempt to visit only the schools and settlements which may conveniently be reached by rail, the roads being in many cases in such condition as to make automobile travel difficult. She will go to the homes of the residents in all sections of the county as rapidly as the rounds can be made, hold meetings in schools and otherwise seek to interest the people in her efforts.

Miss Knudsen's work will be largely in the country, the city of Thief River Falls being left pretty much in the hands of the school nurse. Mrs. H. W. Froehlich, chapter president, stated that for this reason she would very much like to have each outlying branch representative on the executive committee as in this manner the requirements of the different sections could be learned and their cases properly looked into.

For the present she will have a desk in the office of the county sheriff at the court house, where anyone wishing an interview will find her Saturday mornings. She may be reached any evening via telephone at No. 488, her place of residence.

Cost $3800 Per Year.

The nursing committee, through its chairman, Dr. M. George Milan, reported that everything is now in readiness to have the nurse begin her work. It was decided that it would be inadvisable to tie up any money in an automobile at this time as there is work in the districts accessible by rail to keep a nurse busy until spring. Each member of the committee was asked to do whatever is possible to acquaint the people in the county with the purpose in employing the nurse in order that she may experience as little trouble as possible when making her rounds. Besides Dr. Milan this committee is made up as follows: W. A. Barnard and George M. Gunderson, Thief River Falls; Mrs. J. A. McDonald, Goodridge; Mrs. Fred Bjerken, St. Hilaire; Mrs. Aspelin, Hazel; Mrs. Karl Korstad, Highlanding.

Chairman W. A. Barnard of the finance committee, reported that the cost of maintaining the county nurse would be about $3800 per year and that ample funds are available for the first year. There is $3,056.07 to the credit of chapter headquarters while $4,905.89 is held in branch treasuries and may be called in when necessity demands. It was decided to pro rata the expense of the nurse among all branches, basing the requisition on the amount of cash in the different treasuries.

The Work in Schools.

County Superintendent G. M. Gunderson stated that the city schools now had a membership of 100 per cent in the Red Cross and that those in the country will soon be as well organized. Reorganization is being carried forward everywhere and state headquarters has complimented the officers on the highly efficient manner in which the work is being looked after in Pennington county.

T. P. Anderson, chairman of the home service division, spoke briefly of the work of that section. He stated that hardly a day passes by but what he has some kind of a call for assistance or advice. To date he has assisted 87 ex-service men in securing their compensation, 182 have been helped in the matter of bonuses, extra travel pay was secured for 83 men, while seven families have been assisted in the matter of getting compensation and insurance. Besides this Mr. Anderson has done much work in assisting in locating missing soliders and in helping those who were entitled to free dental service. The report proved an eye-opener to those present, most of whom had no idea of the importance and scope of this division of the work.

Dr. Milan asked to be excused from further service on the finance committee, his work for the nursing committee taking up all the time at his disposal. Chairman Barnard appointed T. L. Melguard in his place.

The meeting was one of the best ever held, nearly every city member of the committee being on hand as well as the following from the country: Mrs. McDonald and Miss Theresa Glefer, Goodridge; Mrs. Peter Engelstad and Mrs. O. B. Gunderson, Rocksbury.

New State Auditor.

Ray P. Chase of Anoka has been appointed state auditor by Governor Preus. Mr. Chase has been chief deputy in the auditor's office.

One Day Schools on Farm Management During Winter

Farm management meetings or one-day schools will be conducted over the state this winter by W. L. Cavert, farm management demonstrator on the agricultural extension staff of the state university. Mr. Cavert has selected a series of 11 subjects, part of them dealing with costs of production, and others affording a study of the average seasonal trend in prices of farm products, also work in keeping accounts, renting farms and planning a well balanced cropping system.

Only a limited number of these schools can be held in a county and no more than two of the subjects, which are to be previously agreed upon by a community, will be taken up at a given meeting. In considering costs the farmers present will be asked to make estimates as to each item of production expenses. The University Farm representative will then summarize the figures on the blackboard and lead the discussion.

Farm bureaus or other groups of farmers can arrange for this service through the medium of the county agent.

HONOR REMAINS OF FORMER SOLDIER

Henry Svare of Erie Buried Under Auspices of Legion Post Named After Him.

A flag-draped casket containing the remains of Private Henry Svare, formerly a member of the 341st Infantry, arrived here from France on Saturday morning and was shipped to Goodridge the same afternoon. Musician Thomas Gibeaut of the 49th Infantry band, stationed at Fort Snelling, escorted the body to this point, where he was met by Hans Svare, father of the deceased and a resident of Erie township. Interment was made in the Torgerson cemetery, Reiner township, on Tuesday afternoon, following services at the Hans Svare home.

Private Svare as a member of the 341st saw extended service with the late American Expeditionary forces in France. He died October 9, 1918, at an American base hospital shortly before his regiment was scheduled to return to the United States. Influenza is given as the cause of his death. The body was one of 40 which arrived at St. Paul the forepart of the week from St. Nazaire, France, having been shipped by way of Hoboken, New Jersey. The 40 bodies of ex-service men were shipped to relatives for burial at various points throughout the state of Minnesota.

Funeral arrangements for the former Pennington county soldier were in charge of the Henry Svare post of the American Legion of Goodridge, which post was named after him.

INSTALLATION HELD FOR ENCAMPMENT

Riverside Lodge No. 22 Starts Year With Good Balance and Better Prospects.

The installation of officers for Riverside Encampment No. 22, I. O. O. F., took place Saturday Evening at the I. O. O. F. hall. The installation was conducted by F. C. Dablow, D. D. G. P. and the officers installed were as follows. Chief Patriarch, A. P. Robinson; High Priest, John L. Gasow; Senior Warden, Bert F. Umland; Junior Warden, V. F. Robarge; Scribe, Adolf Eklund; Treasurer, T. P. Anderson; Guide, A. G. Gabrielson; Inside Sentinel, J. W. Denhart; Outside Sentinel, Arthur K. Berg; First Watch, Leonard Hanson; Second Watch, Emil Norquist; Third Watch, Albert H. Carlson; Fourth Watch, Alf. O. Anderson; First guard of tent, Ole Hedalen; Second guard of tent, George Swanson; Trustee, Carl Angell.

The installation was largely attended. Among the out-of-the-city members and visitors were: J. W. Denhart and C. Keller from Hazel, and A. S. Wilson, Paul Olson, G. W. Hooper and Norman E. Patterson from St. Hilaire. V. B. Chapin from Roseau, who was the first visitor to the Encampment, was also present.

Considerable business of importance was transacted at this meeting. The report showed the Encampment to be in a flourishing condition considering the length of time it has been in existence, which is less than a year. At the close of the meeting a banquet was served of which everybody partook to their heart's content. A most enjoyable time was had.

Births Exceeded Deaths By 50 During Past Year

The records of Dr. J. Biederman, city health officer, disclose that both the birth and death rates in Thief River Falls during the past year were greater than during the two previous years and that the law of general averages is working effectively. One hundred thirty-four births and 84 deaths were recorded for the year 1920. The total numbers for 1919 were 123 births and 70 deaths, while in 1918 there were 133 births and 82 deaths.

Dr. Biederman states that the death rate for the city is comparatively greater than that of the county as a whole owing to the fact that deaths of out of town patients which occur at the hospitals here are recorded in the city records.

ELECTORS MUST APPROVE BONDS TO AID SCHOOLS

Board Cannot Raise Necessary Money Without Submitting Matter to People.

Early Date Will Be Set For Election as Money is Needed to Carry on Work.

Increased Cost of Operation Only Reason For Falling Short At This Time.

The board of education at a special meeting on Wednesday afternoon authorized the calling of a special school election for the purpose of voting on a school bond issue of approximately $70,000 to take up the floating indebtedness of school district No. 18. No date has been set for the election, though it is known that it will take place within the next three weeks. Communications from the Minneapolis Trust company, which has contracted to effect a sale of the school bonds, had stated that a school election would be unnecessary, as the board of education were invested with the power of authorizing the sale of such bonds necessary to taking up of floating indebtedness. A later opinion of bonding attorneys of the trust company, as expressed by G. B. Keenan, representative of that organization, who met with the members of the board yesterday, stated that a special election would be necessary.

Others in Same Boat.

Action on the bond issue was taken following a request from the banks of Thief River Falls that district No. 18 take up school warrants totalling approximately $68,000. Ordiniarily the banks could have handled these warrants, but owing to the present financial condition, some procedure whereby they could be placed on a cash basis became necessary. This condition is not peculiar to Thief River Falls alone, as it is generally known that schools throughout the nation are finding themselves in a like financial shortage. The floating of bonds in North Dakota, in the twin cities, Chicago and New York city have been cited as incidences of these financial straits.

The excellence of the Thief River Falls schools is recognized throughout the state; as is the fact that the city is gifted with a greater percentage of children of a school age than almost any other city of a like population in the entire United States. The main item in the increased running expense of the city schools is the pay roll of the 57 teachers, it having been necessary to offer larger salaries to instructors for the present school term in order to secure those of the proper qualifications. The pay roll of the city schools at present approximates $90,000 annually. The total expenditures for the school term of 1919-1920 were slightly over $104,000. The indebtedness arises from the fact that no increases in tax levy were made previous to the year 1920, which levy, though increased, is not received until the present year, the first settlement taking place in March.

Members of the school board state that expenditures are being held down in every department, even to the extent of handicapping instructors and pupils in their work in many instances.

GETS 100 MEMBERS FOR FARM BUREAU

R. J. McKercher Continues the Work on His Own Hook With Fine Results.

R. J. McKercher of St. Hilaire, a director of the Pennington county Farm Bureau, since the membership drive for that organization was discontinued on December 22 because of weather conditions, has been soliciting new members in his spare time, using his own teams and traveling alone. He has added over 100 new names to the rolls of the organization, having encountered but five or six farmers who failed to enlist with the bureau in his house to house journey. The farmers in the southern half of Bray township enlisted to a man.

He has completed the canvass of Polk Center township with the exception of the northwest corner. His operations have also extended into Black River and River Falls townships. He stated that his endeavors for the present would be confined to Sanders, Rocksbury and the north half of Bray townships.

Other members of the membership squad who were assisting in the Pennington county drive are desirous of completing it at once and are awaiting instructions from J. S. Jones, state membership campaign manager. Stuart McLeod of Goodridge, was expected to continue the soliciting of new members starting the first of this week, but was ordered to Park Rapids to assist in a drive being staged there.

Get Good Price For Wool.

Presbyterian Ladies' Aid.

The Presbyterian Ladies' Aid will be entertained by Mrs. W. A. Ziegler and Mrs. Guy Halvorson at the home of the latter, 515 LaBree Ave. N., tomorrow afternoon, Jan. 14. Lunch will be served at 4:00 o'clock.

Will Entertain Friends.

Mrs. Ila Reynolds and Mrs. Robert Vance will entertain a number of ladies at the former's home tomorrow evening. The hours will be spent in music and needlework. A delicious lunch will be served at midnight.

Entertained.

Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Loken and family, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Loken, Miss Florence Lian and Miss Cecelia Peterson were guests of Messrs. Robt. Doherty and Frank Albrecht of Chicago, at dinner at the Brumund hotel Monday evening.

Celebrated 81st Birthday.

Mrs. J. A. Mearow, mother of Mrs. H. A. Brumund with whom she makes her home, celebrated her eighty-first birthday on Wednesday. Mrs. Mearow is hale and hearty and states that she is enjoying the exceptional winter weather.

M. E. Junior Choir Entertained.

Mrs. C. A. Nason delightfully entertained the members of the Junior choir of the Methodist church Thursday at her home. In the afternoon the girls were her guests and a sumptuous supper was enjoyed at six. In the evening the boys were entertained at a candy pull.

Entertains at Party.

The T. L. Melgaard home, 105 St. Paul Ave. S., was the scene of a delightful party Thursday evening when Miss Margaret and brother Lee entertained a company of their friends at cards. At the conclusion of the evening a delicious lunch was served.

Woman's Club.

The next meeting of the Woman's club will be held Monday afternoon, Jan. 17 at the Commercial club rooms. After the business session Mrs. Geo. Biddick will talk on social welfare activities. Lesson No. 5, "Political Parties," will be led by Mrs. A. Bottleson.

Party.

Little Helen Granum entertained six of her friends at her home Wednesday afternoon. The little folks had a merry time playing various games until the lunch hour when they partook of delicious refreshments. Those present were, Esther, Margaret and Bernice Granum, Judith and Ruth Quammen and Carrol Sondreal.

Banquet.

Prominent among the social affairs and elaborate in all its appointments was the banquet given at the Brumund hotel Friday evening for the directors, stockholders and employees of the First and Peoples' State bank. Places were laid for approximately forty guests. A. M. Sheldon, president, of Minneapolis, was toastmaster.

Engagement Announced.

The following taken from the Sunday edition of the Minneapolis Journal will prove interesting to many local people:

"Mr. and Mrs. Edward W. Decker of 1315 Mount Curve Ave., announce the engagement of their daughter, Katherine, to David Judson Winton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. Winton."

Johnson-Kvian.

Lorentz Johnson of this city and Laura Kvian of Roseau, were united in marriage Saturday at 3 o'clock in the afternoon at the Zion Lutheran parsonage. Rev. George Larson, pastor of the Zion Lutheran church, officiated in the presence of Conrad Vinge and Mable Vinge.

The newly married couple will make their future home in this city.

Thrift Work Important.

"Two-thirds of the local clubs in the state have thrift chairman, according to Mrs. H. W. Froehlich of Thief River Falls, Minn., chairman. 'Let us have business methods in everything we undertake,' is the suggestion of the chairman."

The above clipping, taken from the Minneapolis Journal, shows the keen interest Mrs. Froehlich takes in her official capacity as state chairman of thrift.

Entertain at Brumund.

In compliment to Mr. and Mrs. Chas. O. Olson of Big River, Sask., Mr. and Mrs. O. Ramstad were hosts at dinner at the Brumund hotel Friday, Dec. 23. Places were arranged for Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Social Welfare Meeting.

The Social Welfare section of the Woman's club met at the home of Mrs. Daniel Shaw, Monday afternoon with an attendance of about twenty. The meeting was a very enthusiastic one and much work was accomplished. Most of the afternoon was spent in mending and darning. The sum of three dollars was realized from this meeting. Mrs. E. M. Stanton will entertain this section at her home on Jan. 21.

Buffet Supper.

Among the social events of the season of unique nature was the buffet supper at which Mr. and Mrs. Scott Laird were hosts. Dinner was served at six o'clock at the Laird home, 913 Main Ave. N., on Wednesday evening. The guests were Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Booren, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Nielai, Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Sapero, Mr. and Mrs. B. E. Dalquist, Mr. and Mrs. R. B. McWilliams, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Biddick, Miss Laura Stopple and Miss Meta Kiland.

Girls' Community Club.

The Girls' Community club met at the Commercial club rooms on Monday evening. The business meeting was opened by a reading of the secretary's report by Miss Effie Hamry. This was followed by the treasurer's report for the past year by Miss Esther Giertson. Miss Thora Hanson delighted the club with two vocal selections. The second chapter of the "New Voter" which explained tariff, was read by Miss Maude Frissell. Light refreshments consisting of cheese sandwiches and cocoa were served by the H's, I's and J's.

Woodmen Installation.

The Modern Woodmen of America held their annual installation of officers in the I. O. O. F. hall last Thursday evening. Officers for the present year were installed as follows: V. consul, S. A. Hanson; advisor, Frank Protz; banker, H. K. Strand; watchman, Andy Smith; clerk, George Werstlein; escort, R. G. Cook; sentry, H. D. Cady. E. K. Aasen will act as trustee for a period of three years.

Mr. Aasen acted as master of ceremonies; J. J. Weeks as installing consul and H. A. Ohm as installing escort.

Double Wedding.

A wedding which comes as a complete surprise to their many friends here was that of Miss Thora Ness to Geo. Clifford of Fargo and Miss Stella Anderson and Clyde Loveless also of Fargo. The double ceremony occurred in Moorhead, Dec. 24. They will make their homes at the latter city and will reside on 13th avenue north. Both young ladies are well and favorably known here and up to the time of their marriage were employed by the Times Printing and Manufacturing company. The grooms are employed as barbers in Fargo. The Times joins with their numerous friends in wishing them a happy wedded life.

Bridge Club Has Banquet.

The six losers of the Bridge club, including Mrs. L. F. Fisher, Dr. and Mrs. O. F. Mellby, W. A. Barnard, Miss Grace Iverson and Nels Christianson, entertained at a banquet at the Brumund hotel on Tuesday evening. In addition to the regular members those having substituted on various occasions were also entertained. They were Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Melgaard, Mrs. Wm. Bon Durant, Dr. Milan and Miss Laura Forde. Following the repast the guests were taken to the Mellby home where the remainder of the evening was spent in music and cards. Misses Laura Forde and Ausilga Sorenson offered violin and piano selections while Mrs. L. F. Fisher and Miss Grace Iverson sang.

Music Section to Meet.

The music section of the Woman's club will give a program on American music at the home of Mrs. O. F. Mellby on Tuesday evening next. Mrs. C. A. Nason will be the leader. The following program has been arranged:

Roll call—Respond with current events.

Piano Duet—Selected, Miss Mae Bark and Miss Lillian Poppitz.

Paper on American music—Mrs. B. W. Briggs.

Piano solo, selected—Miss Gerda Mortenson.

Will Reorganize Athletic Club; Start Classes Soon

Reorganization of the Thief River Falls Athletic club is under way, according to a statement issued by G. A. Fallness, of whose establishment in the basement of the Citizens bank building, the gymnasium is a part. The club was organized a year ago under the yearly plan. Memberships have expired and concerted effort will be made toward reorganization along lines which will most benefit the business man.

Efforts at present are being directed toward establishing a class in physical culture. H. E. Elling will act as instructor if the required membership can be secured, classes to start immediately. It is planned to conduct classes on Friday of each week.

Wrestling matches and boxing bouts are being staged daily in the gymnasium at the present time. Targie Froisnes of Goodridge, wrestler, who has already established a name for himself, is going through some strenuous work-outs, in preparation for a match in the immediate future, arrangements for which are being completed. John Johnson is acting as his training partner.

RAIL AND SHOP

Reducing Railroad Forces Because of Slack Business

Three railroads, the Minneapolis, St. Paul & Sault Ste. Marie, the Minneapolis and St. Paul, and the Great Northern recently announced a reduction of forces. The Soo line, according to Edmund Pennington, president, will operate a five-day week in the shops affecting about 1,400 men. W. H. Bremme, president of the Minneapolis & St. Paul estimated that 1,250 employes had been laid off the entire system since September 1st. The Great Northern is reducing its forces wherever possible partly because there always is a reduction in the winter and partly due to slackening business, G. R. Martins, vice-president declared.

Thief River Falls travelers during the past week were: Mrs. J. L. Stitt and son Allison, to Minneapolis; Mr. and Mrs. O. K. Roisland to St. Paul; Mr. and Mrs. Henry Peterson and son to Minneapolis; Anton Eklund and daughter to Warren.

The number of freight cars brought to the car shops at Thief River Falls during the past month has been unusually large. Enough cars are at present in the yards to keep the entire force busy for over six weeks. Practically all of them are Soo cars, foreign rolling stock being carried to respective owners.

R. L. Van Dousen has been appointed second trick operator at Detroit, relieving E. H. Gulden who will act as first trick man and ticket cashier. Mr. Gulden relieves H. B. Pfieffer, who has been sent to Warren to relieve agent J. O. Herrick, who has been granted an extended leave of absence.

A. L. Chapman has been checked in as agent at Loma, relieving A. E. Swan, transferred to Ogema, where he will relieve agent C. A. Attiama, who has been granted a leave of absence on account of the death of his wife. Mrs. Attiama died Friday evening, after a long illness. Interment was made at Rockford, Minn., Monday.

C. M. Holmes has been put on as joint agent at Bisbee, vice C. H. Knutson transferred to Lansford.

Dr. Spofford
Optometrist

will be at Hotel Evelyn Jan. 26. Afternoon only. Eyes examined, glasses fitted.

That the policy of conservatism and safety is being maintained by the officers and directors of the Citizens State Bank of Thief River Falls, is indicated by the report of condition at the close of business on December 31st, 1920:

Coal Prices Reduced

The unusual weather conditions during the past few weeks have caused the Dock Companies to make a sharp reduction in the prices of all coal, and we quote below our delivered prices on the various grades we have in stock:

Fairmont Lump	$16
West Virginia Splint	$16
Hocking Lump	$16
Hocking Stove	$15
Kentucky Lump	$16
North Dakota Lignite	$ 8

While the above prices represent a decided loss to us, having purchased our stocks at the high prices, we feel it proper to take our loss and follow the present market. WE AIM TO PLEASE IN BOTH SERVICE AND PRICE.

WHO CURES YOU WHEN YOU ARE SICK?

Most people are aware, that NATURE is really the power that cures, when sickness afflicts the body, and that the different methods employed in combating disease are for the purpose of assisting Nature in bringing about a cure, but probably many people are using the word Nature in this connection without realizing what they mean by Nature. If we would define NATURE, in relation to our bodies, we could [illegible] er conclusion than that it must be the NERVE FORCE because this is the power that controls every part of the body. Being generated in the brain, it passes over the spinal cord, spinal nerves, through the openings between the vertebrae (spinal bones) and follows the nerves to all the various organs and muscles of the body. This power it is that makes your heart beat, your lungs breathe, your stomach digest its food; it makes your kidneys act, moves your bowels and makes it possible for you to use your muscles; in fact, it controls the function of all organs, muscles and the special senses in the body. If the nerve current should suddenly be withheld to any part of the body, this part would immediately become paralyzed and lose its function. Thus it is, that a person having broken his back becomes paralyzed from where the injury occurs in the spine and downward, because one of the vertebrae, being either dislocated or fractured, is pressing upon the spinal cord to such an extent as to cut off the nerve power below the point of the pressure, while there may be normal function in the body above the pressure.

With this fact in mind, it is then evident that if we are going to have normal function and ease in every part of the body, NATURE or the NERVE CURRENT must have free and unhindered access to every part of the body, and this is accomplished if the nerves are in a perfect condition and free from pressure, throughout their entire length. In order that this may be possible, the bones that form the spine must be perfectly joined together, each vertebra must be exactly in its right position, as the slightest displacement will cause the spinal nerve opening to become smaller, which will result in pressure upon the nerve leading out through this opening and thus interfere with Nature or the Nerve Current passing over the pinched nerve, which will mean abnormal function, or sickness in the body, wherever the pinched nerves lead.

Even though there is no actual pain in the spine, it is no indication that the spine is normal. If the nerves have been pinched for a long time, they often lose their sensitiveness to such pressure.

THE DOLLAR-A-WEEK CLUB.

Have you joined the "Dollar-a-week Club?"

Everybody's doing it.

It doesn't hurt now and it makes you happy later on.

Here is how it is done:

Uncle Sam placed on sale, January 1, a new $1 Treasury Savings stamp. Twenty of these stamps, with a little additional change, may be exchanged for one of the new $25 Treasury Savings Certificates, payable at full face value January 1, 1926. The cost of these $25 Certificates in January is $20.60 and they increase in value five cents each month.

"Join the 'Dollar-a-week Club' now" suggests Postmaster Morgan. "It is the most universal organization in the United States, having members from Maine to California. Put your feeble dollars to work and watch them grow strong, hustling for the $25 Treasury Savings Certificate.

"For your own good and the good of your government, Uncle Sam hopes to create a million members of the 'Dollar-a-week Club' and this office strives for the distinction of quickly reporting its proportionate number of members. These stamps are on sale together with the other government savings securities—25 cent thrift stamps, your old friend the $5 War Savings stamp and the $100 Treasury Savings Certificate.

"Now don't just say that is a good idea and let it go at that but come in with your dollar today, with the determination to buy a stamp regularly."

SWINGING TO NORMAL.

In another column of this issue will be found an editorial reprinted from the Minneapolis Journal which should be read with interest by every person who views the future with misgiving. The language in which the article is couched is different from the general tone of such productions and bears the stamp of careful consideration and a background of facts.

All authorities quoted agree that the country has two or three months of trying times ahead, but that by April things will again be sufficiently near the normal to warrant everyone in feeling that the crisis has passed.

The reasons these men, residents of different sections of the country, give for their beliefs are varied but all agree on predicting what the final outcome will be. Professor Fisher of Yale thinks the later half of 1921 will be a period of prosperity, but without a return to pre-war price levels. Professor Parsons of Harvard figures that stocks of goods held by merchants are low in all parts of the country and that these will have to be replenished in the spring. This will create a demand upon the manufacturing centers and a wider employment of labor.

It seems to be agreed that wages will but tardily follow the downward trend of prices. Elbert H. Gary, president of the Steel Corporation, urges caution upon employers in making wage readjustments, stating that the welfare of the employe is a matter of first importance to industry.

The entire article is instructive and of particular value at this time. The closing sentence we can all apply to our own particular problems: "Every one of us has the power to help recovery by acting with common sense."

BETTER HEED ADVICE.

The people of Minnesota do not want the good roads program provided for under the Babcock amendment placed in the hands of any kind of a commission, paid or otherwise. The state government is cluttered up with commissions now, a few doing excellent work, but most of them are more of a hindrance than a help where actual accomplishment is the end sought. The building of hard surfaced roads on such a large scale can best be accomplished by investing one man with full authority and holding him responsible for results. If a commission of some kind is necessary in order to enable a section of our citizenry to rest easy, let it be an advisory body with a membership chosen because of its knowledge of road conditions, construction and materials. This body could act as a board of appeal in cases where controversy over the best methods to be followed might arise as well as be of assistance in determining the general policy. In such case those comprising the board should receive a salary based on the value of their services.

The building of ten million dollars worth of roads demands the centralization of responsibility. There will be developed a large and varied assortment of unofficial critics, no doubt, but that is no reason why the legislature should create a body with full powers to retard progress every time the members felt as if they ought to do something to justify their appointment. Place all the safeguards possible around the expenditure of this vast sum of money, but make one man boss of the actual job.

EFFERVESCENCE

No matter when, how or where Omar Khayyam lived, he apparently would know how to conduct a business under the present conditions. His "Rubaiyat" says, "Ah, take the cash, and let the credit go."

Even if the paving project wasn't getting any place, it could be looked upon as a conversational asset.

Oslai asserts that only the postoffice and the undertaker are enjoying a normal amount of business at the present time.

Between four and five million flourishing young evergreens in the United States have had their promising careers nipped in the bud and are now waiting for the ash man.

Things are still traveling the way of that father of the thirty-fourth child—both "brickbats" and "bouquets."

Those two or three balloonists who rambled off into the wilds have been sufficiently press-agented now to run for the office of dog-catcher in most any hamlet in the country.

Growers of wool can have their product made into blankets and dispose of them to financial advantage; but the wool grower has a slight advantage over the producer of raisins, rye, corn and numerous other incidental commodities. (And this column had hoped to get by one week without reference to the popular subject.)

Politics may have played a large part in the delay of the successful operation of the prohibition laws, but so has the human appetite.

Accident insurance companies declare that twenty-five per cent of all disabling accidents occur in the home—the wife certainly can wield the proverbial rolling pin.

"Dairymen's League Will Pool Proceeds of Their Milk." There's another good wheeze in that headline somewhere.

LEGION BASKET TEAM VICTORIOUS IN FIRST GAME WITH FOSSTON

Contest Was One of Best Ever Seen Here, Being Stubbornly Contested at Every Point.

The Legion basket ball team defeated the Legion team of Fosston, 21 to 16, at the city auditorium here on Friday night. The game was one of the fastest and hardest fought battles that has ever been witnessed in Thief River Falls. Perry Johnson, former University basket ball star, refereed the game. The game opened with the lineup:

Playing was fast from the outset. Fosston made three clean baskets during the first quarter, against the one made by the local team, who appeared rather weak on team work and basket shooting. The game became interesting during the second quarter in which Carlson made three successive baskets. Fosston scored two more baskets and a free throw. Johnson went into the game in the second quarter relieving Kiland.

The Thief River Falls quintette came back strong for the third quarter. Fosston shot another basket and scored on a free throw. Connell's men had steadied and managed to toss four more baskets, two of which were credited to Carlson. Time was taken out during the last of the third for an injured Fosston man. Kiland replaced Hadrath. The local Legionnaries displayed exceptional team work during the last quarter, against which the team work of the Fosston quintette, which had operated so smoothly during the first half, seemed of no avail. Fosston failed to make several baskets at close range shooting, but scored one long-distance basket that won the applause of the entire house. Time was taken out by the local team, Hadrath going back in Johnson's place. Fosston apparently having gone to pieces with the injury of a man in the third, Thief River Falls made four baskets during the last quarter with apparent ease, resulting in a score of 24 to 16.

Features of the game were the long distance basket shooting of the Fosston men, the strong team work displayed by the local team during the last half, and the stellar game played by Johnson and Carlson.

The Legion quintette plays the team of Company I, Crookston National Guard, at Crookston tonight. A game with the Y. M. C. A. team of Grand Forks, or with the Legion team of Detroit, is scheduled to be played here Friday evening, Jan. 21. Challenges are coming in from many other fast teams.

Small Attendance at Dance.

The second dance of the winter series given by the Thief River Falls Elks on Thursday evening is considered as having been practically a failure from the standpoint of attendance. The fact that the occasion so closely followed the holiday period is given as the reason for the small turn out of members for this number of the season's festivities which as a rule prove so popular.

Local Man Makes Record; Presented With Ford Auto

A. G. Gabrielson, representative in this section for the Economy Advertising company, specialty manufacturers of Iowa City, Iowa, was this week surprised to learn that he is to become the owner of a Ford car without its costing him anything. Mr. Gabrielson has just closed a very successful year and in recognition of his services will be presented with the car, as the following letter from W. W. Mercer, general manager of the company, proves:

"We have been raking our brains to do something for you in appreciation of the wonderful business that you turned in last year and have finally decided that the most appropriate gift that we could make you would be the Ford car which we bought last spring.

"We are enclosing the necessary papers and ask you to accept this with our best wishes. We certainly are gratified at the fine lot of business which you sent in, which reached us yesterday."

ST. PAUL WOMAN OVER TROUBLES

Miss Paddock Says Tanlac Has Restored Her to Health After Suffering.

"It's just wonderful the way Tanlac has built me up and relieved me of my troubles," said Miss Anna Paddock, of 1042 Randolph St., St. Paul, Minn.

"For more than two years before I got Tanlac my stomach was in a badly disordered condition. There were a number of things I never dared to eat, but no matter how careful I was about my diet I bloated up with gas and had intense pains after eating. I also had severe pains in my sides and my nerves wouldn't let me rest day or night. In spite of everything I could do I kept getting worse and just felt weak, miserable and despondent all the time.

"But Tanlac helped me from the first few doses and now all my troubles are gone. I can hardly get enough to eat and can eat just whatever I please and never feel a touch of indigestion. The pains have gone from my sides, my nerves are steady and I sleep fine. Tanlac has made me like an altogether different person."

Attends Annual Meeting Of Picture Exhibitors

H. A. Brumund, proprietor of the Lyceum and Princess motion picture houses, is in St. Paul for the purpose of attending the annual convention of the First National Exhibitors association, of which body he is a member and franchise holder. Directors will be elected for the present year and arrangements completed for the purchase of upwards of 40 new films, to be shown here during 1921.

The First National Exhibitors association is a nation-wide organization. This district comprises the states of Minnesota, North Dakota, South Dakota, Iowa, Wisconsin, and the lower peninsula of Michigan. Pictures are purchased direct from the motion picture stars and from the producers in an effort to eliminate the showing of suggestive and inferior pictures. The productions are selected from the box-office standpoint and on their merits alone. The association is one of the great factors in financing motion picture stars in their own productions, which method is said to produce a higher grade of attractions.

State Dairymen to Hold Convention Jan. 18-19-20

A joint convention of the State Dairymen's association and the Red River Valley Dairymen's association will be held at Fergus Falls on Jan. 18, 19 and 20. Editorial.

The Christmas vacation is over and the students of the Lincoln high school are all back to resume the studies they so gladly left three weeks ago. They are now equally glad to be back, for although they all love a short period for rest and recreation, the desire to learn and to accomplish is deep in the breasts of the Lincolnites. The next two or three months will be the best period of the whole school year to assimilate the education offered here and we are all eager to take advantage of it. The cold, snappy winter months are the best time in the year for studying, as the mind is always clearer then and a person need not be disturbed by a longing to be out in the warm sunshine, fishing or listening to the birds singing their merry songs, as will be the general tendency next spring.

Truthfully Speaking.

E is for their energy at work
N is for their non-support of juniors
I is for their ignorance of shirk
O is for "Onward" as their motto,
R is right and following the golden rule,
Put them all together they spell senior
The pride of the whole high school.

Declamation.

Those who are participating in the declamation contest will have their "try-out" Wednesday evening.

The first elimination contest for the Red River Valley championship will be held January 28th. The contestant receiving the first place will then meet in a final contest at Crookston, where the Red River Valley championship will be held.

Later the district champion goes to Minneapolis where he will compete for the state championship.

Thief River Falls has some unusually good material this year, and we hope that we will be represented in the final contest.

Debate.

The Thief River Falls high school debating team has been paired with the high school team of East Grand Forks in the second district elimination contest, the date of which has not yet been definitely decided upon.

The Thief River Falls team will again take the affirmative stand and we feel assured that the team will make a good showing for the members have been putting in long hours of hard work.

We are unable at this time to announce the place at which the debate will be held but it will be known in a few days.

Basketball Schedule.

Warroad at Thief River Falls, Jan. 14.
Argyle at Argyle, Jan. 21.
Warren at Warren, Jan. 28.
Crookston at Crookston, Jan. 28.
Argyle at Thief River Falls, Feb. 4.
Warren at Thief River Falls, Feb. 11.
Warroad at Warroad, Feb. 25.
Crookston at Thief River Falls, March 4.

The above schedule has been arranged and arrangements are being made for several games which are not posted.

Play Commended.

The "Caste" presented by the Hamline Players Jan. 3rd under the auspices of the senior class, proved a fair success and was well received by the audience. The play is a modern one portraying caste distinction as it exists in England and acquainting the audience with the masses as well as the classes. The young nobleman falls desperately in love with one of the lower class whom he later marries, despite the dignity of the family so well portrayed in the mother. After the usual struggles, strife and misunderstanding, it is recognized that individual worth stands far above class distinction.

Douglas Ams played the part of Eules, the father, who was under intoxication continuously when funds were available and who in his own estimation was a loyal, faithful and loving father. He played his part exceptionally well and has the qualities of an actor of professional standard. The young plumber and gas fitter carried out by Harold Palmer, who was enthused with business and enveloped in love over Polly Eules, showed the ear-marks of a success before the footlights. All carried their part successfully and are to be highly commended and congratulated on their achievements.

The play was a success financially and receipts were all that were anticipated. The senior class feels proud of its success and thanks the public for their generous support.

Alumni Banquet.

The annual Alumni banquet was held on the evening of December 28. Old alumni from all over the state and country were there. The guests of the evening were the class of '21. Though it was impossible for many of the class to attend, those who were there had a most enjoyable evening. The early part of the evening was devoted to the program and a short business meeting, in which the officers were elected for the coming year. The latter part of the evening was spent in dancing and refreshments were served at midnight. The senior class feels much indebted to the Alumni association for their kindness in inviting them to be present on this enjoyable occasion.

Basketball Game.

The local high school basketball team will meet the Warroad high school team next Friday, Jan. 14th. As the Thief River Falls team has shown their ability to be clean and fast players in the preceding games with Fosston and the local city team, there should be no question of a large attendance at the Warroad game next Friday. Also the Warroad team has a reputation for playing very good games already this season and winning over their opponents in every game. This ought to add to the interest for the coming game.

Coach Tommerassen has selected the following lineup for the game, which he feels confident of winning: McDaniel, Ralston, Herron, LaBree, Anderson, Sundahl, Doland and Coyle.

Information as to the opposing team's lineup has not been received but it is known that they have a strong team and expect to give the locals a hard rub.

This game is your last chance of seeing the high school team in action as they will not play on their home floor again until Feb. 11th.

The Cub.

"Yes sir," replied young Frank Burke, cub reporter.

This was his first assignment of any importance and he was eager to show his ability as a news-getter. He had been rather hurt by the slight attention he had hitherto received from Mr. Slyle, editor of the Morning Star.

At the appointed time he arrived at the church. He sat thru the ceremony and was rather bored. It was only a commonplace affair, it seemed to him, and he did not notice anything of importance to write up about it.

On his way back to the office he recollected that they usually printed the names of the people who were married. Oh, he thought, the best way to get news was to ask questions. So he stopped a man he met on the sidewalk and asked him if he knew the names of the couple that was married that afternoon.

"Oh yes, that was Johnson. I remember he fell off from a horse about a week ago."

All of which Frank jotted down in his note-book after he had turned the corner. "Get the details," Mr. Slyle always said, and Frank wanted to particularly please him on this his first assignment.

He went up to his den and began to write up his copy. He had the names, something of the groom, but he thought he also should have the name of the minister. Oh sure, he was ready for any emergency. He looked up a notice in the column of church announcements in an old issue of the Morning Star and found that a Rev. Clyde had preached a sermon some weeks ago. The following write up was sent to editor Slyle:

"Mr. and Mrs. Johnson were married at three o'clock in the Methodist church this afternoon. Rev. Clyde officiated."

At supper that evening Frank was disturbed at his meal by the violent ringing of the telephone he had connected up with the newspaper office. It was the chief who was speaking, or rather roaring. "Say Burke what do you know about reporting weddings?"

"Why, was anything wrong?" meekly asked Frank.

"Wrong?" exploded the editor. "Almost all of what little there was is wrong. Rev. Clyde was not the minister. He was a visiting missionary who spoke here about a month ago. And I don't think the bride's name was Mrs. Johnson. We want her maiden name, the names of the attendants and also what the bride wore."

"All right," replied the cub reporter, his ambition for a brilliant entrance into the newspaper world dashed mercilessly on the rocks. But he had an abundance of good faith in his own resourcefulness and set out to secure the desired information. A last week's issue of the Star was referred to and he found the address of a Johnson who had been thrown by a horse. An elderly woman answered his ring at the indicated address, and upon his inquiry if this was the home of the Johnson who was married, answered, "Yes, I'm his mother. My son Marcus was married this afternoon. Did you want to see him?"

"Well, no, that is, not exactly. I'm just a reporter from the Morning Star. I should kind of find out who he was married to and all that. Of course I know her name is Mrs. Johnson now, but they seemed to want to know what her name was before she was married."

"Oh, yes, I understand," sympathetically answered Mrs. Johnson, Sr. "I know Jane would like a nice notice in the paper. Jane is Marcus' wife you know; Jane Wilcox, her name used to be. Miss Nina Western was maid of honor and Harvey Blake was best man. I suppose you know they were married by Rev. Shumaker."

"No, I didn't but thank you just the same," replied the cub, his hopes again beginning to rise to glimmering heights. He did not wish to betray his amateurishness by writing down the names, but kept repeating them in his mind until he reached home.

"Johnson, Wilcox, Western, Blake, Shumaker—Wilcox, Blake, Western, Johnson ——————"

"Well, I have the names. Now what did she wear? I remember she had a navy blue hat, I think it was velvet. I don't remember what kind of a dress she wore. It was just an ordinary one, anyway, and doesn't make any difference. Oh yes and she carried a large bouquet of violets. Blake, Wilcox, Shumaker, Western, Johnson ——————"

We who better realize the full gravity of Frank's errors will forgive editor Slyle for suddenly terminating Burke's newspaper career when he read his wedding announcement.

"Harvey Johnson and Jane Shumaker were married at the Methodist church Thursday by Rev. Wilcox at three o'clock. The bride wore a blue velvet hat and a violet bouquet. The attendants were Nina Blake, maid of honor and Marcus Western, best man. The best man wore a black suit, the trousers of which were very short, exposing a pair of striped green and yellow silk socks. The bride is a step-daughter of a second cousin of the brother-in-law of the jail warden in Skunktown, Nevada. The groom fell off a horse last week."

On January 1, 1921, the high school team played the team of 1920. The game was a real one from beginning to end and both teams deserve much credit. At first it semed as though last year's team was going to carry the victory, but with good team work, our high school raised the score. When the final whistle blew the score was 27 to 21 in favor of the 1921 team. The high school team played one of the best games of the season.

We are looking forward to some real snappy games in the New Year. The lineup was as follows:

1921		1920
Schuster	rf	Ralston
Hadrath	lf	Larson
LaBree	c	Paranteau
Flattum	rg	Herron
McGinn	lg	LaBree

Intelligence Tests.

The members of the Freshman, Sophomore and Junior classes were given intelligence tests Monday forenoon.

Several thousand of these tests have been prepared and distributed amongst the high schools by the University of Minnesota and they determine to a large extent the rank of the high schools.

Personals.

The members of the annual staff are actively engaged in preparing the annual and indications point towards a bouncing success. A meeting of the staff was held last Tuesday evening and great interest is shown in the publication of the yearly school history.

We are sorry to note the fact that our very able co-worker, Harold Smithers, is taking an extended vacation as a result of an attack of mumps.

Have you noticed that Mildred B has been all smiles since January 3.

Pearl Rowe left last week for her home in Iowa, where she will remain temporarily.

A quiet rumor has been taking its course about the high school from lip to ear, that a few members of the faculty are planning on entering the "Rocky Seas of Matrimony."

Miss Swift has returned to the Lincoln high to resume her duties as instructor in the commercial department. She has been absent for the past six weeks, taking special work. It will be given to all students at the beginning of the second semester. Miss Miller will leave the early part of this week to take up similar work. This work will be introduced as soon as possible in our high school.

Miss Harriet M. Anderson, who is teaching at Bremen, N. D., spent the holidays at her home in this city.

Among the students to enroll in high school for the second semester are Elmer Larson and Stanley Sorenson. They both attended high school last year.

The botany students are immensely pleased over the arrival of a dozen pickled and cured Starfish, which have been added to their collection of natural oddities.

Mr. Melby's pupils wonder if he thought that they should have an uneasy vacation when he told them that they would have their six weeks exams the first Monday after vacation. It didn't seem to bother them until Monday morning when everybody was asking everybody else if he had studied for the exams and by the sound of it, nobody had and Mr. Melby either forgot he had told them so, or else he started the New Year with a very tender feeling. We think that it must be the latter, as "Doc" very seldom is forgetful.

Anthony Teske who has been spending the holidays with his parents north of the city, returned Saturday afternoon to resume his school duties.

Chester Dols who has been spending the past two weeks with his parents at Rosewood, returned Saturday evening to his school duties in this city.

Louis Kassa returned Saturday morning to continue his studies in this city after spending the past two weeks at his home in Goodridge.

Miss Viola Lund returned to her home in this city Saturday evening, after visiting with friends in Angus for the past two weeks.

Some of the teachers who returned and the places they have visited are: Misses Irene Patrick, Hinckley, Minn.; Lillian Poppitz, Heron Lake, Minn.; Emelia Hoorn, Fergus Falls; Margaret Dix, Margaret Mealy, Ruth Elliott, Grace Iverson, all at Minneapolis; Maud Johnson, Red Wing; Frederick Tripp, Northfield; Gordon Melby, Minneapolis.

NEW POSTAL SAVINGS CARD ISSUED; MAKES DIME HOARDING EASY

System Was Ten Years Old on Jan. 1 and is Rapidly Gaining in Popularity—$162,000,000 on Deposit.

The United States postal savings system is today marking its tenth anniversary by issuing a new postal savings card which will displace the 10-cent postal savings card which has been in use since the establishment of the system on January 1, 1911.

The new card will be furnished free of cost and when ten 10-cent postal savings stamps have been affixed to it will be accepted at any depository office as a deposit of $1 or it may be redeemed in cash. The outstanding feature of the new card is the translation into twenty-four foreign languages of the statement that the faith of the United States is solemnly pledged to the payment of deposits made with the System.

The service was first established at forty-eight post offices, one in each state, on January 1, 1911, and although hampered by many restrictions as to rate of interest and maximum allowed on deposit, it has shown remarkable progress. Postmaster General Burleson announces that the amount on deposit today is more than $162,000,000 and its depositors have long since passed the one-half million mark.

As predicted by its proponents in the days before the passage of the original postal savings, our foreign born citizens have been the principal patrons of the system. Taught in their native countries to look to the government to safeguard their savings, they naturally expect this government to do likewise. In the present flood tide of immigration, each newcomer as he leaves the port of entry, receives a leaflet in his own language outlining the method of operation of the United States postal savings system and urging upon him the desirability of continuing, in this country the practice of thrift which has been so necessary in the country he has just left. The Service, is, therefore, one of the most potent factors in furthering the Americanization movement.

Many banks, usually savings banks, prior to the establishment of the system felt that the postal savings system would be a strong competitor but experience has shown that the postal savings system draws its patrons not from depositors in established and well-conducted banks but from among those who otherwise would not place their money in any banking institution whatever.

The original act of congress restricted the total amount to be placed on deposit at $500 and the deposit of this amount was limited to not more than $100 per month. Later the monthly limitation was entirely removed and the maximum amount increased first to $1,000 and then to the amount $2,500.—Postmaster General Burleson, in the annual report just submitted to congress recommends increasing the rate of interest to be paid depositors and action by congress will, no doubt, be taken along these lines within the near future.

"Lets Face the Problem" Says Department Bulletin

"Discourage all movement to cities from smaller communities," reads a bulletin from the state department of the American Legion, by way of offering a solution for the present unemployment problem. It further states that the surplus of unemployed are in the cities and urges posts of the Legion in smaller communities to canvass both towns and farms and report to department headquarters at St. Paul, any opportunities to place unemployed men from the cities.

Government to Furnish Monuments.

Whether they died in service or since discharge the government will furnish monuments for graves of service men, where relatives have not already erected suitable tablets. Instructions from the state department state that application will be made direct to "Cemeterial Division, Quartermaster Corps, U. S. Army, Washington, D. C."

If Petroleum Were Wiped Out Today

If petroleum were wiped out today, factories would close their doors, agricultural machinery could no longer be made or operated, food could be raised only by primitive methods, and the transportation of food would be confined to horse power and water, for railroads could no longer run their trains, and before any adjustment could be made our great urban population would literally be starved to death.

The prosperity of all industrial nations is based upon petroleum.

The peak from which floats the flag that symbolizes the prosperity of the United States arises from a basic foundation of crude oil.

The underlying foundation of this prosperity is lubricating oil, for without this essential product of petroleum, the machinery of the world would stop and the world's reserve of lubricating oils, though vast in volume, would last but a few weeks at our present rate of consumption.

The next essential factor is kerosene and gasoline, for without the first, one half of the population of the world would be without light at night, and without the second, all types of internal combustion engines would be useless, and the automobile, tractor, truck, marine and aviation engine would be mere curiosities.

If lubricating oil, kerosene, and gasoline were available, but the hundreds of by-products made from the residue of petroleum were wiped out, many industries would be closed and unemployment would be general, for in nearly every industry one or more of these by-products are necessary in the manufacturing processes.

Thus is visualized by an extreme presentation—purely imaginative—of what might happen if petroleum, or any of its major derivatives, were wiped out over night. Also it shows the importance of the work the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is doing in helping supply one of the basic, economic needs of the nation, and emphasizes the importance of the service the Company renders in promoting the comfort, health, and happiness of the individual citizen.

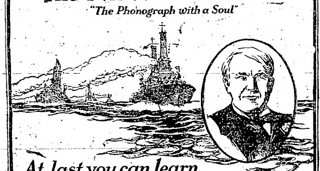
The NEW EDISON
"The Phonograph with a Soul"



At last you can learn What Edison Did during the War

YOU wondered—everybody wondered, and practically nobody knew how Edison "did his bit." At last the official announcement is out! Come in and get your copy of the bulletin: "What Did Edison Do During the War?"—or write, if you can't call.

It tells what Edison did while Chairman of the Naval Consulting Board—how he spent months at sea, experimenting and inventing devices for foiling the German submarines.

The bulletin also tells how Edison stood the gaff and kept the price of the New Edison down to bed-rock during the era of high costs and soaring prices. The New Edison has increased in price less than 15% since 1914—part of this increase is war tax. The bulletin also tells Mr. Edison's views on our Budget Plan which makes the New Edison easy to buy.

DEER PARK

Mrs. Martin Solem.

Mrs. Martin Solem, wife of Martin Solem, residing in eastern Mayfield, passed away last Wednesday evening. The family has indeed the heartfelt sympathy of the entire community in their sad bereavement. Funeral services took place on Monday, Jan. 10, at the Mayfield church.

Wolves Prove Tricky Cusses.

Vraal Haatvet, residing in the eastern part of Deer Park, recently escaped being attacked by a large wolf that he had managed to trap. It seems that the wolf had taken the trap, anchor and all, and pulled out. Mr. Haatvet started to trail him the day after, but owing to the fact that it had stormed the day before his tracks could only be picked up now and then. So he kept on looking for some time, finally coming upon him hidden behind some bushes. The wolf made a dash at Mr. Haatvet but could not quite reach him on account of still being held in the trap. Mr. Hatvet says that the wolves are a lot wiser then some people think. He said he trapped a wolf last year and when he went to the trap to shoot him, the old fellow kept turning his head so that he could not get a good aim, but when he saw that he was in for his death, he placed one of his front paws over his eyes, as if he knew that was the spot where the death-blow was to be dealt. Mr. Haatvet, by the way, is a "crack shot." He won first and second prize in a big shooting tournament in Norway when but 17 years of age.

Treo. Leikvold of Rudell, was a caller here last Sunday.

Gunder Anderson was up this way on business matters last Wednesday.

The Oak Park Ladies' Aid met with Mrs. Sjur Stolaas last Wednesday.

The Matt Bakken children have been on the sick list for a few days, but are now on the way to recovery.

Billy Wilde is confined to his bed with rheumatism.

The wolves are wise, but they are not yet wise to the fact that section "13" is a hoodoo locality for them. One has recently been killed in section 13 of Mayfield, and another in Deer Park, the same section.

Mrs. G. Severson and son, Andy, and Mrs. Tobias Olson of Highlanding called at the home of S. B. Swanson in Hickory last week.

Ben Kveste of Highlanding, is busy hauling grain to Goodridge. He states that he anticipates a raise in prices.

Dick Kolestrand of Highlanding has recently purchased a gasoline saw rig and feed mill, and will from now on be able to do his own work in that line.

This "zero" weather is great but it is hard on the coal dealers. This is the mildest winter that has been experienced here since the opening of the Eleven Towns in 1904.

ST. HILAIRE

St. Hilaire Wins Game.

The St. Hilaire Legion basket ball team played a return game with Holt on the home floor last Friday evening. At the end of the game the score was a tie. The teams played five minutes more with the score still a tie, but after another five minutes St. Hilaire made a basket, making the score 7 to 9 in favor of St. Hilaire.

C. H. Remington.

C. H. Remington, died Wednesday, Jan. 5 at Crookston from a lingering illness from which he had suffered for the past two years. The Remington family formerly resided at St. Hilaire, later removing to Crookston. The deceased leaves to mourn his death his widow, one son, Lloyd, two daughters, Mrs. Harry Carpenter of Crookston and Mrs. Howard Jones of Bemidji.

Lyceum Number Scores Success.

The Midland Lyceum Course under the auspices of the Athletic club gave their first number at the Imperial hall Tuesday evening. The Rainbow Girls entertained their audience with instrumental and vocal numbers which were very well rendered and enjoyed by everyone.

Christ Bothman.

Christ Bothman, prominent farmer residing two and one half miles east of St. Hilaire, died suddenly Sunday evening from heart failure. Mr. Bothman has resided here for the past 16 years and previous to his sudden death had been in apparent perfect health. He has a wide circle of friends and acquaintances who were shocked to hear of his sudden death. The deceased leaves to survive him, his widow, two daughters, Mrs. S. Benedickson of Garrison, N. D., Mrs. Dan Johnson of St. Hilaire, and two sons, Frank and William, both of this place.

Miss Selma Hoff shopped and visited at Thief River Falls Wednesday.

I Am "Granny" Chamberlain

Everybody's friend when they have coughs and colds and their children have croup and whooping cough.

Most everyone knows me. I have been going from home to home for nearly fifty years—always welcome, too, for I never fail in their hour of need.

I have helped young mothers whose babies were choking with croup, and been the comfort of parents whose children tramp to school through the wet winter weather. Many a cold and attack of bronchitis I have warded off, and thousands I have helped through the anxious moments of whooping cough. I have come to the aid of mothers and fathers when they had colds and influenza, and have been a relief to old folks suffering from bronchitis and asthma.

I have had a most varied experience; I go everywhere—among the rich and the poor, in cities and the country.

Now don't forget "Granny" Chamberlain! You will see me often now, for I am going to tell you of my experience and what can be done in your home with

WOMEN'S AUXILIARY AFTER MEMBERSHIP

Thorough Canvass to Be Made Among Relatives of Former Service Men.

The Woman's Auxiliary to the Elmer J. Eklund post of the American Legion, with a meeting of the membership committee held at the Commercial club rooms this afternoon, launched a membership drive which has been premeditated since the formation of the organization in November. Armed with a list of the names of members of the local post of the Legion, the members of the soliciting committee, which is made up of Mrs. D. W. Robinson, Mrs. T. J. Rowan, Mrs. G. H. Husby, Mrs. O. C. Sandberg, Mrs. Glen Anderson and Mrs. Oscar Melby, will make a house to house call on those eligible to membership. It is hoped that every sister, daughter, wife and mother of ex-service men and members of the Legion, may be enlisted as active members of the Woman's Auxiliary.

The present organization consists of 16 members, 12 of whom are charter members. It is thought that with the proper co-operation the membership can be increased to equal that of the Elmer J. Eklund post.

Membership fees have been set at one dollar per year. Meetings will be held on the second and fourth Wednesdays of each month, the next meeting to be held on January 19, at which time the membership committee will submit a report of progress made. It is planned to hold one meeting during the month in the afternoon and one in the evening, the latter for the benefit of employees who find it impossible to attend an afternoon meeting, but no definite announcement has been made.

The membership drive will continue indefinitely.

To Mrs. Lawrence Hermanson, Mrs. Thomas J. Rowan, Mrs. T. P. Anderson, Mrs. John Aure and Mrs. J. L. Sether, members of the Women's Auxiliary, Elmer J. Eklund Post No. 117 of the American Legion extends the most sincere thanks and appreciation for their assistance in preparing the packages of Christmas goodies which were presented to former service men who are confined to the Oakland Park sanitarium and the Physicians hospital for treatment.

A vote of thanks is also extended to Mrs. G. H. Husby, Mrs. Jens Erickson, Mrs. David W. Robinson, Mrs. O. C. Sandberg and Mrs. T. J. Rowan, members of the auxiliary committee, which so ably assisted in making the New Years Eve ball given by the post the great success that it was through conducting an advance sale of tickets.

The Times job department has a fine equipment of new material and turns out the best work on short notice.

Cosgrove Bowling Alleys Sold to Edward Carlson

Edward Carlson, formerly of St. Cloud, last week purchased of James Cosgrove the Citizens' bowling alley and billiard hall located in the Citizens' State bank building, taking possession on Monday. Mr. Cosgrove has conducted the establishment for the past year and a half. Mr. Carlson comes well qualified and recommended to conduct the business, having owned a like place of business and entertainment at St. Cloud. He has been living in this city with his family for the past months, since the establishment of the Thief River Candy Company, of which company, his son, P. M. Carlson, was part proprietor and manager.

The personnel of the bowling and billiard parlor will consist of Mr. Carlson and his two sons, P. M. and Irving. It is planned to install new equipment at an early date. The two alleys will be refinished and pool and billiard tables renovated. Tobaccos, candies and soft drinks will be dispensed as under Mr. Cosgrove's management.

Will Erect Saw Mill.

Olaf Nordhagen and Chas. Sagmoen will commence sawing lumber this spring, using the former's Titan tractor in the work. It is not yet quite decided where they will saw whether in town or at the farm of Mr. Nordhagen further south, but if enough timber can be secured it is generally understood they will saw in town also thus alleviating the hauling for those residing north of this place. There is an abundance of good standing timber in these regions and a saw mill is a fine undertaking, and will be of great assistance to the farmers.

MINNESOTA HISTORICAL SOCIETY

CREAM RECEIPTS AVERAGED $700 A DAY IN 1920

This Was Amount Paid Producers According to Creamery Secretary's Report.

Plant in This City Ranks Among the Most Successful in State of Minnesota.

Patrons' Dinner and Annual Meeting of Stockholders on Saturday, Jan. 29.

The Thief River Co-operative creamery ranks well to the fore in every respect with the most successful of the 600 co-operative creameries of Minnesota, according to the 1920 annual report submitted to patrons of the organization by Secretary Peter Engelstad thru this issue of the Times. The above comparison is made on a basis established by a summary of co-operative creamery reports, as compiled by the agricultural extension division, University farm, St. Paul.

Few creameries paid a higher price for butterfat than the average of 65.22 cents per pound paid to patrons of the local creamery during 1920. The same statement holds true of the price of 55.47 cents per pound received by the creamery for butter and the 22.4 per cent average overrun on butter churned. From the standpoint of cream, whole milk and skim milk and the butterfat contained therein, the Thief River Falls Co-operative creamery stands with the very foremost.

Community Eats $55,470 Worth.

Over one and one-half million pounds of cream alone, or an average of 4,000 pounds daily, including Sundays and holidays, were hauled to the creamery during the year 1920. In addition to the cream, 384,484 pounds of whole milk and 78,960 pounds of skim milk were received. The 1,914,979 pounds of milk and cream purchased, contained 419,680 pounds of butterfat and produced 398,289 pounds of butter. Approximately 100,000 pounds of butter were consumed locally, 94,398 pounds of which was retailed thru the stores of Thief River Falls. At the average price of 55.47 cents per pound, this consumption of butter represented an investment by the community of $55,470, or over $1,000 per week.

The decrease in butterfat produced as compared with 1919 was but one and three-quarters percent while the decrease in the gross amount of business as compared with 1919 was but two per cent, which, in view of the financial condition existing is considered as exceptional. The total cash receipts were $309,877.53 as compared with the $319,708 of 1919, showing a decrease of $10,000, for which the drop in prices is almost entirely responsible.

Patrons received over a quarter of a million dollars for cream hauled, which means that checks were issued at the rate of over $700 daily for every day of the year. Peter Engelstad, secretary of the co-operative creamery and farmer of Rocksbury township, during the year sold cream to the amount of $3,587.15; Hans Anton, Jens Kierk and Waldi Christensen each received for cream hauled during the year over $2,300; five dairymen received over $1,500; 12 more received over $1,000; while 91 others received over $500.

Shows Remarkable Growth.

The Thief River Co-operative creamery has shown a remarkable growth. Established in 1906, the total business for 1907 was slightly over $33,000 with 106,795 pounds of butterfat received. By 1912 an annual business of $40,000 was secured; in 1913, $50,000; 1914, $90,000; 1915, $120,000; 1916, $124,000; 1917, $159,000; 1918, $226,046; until in 1919 receipts reached the total of $319,701. Butterfat purchased increased proportionately.

Following the publishing of the annual report, the association will hold the annual meeting at the Commercial club rooms at 2 p. m., January 29. The usual dinner will be served at the Zion church on noon of the same day. Officers and directors of the organization are: Hans Anton, president; P. Engelstad, secretary; S. O. Lee, treasurer; Henry Pope and T. R. Rynestad, directors.

HIGH SCHOOL WINS IN SECOND DEBATE

East Grand Forks Outargued by Representatives of Lincoln High—Second Victory.

The Thief River Falls high school debating team, taking the affirmative stand on the subject, "Resolved, That the Open Shop is Preferable to the Closed Shop in Our Industrial System," won the victory from the high school debating team of East Grand Forks in a contest held in the auditorium of the Lincoln high school on Tuesday evening. The decision of the judges was two to one in favor of the affirmative. This was the second debate on the subject presented by the local debating team and the second victory. The team will debate Crookston high here on the evening of Feb. 1, taking for the first time, the negative stand. The victorious team of the coming debate will compete with two other teams for the Ninth district championship. The district champions will be obliged to enter three other debates to determine the state championship.

The debate entered into here Tuesday night was, in the opinion of the judges, an exceptionally strong one, both from the affirmative and negative standpoints. The affirmative stand fell to the lot of the local team thru the tossing of a coin several weeks ago. The team is made up of Esther Soards, Vernon Copp and Edward Fiterman and is coached by J. Nathan Pierce, principal of the high school. The opposing team was composed of Violet Ferestad, Lillian Browell and Ross Peterson, Superintendent M. C. Hayes of the East Grand Forks high school acting as their coach. Superintendent T. C. Ullering of Red Lake Falls, Superintendent M. G. Randolph of Erskine and Miss Victoria Ericson of the State Department of Labor, acted as judges.

PEARSON MURDER CASE OPENED WED.

Former Resident of Thief River Falls Charged With Cruel Murder of Infant.

Crookston, Minn., Jan. 19—Following two days and a half devoted to securing a jury, the taking of testimony started at 2 o'clock this afternoon in the case of Mrs. Martha Pearson, charged with first degree murder in connection with the freezing to death last winter of her infant child. Previous knowledge of the case by the veniremen proved the stumbling block that caused the delay in filling the jury box.

County Attorney J. E. Montague opened the case for the state by describing the details surrounding the finding of the body of the infant child.

The baby, he stated, was discovered on the morning of Feb. 8, 1920, on the roof of a shed adjoining the Commercial hotel. During the time the infant had been placed on the roof and its discovery, a thaw, followed by a freeze, had set in and the little body was frozen to the roof and only lightly covered.

The first witness called by Mr. Montague was Fred E. Asselin, acting chief of police here at the time of the alleged crime. He occupied the chair but a short time while he told of his part in viewing the body following its discovery. He was followed on the stand by Coroner Nelson, who told of the removal of the body from the roof. Following other testimony, court was adjourned until tomorrow.

It is the belief of court officials that the fate of Mrs. Pearson will be in the hands of the jury before the end of the week. Her trial will be followed by that of her husband, Arthur Pearson, who is charged with the same offense.

PICTURE THEATERS HELP HOOVER FUND

By way of assisting the moving picture theatres of the United States to raise $2,500,000 for the European Children's relief fund, H. A. Brumund, proprietor of the Lyceum and Princess theatres, will present a special matinee on Saturday afternoon, Jan. 29, the entire proceeds of which will go to the cause of the starving millions. The "Fairy and the Waif," a special children's picture, has been secured for the matinee.

A speaker of note has been secured for the next Wednesday evening show, at which time a collection will be taken up, the amount of the same also going to the relief fund. The theatre management is furnishing the house, help, the films shown, and defraying all expenses incidental to the Saturday matinee.

Moving picture exhibitors of the United States have guaranteed to raise the enormous sum of two and one-half million dollars for the Children's relief fund, every motion picture house in the country following much the same method being taken by Mr. Brumund. This action follows special conventions called at Chicago and New York during the latter part of December.

Farmers and Merchants Bank Re-Elects Officers

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Farmers' & Merchants' State bank was held Tuesday evening. A. S. Lieberman was elected a director, otherwise the directorate remains the same as during the past year. No dividends were declared. Bank officials were commended for their administration during the past and trying year.

Officials of the bank are: Robert McGinn, president; Herbert Fuller, vice president; L. A. Lampert, cashier and Miss Effie Hamry, assistant cashier. The directors are: A. S. Lieberman, John Cronkhite, Waldie Christenson, Paul Engelstad, M. T. McFarland and Louis DeCremer. F. E. McGinn, teller and D. M. McGinn, bookkeeper, complete the present personnel of the bank.

Following the business session, a banquet was served in the banking rooms to the 50 stockholders in attendance.

EXAMINATION OF DISABLED MEN ON FEB. 1 AND 2

Service Men of District Urged to Come to Thief River Falls on Above Date.

All Expenses of Trip Paid by Board, Including Fare and Board.

Arrangements Will be Made to Place Accepted Men in Training at Once.

District No. 10 of the Federal Board for Vocational Training will send a squad of men, consisting of G. E. Hardy, eligibility officer; William Rockford, contract officer; W. J. Norris, special educational advisor; and Dr. F. L. Alloway of the medical department, to Thief River Falls over February 1-2, in an effort to place all disabled ex-service men in this section of the state in training. This eligibility squad is empowered to make medical examinations, certify to official papers, advise men as to training and give them transportation to schools.

All Urged to Apply.

All this will be done while the squad is in Thief River Falls, which has been designated as headquarters for this district, including Kittson, Roseau, Marshall, Red Lake and Pennington counties. Their offices for the two day stay here will be in the Commercial club rooms on the second floor of the Citizens' State bank building.

Service men in this district who feel that they have a vocational handicap or disability are urged to consult these representatives of the Federal board when they appear here. Expenses incidental to the trip will be borne by the Federal board and men will be furnished transportation from any point in the district to Thief River Falls during the two day drive. The Evelyn hotel will accomodate them while here. Service men consulting the squad should bring with them all official military and government papers which they have in their possession, as these are necessary in order that the squad may inform them as to whether or not they are eligible to training.

Is District Headquarters.

This means that the board for vocational training is coming to the man as nearly as possible. Every disabled service man who is hindered in carrying on his pre-war occupation should receive training so that he may compete with others, states a letter from the district offices at Minneapolis. This squad is already conducting examinations in other sections of the state to see that such men get into training. It is estimated that if each ex-service man will lend his assistance, hundreds of disabled veterans in Minnesota will be placed in training within the next four weeks.

McLeod Succeeds Anderson On R.R.V.D.A. Directorate

Stuart McLeod of Cloverleaf township, prominent farmer, stockman and enthusiastic northwestern Minnesota booster, has been named to succeed A. J. Anderson as director for Pennington county in the Minnesota Red River Valley Development association. Mr. McLeod is well and favorably known all throughout this section and the selection of him for the office will be heartily commended. Mr. Anderson, through the circumstance of having taken up his residence at Grygla, necessarily has had to tender his resignation as director for Pennington county.

County Officials Attend State Meetings This Week

The Pennington county officials, Deputy Auditor Axel Risberg and Register of Deeds N. J. Anderson, are in St. Paul, having attended conventions at the old capitol building yesterday. Mr. Risberg left Thief River Falls Friday evening and Mr. Anderson on Saturday evening. The former attended the Minnesota convention of county auditors and the latter the state convention of registerers of deeds, both meetings taking place yesterday. The two officials are expected home tomorrow.

The annual conventions of county officials are looked upon with great favor. Ideas are exchanged, ways and means of handling county affairs are discussed, valuations are compared and many other items incidental to county administrations taken up in an instructive manner.

NEW BAKERY PLANT WILL LOCATE HERE

City Becomes Headquarters For Enterprise of Wide Scope and Importance.

The American System of Bakeries Inc., of Minneapolis, will establish at Thief River Falls, a modern window bakery, the same to be placed in operation within a month's time, according to a statement issued on Wednesday by G. B. Stewart, secretary of the company, who is in the city this week looking up a suitable location. Similar bakeries will also be established at Bemidji, Detroit, Warren and Crookston, Thief River Falls being designated as headquarters for the district, thruout which operations will be under the supervision of P. G. Strombo, district manager.

Mr. Strombo has been in the city the past week for the purpose of making preliminary arrangements to the taking up of his duties here and securing a residence for himself and family. G. E. Cavanaugh, who joined Mr. Strombo on Wednesday morning, will act as district sales manager. The former comes here from Stillwater, the latter from Minneapolis.

Mr. Stewart states that the bakery and equipment will be entirely in white, practically all of the operations, including the baking, to be done in the view of the public. A full line of bread, rolls and pastries will be turned out, the company to make a specialty of milk breads, birthday and wedding cakes. The establishment will be almost entirely of a retail nature.

SPECIAL ELECTION ON SCHOOL BONDS TUESDAY JAN. 25

Seventy Thousand Dollars Necessary in Order to Take Up Outstanding Warrants.

A school election has been called for Tuesday evening, January 25, for the purpose of voting to authorize the issue of school bonds approximating $70,000, which sum is necessary to take up warrants held against school district Number 18 by Thief River Falls banks. The election will be held in the municipal court rooms in the basement of the auditorium from 7 p. m. to 9 p. m. Members of the board of education state that the purposes for which this money is needed is so well understood that practically no opposition to the bond issue is anticipated.

City banks request that the school warrants be put on a cash basis because of their inability to handle them at this time. The present floating indebtedness of the school district aggregates $68,000. This indebtedness has arisen because of the increased cost of operating the schools of the district and because no increase in tax levy was made for the year 1919. The main item in the increased operating cost is the pay roll of instructors and school employees, increased salaries having been granted during the past school term. The high price of fuel, paper and general supplies, purchased before the drop in prices was in effect, is given as another cause for the present deficit.

In 1918 the school levy was $45,000, no increase being made in spite of the increased operating expenses. Seventy thousand dollars was levied for the year 1920, but this is not payable until the present year, settlements with the school district being made in March, June and November.

Interest is being paid on warrants held by city banks at the rate of 8 per cent. A rate of 6 per cent will be paid on money borrowed thru the sale of the school bonds.

BIG SONG FESTIVAL IS LYCEUM TREAT

Tuesday's Program Regarded Everywhere as One of Finest in Lyceum Course.

The New York Lyrics, a mixed quintette of talented metropolitan singers, will appear at the city auditorium here on Tuesday evening, Jan. 25, as the fourth number of the Lyceum course under the auspices of the Woman's club. Four vocalists and a pianist comprise the quintette, the coming of which promises to be one of the high water marks in music in this city. Music lovers of Thief River Falls who attended the concerts given here by the Redpath orchestra and the Elsie Baker company, the two other musical numbers included in the winter's Lyceum course, are assured a program of equal merit for Tuesday evening. The Redpath-Vawter management guarantees this attraction.

The program of the New York Lyric singers is new, many of the numbers having been especially arranged. An all-English program is promised, each number, in addition to its musical value, telling a story or expressing a sentiment for the enjoyment of the audience.

Henry Taylor, tenor, has made a great success in both light and grand opera. He was formerly a member of the Century Grand Opera company. Lillian Phelps Coryu, contralto, is credited with a voice of great natural beauty. She is a member of the choir of the Central Presbyterian church of New York city, from which she has secured a leave of absence for her present tour. George Sutton, baritone, has a voice which in richness and flexibility many critics regard as incomparable. Dorothy Seegar, soprano, comes highly praised for her fresh voice of much charm and color. Annye Black, pianist, is a southern girl. She has studied with some of the best teachers in New York and has been successful both as a soloist and an accompanist.

The Lyceum course comes to a close on Feb. 22, with the appearance here of Strickland Gillilan, one of the country's greatest humorists.

Mr. and Mrs. Nels Christianson left last evening for the twin cities where they will be the guests of friends for a few days.

ALL ARE HIT BY DROP IN VALUE OF MERCHANDISE

Retailers All Over the Country Find That Past Year Has Been Unprofitable.

Being Caught With Large Stocks at Time of Sudden Slump Causes Trouble.

Take Loss and Start Over Again is Only Way—Public Should Buy Now, is Advice.

If there is any satisfaction in having a lot of companions in misfortune the farmers of the country should feel quite well satisfied. Men in other lines of business find that not only have they been working for nothing during the past year, but also that they have cut deeply into any surplus they may have laid up previously.

While it was generally expected that the year would prove a disappointment so far as profits were concerned, very few merchants realized just how hard they had been hit until inventories were taken the first of the year. Then it was found that the drop in values left them in the hole in varying amounts, the size of the sum differing with the size of the business.

Simply Marked Off.

In order to get back to a sound working basis merchants everywhere marked their goods at current quotations when inventorying. In nearly every instance this meant a direct loss, the wares having been bought at a time when the price range was much higher. Here in Thief River Falls, at least, the merchants decided to take their medicine all in one dose and follow the market downward rather than take chances on an advance later. As a result they start clean with the new year.

A Very Easy Descent.

To the person not himself engaged in business, it may be a hard matter to understand how a merchant can run behind anywhere from $10,000 to $25,000 in a year, particularly when people are doing a lot of buying, but it is an easy matter. Say for instance, that he has sense enough to follow the market upward and make his legitimate advances as things go higher. He finds that what he sells must be replaced at a price in advance of that which he received for the article sold. He adds the proper profit on the basis of the new purchase price and sells again. He keeps this up for a while. Suddenly the bottom drops out and the merchant finds himself with a lot of high-priced goods on hand. His previous profits are all in the goods he still retains and these must be sold at a loss. And that last loss is what counts. The size of it depends on how quickly he can dispose of the wares he holds and he makes at times desperate price sacrifices in order to turn them into cash. That is the situation of nearly every business man—big and little—in the United States today.

The buying public very often fails to understand this angle of the merchandising game and seems to think that a constantly rising market is an unmixed blessing for the merchant. Very often it proves his undoing instead.

Now All Can Help.

Such being the case, what is to be done about it? The merchant has gone as far as he can in order to bring things back to where they belong. It is now up to the purchaser. If the latter will buy what he needs now instead of waiting until later he will help solve the industrial problem in this country. Not only will he make it easier for the business man to get back into his proper stride, but he will be helping out his fellow workers and fellow farmers in all parts of the country. An increased demand starts factories running and in turn the people employed in their operation buy the products of the farmer. It makes no difference at which end production stops—such condition eventually proves disastrous to all alike. In a sense it may be claimed that the farmer and workingman can best help himself by using his full quota of the products of factories, as in this manner he will be enabling those who produce the things he buys to buy the things he produces. Sitting tight and refusing to buy anything at this time is unwise, unpatriotic and helps retard the return of normal times.

A Good Time to Buy.

The person who is wise, instead of holding back, will take advantage of present conditions to secure what is liable to be needed in the near future. It must be remembered that prices cannot fall much lower without upsetting conditions a great deal worse than they are at present. If wages are forced down through lack of orders it will react to the detriment of every person residing in a farming community, as the buying power of the city man will be reduced in exact ratio with his pay check. He will buy less flour and pork and potatoes as a consequence and this will adversely affect the farmer.

The thing to do in order to get back to normal is live normally. Spend nothing foolishly but buy what is required as under ordinary circumstances. That is all needed in order to bring back good times.

Stag Party For U. C. T. Men Saturday Evening

Oscar C. Olson, Adolph Gabrielson and Julian Provencher gave a stag card party and smoker for members of the local order of United Commercial Travelers at the Evelyn hotel on Saturday evening. Following several hours of play at the card tables, a Dutch luncheon was served buffet style, Mr. Provencher offering a toast to absent members during its course. One of the features of the evening was a full hour of vocal selections presented as an extemporaneous part of the evenings entertainment by the Quaxorinctic male sextette, made up principally by U. T. C's., from their table in one corner of the dining hall.

About 45 guests were in attendance. Among out-of-town travelers present were: J. Englebret of Bronson; J. N. Preus, W. A. Mawer and Charles Glen of St. Paul; T. G. Bell of Duluth and J. Levinson of Brooklyn, N. Y.

COUNTY BANKERS ARE OPTIMISTIC

Discuss Topics of Day at Quarterly Banquet and Meeting Held on Wednesday.

The Pennington County Bankers association held its quarterly meeting at Thief River Falls on Wednesday. A 7:30 banquet dinner was served to the 26 members in attendance, at the Brumund hotel. D. E. Tawney, brother of the late Congressman Jas. A. Tawney of Winona, was the guest of honor and responded to the toastmaster's request with a very interesting talk. Mr. Tawney is a resident of Winona and financially interested in banks at Greenbush, Badger and Roseau.

Directly following the banquet, the business session of the meeting was held in the directors' room of the Citizens State bank. A general discussion of banking topics of the day took place. County bankers present expressed themselves as taking an optimistic view of the present financial situation and that conditions are better in Northwestern Minnesota than in the southern part of the state and in Iowa, there having been no land boom here to inflate values.

Members of the association in attendance from points in the county were: Nick Bundhund and H. B. Rockne of Goodridge; Paul Bergie and E. C. Karwand of Hazel, and Thomas H. Smith and Walter Smith of Mavie. The Thief River Falls banks were well represented.

COMMERCIAL CLUB ELECTION THURS.

Nominating Committee Has Selected Two Candidates For Each Office to be Filled.

Following the weekly noon-day luncheon of the Commercial club at the club rooms on Thursday, it was announced in a brief business session that the annual election of officers would be held on Thursday, Jan. 27. It is to be determined at the luncheon of today whether or not the ballot will remain open all day or whether the election will take place during the noon hour or at an evening dinner served in the club rooms.

A nominating committee has been appointed. It has been suggested that two nominations for president, first vice president, second vice president, treasurer and five directors be submitted. The secretary for the coming year is appointed by the new executive board following the annual meeting of the club and installation of officers on Thursday, Feb. 10, at which time a banquet may be given. It is planned that the above named offices shall be filled in a manner to secure, as far as possible, representation of the jobbing, manufacturing, financial, retail, professional and agricultural interests of the community, in addition to a representation from the locality at large.

Thief River Soldier Weds While Serving in Germany

William Midderigh, son of Fire Chief Paul Midderigh, now serving with the American army of occupation at Coblenz, Germany, surprised his father the other day by announcing that he had married while on the other side and would one of these days "bring home the finest little girl in the world." The young man is now with Company C, First Artillery Signal corps and his term of service will soon be at an end, when he expects to return to God's country with his wife.

"Bill," as he was familiarly known to all acquaintances, was the first man to enlist from Thief River Falls at the outbreak of the war, serving throughout with the Third ammunition train. Upon being mustered out he paid a short visit to his father here and re-enlisted for a three-year period.

Officers Selected For Goodridge Mercantile Co.

The stockholders of the Goodridge Mercantile company, at their meeting in this city last week, re-elected all the former officers, as follows: Theo. Gilbertson, president; Rasmus Oen, vice president; M. G. Thorson, secretary and treasurer. Theo. Gilbertson, Rasmus Oen, Edward Ness, M. G. Thoreson and E. K. Ansen were chosen as directors.

PERSONAL TAX INCREASE FELT HEAVIEST HERE

Business Houses Hit Rather Hard by Reason of Advance in Value of Merchandise.

Rate a Trifle Lower Than Last Year But Valuations More Than Make This Up.

Official List Shows Slight Increase in Number of Taxpayers in County.

The personal property tax list, as submitted for the year 1920 by County Treasurer John Gullingsrud and appearing officially in The Times today, contains 2076 names, an increase over last year of 68. Out of this total number of taxpayers 514, or practically one-fourth, are residents of Thief River Falls. This is a falling off of ten names during the year. The village of St. Hilaire gained six while Goodridge village lost four. Deer Park and Silverton townships remain stationary while slight decreases are noted in Goodridge, North, Polk Centre, Reiner, Smiley and Star townships.

Following will be found a comparison of the standing in the townships for the two years:

	1920	1919
Bray	46	41
Black River	47	46
Cloverleaf	54	50
Deer Park	61	61
Goodridge twp.	27	29

Increase is General.

Personal property taxes in Thief River Falls are higher than a year ago as a general rule, although the rate is two-tenths of a mill lower. This is particularly noticeable where it applies to business houses and is to a large extent chargeable to the increased value of the goods handled, it being doubtful if stocks have been very much increased over a year ago. There are 20 concerns whose tax bill exceeds $500; in eight instances it is over the $1000 mark, and two companies will have to pay more than $2000. Those heading the list are as follows:

Oen Mercantile Co.	$2,841.96
Thief River Grocery Co.	2,094.04
Loken Brothers	1,802.46
Larson Furniture Co.	1,643.01
The Tessum Co.	1,437.14
Winton-Nichols Lbr. Co.	1,326.84
Hanson-Barzen Milling Co.	1,162.16
Farmers and Merchants Bank	1,140.33
Standard Oil Co.	982.72
McFarland Auto Co.	858.05
First and Peoples Bank	849.18
A. S. Lieberman	697.12
Citizens State Bank	656.51
The Prichard Company	589.21
C. Gustafson & Son	583.66
Northern Woodwork Co.	570.52
The Supero Co.	523.13
C. Froseth	521.45
Times Ptg. & Mfg. Co.	511.47
Manhattan Oil Co.	503.53

Municipalities Pay High.

Compared to the farming sections, people residing in the city and villages fare badly when it comes to assessing taxes. St. Hilaire, located in School District No. 102, pays the highest assessment, the figure there being 97 mills. Goodridge village in School District No. 8 comes next with 92.3 mills. These are followed by Thief River Falls, District No. 18, where the rate is 89.2 mills. The lowest rate in the county is enjoyed by residents of District No. 124 in Polk Center township, their rate being 27.9 mills.

Only one actual farmer in the county will have personal property taxes of over $100. He is N. E. Beebe of Rocksbury township and his assessment is $169.15.

Goodridge School District Will Hold Bond Election

School district number 8, in which is located the village of Goodridge, is planning to hold a special election soon and ask for authorization to issue bonds in the sum of $10,000 in order to take up outstanding warrants and provide funds for carrying on the work during the remainder of the year. Advancing costs of everything pertaining to school work has caused a deficit in the amount made available by the last budget and banks have notified the officers that it will no longer be possible for them to carry the warrants. The situation is exactly as in Thief River Falls and thousands of other communities throughout the country.

The exact date for holding the election has not yet been set.

SEASON'S GREATEST GAME IS EXPECTED

Legion Basket Ball Team Goes Against Grand Forks Y. M. C. A. Friday Night.

The Legion basket ball quintette will meet the Grand Forks Y. M. C. A. team at the city auditorium here on Saturday night in a game that should prove one of the fastest of the season. Fans who witnessed the Fosston-Thief River Falls game here on the evening of Jan. 7 are cancelling all other engagements for Saturday night in order to get out and help the Legionnaires put across another victory. The game will begin promptly at 8:15.

The Grand Forks "Y" team has acquired the reputation of being composed of well trained and clean players. They have been playing some of the best teams of the Northwest, including that of the University of North Dakota, to which they went down to defeat in a one-sided game last Friday night.

The local Legion team has played but two games this season, both of which were hard fought battles, yet decisive victories. Coach G. W. Connell has been putting his players through nightly work-outs since the game with Company I of the Crookston National Guard a week ago, at which time they were already in fine fettle. Their two victories have brought the team recognition from all over the state, challenges being received daily.

SPECIAL SCHOOL ELECTION.

School District No. 18 of Pennington county needs about $70,000 more than is now available in order to pay running expenses during the present year. In this respect District No. 18 is in the same fix as nearly all other districts in the state. It will be necessary to raise the money by issuing bonds and there must be authorized by the voters. The purpose of the loan and the reason for its having to be made are so well understood that there is hardly a question but what it will be sanctioned.

The trouble is that school districts are helpless in the face of rising costs. There is no way in which such contingency may be anticipated and provision made for meeting it. A budget is presented to the voters in July of each year covering the expenses of the district as estimated by the directors, and this fixes the amount which may under any circumstances be raised by taxation for that particular year. When something happens to send costs away up beyond the point covered by the budget the district has to operate on its credit the same as any other business. This is by no means an unusual proceeding and is but lightly regarded under ordinary circumstances. This year, however, the situation is somewhat different. Banks are carrying all the school district paper they can handle and cash must be raised in order to keep our educational system functioning.

The deficit is due in a large degree to the increase in teachers' wages since the last school election. In granting these advances the board only followed the lead of other districts and there is no disposition on the part of anyone to criticize the act. In fact, the demand that teachers' wages be raised was very general throughout the district even before the board took such step. Other expenses have steadily gone up and there has been absolutely nothing the board could do to keep them down. This left the district short of money with which to operate and we will simply have to borrow.

Our people have never yet failed to act favorably on a request for money for school purposes and there is no danger of their doing so now. The situation is by no means confined to Thief River Falls of Pennington county but is general throughout the entire country.

THEY CAN'T BE SERIOUS.

Legislators do funny things sometimes. Occasionally a proposition comes up for consideration having seemingly no other purpose than to find out just what people think of it. This was perhaps the idea in introducing a bill which, if enacted into law, would make it compulsory for railroads to carry members of the legislature on official business free of charge. If the purpose in introducing the measure was the discovery of just what the people thought about it there is no question of its success.

Perhaps no bill introduced in late years has received such unanimous and heartfelt condemnation on the part of the press. Most papers consider the matter a joke, refusing to believe that any member of the legislative body would seriously consider asking the railroads to perform services for the state or its servants without being paid therefor. As a matter of fact, no such arrangement could be legally entered into, even though both parties were willing.

Except where officials or employes of a railroad are involved, there is no such thing as a "free pass." Any time such favor is extended to persons other than those mentioned it means that in some manner it is being paid for. Consequently it will be very much better both for the state and the legislators personally if such payment is made in cash. There have been free pass scandals enough in the past to satisfy the demand for some time.

As the St. Paul Dispatch says: "There is no more reason why a member of the legislature should ride free than that he should be given free meals in a cafe or hold up the corner dealer for a free cigar."

OUTLOOK MORE CHEERING.

The most cheering news in months comes from cities wherein large automobile factories are located. It is to the effect that next month will see the larger plants resuming business on full time while a majority of the smaller ones will be back at work on part time at least.

It is officialy announced that the Ford Motor company will resume operations in full on Feb. 17, and this is expected to be the forerunner of a general resumption. What this means may be gathered from the fact that the shutdown of automobile factories has keep 100,0000 men idle in Detroit alone.

From the East comes the news that woolen mills generally are resuming the manufacture of cloth and that the corporations owning these enterprises have decided to take a loss on the goods now on hand in order to stimulate sales and help bring trading back to normal. While this can hardly be expected to have much effect on the price of stocks now on hand in stores, it means that the employes will be put to work without delay, and this after all is the most important consideration.

With the opening of spring there is certain to be a greater demand for men and materials in the building trades. The country is miles behind on its construction program and if material prices are at all within reason there should be a brisk demand for both men and supplies. Prices have been steadily dropping and those in a position to know believe that the bottom has been reached, at least for the present. They point out that the finished product cannot fall much below the cost of production and maintain that this point has now been reached.

There is a better feeling noted everywhere, particularly in industrial lines. If a somewhat better price and a more sustained demand for agricultural products can be brought about it will be but a very short time until everything is again going forward at its usual gait.

IDEA LOOKS GOOD.

Secretary Houston states that the country will have to provide $4,000,000,000 in order to meet governmental expenses next year and as this represents an average payment of $40 for every man, woman and child in the United States a good deal of consideration is being given the matter.

A plan which is receiving most favorable mention is that proposed by the National Retail Dry Goods association. In many respects it is different from any yet advanced and has features that will appeal to persons upon whom the tax as now collected falls with considerable hardship.

One feature in particular will strike the average man as being fair and equitable. It is proposed that a federal poll tax of five dollars be imposed on every person over 21 years of age who receives an independent income. Income tax exemptions, it is proposed, would be raised from $1000 to $2000 for unmarried persons and from $2,000 to $5,000 for heads of families. All business of whatsoever nature would be allowed an exemption of $5,000.

Among the other recommendations in the program submitted are: Income from salaries, wages, bonuses and commissions should not be taxed at so high a rate as income from business and investments. Income derived from business, whether individual, partnership or corporate, should be taxed on the business itself and be subject to no additional tax when distributed to partners or stockholders. All other incomes, including profit from the sales of capital assets, should be taxed at a higher rate than income from business and in a still higher degree than income from manual or mental effort. There should be a tax on gross sales of all goods sufficient, when added to all other taxes proposed in the program and including customs receipts, to aggregate the required $4,000,000,000.

The program would eliminate from the present revenue act the excess profits tax, surtaxes on individuals, taxes on transportation, insurance, admission dues and on non-alcoholic beverages and special and capital stock taxes, stamp taxes and certain excise taxes.

The most important item in the above program is the tax on all merchandise sales. It is estimated that a one per cent tax will yield an annual revenue of $1,816,500,000. The tax would doubtless be passed on to the consumer by the merchant, but even in that event it would not assume the nature of a hardship. One thing in connection with the proposal must be admitted—it would distribute the burden and provide a plan of collection that would not be as costly and troublesome as that at present employed.

WHERE A FEAST AWAITS.

Mr. Tired Business Man (though the adjective does not imply that any "untired" of the species is to consider himself slighted) there's a world of wealth in many forms awaiting you at the Carnegie public library.

Don't you once in a while reach home after a strenuous day, have your supper or dinner, as the case may be, and wonder what to do with yourself? Authorities, medical and otherwise, agree that reading is one of the greatest relaxations known for nerves as well as body. The wife or the daughter, or both, does up the dishes, and, if the evening is to be spent at home, both find amusement at the piano, with sewing, or immersed in a periodical or book. You probably aren't a musician and you never did give a hurrah about sewing, and maybe a magazine article or a book strikes you as difficult to become interested in.

Sometime during an afternoon or early evening stop in at the Carnegie and ask for any book under the sun. Courteous young ladies are in attendance and have expressed the hope that some day you would take advantage of the exceptional reading material that lies in wait for you there. They will assist you to the utmost of their ability in finding the volume for which you seek, and if it can't be found, will recommend something "just as good." After having secured something readable—you will be offered a great variety to select from—all you have to do is to lug it home. Then after the evening meal or on a Sunday afternoon you can get your feet out of those pinching shoes, yourself into a smoking jacket or sweater (Slippers and smoking jacket, again, are not necessary equipment for the evening's entertainment. Socked feet and suspendered body are just as comfortable, only the wife might insist that you be right up to style—you know how it is), crawl into an easy chair and go to it. Maybe you will light your pipe or cigar now and then, but nine chances out of ten you will become so interested that you will forget to do either.

That world of wealth at the library does offer itself in many forms: Maybe you prefer books of travel; there are no better than "Stoddard's Lectures" and they will take you into any country and nation on the face of the earth and in so entertaining a fashion that you will not realize that you are reading plain old geography. "History of the Nations" and "Beacon Lights of History" offer you ancient, modern, un-modern, American and every other kind of history in the same entertaining manner. The complete set of "Famous American Statesmen and Orators" will furnish you with a short, snappily-stated biography of every American statesman or orator from Adams to Washington or Wirt. Maybe there is something you always wanted to look up in the Congressional Records. The young ladies will assist you in finding what you want.

You'll find books on office practise, stenography, finance and general marketing. You'll find a complete volume of "President Wilson's Great Speeches" and a complete "Businessmen's Encyclopedia." You will have, no matter what you may be looking for, 8,000 volumes to select from.

Did you ever look into the quaint philosophy of Omar Khayyam? Omar was a gay old bird and did like his liquor and his good time, but the wife hadn't ought to kick, for there's nothing harmful in the volume of his poems and teachings.

Short stories?

Oh man!

O. Henry's short stories all have a real kick in them. Read his "A Blackjack Bargain" and you'll be an O. Henry reader for life. And you don't know what a funny story is until you have read Kipling's "The Uprising of Krishna Mulvaney." Kipling also wrote some regular "he" poetry.

Fiction?

You'll find some amazing books to choose from written by the greatest of fiction writers gifted with names from Abbott, C. A. to Zangwill, Israel. Authors of whom you never heard (neither had the writer until he interviewed the librarian) and who possess the power to portray any situation from the humorous by Lincoln to the blood-curdling by London, Grey or a dozen others. You'll not find any trouble in being suited no matter what your taste in fiction may be, live Western, mystery, industrial or just straight love affairs.

War stories and rope have been just a trifle overworked but "The Amazing Interlude" by Mary Roberts Rheinhart (Maybe you think it funny a woman could write a book like that; but, man, she sure can write), will make you sit up and take notice. "The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse" is perhaps the most amazing and staggering volume in the local library. And it isn't half as dangerous as it sounds and you certainly wouldn't find it dull reading. Ibanez, the Spaniard who wrote the original from which it was translated, certainly did know Paris before the war and after the war, and he certainly must have been in the war. It is the most talked of book in the country today. Try it and you'll talk about it with the rest.

EFFERVESCENCE

"A place used to be judged by the number of saloons it possessed; now it's the number of stills.

Many a man is making use of these dull times to wear out his supply of gorgeous Christmas ties and socks.

The Grand Forks Herald conducts a column entitled "Flicker Tales." They are "Tufft-ed," as it were.

Oolai states that every time he hears a jazz band or orchestra, he thinks of the old days here when the Indian tom-toms used to beat over on Squaw Point.

Ernest Thompson Seton states that women's fashions are moving in the right direction. Good Heavens, we thought it was about time for them to turn around and start back!

The Kaiser and his son are to be kicked out of Holland apparently, and we hasten to direct them to the island of Molokai, on of the Hawaiian group.

Here's a New Solution.

(Warroad Pioneer.)

We believe that eventually the problem of teachers in our country schools will be settled by inducing the older men—those beyond fifty-five or sixty—to take up the work. The change would be a great improvement. Grandpa with his wealth of wisdom and common sense, learned by his many years in active work, could give the younger generation a much better education than the girls just out of school are doing. And he would enjoy it.

MUCH WORK LEFT FOR AUXILIARY MEMBERS IN HELPING SOLDIERS

President Hiescher Makes Stirring Appeal to Mothers, Wives and Sisters of Former Service Men—Many Need Aid.

In a ringing appeal to Minnesota Auxiliary units outlining to them her plan for the years' work and urging them to concentrate on the accomplishment of three things, namely increase of memberhip and total number of units, passage of legislation beneficial to former service men, and untiring devotion to the interest of sick and disabled soldiers, Dr. Helen Hughes Hielscher, president of the Minnesota Legion Auxiliary, has written them in part as follows:

"'In numbers there is power,' and therefore I appeal to executive committee members and unit officers and to each auxiliary member in Minnesota to earnestly campaign for the establishment of new units and the enrolling of new members during 1921, so that every Minnesota woman who stood behind her boy or brother or husband in war, may hav an opportunity to stand behind him in peace.

"In the hospitals are many men who, while being healed in body, are being murdered in soul by the pinch of poverty imposed on them by the failure of the compensation office to function satisfactorily. They are without money and in many acses they are without such things as warm socks, scarfs, sweaters, mittens, helmets, etc., for wear on the sleeping porches—things that our women would be proud and happy to supply were there some direct system for doing it. We have that system, but already it is almost swamped in its efforts to solve this problem. Therefore we must have more units and more members to help us carry on this noble work. We have no money to pay extra help and our only hope for funds lies in the formation of new units. So we want the mothers, wives, sisters and daughters of Legion members all over the state to come to our aid by establishing Women's Auxiliary units to the nearby Legion posts, so that they too may have a chance to do their duty by those who fought so well for them."

COUNTRY GENERALLY GOING BACK TO WORK; INDUSTRIES RESUME

Reports From Mid-West States Show That Labor is Being Employed in Nearly All the Principal Industries. Automobile Factories Resume.

Unemployment is on the decrease in the middle west, according to a survey just completed by the department of labor for Illinois, Wisconsin, Michigan, Ohio and Indiana. The number of unemployed in the Chicago district is 90,000, the survey showed. Previous estimates placed the number of unemployed at 200,000.

A survey of industrial centers shows the textile mills have registered the largest resumption so far. Thus the revival satrts where the depression began.

New London, Conn., reported a general reopening of its factories, mostly on full time. Philadelphia reported its textile mills were resuming operations, most of them at full time. At Falls River, Mass., 5,000 workers went back to the looms and the resumption throughout New England was reported quite general. At Altoona, Pa., the silk mills reopened at 50 per cent capacity; at Asheville, N. C., cotton mills employing 5,000 went to full time; at Layfayette, Ga., cotton mills reopened at full time; at Biddeford, Me., mills with 6,000 workers went to four days operation a week, where they had been running three.

In the automotive cities factories are slowly starting up. Many of the reopenings at New Year indicated little or nothing because many shops of various sorts closed down for a week or two at Christmas time for inventory and repairs. But, in the last week or so, several plants have reported a real quickening of activities.

Detroit still reports some 100,000 unemployed—but the automobile business looks for a large resumption within a few weeks and, by February or March, manufacturers expect factories to be hitting a good speed. They look for a big replacement business.

ADVERTISING IS MORE NECESSARY THAN EVER IS EXPERT'S OPINION

Cutting Publicity Appropriations at This Time Regarded as Serious Mistake—Advertising is Only Way to Move Stocks.

Advertising should be maintained and not cut at this time when manufacturers are seriously overstocked, according to Stanley E. Cunnison, a director of the Brooklyn Chamber of Commerce, writing in the current issue of the Brooklyn Chamber of Commerce Bulletin.

"We have come to a period critical in the growth and even existence of many business houses," says Mr. Cunnison. "Decisions that are made today will be determining factors in the success or failure of the years to come.

"The greatest and most successful concerns have always been the most consistent advertisers. Mindful of the lessons of the past, they safeguard the present and anticipate the future.

"Yet today we hear businessmen talking of curtailing their advertising at a time when they are overstocked with goods and are undersold to the extent of thousands of dollars."

Country Approaching End of Readjustment Period Is Conviction of Experts

(Minneapolis Journal.)

The pendulum of business which had swung so far up toward high prices and feverish activity, has been for some months swinging back again toward nominal prices. The question is, How far will the swing of the pendulum take it before it pauses and begins the backward swing?

This is substantially the question the Review of Reviews asked of a number of expert observers, some of them practical leaders in industry and some of them more academic students of economic trends. The answers make an instructive symposium in the January number.

It is significant and reassuring that every one of the participants in the discussion believes that the end of the period of readjustment is approaching. Most of them believe that spring will see the turn in the tide.

Irving Fisher, professor of political economy at Yale, thinks the latter half of 1921 will be a period of prosperity, but without a return to prewar price levels. There has been a permanent dislocation of these levels by two agencies—the expansion of credit by the Federal Reserve system and the inflow of gold because of the war. Both of these are here to stay.

Warren M. Persons, professor of economics at Harvard, picks April as the likely month for business revival to begin. By that time present stocks of goods, not large now, will be lower still and demand will grow. Prices, he tells us, will not reach the pre-war level and wages will somewhat tardily follow them downward. But passage of a soldiers' bonus bill and issue of government bonds to finance the payments would lead to credit and price inflation.

Elbert H. Gary, head of the Steel Corporation, urges caution, wisdom and courage. Employers who seek readjustment of labor costs should, he thinks, bear always in mind that the welfare of their employees is a matter of the first importance.

A. Barton Hepburn, head of the Chase-National bank of New York, says that a year ago everybody was helping inflation, blind to the inevitable fall of prices. Now people, going to the other extreme, are curtailing too much. He finds our sound financial condition a greatly alleviating feature of the situation.

A banker on the other side of the Continent, Frank B. Anderson, head of the Bank of California, San Francisco, names six things we need to bring back normal times: A revenue law that will reward the results of saving and punish spending; absorption of undigested Liberty bonds; giving to consumers the benefit of the drastic declines in raw materials, lower wages, minimized by enhanced efficiency; restoration of foreign trade; funding of the Government's debts on a long time basis.

That is a striking program, but quite within reach. And Mr. Anderson thinks it need not take long to accomplish, as there is a world of work to be done when material and labor get on a reasonable basis.

It is the expectation of Samuel H. Hedges, president of the Seattle Chamber of Commerce, that the present readjustment will induce people to come back to the land for the production of elemental necessities.

Wage cost, Daniel Willard, president of the Baltimore & Ohio, points out, includes not only actual rates of wages paid, but also the efficiency of the worker. He sees a reduction in wage cost already, through the enhanced efficiency of the worker and he expects wages to show a downward trend to keep along with prices of materials.

Two editors contribute their opinions, Clark Howell of the Atlanta Constitution and William C. Edgar of the Northwestern Miller, Minneapolis. Mr. Young expects to see a reaction under full headway by spring. Mr. Edgar is no less optimistic, if not so definite. He believes that America, which has met every emergency since 1914 with fine intelligence and spirit, is not going to be daunted by the last problem following the great war—the readjustment to normal. And it will be solved quicker, if every one, realizing that the days of lush extravagance are over, faces the music courageously.

Samuel P. Colt, head of the United States Rubber Company, expects that current readjustments will in the next six months merge into substantially normal times.

These views of the situation and the prospect are reassuring, because they are not the rosy dreams of inveterate optimists, but the considered opinions of men who are accustomed to look the facts in the face.

We have still some weeks of industrial and commercial unsteadiness ahead of us, but the upturn may be closer at hand than we think. It may come with all the suddenness that marked the downturn last spring. Everyone of us has the power to help recovery by acting with common sense.

The Times job department has a fine equipment of new material and turns out the best work on short notice.

NEW CASHIER FOR BIG PIANO FIRM

When the Stone Piano Co. of Minneapolis, needed a new cashier, they appointed J. A. Sandgren, a graduate of Dakota Business College, Fargo, N. D. The company had always had "good luck" with D. B. C. students at their Fargo branch house.

Dakota Business College has a wide reputation for turning out first-class workers—there are never too many. The Cleveland State Bank took on A. J. Rheaume as assistant cashier before finishing his course.

OBSERVATIONS.

(W. T. Noonan in Baudette Region.)

If wages for female help continue to drop the maid will soon be known as the hired girl again.

A shipment of bootleg liquor was discovered in a coffin the other day. What could be more appropriate?

New Year's isn't what it used to be since the pump handle became a corkscrew.

Anyway the police of the Twin Cities appear to be very successful in keeping the jails free of criminals.

There is one thing to be said in favor of high-priced Texas land. You don't have to buy it.

The motto of the average movie actress appears to be to never put off until tomorrow what she can take off today.

The legislature can save a lot of money for the state if it fires the proposed unpaid Babcock road commission before it hires them.

The Region starts off 1921 in a very prosperous condition. Never before have our delinquent subscribers owed us so much money.

"Woman Accused As Bootleg," says a headline. It's a rough way of putting it. They might have at least called her a "bootlimb."

The older ladies who criticise the younger ones for wearing short skirts have short memories. They forget when they used to bicycle along the roads in bloomers.

Our One Cold Day.

This section passed thru the worst storm of this season on Saturday night and Sunday. The loose snow of Saturday was driven into drifts by a 30 mile wind, which abated Sunday evening. Wire communication and train service were but slightly affected. Thermometers on Monday morning registered as low as 26 degrees.

Quality Now Counts More Than Ever

During this period of readjustment there is danger of a large quantity of inferior goods being foisted on the public. Particularly is this true in the furniture line. Be sure you are getting what you pay for. This can best be done by trading at stores of known dependability.

Whatever happens, this store will never cut quality. Our business has been built up on the theory that the best to be had for the money expended is what our customers are entitled to. We shall continue to do business on that theory.

New Subjects Offered.

The first semester of the school year 1920-1921 comes to a close Jan. 21st. State exams will be given in the half year subjects Thursday and Friday, Jan. 20th and 21st. Mid-year exams will also be given in the full year subjects.

The present management of the high school is showing its progressiveness by adding several very valuable courses to the curriculum for the second semester. The following new courses are to be offered for the first time:

Social Science by Mr. Melby. This is a study of present day social conditions; their cause and probable effect. After the great war social problems have been the chief source of our national troubles. We have the so-called Red menace, with its Socialists, Bolsheviks and the deportation question; we have the negro problem; labor troubles are keeping our industrial system on a war basis two years after the cessation of hostilities. It is entirely fitting that the high school students of today will be the guiders of our national policies of tomorrow—should study these apparent evils and the Social Science course will cover them as fully as possible. This course is to be open to Juniors and Seniors and Sophomores who have been taking Industrial History.

Home Equipment is to be taught by Miss Johnson, as an addition to the Domestic Science course. This covers home equipment, home decoration and home planning. The students will work on actual house plans and will receive practical instructions in furnishing and decorating a home, so as to get a proper blending of colors and a corresponding combination of furniture.

Another very valuable addition to our curriculum is a course in Retail Selling. Commercial Law will be taught by Miss Swift if there is a great enough demand for it.

T. R. F. vs. Warroad.

The basketball game last Friday at the auditorium in this city between the Warroad high school and the local high school proved to be a decided victory for the local team, the game ending with a score of 64 to 4.

The Warroad team seemed lost in the large space of play as they have been accustomed to a very much smaller gym. Their failure in securing but few baskets is possibly due to this fact. They were very much lighter in weight than the local boys, but still showed signs of good fighting to gain their end.

From the time the ball was snapped to the close of the game the local players were right on their toes, working fast and exhibited good team work throughout the game. In many instances our boys would shoot baskets with such speed and accuracy that the score keeper hardly had time to mark for one basket before another was made.

Paranteau showed remarkable skill, securing 18 of the 32 baskets shot by the local boys. Ralston is also deserving of credit for making 9 baskets. The rest of the baskets are credited to LaBree, Herron, Olson and Coyle.

The locals had nine of the large list of aspirants in line for play at the game and all of them succeeded in playing a part of it. The lineup was as follows:

Collins	F	Ralston
Holland	F	Olson
Widsten	C	Paranteau
Gordon	G	Herron
Fox	G	LaBree

The local team's substitutes were: McDaniel, Sundahl, Anderson, Coyle and Dolan.

G. W. Connell, coach of the American Legion team, refereed the game.

Next Friday the boys will leave on a two day's trip, playing at Argyle with the high school there and with the Warren high school at Warren on Saturday on the return trip.

It has been reported that both Argyle and Warren have undergone stiff practicing and have strong teams, but we have seen our team in action and have decided from that that they will come back Saturday evening victorious.

Coach Tonnemanson has selected eight of his list of aspirants for the two games and we have perfect confidence in that they will bring back the victorious banner.

Between halves the Sophomores sold sandwiches. This served to enliven the spectators for the second half. The proceeds from these two sales will be applied to the deficit of last year's annual debt.

Stock Judging Contest.

The Thief River Falls high school shows good prospects of again retaining the Silver Cup this year which was won in the years 1917 and 1919 at Crookston by the high school stock judging teams.

A meeting of this year's judging group was held last week and there is fine material for a champion team. In spite of the fact that the school treasury is short of funds, the boys who constitute the team are willing to pay their own expenses that they may show their judging ability.

Personals.

Miss Mealy in Math. 1 class: "I want you to be here today, not later than tomorrow."

Reuben A. (studying latin just after vacation): "This is just like Greek to me."

Edward Fiterman certainly is developing the debating spirit these days, even with the fair sex (as he puts it): "Can you imagine?"

Mr. Pierce (speaking about the annual pictures): "When I changed my way of living I decided to dispose of some of them."

Mr. Ziegler: "I hid mine!"

Things are happening in this country that seem impossible to most of us. Ernest B. said in Industrial History class yesterday that some day we will receive fruit from California a day or so before it is picked. Marvelous, don't you think?

Ask May Belle Swanson and Nora Lindquist if the water was wet down in the gym last Tuesday.

The Public Speaking class are making great progress. Mr. Pierce foresees a class to be proud of. He expects by the end of the year to have some real public speaking.

Howard and Lois Struble spent the week end visiting at the home of their parents near Mavie.

Harold Smithers has not returned to school since the Christmas vacation as he has been laid up with a mild case of mumps. It has been suggested that Harold sign up with Barnum & Bailey. We are sure, if he would, that he might meet with immense success.

Having listened in at the Boys' Glee club practice Tuesday night we decided that "Dovey Doland" couldn't have been there.

Jordan Penney, a member of this year's Senior class, is visiting in the cities. According to word received from different students, Jordan is having "some" time.

Have you seen all the diamonds? ? at the jewelers?

The first two rows of seats in Journalism are filled—with students. All are after "As" eh?

Kapers of the Kubs.

Miss Elliott: "State the Monroe Doctrine; you can state it in two words."

Fat: "Yes, but I can't think of the words."

Miss Patrick in Eng. III: "What relation was James I to Queen Elizabeth, Pearl?"

Pearl: "Her nephew."

Miss Patrick: "No; Bertha do you know?"

Bertha: "Her son, wasn't it?"

Saying his Grace
Before feeding his face.
He ate so much mace
He had to unlace
His shoes to make place.
You may ask in dismay
How much does he weigh
And we can safely say
That he gained on that day
So that he hires a dray
His weight to convey.

Bert U.: "I'd call it a Cavalry Spider."

Miss Svedal: "Why?"

Brilliant Alumnus whose name we had better not mention: "Call him 'Boob' and then he'll come."

Nurse Notes.

In contact infection the germ may be transferred from one individual to another in many ways:

1. Droplet Infection—A spray of mucous droplets is thrown from the mouth during the acts of sneezing, coughing, forceful speaking etc. This spray may be thrown a distance of six feet. One can readily imagine the danger of the crowd, especially during the "infection cold" season.

2. Hand to Mouth Infection—Dr. H. W. Hill, who until recently was Executive Secretary of the M. P. H. A., contends that this is the most common means of contact infection. He condemns the common custom of "hand-shaking" and commends the military salute as the proper method of special greeting. At any rate one's hands are seldom free from contamination, with one's own excretion. If the salivary glands secreted indigo most hands would be stained blue. "Fingers in the mouth" innumerable times during the day is a universal human habit. John Jones has active pulmonary tuberculosis. His sputum contains millions of tubercle germs. His hands are partically always contaminated. The germs are "rubbed off" on the hands of his friend at the next "hand-shake." Not long thereafter these germs gain entrance into a friend's mouth. Soiled hands assuredly play a great role in infection.

3. Fondling and kissing of infants by infected parents or relatives are, in all probability one of the chief sources of infection with tuberculosis. Tubercle bacilli leave the body mainly in the sputum where they are found in great numbers in all cases of pulmonary tuberculosis.

4. Contaminated Objects—Towels, drinking cups, pencils, spoons, and other objects which have been recently "mouthed" by infected persons are important routes of infection.

Avoid Preventable Diseases.

Don't expose your child or allow him to be exposed to a communicable disease. It is not necessary for any child to have measles, mumps, whooping cough, scarlet fever or diphtheria any more than it is to have smallpox. The so-called "Childhood Diseases" kill many children and cripple others with serious after-effects which may not manifest themselves until later in life.

Beware of the common cold.

Keep your child away from children who cough, sneeze, or who have sore throat or other suspicious symptoms.

Don't kiss your baby on the mouth and don't permit anyone else to.

If your child is not as bright or active as you think he ought to be, consult a reliable physician. Adenoids, enlarged tonsils, defective vision or hearing may be holding him back physically or mentally.

The greatest gift you can bestow upon your child is health. The best inheritance you can leave him is the physical vigor and the mental power to make the most of life and to enjoy it to the fullest.

As your child grows in years, the fundamental health rules remain the same:

The schools are taking up Interschool correspondence through the Red Cross. Very much interest is shown in this work.

Northrup News.

There have been a great many cases of measles, mumps, chicken pox and whooping cough among the children, but all precautions are being taken to prevent the spread of these diseases. Children who have cases of sickness in their homes are not allowed to attend school so that there will be no danger of them infecting others.

Miss Pelto's room won the marching pennant for the lower floor, while there was a tie between Miss Bark's and Miss Sandum's rooms for the upper floor pennant.

Mrs. L. G. Larson substituted for Miss Bark last Monday as the latter did not return until Monday evening.

Declamatory Try-Outs.

Wednesday evening the declamatory contestants had their try-out and two were chosen as winners. They will represent the Lincoln high in all future contests. If they are chosen as winners in three coming contests they will be champions of the Red River Valley. Myrtle Krohn was given first place, Viola Lund taking second. The following selections were given:

Myrtle Krohn—"For the Honor of the Family."
Viola Lund—"Jean val Jean."
Ilene Herron—"By Telephone."
Mildred Bottleson—"Florette."
Mabel Swanson—"The Swan's Nest."

Bashful Benny wears a smile
You couldn't guess the reason why
For you'd have to think a long while
So I'll tell you before you try.
Benny has a country home
And it sure is some class,
But neither does he have to roam
Because Ida is his country lass.
So don't doubt the smile he wears
For sure I know his lassie cares.

More Truth Than Poetry.

I am going to break the strings
And let you hear some things
That seem to be the fads
Among the lasses and lads
For Vernon's changed his mind
And calls on Esther we find,
And Chester's got more nerve
For Ruth he'll always serve.
But Ruby's got the key
To Francis' heart you see.
When Doris smiles at Lynn,
He bows so low and tips his chin.
Among the young and oddest
Comes Clayt and Mild so modest.
What Nora does to play
With Milton so bright and gay?
Now Marshall's girl is gone
To teach a Jake and John.
But Mae, is too, alone,
Her beau is in another zone.
So here I close these things
With Dreng and Marg that brings
The joy of Seniors' life,
To fight the greatest strife.

Sophomore Sandwich Sale.

Stock Judging.

The farm management class will in the near future add to their work the study of Horticulture, which will contribute a great deal to the knowledge of farm management.

The different kinds of vegetables, fruits and trees will be part of the study and home gardening and landscape gardening will also be noted in this study. There will be a general study on the various kinds of trees, including shade trees, the pruning and caring of the orchard and the care of different kinds of gardening.

Girl Scouts.

The Girl Scouts of the Central school have organized and three patrols have been formed. Pauline Pawling is patrol leader of the Silver Fox; Esther Bennes of the Grey Wolf and Katherine Barzen of the Minnehaha patrol.

Books and pamphlets have already been sent for and a meeting of all the patrols will be held in a few weeks.

Eighth Grade Increases.

When school started early in September there were but a few over a hundred scholars.

There are now one hundred and twenty-two pupils enrolled. This is by far the largest graduating class there has been for a number of years.

Boy Scouts of T. R. F.

Most of the Boy Scouts are thru with the Tenderfoot tests now and are making plans for the Second Class Scout tests. We have now got our patrol and a few over. Some have gone on hikes, lighting fires with one match and etc.

The troops have meetings every Tuesday night and the patrols have their meetings on other nights.

A Central Joke.

Tommy was bright.

A teacher in one of the lower grades was explaining "preposition" in language class.

"In this sentence," said she, "the top of the mountain was covered with snow. The preposition "of" connects "top" with "mountain."

Seeing a boy in a row with his hand raised, she asked, "What is it Tommy?"

"Maybe Mt. Blanc did not have a preposition and so the top fell off."

Advisory System Begun.

The advantage of an Advisory Board by which students may consult their advisor is clearly an advance over the hit or miss system on the part of the students. The plan will be executed at the beginning of the semester. The same method is in use in all the principal schools and colleges. Under the new system each student has an advisor with whom to consult in the choice of subjects.

Speaking of Apples.

The following interesting letter was received upon request by the Normal department from L. R. Adley, a fruit grower of Selah, Wash. He explains the various phases of fruit raising and the packing of the various types of apples in particular:

"Selah, Wash.
Dec. 26, 1920.

Dear Miss Koglin:—

Whew! Miss Ober set me some task didn't she! But she-who-must-be obeyed shall be obeyed.

Your request came during the apple picking time when every nerve is strained in gathering the crop, but now there is more time.

First let me say that I know nothing of the fruit raising game except in the Yakoma Valley.

This valley, far richer than the famous valley of the Nile, has an interesting geological history. Untold ages ago a river wore a valley out of the then rocky surface of the earth. The broken rock fragments were rolled and tumbled about until abraded smooth. Had you seen this valley then you would have been surprised at the vast work the river or rivers had done.

Later an unknown volcano or volcanoes covered the whole region with a deep volcanic ash, burying the old river basin under hundreds, perhaps thousands of feet of volcanic ash. Through this the waters waded a fresh channel. In places it has exposed the old rock-bound banks and the well-rounded debris but in the Selah Valley the volcanic ash hills stand hundreds of feet above the present river level.

This means a soil the depth of the ash, rich beyond conception but as dry as Minnesota is supposed to be since the 18th amendment.

By going well up to the mountains, canals and tunnels can be dug and conveyors and syphons put in to carry the water when needed. With rich soil, abundant water, there is an ideal fruit climate. The winters rarely have zero temperature—9 above is the coldest so far this winter—while peaches can stand 14 below without killing. I mention peaches because they are the tenderest of fruit trees cultivated here.

Your class will see how the conditions are ideal for apple raising. Of course such conditions are suitable for other fruit and we raise pears, plums, quinces, peaches, apricots, nectarines, cherries and grapes as well as apples.

Before coming to Yakima I owned a 180 acre grain and stock farm in Minnesota; here I purchased a 10 acre fruit ranch thinking I'd take it easy and live on the profits of my easy work. The majority of ranchers have 10 acres or less and what's 10 acres compared to 180? Vain delusion. There is more work tucked into a 10 acre orchard than there is in a 160 acre wheat farm. A novice can have no conception of the work necessary to carry on even a 10 acre irrigated fruit ranch. The water is running all the time between the rows of trees, from five to seven ditches are made. The trees must have enough water and yet not too much and each 24 or 48 hours the water must be shifted and when the whole orchard has been irrigated it must be gone over again. From the turning on of the water in April until the first of October this never ending chore must be performed. Failure is the result of neglect here.

Again, beginning in March or April, the orchardist must spray his fruit every 15 days thereabout until October.

The first, or lime-sulphur spray is made by boiling quick lime and sulphur together. A drop of this upon the flesh burns. The stuff smells like the Frying-pan of the Yellowstone Park and that smells like——well ask Miss Ober the proper word to express it. She has been there—I mean she has been at the Frying Pan.

After this comes the lead-arsenate sprays. And every time you girls eat an apple without peeling it or at least wiping it thoroughly, you are eating as deadly a poison as we know how to put upon the fruit.

I should have said from the first of December until March the pruning of the trees is in progress during all suitable weather. From July 1 until well in August we are thinning the fruit. In August early apples and early pears are picked; in September the peaches, apricots, prunes and plums and from that date until the first of November everyone is working hard to gather and pack the winter apples and pears. Cherries are picked in June and the small fruits about two weeks to a month earlier than in Minnesota.

You have asked me where our fruit is shipped. I can easier tell you where it is not shipped. I have only sold a small part of my fruit but the following cities are copied from my shipping bills: Yakima, Liverpool, Chicago, Atlanta, Ga., Houston, Tex., Boston, Ft. Worth, Tex., New York City, Seattle.

It is difficult to explain the packing of fruit for the trade to one that knows nothing of the process. Pickers put the apples loosely in boxes; these are gathered up and taken to a packing house, private or commercial; here sorters grade into four classes, extra fancy, fancy, C and culls. There are rigid state laws governing the grading of apples and there is a very rigid inspection by the horticultural agent before the apples are shipped out of the state. Culls cannot be shipped out of the state without special permit. Each apple is wrapped and packed in a box with others of the same size. Not one person in 500 in the East knows how to select a box of apples. Notice a box in the store. You will find upon inspection the kind of apple, Winesap, Delicious, Rome Beauties, etc.; the grade, Extra Fancy, Fancy or C and the number of apples in a box, 96, 125, 138, etc. To get the most for your money select a Fancy of about 125 or 138. A fancy is just as good as an extra, except that it has not quite as much color. A C is liable to have bruises and stings. In none of the grades will you find worms if the sorters are efficient. A 125 or 138 is such a size as to get the most apples in a box. A larger size leaves big spaces between each apple, a smaller size gives too large a proportion of cave to apple. Most ranchers think the Delicious the best eating apple out. So if you want the best box of apples on earth order a box of Fancy Delicious, 138 and be sure they are Adley packed and grown. See?

Cordially and hastily,
L. R. ADLEY."

The NEW EDISON
"The Phonograph with a Soul"

What Edison did during the War

THE official announcement is out. Ask us for your copy of "What Edison Did During the War." Write for it, if you can't call.

It tells how Edison left his home and business and went to sea, how Edison's "Yankee magic" foiled the German submarines.

The bulletin tells many other things Edison did while Chairman of the Naval Consulting Board. It explains how Edison kept the price of his phonograph at bed rock during an era of high costs and soaring prices. Since 1914 the New Edison has advanced in price less than 15%—and part of this is war tax.

This bulletin also describes the Budget Plan, which makes it possible for every home to enjoy the benefits of good music without feeling the financial outlay.

A World Without Petroleum

ELIMINATE petroleum from the world and modern industry would come to a dead stop.

Lacking that tiny film of mineral oil, continuously applied, and the machinery of the world would groan to a stand-still.

From air compressors to textile spindles, from sewing machines to power house engines, all the machinery of modern life, the machinery which clothes and feeds, and transports mankind, is dependent upon petroleum.

Animal fats and vegetable oils sufficed for lubrication in the era which preceded the industrial age, but only petroleum could supply lubricants in sufficient quantities to keep pace with the development of modern machinery.

In the development of our modern system of lubricating machinery, the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has performed an essential service in producing a vast number of highest grade lubricating oils and greases from petroleum.

Another vital service of the Company is the maintenance of a distribution system which delivers its lubricants wherever, and whenever, the need occurs.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) manufacturers lubricating oils and greases varying in type and consistency to meet the requirements of the innumerable machines which our commercial age requires.

Only a highly specialized and intensively developed organization could give to the people of the Middle West the service rendered by the Standard Oil Company (Indiana).

The customer who buys a pound of grease, a quart of oil, or a gallon of gasoline, is getting the result of the best effort of 23,000 loyal, efficient, highly trained, men and women who make up the personnel of this organization.

SPELLING CONTEST AT WINTER SHOW

Pennington County Rural Pupils Will Compete For District Championship.

Pupils of the rural and village schools of Pennington county will enter the spelling contest conducted as a feature of the Red River Valley Winter shows, which will be held at Crookston over the week of Feb. 7, according to a bulletin sent out by County Superintendent of Schools George M. Gunderson. The spelling contest will be held in the Crookston high school on Friday, Feb. 11.

Each county in the Red River valley will send two representatives. Teachers of the county have been notified to conduct spelling contests in their schools, the two best spellers from each to enter a competition to be held in the Pennington county court house on the morning of Feb. 11. The winners of this competition will go to Crookston to take part in the valley contest.

The contestants must be from a one-room rural school or from a grade below the eighth in a consolidated, graded or semi-graded school. Pupils from a district where a high school is maintained are not eligible. Prizes will be given as follows: Written—First, $10; second, $5; third, $2.50; fourth, $1; fifth, $1. Oral contest—First, $5; second, $2.50; third, $1; fourth, $1; fifth, $1. In addition to these prizes a banner will be given to the county having the highest average.

The contest will consist of an oral test of 25 words; an oral spell-down; a written test of 50 words, and a written dictation exercise. This exercise will be marked on the following points: Correct spelling of words, capitals, periods, question marks, and the punctuation of a direct quotation.

High School at Bemidji Destroyed by Fire Sunday

Fire on Sunday destroyed the Bemidji high school building with a loss of approximately $115,000. Firemen for a time feared that nearby houses would be burned. The building was insured for $86,000 and the equipment for $16,000. Four fire companies were pouring water on all sides of the building almost the entire day. The school board met in special session in the afternoon in an effort to make arrangements for conducting classes in halls and lodges.

Bonds to the amount of $295,000 were voted by the school board last summer for the erection of a new high school building.

Congressman Wants $2.26 Wheat Price Reinstated

Congressman J. H. Sinclair of North Dakota, has introduced a bill in congress providing for the fixing of the price of wheat for the crop of 1920, until July 1, 1921, at $2.26 at terminal elevators for No. 1 northern spring or its equivalent. The bill also gives the president power at any time, when it seems necessary to assure a large production of wheat, to fix a guaranteed price, which shall be maintained for a period not exceeding 18 months. The bill gives authority to the president to increase tariff duties, if necessary, to such a point as will prevent the importation of foreign wheat at less than the government guaranteed price.

Welfare Board Meets.

The County Child Welfare board held its regular meeting at the Pennington county court house on the afternoon of Jan. 11. Members in attendance were Mrs. L. G. Larson and Mrs. J. M. Bishop of Thief River Falls, and Peter Wold of Kratka. Theo. Quale, Lars Backe and George M. Gunderson, ex-officio members of the board, were also present.

Mr. Gunderson, secretary of the board, tendered his resignation but it was not accepted. The remainder of the meeting was spent in the discussion of the many cases coming under the jurisdiction of the board.

Wrestler Breaks Rib.

Tarje Froisness of Goodridge, while wrestling with Ed. Johnson at the Athletic club on Monday night, suffered a broken rib as the result of a body scissor grip placed upon him by his training partner. He will be incapacitated for several weeks. He has been training here at the Fallness gymnasium in preparation for proposed matches with challenging parties. Ed. Bergland, local man, is expected to go into training in Froisness' place.

Favors Organized Labor.

In accordance iw the national era of good feeling between the American Legion and Organized Labor, the Central Trades and Labor Union of East St. Louis, Ill., one of the strongest labor bodies in the country, has passed a resolution placing the organization on record as being entirely in harmony with the Legion's national policies and recommending that all its members, who are eligible, affiliate with the Legion. The Central Trades Council of Oklahoma voted to co-operate with the Legion in meeting the problem of unemployment. Preference in employment for union men who are veterans will be given by the secretaries of various affiliated unions by direction of the Council.

Attending Bankers Short Course.

C. W. Vorachek, assistant cashier of the Citizens State bank, is in Minneapolis on business and in attendance at the short course being held by the Minnesota Bankers association in connection with the state University Extension Division. He is expected to return on Monday.

ST. HILAIRE

Andrew Hall, Pioneer, Passes.

Andrew Hall, pioneer resident of St. Hilaire, passed away at his home on Sunday evening after several years of feeble health. Mr. Hall was born in Denmark on August 9, 1841, and immigrated to America in 1865. He lived in St. Paul for several years and while there became a member of the Methodist church in 1877. In 1879 he was married to Johanna Johnson, who died at their home here in St. Hilaire in December 1903. Mr. and Mrs. Hall moved to St. Hilaire in 1883, arriving on the first passenger train which came through to this village in July of that year. After farming for some time Mr. Hall went into the store business and for many years was one of our leading merchants, well known over all this section of the country. Out of seven children in the family two are dead, Anton and Josie. The other five, who were present for the funeral are: Albert of St. Paul, Arthur of Keewatin, Grace, who teaches school at Ray, N. D., Alice, who has been at home with her father, and Ferdinand, cashier of the Farmers State bank here. Besides his five children, Mr. Hall leaves one brother, Christ, who lives in Duluth. The funeral was held on Wednesday afternoon at the Methodist church of which Mr. Hall has been a faithful member for so many years. Rev. J. B. Smith of Thief River Falls delivered a beautiful funeral sermon and the remains were laid to rest in the Swedish cemetery beside those of his wife and two children. The heartfelt sympathy of the entire village and community goes out to the bereaved ones in their sorrow.

Polk Center Women's Club.

The ladies of Polk Center have organized a Woman's club and meetings are held the first Wednesday of every month at the various homes. The club has secured a traveling library to which all people in the community may have access. Mrs. Martin Erickson is librarian. Anyone desiring books may secure them from her. The library consists of about sixty volumes, six Swedish books, six books on agriculture and the rest in English fiction and history. Anyone wishing to join the club will be heartily welcome by its members.

Doris Severson.

Doris, the two year old daughter of John Severson, died quite suddenly on Saturday evening. The funeral was held on Tuesday afternoon, Rev. Grimsrud officiating, and interment was made in the Oak Ridge cemetery. Mr. and Mrs. Ordean Olson and Mrs. Albert Severson drove out from town for the funeral. The many friends and relatives of Mr. and Mrs. Severson extend their deep sympathy to the family in the loss of their baby daughter.

Locke Residence Burns.

The R. E. Locke family, residing east of Hazel, suffered a great loss when their home was destroyed by fire on Saturday night. The family, all asleep, was awakened by the thick smoke, narrowly making their escape from the burning building. They were given shelter by kind neighbors but the fire was discovered too late to save any part of the home.

Card of Thanks.

We hereby wish to express our heartfelt thanks to the many friends and neighbors who showed their sympathy and offered their assistance after the death of our beloved husband and father and also thank them for their many floral offerings.—Mrs. C. J. Bothman and family. 1-20

RED LAKE RIVER DRAINAGE BILL PASSES HOUSE

Congressman Steenerson's Improvement Measure Approved by Unanimous Vote.

Authorizes Conservancy Board to Straighten and Deepen Stream on Reserve.

Passage of Law Marks Most Important Step to Date in Big Undertaking.

Congress on Monday, by unanimous vote, passed the Steenerson bill authorizing the improvement of the Red Lake river in the interests of navigation, drainage and flood control and makes that portion of the drainage basin located within the Red Lake Indian reservation a part of the territory over which the Red Lake Drainage and Conservancy commission appointed by Judges Andrew Grindeland of the Fourteenth and C. W. Stanton of the Fifteenth judicial districts, has jurisdiction.

The passage of this law marks the most important step yet achieved in the attempt to secure relief from floods as well as control of the waters stored in the Red lakes. The bill itself, which explains the purposes of the commission fully, reads as follows:

"Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, that the Red Lake Drainage and Conservancy District of the State of Minnesota, duly created and organized under the laws of said state and authorized to construct improvements and projects therein, is hereby authorized to deepen, widen and straighten the said Red Lake River and tributaries thereof, or any portion thereof, as may be deemed necessary, and to fix and regulate the height of water in Red Lake, and to construct and maintain such ditches, drains, dams, dikes, spillways, or other controlling works as may be found necessary and advisable to utilize the said Red Lake reservoir and flood-control purposes and to facilitate drainage into said lake and river, as indicated and outlined in the report of the preliminary survey of the Board of Engineers for Rivers and Harbors to the Secretary of War on March 28, 1919 (House Document numbered 61, Sixty-sixth Congress, first session), with such modifications and changes as may be found advisable: Provided, that detailed plans for such work and improvements shall first be submitted to and approved by the Secretary of War and the Chief of Engineers in accordance with the Act to regulate construction of dams across navigable waters, approved June 23, 1910: Provided further, that the deepening, widening and straightening of that part of Red Lake River within the Red Lake Indian Reservation and all other work necessary or desirable to be done within the Red Lake Indian Reservation shall be done in accordance with plans submitted to and approved by the Secretary of the Interior, provided that due compensation shall be made to the Indians for any lands that may be required for straightening said river: And provided further, that before the acceptance of the plans the Red Lake Drainage and Conservancy Board and the Secretary of the Interior shall ascertain and agree upon the maximum and minimum levels between which the water in Red Lake shall be permitted to be fluctuated and such levels shall not be deviated from without the consent of the Secretary of the Interior.

"Sec. 2. That the Secretary of the Interior is hereby authorized to enter into such contract arrangements as may be found necessary and advisable with the said Red Lake Drainage and Conservancy District relative to all work within the Red Lake Indian Reservation as contemplated in section 1 of this Act and as to the assessment of lands within the limits of the Red Lake Indian Reservation in said state for their proportionate share of the cost of such improvement and their maintenance and operation. The said Red Lake Drainage and Conservancy District is hereby authorized to include within the boundary of the said drainage and conservancy district all lands within the limits of the said Red Lake Indian Reservation located within the Red Lake River drainage basin and to assess the lands benefitted in the same manner and proportion as other lands outside of the limits of said reservation, but within the said drainage district and benefitted by such improvement: Provided, that all such assessments within the limits of said district shall be on a per acre basis against the lands benefitted in proportion to the benefits received: Provided further, that the maximum cost to any lands within the boundaries of said reservation shall not exceed $2.50 per acre. All assessments so levied by said drainage and conservancy district shall be in the manner provided by the laws of said State, except as modified by contract with the Secretary of the Interior, and the Secretary of the Interior is hereby authorized to make such regulations for the payment thereof as may be found necessary or desirable. There is hereby authorized to be appropriated, out of any moneys in the Treasury of the United States not otherwise appropriated, a sum sufficient to pay the share of the United States as shown by said report and to pay that part of the cost of said improvements apportioned to the lands within the said Red Lake Indian Reservation, which latter amount shall be reimbursable to the United States under such rules and regulations as the Secretary of the Interior may prescribe: And provided further, that the assessment against the lands within the Red Lake Indian Reservation shall become a first lien on said lands and such lien shall be recited in any trust or fee patent that may be issued thereafter, and any such lien shall be enforceable by the Secretary of the Interior by foreclosure as a mortgage as soon as fee simple patent is issued: And provided further, that any fund standing to the credit of any Indian allottee, or which may hereafter be placed to his or her credit, may be used in payment of such lien.

"Sec. 3. That wherever it is deemed necessary or advisable, roads suitable for post roads may be constructed out of the spoil banks or other suitable material along any of the drainage ditches or canals to be constructed hereunder.

"Sec. 4. That as to all lands outside of the Red Lake Indian Reservation, the Act entitled 'An Act to authorize the drainage of certain lands in the State of Minnesota,' approved May 20, 1908, shall be applicable to the enforcement and collection of all assessments made for such improvements by said drainage and conservancy district."

ARMY ENLISTMENTS CONTINUE IN CITY

Dr. Froehlich Placed in Charge After Discontinuance of Regular Station in City.

Following the discontinuance of the government recruiting station here in December, Dr. H. W. Froehlich has been appointed recruiting officer for this district and will receive enlistment applications at his offices in the Citizens' State Bank building. Dr. Froehlich has held a first lieutenant's commission in the Medical Reserve corps for the past two years.

Enlistments for one year for general assignment can be made for infantry, field artillery, coast artillery, medical corps and engineers. All branches of a division are represented at Camp Grant, Illinois and Camp Meade, Maryland, and enlistments for one year may be made for either camp, also for Fort Snelling and for general assignment. When a man enlists for general assignment he is sent to the camp having the most vacancies.

By enlisting for three years an applicant is permitted to choose the camp and branch of service in which he desires to serve, when vacancies exist at the station desired. Dr. Froehlich states that men enlisting at this time may make their choice from the following stations in which vacancies now exist:

Infantry—General assignment (one year enlistment), Mexican border, the Panama Canal Zone and the Hawaiian Islands.

Tank Corps—General assignment only.

Field Artillery—General assignment, Mexican Border, Panama Canal zone and the Hawaiian islands.

Coast Artillery—General assignment and Panama Canal zone.

Air Service—General assignment, Mexican border and Panama canal zone.

Engineers — General assignment, Mexican border, Panama canal zone and the Hawaiian islands.

Medical Department—Ordinance department; general assignment and Mexican border.

NEVER INTENDS TO BE WITHOUT IT

Since Taking Tanlac St. Paul Man Feels Fine—Could Hardly Turn Over in Bed.

"Before I was half through my first bottle of Tanlac I began to straighten right up," declared Ernest Kluegel, of St. Paul, Minn., 1473 Igelhart Ave.

"About four months ago my kidneys got all out of fix and I suffered untold agony from pains in the small of my back. Actually, I couldn't turn from one side to the other in bed without my back hurting me so I could hardly stand it. Then my appetite failed, nothing looked good or tasted right and I got to feeling dull and languid and had little strength.

"Well, sir, I have just finished my third bottle of Tanlac and my back never hurts me a particle and I sleep fine. Meal time never comes quick enough for me now and everything agrees with me perfectly. I feel good all the time and have as much strength as I ever had in my life."

Tanlac is sold in Thief River Falls at Lambert's Drug Store, at Oklee by John H. Gassman, at St. Hilaire by Enoch Sundholm, and at Goodridge by G. G. Gubrid.—adv.

Violated Labor Laws.

M. Arneson, proprietor of the Thief River Steam Laundry, was arraigned before Municipal Judge N. W. Tarrant on Wednesday afternoon, charged by J. J. McHugh of the State Department of Labor and Industries, with violating the child labor laws. Mr. Arneson pleaded guilty to having in his employ without a permit, a boy under 16 years of age and not yet thru the eighth grade of school. He was subjected to the minimum fine of $25 and costs. Inspector McHugh states that this was the second offense on the part of the defendant.

Legion Meeting Friday.

The regular January meeting of the Elmer J. Eklund post of the American Legion has been called for Saturday, January 22. The meeting will be held at the Brumund hotel immediately following the basket ball game between the Y. M. C. A. of Grand Forks and the local Legion teams, which will be played at the city auditorium. Music by the Legion orchestra and a buffet or army-style luncheon will be features of the evening. Officers of the post are urging attendance by all Legionnaries, as several important business matters willw be brought up.

COUNTY STARTS YEAR WITH FAIR MONEY BALANCE

Liabilities Listed Include $511,000 in Liens Against Property For Ditches.

Value of Taxable Wealth of County Increased Over Two Million in Three Years.

Discuss Topics of Day at Quarterly Banquet and Meeting Held on Wednesday.

With the approval of the annual financial statement for the fiscal year ending December 31, 1920, signed by the county board of commissioners at their meeting last week, Pennington county closed its tenth year of successful administration. County Auditor T. P. Anderson and his deputy, Axel Risberg, were busy for weeks compiling the statement, which is a volume in itself.

With a slight increase in assets, a decrease in liabilities of $38,000, and a balance of $41,412.16 in the treasury as against the balance of $77,583.92 of a year ago, it may be said that the county is a couple of thousand dollars to the good in a general comparison with the satisfactory condition existing at the close of the fiscal year of 1919.

A general statement of county receipts and disbursements follows:

Receipts.
Balance in treasury Jan. 1, 1920	$ 77,583.92
Current tax collections	337,143.69
Penalties interest and costs	2,090.65

Highways Greatest Asset.

County assets, including taxes due for 1919 and prior years, a credit balance in the treasury for all funds and an inventory of county property aggregating $308,200.00, total $356,552.19, or slightly more than 50 per cent of the total liabilities. The liabilities totalling $628,151.40 are great only owing to the amount of ditch bonds issued during past years by the county, the same totalling $511,900.00. The ditch bonds are not properly a county liability, being secured by real estate liens against property of those benefitted by the drainage projects, their payment extending over a period of twenty years.

Pennington county property is listed as follows: Court house and contents, road machinery and equipment, gravel pits, Highlanding and Kratka bridges and roads and highways. By far the most valuable asset of the county is the system of roads and highways, the value to the county in dollars and cents being given as $240,000.

Postage Stamps to Dynamite.

The disbursements listed under the county revenue fund contain many interesting items. The total pay roll of county officials and employees for the past year was $17,730.54. County commissioners were paid mileage amounting to $72.60. Expenditures incidental to the two terms of district court amounted to $961.73. The hundred and eighty-eight dollars was paid out in wolf bounties, which amount represents the death of 39 wolves. During the year 1916 a total of $828 was paid out in bounty for the killing of 107 wolves. The revenue fund further includes among hundreds of items, the payment of $1,797 in pensions to 14 mothers; a payment of $103 to the county coroner for viewing of eight dead bodies and an expenditure of $129 for the reporting of births and deaths occurring in the county.

The road and bridge fund lists, among others, expenditures amounting to $57,261.50 for the construction and maintenance of the ten state highways within the limits of the county or along its borders. Portions of this amount will eventually be refunded to the county through the operation of the Babcock amendment. The same amendment will in the future relieve the county of the construction and upkeep of many of the roads for which the above expenditures were made.

The county incidental fund lists under expenditures, items from postage to dynamite, totalling $1,515.55.

The financial statement shows the total wealth of the county to be $7,398,547.00. The total assessed valuation (minus exemptions) in the financial statement for 1917 was $5,366,407.00, an increase in three years of $2,027,140.00.

Death Calls R. E. Bakke.

R. E. Bakke, father of E. B. Bakke, salesman for the Elmon Mercantile Co., of Superior, who makes his home at Thief River Falls, died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. J. A. Hendricks, Crookston, early last Thursday morning. He had been ill with anaemia since last spring. Previous to moving to Crookston a year ago, Mr. Bakke resided at Fosston, where the funeral services were held on Saturday. He is survived by a widow, two sons, D. H. Bakke of Crookston and E. B. Bakke of this place and three daughters, Mrs. John Hillestad of Fosston, Mrs. Frank Suitor of Cass Lake and Mrs. Hendricks.

LEGION BASKETEERS DEFEAT CROOKSTON

Connell's Bunch Come Out From Behind With a Rush and Win by Three Points.

The basket ball team of the Thief River Falls post of the American Legion won a hard fought game Thursday night from the fast Company I National Guard quintette of Crookston in the last few minutes of play. The game was staged at the Crookston armory. The final score was 31 to 29.

Both teams played an exceptional game, each using a different manner of attack. The local team pursued rushing tactics, the Crookston team resorting more to a shifting of the ball from player to player. The entire first half was somewhat slow, the first quarter closing with a score of 6 to 5 in favor of Thief River Falls and the first half with a score of 15 to 11, the former quintette still holding the honors.

The third quarter opened up in a fast manner, closing with a tied score of 22. During the first of the final quarter, Crookston took the lead for the first time, the score standing at 29 to 25 in their favor three meinutes before the whistle blew. When but a minute remained to play, Thief River Falls had brought Crookston's lead down to 2 points. The former team during that last minute made a phenomenal spurt, making two baskets in rapid succession from close quarters.

Ralston Shop Sold.

E. A. Soltau last week purchased the five-chair barber shop at 118½ LaBree avenue north, formerly owned and operated by J. A. Ralston, taking possession on Monday. Mr. Soltau was formerly employed here at the Bakken & Crown barber shop at 205 LaBree avenue north. Mr. Ralston has not stated his plans for the future. He has conducted the tonsorial establishment in the present location for the past six years; and has made his home in Thief River Falls for the past 15 years, having at one time conducted a restaurant.

EVIDENTLY CONSIDERS THIS METROPOLIS AS WILDERNESS HAMLET

Montreal Firm of Barristers Have Idea of General Location; However, and Communication Comes Through All Right.

R. E. C. Werry, B. C. L., of the firm of Patterson & Pouliot, advocates, barristers and solicitors, of Montreal, Canada, would no doubt be a surprised gentleman if he were to pay a visit to Thief River Falls. He evidently believes that it is a backwoods settlement somewhere on the banks of the Red Lake river but only knows that it is "50 miles from Crookston." Such at least is the impression gained from a letter received by Postmaster John Morgan this week from the above named firm.

As is his custom, the obliging postmaster has attempted to supply the information sought and has found that there are people now living in the city who remember the party referred to and that further information can perhaps be had by addressing a man now residing on the Red Lake reservation. If the lady were still living she would be just 100 years of age but she has been dead so long that her present whereabouts is the merest conjecture. The communication is as follows:

"The Postmaster, Thief River Falls, 50 miles from Crookston, Minn., U. S. A. Dear Sir:—We are trying to find out what became of a Mrs. Maxime Goueseneau, formerly Marian Guernon, who had been known before her marriage as Marian Boneau. Marian Guernon sold about 76 acres of land on the banks of the Red Lake river about three miles west of Crookston on July 12, 1881; got married on the 13th of July, 1881, subsequently moving to your town. In 1886 the then owner of the above mentioned land obtained a quit claim deed signed by 'Marian Guernon, unmarried woman, formerly known as Marian Boneau.' She was living at that time at Thief River Falls, about 50 miles from Crookston and was at that time about 60 years of age.

"We are ignorant of the size, population, etc., of Thief River Falls and shall be pleased if you can give us any information as to this woman as we do not know of any other person with whom to communicate.

"We are assuming, as your office has been handling the mail in this district for many years, that you would be able to let us have some information.

"Trusting to hear from you at your earliest convenience and thanking you in advance, as well as wishing you health, happiness and prosperity throughout the new year, I am, sincerely, Royal E. C. Werry."

To Stage Wrestling Bouts.

Jens Erickson, with the assistance of John Brumund, is promoting a series of boxing bouts and wrestling matches which will be staged here in the near future. The first match will be staged on January 29, if present plans materialize; February 12 and 22 are other tentative dates for ring events. Contracts with some of the best men of the Northwest are about to be signed. The local management promises some good clean, sporting events and state that all cards will be guaranteed.

Lois Loretta Seaverson.

On Jan. 16 occurred the death of Lois Loretta Seaverson, two year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Seaverson, residing in Sanders township, from cerebral meningitis. Funeral services were held on Jan. 18, and interment took place in Lanstad cemetery.

Working Hours Reduced.

The mechanical department of the Soo Winnipeg division is in receipt of instructions which state that it will be necessary to put all carmen, yard and roundhouse employees on a five-day week working schedule or to greatly reduce the present forces. It is not known just what action this will eventually bring about, but present plans call for the five-day schedule to be placed in operation the first of next week.

Practically all yard and roundhouse employees are being "layed off" over Sunday at the present time, and the working force reduced to the minimum during week days. General business depression is given as the obvious cause of this reduction in forces and working hours.

Thief River Falls travelers during the past week were: Bernard Burggraf to Dent, Minn.; Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Swanson to Minneapolis; Mrs. C. F. Erickson and son to Warren; Louis Veven to Minneapolis; Mrs. Ed. Hilson to Warren and Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Bugge to Warren.

J. O. Herrick, agent at Warren, resumed his duties on Monday, relieving H. B. Pfeiffer, who has been transferred to Parkers Prairie where he relieves O. P. Salisbury. Mr. Salisbury has been granted a 30 day leave of absence, during which time he will visit relatives at Seattle and Portland.

F. M. Chaffee, agent at Detroit, was in Thief River Falls between trains Tuesday evening, leaving on the Winnipeg Limited for Minneapolis.

J. J. Hogland, agent at Alvarado, spent the week end at Thief River Falls.

Leisner Gets Verdict

G. L. Leisner of Steiner was given a verdict of $495.40 against the Great Northern railroad in district court at Warren last week. Suit was brought to recover for services as custodian and caretaker of railway property during a period of eight years at Steiner. Leisner conducted a store at Steiner and also attended to whatever business the railway company had at that station.

Notice.

Annual meeting of the Thief River Falls Co-operative Creamery association will be held at the Commercial club rooms Saturday January 29th at 2 o'clock p. m. Dinner will be served in the Zion church.

Croup

"I don't think there is a more anxious time for parents than when their children have croup. Without they are prepared with Chamberlain's Cough Remedy they must wait for the doctor and listen to the choking, metallic cough and watch their little one gasping for breath.

"Granny" Chamberlain

You know the great danger of croup is the formation of a false membrane in the larynx, and until this is expelled relief cannot be obtained, and the spasmodic choking continues. Give Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in frequent doses. It will loosen this membrane and cause the child to expel it by vomiting.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy

is an absolutely safe and certain remedy for croup, and if given as soon as the child becomes hoarse, or even after the croupy cough appears, it will prevent the attack."

Yours for Health—Granny Chamberlain

WORLD'S RICHEST MAN IS PLUG BLACKSMITH RESIDING NEAR OMAHA

Hasn't Much Money But Enough For His Needs and Does Not Envy Anybody Anywhere—Tells About it in Letter.

From Omaha comes a story of the richest man in the world. He hasn't much money and he runs a little blacksmith shop in Pierce, Neb., but he has a wife, a couple of children, a good bird dog, an old shotgun, a pipe, a first-class appetite and a good digestion.

When he wrote a little letter about them he struck a note so filled with contentment and good cheer that that letter has been copied all over the world. It has been translated into a dozen different languages. Sermons have been preached on it. A hundred prominent editors have editorialized on it. Great business firms have sent it out in pamphlet form. It is on a dozen or more calendars. Embossed and emblazoned cards carry its hearty greeting from the news stands.

Thousands Write Grateful Letters.

Thousands of people throughout the United States have been so helped and touched that they have written personal letters to the Nebraska country blacksmith who has very little money but who considers himself the very richest man in the world today.

Edward J. Meyers is this rich man. His town, Pierce, boasts of only a few hundred people. He gets more mail than half the town. His letters are all from strangers in name, but friends in spirit.

"It would take a week to run over my letters—and they are coming in at a greater rate every day," says Meyers. "It's mighty interesting to get an insight into the heart of the busy city man, the overburdened housewife or the philosopher who has passed his three score years and ten. I wouldn't take any amount of money for the cheer and companionship those letters have brought me."

Here is the plug blacksmith's letter:

"I wonder if you knew that one of the richest men in the world was 14 miles north of Norfolk, right here in Pierce? That man is the writer. I am just a common 'plug blacksmith,' but oh! how rich.

"I go to my labors each morning, work until noon, go to dinner, return at 1 p. m. and work until 6 o'clock. I enjoy the greatest of blessings, good health.

"Wonderful Wife, Happy Home."

"Rockefeller would give all he possesses in money and holdings for my stomach, but he can't have it.

"Each day sees something accomplished and every job of work I turn out I feel I have done my customer a service worthy of my hire.

"I have a wonderful little wife. She has stuck to me 22 years, so I know she must be a dandy to accomplish that.

"I have a little home, a beautiful little daughter, a son grown to maturity and now in life's game for himself.

"Rich? Why, man alive, who can possibly be richer?

"Then, to add to all the above riches, I take my old shotgun in season and ramble through fields, woods and tangle in search of the elusive cottontail, teal and mallard with my faithful old pointer at 'heel' (now past 11 years old), and he is as happy as I when on the hunt. Then, when I get back, oh, how good everything does taste.

Not Many Dollars, But is Rich.

"Then, when night has spread its mantle down over this good old universe, I settle down in a good old easy chair, enjoy a smoke and then roll into bed and never hear a sound until the beautiful break of another day.

"Rich, did you say? Well, I guess. Dollars? Not many. You inquired about riches, not material wealth.

"The height of my ambition is to so live that I may have no regrets for having lived, when the time comes for me to shuffle off this mortal coil, and I hope by that time to have accumulated just enough dollars that myself and mine may not be objects of charity.

"This, then, is my ideal of a rich man. If anyone enjoys life more than I do, he is to be envied for his riches. With kindest regards,

—Edward J. Meyers."

In a Gambler's Market

A clerk's error, adding three ciphers to a thousand-bushel selling order, caused wheat to fall 8¼ points on the Chicago Board of Trade last October. It didn't change the world's wheat supply by a single grain or affect actual wheat needs by so much as a crust of bread, but every farmer whose wheat was marketed that day lost money as a result.

A short time before, the market was sent tumbling by a false cablegram announcing that France had a big harvest of wheat.

A practical remedy is knowledge of world markets. Accurate information on all foreign crops can be gathered and given out. This would make supply known and demand steady. The Farm Bureau aims to prevent costly price fluctuations by this means. They believe in the "light cure" as a remedy for distribution evils. And you can help! If you are not a Farm Bureau member, join today.

In your individual effort to contribute toward the improvement of farm conditions, you will find THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN a powerful ally. With a large staff of editors and contributors covering every corner of the land—even studying foreign markets—THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN presents each angle of our national farm problems in the most helpful and interesting way. It warns you of causes for price changes before they occur, helps you to make money, entertains and inspires you—all for just $1.00 for 52 big issues. Just pin a dollar bill—or your check is good!

CHEESE MAKING NEXT STEP FOR LOCAL CAPITAL

Farmers and Business Men Ready to Finance Project Without Further Delay.

Establishment Would Provide Market For Much Milk and Cream Now Leaving City.

Promoters of Plan Only Awaiting Detailed Information on Subject of Equipment.

Thief River Falls is assured of a cheese factory, to be erected in the near future, according to statements issued on Tuesday by prominent business men and farmers who have identified themselves with the movement. Facts and figures relative to the cheese manufacturing industry are being sought and plans formulated for the holding of a meeting here, at which an expert from the dairy division of the University of Minnesota would speak.

Dairymen Enthusiastic.

It was further stated that the Thief River Co-operative Creamery association might consider the erection of a suitable building for housing both the cheese making and butter making industries, inasmuch as members of the association felt that conflict between two distinct organizations would be inevitable. Promoters of this new industry for Thief River Falls state very positively that whether or not the creamery association decides to add a cheese making department, a factory is assured for the locality as sufficient money to erect a plant and finance it could be secured in a remarkably short time, so enthusiastic are dairymen and business men over the prospect. A privately operated enterprise with stock offered to the general public for purchase, is favored, rather than a co-operative institution.

Dairymen to whom the subject has been breached, became enthusiastic at once. Statistics available show that the milk produced by 800 cows would be necessary to support a cheese plant. One farmer enthusiast stated that if a factory was to be erected he could guarantee a supply of milk from 400 cows from his immediate vicinity alone, and that he would, immediately final plans were completed, start increasing his own herd and go in for more dairying and less grain raising.

Whole Milk Used.

Farmers who sell locally, or ship cream, today are throwing away or feeding to hogs great quantities of skim milk. A modern cheese factory contains butter making machinery in addition to other equipment, as it is at times impossible to work all of the butterfat into cheese, owing to the condition of the whole milk, and this butterfat taken from the cheese whey must be made into whey butter, which differs but slightly from any other butter and commands practically the same price. Sour milk received must also be made into butter; only sweet, whole milk being used for cheese. One of the arguments used in favor of the cheese industry is that 100 pounds of milk will produce approximately 10 or 11 pounds of first quality cheese, while 100 pounds of milk will make but three or four pounds of butter. The price of cheese is regarded as being more staple than that of butter.

Would Foster Change.

A prominent citizen identified with the movement said: "Something must be done. The present creamery is inadequate to the needs of the surrounding territory; more whole milk is being offered than can be handled. It was reported at the annual meeting of the creamery association held during this month last year, that over $500,000 worth of cream passed thru Thief River Falls in 1919 enroute for outside points, among which were Alexandria and the twin cities. The local creamery failed to enlarge their plant in spite of the fact that the reports submitted stated that $9,000 profit was made on cream shipped in from outside points in one year. An effort will be made to make Thief River Falls the shipping point, rather than to have it pass thru here enroute for other butter or cheese-making plants.

"It is a recognized fact that salvation for this section of the state lies in abandoning the grain raising and going in stronger for cattle raising and dairying. One means of fostering this change, is by the establishment of a cheese factory here. Such a factory can and will be established, further plans or developments are dependent only upon the securing of facts and figures from outside points where the industry has proven a great success."

Signs Show All Highways Lead to Thief River Falls

Business men in this city are under obligations to J. E. Dishington, highway engineer for Marshall county, for helping to make it easy for autoists to reach Thief River Falls from the southern sections of his county. Mr. Dishington was in the city on Friday and reported having finished the placing of signs along all highways in the southeastern townships of the county, these signs informing the traveler just exactly how far it is to the Pennington county metropolis. While this service is primarily intended to aid those who make this city their trading point because of its nearness to their homes, it is also bound to help our local business men. The signs put up by Mr. Dishington give the distance from this city as well as point out the direction.

Shipping in Purebreds.

Fred Beerbower returned this week from a tour through the best Holstein cattle districts of three states where he had gone for the purpose of purchasing a carload of purebreds for himself and M. T. McFarland. After inspecting herds in Illinois and Iowa he returned to Minnesota and secured nine head of cows near Utica. Another from the same section is being forwarded here by express.

The cows arrived in good condition and are among the finest specimens ever seen here. Rather fancy prices were paid for some of them, but as Mr. Beerbower says, "they are fancy cows." One animal in particular has attracted wide attention, being of an exceptionally promising type.

UNUSUAL DAMAGE ACTION BROUGHT FOR MAN'S DEATH

Phone Company Sued For $7,500 by Widow of Asbjorn Stenberg, Lightning Victim.

A claim for $7,500 damages has been filed against the Northwestern Telephone Exchange company by Marie Stenberg, administratrix of the estate of Asbjorn Stenberg, her husband, who was instantly killed in this city on June 8, 1920, by an electrical shock during a rain and thunder storm. It is alleged that the deceased was seated near the telephone instrument in his home at the east end of Bridge street, at the time of the storm and that his death was due to negligence on the part of the telephone company in not providing lightning arresters, proper ground wires or other safeguards.

Theodore Quale, who, with Senator O. A. Naplin, is acting as attorney for the plaintiff, states that a case of this nature has never before been brought up in the courts of Minnesota.

It was generally supposed at the time of Mr. Stenberg's death that he had been killed by a bolt of lighting which struck the house or the telephone instrument. Subsequent investigation proved that the house and room in which the deceased was seated at the time of his death bore no traces of a lightning bolt having entered. No fire was started and no charred wood or opening could be found. Mrs. Stenberg's attorneys will endeavor to prove that if lightning did strike the telephone wires, it must have done so at considerable distance from the house and traveled over the wires to a point where it was transmitted to the deceased in his position near the telephone instrument. The other theory is that the wires became charged with atmospheric electricity to such an extent as to be of fatal power when discharged.

The Northwestern Telephone company has filed an answer to the summons to the effect that due precautions had been taken and that the deceased was killed "thru an act of God." The case will come before the district court at the June term.

FOUR TO ONE VOTE IN FAVOR OF BONDS

The sale of school bonds aggregating $68,000 by school district No. 18 was authorized at a special election held at the municipal court rooms in the city auditorium on Tuesday evening. Three hundred and sixteen ballots were cast, 254 in favor of the issue and 62 against. It is said that this is the largest vote ever cast on a school bond issue in Thief River Falls. While a $68,000 refunding bond issue was authorized, actual sales may come under that mark, owing to the fact that only outstanding warrants which have been presented for payment will be taken up. The bonds mature in 1936.

Sealed bids for the issue will be opened at the Lincoln high school at 1:00 p. m., February 11. A contract has been entered into with the Minneapolis Trust company whereby they agree to accomplish the sale of the bonds at par value, interest at 6 per cent, if no other or lower bids are received on that date.

The bond issue was imperative in order that school warrants now held by the city banks be taken up owing to the inability of the banks to take up more warrants under the present circumstances. The indebtedness of the school district has arisen because of the increased cost in operating the city schools and because no increase in tax levy was made for the year 1919. Members of the school board and city bankers when questioned on Monday stated that unless the sale of bonds was authorized it would be necessary to close the schools of the city.

Rev. H. J. Urdahl of Fargo returned to his home Friday afternoon after spending a few days here visiting his sister, Mrs. Geo. Larson, who recently underwent an operation for appendicitis. Mrs. Larson was removed from the hospital to her home on Saturday.

BETTER SERVICE SUBJECT OF SIX LECTURES HERE

Dr. Stanley L. Krebs, Widely Known Business Specialist, to Conduct Institute.

Has Made Life Study of Community Development and the Value of Co-Operation.

Effort Being Made to Secure Full Representation of All Classes at Meetings.

Dr. Stanley L. Krebs, eminent psychologist, expert in salesmanship, advertising and the scientific management of men, will conduct a five-day Merchants and Community Institute here, starting Monday, Jan. 31. The Institute is being presented to the general public under the auspices of the Merchants' association of Thief River Falls, action having been taken at a banquet supper served at the Evelyn hotel on Monday evening, at which time J. W. Griest, who is associated with the National Association of Retail Merchants, gave a short address and presented this opportunity of securing the services of the renowned Mr. Krebs. The latter comes here from Winnipeg where he is at present conducting a series of lectures.

"Service" the Keynote.

The general object of the Merchants and Community Institute is to awaken a keener interest in business, to raise the standards of efficiency and to promote the spirit of community co-operation. The keynote of the lectures is "Service"—service that will assist the mechants and the city as a whole in meeting outside forms of competition. Dr. Krebs would aid the merchants in getting the business that logically belongs to them, teach employees how to increase their efficiency, render a greater service to the public and become worth more to themselves and employers, and arouse the public in general regarding the local community problems.

Dr. Krebs comes here recommended as eminently qualified to fit into such a program. Through his broad experience he is able to place before the people of the community a great fund of knowledge gathered from all parts of the world—facts and incidents that should help them in solving their problems, individual, business or civic. The fact that his work has been indorsed by world-wide celebrities in science, politics and business, should be sufficient recommendation to the community. He is one of the most widely and favorably known men in his particular line of work in the world today. Press comments on the services rendered by Dr. Krebs to some of the largest cities of the United States are very favorable.

The Week's Program.

The following program has been scheduled for the week of Jan. 31 to Feb. 5, subject to slight changes at the will of the lecturer:

Monday evening—Banquet and lecture for business men at the Brumund hotel, 6:30. Subject, "Fear and Worry in Business" and Co-operation in Action."

Tuesday evening—Lecture at the Commercial club rooms, 8:00 o'clock. "Doubling Sales" and "Ways That Win," or "The Art of Making Two Sales Grow Where Only One Grew Before" and "Advertising That Wins More Business in Business." For business men and employees.

Wednesday evening—Lectures for business men and employees at the Commercial club rooms at 8 o'clock. "Helping the Customer to Buy," or "The Principles, Laws and Practices of Salesmanship," and "Merchandise" or "The Glory of Material Things;" the art of learning, knowing and telling points about merchandise.

Thursday noon, 12:30—Commercial club regular noonday luncheon. "The Intellectual Powers Applied to Industry."

Thursday evening—A lecture for the general public at the city auditorium, entitled "City Growth and Expansion."

Saturday, ~~2:30~~ p. m.—Commercial club rooms. "Road Salesmanship." A special invitation is extended to all traveling salesmen to attend this number.

A cordial invitation is also extended to the people of the community to attend the free lecture given at the city auditorium on Thursday evening and particularly to Commercial club members who are not members of the association, to members of the Woman's club, the American Legion and to out-of-town merchants, to attend as many of these meetings as possible.

The Thursday afternoon and Thursday evening programs will be free to all. For the other lectures season tickets, including the banquet at the Brumund hotel, will be $4.00; not including the banquet, $3.00; employees tickets for Tuesday and Wednesday evenings, $2.00; single admissions, $1.00.

Committees in Charge.

A. S. Sapero, E. W. Hinrich, E. O. Mogensen, George Loken, J. H. Hermanson, C. S. Simonson and F. H. Herrick, form a general committee having in charge all arrangements for the week. The ticket sales committee is made up by A. S. Sapero, Scott Laird, A. A. Bredeson, F. H. Herrick, Albert Lieberman, Carl Christofferson, George Loken, Charles Lieberman, W. W. Prichard, Jr., G. H. Smith, E. O. Mogensen and W. A. Hall.

A Correction.

The line "On Deposit January 1, 1921 ....1,434.80" under "Disbursements for 1920," Treasurer S. O. Lee's report, contained in the annual report for 1920 of the Thief River Co-operative Creamery association, published in the January 20th issue of the Times, is hereby corrected to read "Overdraft January 1, 1921 ....1,434.80."

Dance Following Bemidji Game.

A dance will be given by the local post of the American Legion, immediately following the Bemidji-Thief River basket ball game at the city auditorium on Friday night. Snyder's five-piece orchestra will furnish the music. Those who attended the New Year's Eve ball given by the Legion are requested by the dance committee to bear in mind the exceptional good time that resulted, and are requested to assist in making the Friday evening dance a similar occasion.

MANSLAUGHTER IS VERDICT OF JURY IN PEARSON CASE

Former Thief River Falls Woman Found Guilty of Causing Death of Infant.

Mrs. Martha Pearson, formerly a resident of this city, was found guilty of manslaughter in the second degree by the Polk county district jury late Tuesday afternoon, following a trial that began January 17. Judge William Watts is not expected to pronounce sentence for several days. The accused is at liberty on $10,000 bonds, but whether she has gone to Bargesville where her husband is employed, remained at Crookston where the trial took place, or is at home with her parents, could not be learned.

The penalty for manslaughter in the second degree is from one to 15 years imprisonment in a woman's reformatory, a fine of $1,000, or both. Attorneys for the defense will probably ask for a stay of sentence of 20 days, during which time they may appeal for a new trial, at the denial of which they may appeal to the supreme court.

The case has been before the authorities since January, 1920, following the finding of the frozen body of a new born baby girl on the roof of a Crookston hotel, where Mrs. Pearson and her husband were staying. The couple were arrested at that time and were indicted by the grand jury in June. Mr. and Mrs. Pearson were married at Thief River Falls on January 24, 1920.

Col. Pratt, who with County Attorney James E. Montague, represented the state in the case, in his final address to the jury, declared that the evidences of the crime were so conclusive that he would go into the evidence but briefly. He stated that there was motive for the crime in the fact that the defendant had been married but two weeks previous. He stated that defendant, owing to the conclusiveness of the testimony, could set forth no other defense than that of insanity.

W. E. Rowe, counsel for the defense, declared that the sanity of the woman would be his chief plea. He declared that there was not enough money in the country to hire him in an endeavor to defeat the vengeance of the law. He brought out that the testimony that Mrs. Pearson had committed the crime was circumstantial. He ended his two hour talk by declaring that the preponderance of the evidence showed the woman insane. The jury was out practically five hours.

Dr. H. W. Froehlich and Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Noel of this city were called on the witness stand during the course of the trial.

SEASON'S GREATEST TUSSLE TOMORROW

Fine Exhibition Certain When Legion Basketeers Meet Bemidji Post Warriors.

The basket ball quint of the Elmer J. Eklund post will meet the five of the Ralph Gracie post of Bemidji at the auditorium here on Friday evening. Bemidji has always produced some fast basket ball teams and the Legion team of this year is no exception. The players are said to be "heavy, fast and furious" and to excel in team work. They have taken some hard fought games during the present season. The local team has not lost a game so far this season and are expressing no fear of the clash scheduled for tomorrow night. Fans who witnessed the Y. M. C. A.-Legion game last Saturday evening and the team work of the Legionnaries, which proceeded so like a well governed machine, are backing them to the limit.

The game will be called promptly at 8:45.

Organization Meeting of Women Voters on Tuesday

The first annual meeting of the Pennington County League of Women Voters will be held at the Brumund hotel next Tuesday evening at eight o'clock. Election of officers will be held, committees named and plans for the year's work will be outlined. All women voters are urged to attend. An outline of the aims and purposes of the organization will be found on another page of The Times today.

HEAVIER BUYING IS INDICATED BY TRADE REPORTS

Confidence Being Gradually Restored Throughout the Country Following Buying.

Realized Now That Pre-War Conditions Are Impossible Without Inviting Disaster.

Present Situation Offers Unusual Opportunity For Consumer to Save Money.

The opinion seems to prevail everywhere that the worst of the period of business depression that struck the Northwest after the holidays has been passed and that from now on the improvement will be marked. Business men everywhere have hastened to readjust their affairs to new conditions and are already feeling the effect of a greater confidence on the part of the buying public. It was generally understood that the first duty of every merchant was to reduce inventory to safe dimensions and to get himself as far as possible into a sound financial condition. This has been done, in Thief River Falls at any rate, and there is a noticeable feeling of optimism as a result.

Loosening Up Evident.

If the buying public would only understand that it is impossible for merchandise to go lower in price without bringing on the very conditions everyone is trying to avoid, the situation would clear up in a very short time. The trouble seems to have been that buyers expected the bottom to fall out of values entirely and were holding off on their purchases in order to take advantage of the crash when it came. That this was a mistaken view is now everywhere admitted and it will only be a short time until there is a general loosening up.

Must Stop Somewhere.

That a large number of people do not understand the situation is evident. They expect "pre-war" conditions to return, when as a matter of fact this should be the last thing they desired. Cotton, for instance, is already off 50 per cent from the top market and wool still more. Labor, however, is as yet high in the industries converting these staples and bids fair to remain so. It is hardly probable that anyone now living will again see six cent cotton or 15 cen wool. Such prices would undoubtedly have the effect of lowering the cost to the consumer but would also mean a return to the $1.50 and $2.00 wage scale of bygone years, as well as 40 or 50 cent wheat for the farmer. Every thinking man realizes that this is not a condition to be desired and that the "new normal" therefore cannot mean pre-war prices for anything.

Waiting is Serious Mistake.

Costs are going to be higher with the opening of spring and the person who neglects to supply his wants at this time is making a serious mistake. Salesmen from the cities in practically every line are holding the new goods offered at a price higher than that now charged by the merchants in this city for the same wares. This means but one thing—an advance when the new goods are placed on sale. It is already noticeable that the avalanche of "readjustment sales" which followed the general collapse of prices have ceased and a more sane policy is being followed. While these sales undoubtedly presented money-saving opportunities, nothing approaching the expected rush to take advantage of them was experienced. In fact it seemed in many cases as if the offering of decided reductions only had the effect of determing buyers to await still lower levels. The bottom had to be reached sometime, and this point has been passed. Merchants have now marked their stocks back to levels differing but slightly from those obtaining before the war and they cannot go lower. Dealers cannot, as a matter of fact, long maintain the new price, as when the present stocks are gone—stocks upon which they long ago decided to take a loss—they must again come back to a safe and sane policy, marking their holdings at figures that will give them a profit on the basis of cost prices now prevailing.

Follow Helpful Policy.

If every man and woman in the country will buy what they need at this time there will be no problem of depression to solve. This does not mean that they should spend money without regard to their requirements or for things they do not need. But to cease buying entirely can oly result in holding back the good times that are surely coming. Merchants cannot order more goods unless they sell what is now on hand and factories cannot keep running unless there are orders. When factories close labor is thrown out of employment and there is no demand for the products of the farm. The thing to do is reverse the "vicious circle" which was responsible for much of the price inflation in the first place, and get back to normal conditions by following the only policy that will now straighten things out. This is the buying of necessities at the decidedly low prices at which they are now offered. Such buying will mean an early return of normal times and will prove a money-saving procedure besides.

Young Man Found Insane.

Tom Hansen, 19 year old youth, employed on the Peter Engelstad farm for the past six months, was removed to the state home for the insane at Fergus Falls on Tuesday. He had been suffering from periodical spells of insanity of a harmless nature, until Monday when his actions became such that it was thought unsafe to have him about. Sheriff W. J. LaBree was called and took the patient in charge. Tom Hansen is a native of the United States. He has one sister living in Canada; a brother at Roseau, one at Hazel, and another, a disabled ex-service man, in a government hospital. His mother died 12 years ago and his father last year.

Mr. Hay Visits City.

J. H. Hay, deputy commissioner of agriculture for Minnesota, made a brief visit with friends here on Wednesday and Thursday. He was enroute for Crookston, where he addressed on Thursday evening the Northern Minnesota Editorial association in convention.

COMMERCIAL CLUB MEMBERS CHOOSE OFFICERS TONIGHT

Lunch Will Follow Selection of Men Who Will Head Organization Next Year.

A good turnout and live meeting is predicted for the Commercial club annual election of officers to be held in the club rooms tonight at 8 o'clock. The regular noonday luncheon for today was postponed until this evening directly following the business session and election of officers.

At the business session following the luncheon of last Thursday noon, the following nominations were offered and approved: For president, E. O. Mogensen, Dr. G. A. Penney and W. W. Prichard, Jr.; for vice presidents, F. H. Herrick, E. M. Bennes and the two nominees for president who are not elected; for treasurer, L. A. Lampert and C. W. Vorachek; for directors, M. Barzen, Carl Christofferson, A. S. Sapero, H. W. Protzeller, W. A. Barnard, Dr. H. W. Froehlich, W. B. Fuller, Nels Christenson, John Bratrud and Peter Engelstad. A secretary will be appointed by the executive board following the annual meeting of the club on February 10.

SPIRITED HEARING ON DITCH MATTER

Engineers Directed to Survey Additional Outlet For County Ditch No. 38.

Following a hearing by the county commissioners on the proposed reconstruction of County Ditch No. 38, held at the Pennington county court house on Thursday, the engineers were directed to make a survey of that part of ditch 38 lying east of Erie for the purpose of finding an outlet which would carry flood waters south to the Red Lake river. The hearing followed a petition by land owners along the ditch requesting that it be enlarged from a point just north of Erie west to the Red river.

The hearing was spirited, as both those in favor of the project and the opposition were present in numbers. Spokesmen of both parties stated that ditch No. 38 was not of sufficient capacity to carry off water at flood seasons of the year. The opposition based their claims principally upon the fact that the Red Lake river reaches such a heighth at flood times as to be of no value as an outlet, and were of the opinion that any expenditure for enlarging the ditch would be of no avail until such a time as the Red Lake and Red Lake river drainage project is accomplished.

It is thought that the construction of a ditch leading south from ditch 38 from a point west of a line drawn through Erie, will relieve somewhat the present condition existing at flood times and will not over-tax the capacity of that part of the ditch leading west into the river.

The county board also conducted a hearing of bids for the re-excavation and construction of county ditches Nos. 68 and 70. All bids were rejected.

Morlan Bishop Appointed Deputy Examiner of Banks

Morlan H. Bishop, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Bishop, has been appointed deputy bank examiner for northwestern Minnesota and will take up his duties on February 1. Mr. Bishop is at present cashier of the Strathcona State bank. He will make his headquarters at Thief River Falls.

Creamery Meeting Saturday.

The Thief River Co-operative Creamery association will hold its sixteenth annual meeting at the Commercial club rooms at 2:00 o'clock on Saturday. The annual dinner will be served by the ladies of the Zion Lutheran church in the church basement at noon of the same day. A large and enthusiastic meeting is expected. Important development plans will be discussed.

Elks Will Dance Feb. 7.

Thief River Falls Elks will stage a "hard time" dance at the city auditorium on the evening of February 7. Those who will attend have been requested to appear in costume suitable to the occasion. The date, orginally set for February 11, was changed owing to the fact that Lent begins on the 9th day of the month.

SUGAR FACTORY AT THIEF RIVER IS PROBABILITY

J. H. Hay is of Opinion That City Stands Excellent Chance of Being Selected.

Past Years' Experiment Proves Beets Grown Here to be of Superior Quality.

Applications For Contracts Totalling 1500 Acres Received For Next Year.

"From a conversation with Chaska officials last week, I am convinced that within a few years several sugar beet factories will be located in Minnesota. I believe that we can land one at Thief River Falls, if the people there will enlarge their acreage for next year as suggested by the company. They would also have to understand that every acre put in ought to be made a success in order to convince the factory people that we can deliver the goods. The northern grown beets are preferred above all others on account of their sugar content."

The above is an extract of a letter received from J. H. Hay, deputy commissioner of agriculture for Minnesota and former superintendent of the Thief River Falls schools, by J. J. McCann, Pennington county agent.

First Attempt Successful.

Approximately 100 acres of Pennington county land were devoted to the production of sugar beets during the past year. The entire allotment of 300 acres granted the county for 1921 by the Minnesota Sugar company sugar beet mill of Chaska, has already been taken up by land owners, and requests for acreages totalling 1500 acres have been received at the county agent's office. Many of these requests are from points in the county adjacent to Hazel, Goodridge and St. Hilaire, where loading stations have not been established. The acreage of last year was directly adjacent to Thief River Falls. It is stated that the absence of loading stations and the necessity of keeping several men at each station by the sugar company, has been given as the reason for the failure of the company to grant the larger acreage requested.

Forty business men, members of the Commercial club, last spring subscribed the sum of $2,000 for the establishment of sugar beet tracts adjacent to the city, as a means of fostering the industry. On one of these tracts the yield was 22 tons per acre. The average yield of beets per acre for all tracts planted was 14 tons, which is considered exceptional. Over 12 carloads of beets were shipped to the mill at Chaska.

High Sugar Percentage.

Confirmed reports are to the effect that the sugar content of beets raised in Pennington county was greater than in beets from any other sections of the state or the United States. The reason given for this is that the soil is rich in lime, that being one of the most important requisites in the formation of sugar.

NEW OFFICERS FOR AUTOMOBILE CLUB

F. J. Stebbins Chosen President. May Provide Camping Ground For Tourists.

At the annual meeting of the Pennington County Automobile association held in the Commercial club rooms on Thursday evening, F. J. Stebbins was elected president and L. H. Lawrence vice president. S. C. Coumbe, secretary and R. M. Sheldon, treasurer, were re-elected to their respective offices. L. H. Lawrence, W. H. Akre, S. C. Coumbe and H. W. Protzeller were appointed to act as a membership committee.

A ten-day drive is being conducted by the above named committee with the expectations of raising the present membership of 54 to well over the two hundred mark, in order to secure a fair representation at the annual convention of the Minnesota Automobile association which will be held in Minneapolis on February 8. The officers of the Pennington County association have been designated as representatives at the state convention.

The provision of suitable camping grounds for automobile tourists passing through Thief River Falls was taken up at length. Numerous locations were suggested, only to be rejected, and a committee appointed to secure the best location available for such purposes. Present plans of the association call for the erection of tables and the providing of other facilities for tourists who carry their camping equipment and who may desire to camp here for the night or a longer period.

On Eastern Buying Trip.

Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Loken left Saturday evening for an extensive trip to the Eastern markets where Mr. Loken will make the spring purchases for the big department store. They will visit Minneapolis, Chicago, Cleveland, Buffalo, Philadelphia and New York and expect to return in about three weeks.

DISABLED MEN GIVEN CHANCE TO SECURE AID

Vocational Training Squad Will be in Thief River Falls February 1 and 2.

Aim of Bureau is to Have All Cases Cleared Up During This One Session.

Expense of Trip Paid by Government For All in District Who Attend.

W. E. Hardy, Washington representative of the Federal Board for Vocational Training, William Rochford, representing the Minneapolis contact unit, W. J. Norris, special educational advisor representing the state offices, and Dr. Frank L. Alloway, representing the district medical department, will be in Thief River Falls next Tuesday and Wednesday for the purpose of conducting a vocational training campaign for disabled ex-service men. The object of this campaign is to "clean up" all cases of compensation, vocational training, medical and dental treatment, and the like, by carrying the government agencies to the ex-service men instead of having the latter write or call at the Minneapolis office.

Bring Complete Record.

The eligibility squad will maintain headquarters in the Commercial club rooms during the two day campaign here. Service men in this district, which is composed of Kittson, Roseau, Marshall, Pennington and Red Lake counties, who feel that they have a vocational handicap or disability, are urged to avail themselves of this opportunity. In order to expedite their cases, all men applying are urged to bring with them all correspondence they may have had with the Bureau of War Risk Insurance, their discharge certificates or certified copy of it, and all hospital records they may have.

Under the new regulations, any man who has a vocational handicap, who is undergoing training is allowed from $80 to $150 per month as vocational training pay, in lieu of his compensation, which ceases during training period. Men who have been granted compensation and who have no vocational handicap do not get the vocational training pay but get the vocational training free.

The coming of these representatives of the Federal Board for vocational education to Thief River Falls on Tuesday and Wednesday will, it is hoped by those concerned, reach the attention of every man who might have a claim against this department of the government and that the visit of these representatives will mean for each man the following things:

Examinations at Once.

If any man has not as yet made application for vocational education such application will be made for him on the spot. He will be immediately examined by a physician of the board and his case rated. The case will then be passed upon by a man who is with the squad and who is a representative of the Central office of the board at Washington, D. C., and if he is found by this representative to be eligible, he will be placed in training immediately if he so desires.

Any man who has made application for training but whose case has not been completed because of lack of certain papers, may have these papers completed on the spot and his case acted upon and decided. If he is found eligible for training he will be placed in training immediately if he so desires.

DEPUTY COLLECTOR TO AID ON INCOMES

G. A. Aubol Will be in Thief River Falls March 1 to 5, Inclusive.

A letter from G. A. Aubol, deputy collector of the United States Internal Revenue service, states that a deputy collector has been assigned to Pennington county for the week of February 28, for the purpose of advising and assisting taxpayers in filling their income tax returns for the year 1920. The deputy will establish headquarters at Thief River Falls.

In order to expedite the filling of income tax returns and to avoid errors, deputy collectors of the revenue service have been assigned to each county for a period of one week, more or less, according to the number of returns filed for previous years. The following towns in the Duluth division will be visited by a zone deputy on the dates designated:

Halleck, Feb. 1, 2 and 3; Warren, Feb. 4, 5, 7, and 8; East Grand Forks, Feb. 9, 10, 11 and 12; Ada, Feb. 14, 15 and 16; Mahnomen, Feb. 17, 18 and 19; Red Lake Falls, Feb. 21, 22 and 23; Roseau, Feb. 24, 25 and 26; Thief River Falls, Feb. 28, March 1, 2, 3, 4, and 5; Crookston, March 6 to 16 inclusive.

FIREMEN GET INCREASE OF 25

A resolution was passed by the city council at the regular session of Tuesday evening authorizing a 25 per cent increase in salaries paid members of the city fire department. The pay roll for the 12 members of the department for the year 1920 was $1,300. The increase granted will bring that total to $1,625 for 1921.

The adjustment of electric power rates for Thief River Falls consumers was referred to the power and light committee. It is thought that a change in the sliding schedule of power rates can be effected, whereby the larger consumers may be benefitted.

Other routine matters were taken up by the council. The meeting was adjourned to the evening of Feb. 1, at which time bids for the city depository and printing will be opened.

Should be Looked After.

A. S. Sapero, Pennington county chairman for the European Relief Council, announces that no definite plans have been formulated for the collection in Thief River Falls of clothing to be sent to the starving and destitute children of Europe. He expressed the hope that the work, which entails the collection of clothing and its shipment to Minneapolis prepaid, would be taken up by one of the civic or fraternal orders of the city.

FEBRUARY TERM OF COURT OPENS FEB. 1

Grand Jury Convenes on That Date and Petit Jury One Week Later.

The February term of court opens on Monday with the sitting of the grand jury. The petit jury has been called for February 8. The calendar contains a total of 24 civil cases, only eight of which require the sitting of the petit jury. But two of the cases are continued from the June term of 1920, at which term the calendar contained 26 cases, 17 of which were continued from the February, 1920, term. Two appeals from assessments for county ditches No. 68 and No. 70 will appear upon the docket. No hang-over criminal actions from the June term are listed. The names of jurors drawn follow:

Grand jurors: August Johnson, Norden; S. C. Coumbe, Thief River Falls; F. T. Satre, Rocksbury; Anton Peterson, Wyandotte; J. W. Anderson, Smiley; Fred Soderberg, St. Hilaire; Gilbert Bakke, Sanders; P. C. Weld, Highlanding; John Quirk, Kratka; Ole Thune, Smiley; Willis Akre, Thief River Falls; Edwin Evenson, Wyandotte; J. P. Johnson, Mayfield; Hans Anton, Sanders; Oliver Tommerdahl, Star; Christ Kruse, Jr., Polk Center; Thomas Florence, Hickory; S. E. Hunt, Rocksbury; Emil Sigerud, Reiner; O. S. Brieland, Kratka; C. T. Thompson, Cloverleaf; P. J. Keating, Thief River Falls; Forrest Hedrick, Numedal.

Petit jurors: Soren Sorenson, Norden; C. A. Anderson, Bray; C. M. Wilson, Thief River Falls; Fred DuChamp, Cloverleaf; C. J. Valsvik, Smiley; Tom Lian, Rocksbury; J. N. Haddleson, River Falls; Henry S. Bolstad, Smiley; Lewis Anseby, Norden; Ormund Landeen, Deer Park; Frank Protz, Thief River Falls; Sever Anderson, Goodridge; W. A. Bishop, Thief River Falls; C. M. Carlson, Thief River Falls; Joseph Kiel, Mayfield; George Hanson, Rocksbury; Victor Johnson, Sanders; Abe Sapero, Thief River Falls; John Sjolsvold, Norden; Selmer N. Olson, Bray; H. O. Loken, Thief River Falls; Gust Bergen, Silverton; Carl Edseth, Goodridge; Wm. Malry, Thief River Falls.

Judge Andrew Grindeland will preside during the term.

Notice to Rural Teachers.

All rural teachers holding positions in Pennington county schools are expected to enroll their school in the Junior Red Cross of the county. The fee for enrollment is 45 cents per school. Blanks will be mailed to such teachers and should be returned with the above fee to the undersigned, rural school organizer of the Junior Red Cross.

RECLAIMING OF VAST FARMING AREA PROPOSED

Passage by House of Red Lake Basin Control Bill Assures Protection Work.

Safety Is Now Promised Region Greater Than Rhode Island in Six Northern Counties.

Expense to Be Shared by Land Owners, Government, Indians and Power Users.

(Minneapolis Journal.)

Minnesotans who have fought for more than a decade to protect their homes from repeated devastation have begun at last the final steps to reclaim an area larger than the whole state of Rhode Island from the frequent inundations of the Red Lake basin, which in a single summer have stripped $2,000,000 from the agricultural wealth of the state.

With authority to construct controlling works and to improve the Red Lake river granted by the lower house of congress, similar permission from the senate is certain within a short time, C. G. Selvig, president of the Red Lake Drainage Conservancy district, announced here last night. Final approval by the senate, he said, will mean victory in a fight that has lasted for 11 years, while settlers in portions of six northern Minnesota counties saw their crops destroyed and their homes and fields flooded at intervals of two or three years. Senate approval will mean that the conservancy district can go ahead at once to reclaim virtually 1,000,000 acres now constantly threatened by floods at the high stages of the Red Lake river and the Red lakes. Sale of bonds to finance the work already has been authorized and engineering data is almost complete.

On the strength of approval by the house of representatives last week, Mr. Selvig said engineers have been instructed to complete the final surveys necessary, with a view to beginning work immediately congress takes final action.

The project involves:

An expense of $779,000, divided among the government, the land benefited, waterpower concessions and Indian lands.

Completing drainage projects, in which $3,000,000 already has been sunk without providing sufficient outlet to flood waters.

Dredging Red Lake river and building a dam and jetties at the outlet of Red lake.

Saving nearly 1,000,000 acres from threatened inundation at two or three year intervals.

Preventing repeated losses of $2,000,000 to $4,000,000 in recurrent floods.

Forestalling a threatened exodus of population from parts of the counties affected, which Mr. Selvig asserts is inevitable unless the constant danger of floods is eliminated.

The Red lake drainage basin includes practically all of Red Lake and Pennington counties, half of Clearwater county, half of Marshall and Polk counties, a third of Beltrami and a small part of Koochiching. The combined population of those counties is 125,055, according to the 1920 federal census.

For years settlers in the lower lands of the basin have faced the constant peril of rising waters, in a region where the rivers run within an inch or two of the level of the land and where, at high water, the currents break out of the channels and wander across miles of farming country, until one stream mingles at a dozen points with another whose normal channel is miles away.

Their fight has been waged while the rest of the state was scarcely aware that within its borders were citizens menaced by conditions popularly regarded as peculiar to Holland or the lower reaches of the Mississippi.

Ditch Systems Inadequate.

Huge systems of ditches, costing $3,000,000, wind back and forth across the basin for more than 2,000 miles. But they have failed to meet the needs of the region, because the river channel is too small to carry away the water drained down from the uplands, E. V. Willard, state drainage commissioner, said recently. The Red Lake river is even too small to discharge the water that normally flows into it, without overflowing onto meadows and farms along its course, he added.

The flood in July, 1919, caused loss of at least $2,000,000 by destruction of farm crops alone, Mr. Selvig said, and floods in the preceding 10 years periodically caused damage of several hundred thousand dollars. Scores of residents were driven from their farms, with the water rising above the first story windows; cattle and even hay stacks were floated out of the inundated region on rafters to escape total loss.

"During the flood of 1919," Mr. Willard continued, "I went 40 miles in a motorboat over flooded fields after losing the course of the Roseau river. I ended up in the back dooryard of a farmhouse two miles form the normal channel of the stream. In the late fall, the flooded fields were still too wet to permit the farmers to get on them to plow. Conditions were identical in the Red Lake river basin.

"Judging by the last 10 years, there is grave danger of a flood every two or three years. Floods may even come twice in a single season."

"Ever since I went to Crookston, 11 years ago," said Mr. Selvig, who also is president of the Northwest School of Agriculture there, "I have been getting letters from settlers in the basin pleading for help. People went in there in dry years in good faith. Some of them have lost everything. In 1919, there was practically total crop failure in the Clearwater and Red Lake river basins. That represents an actual cash loss to the state of $2,000,000, besides a tremendous property damage. No one can tell when the thing will occur again."

The entire drainage basin comprises about 5,500 square miles, he added, although not more than one-third of that area is directly affected by the floods. It includes the Red Lake, Thief, Tamarack and Clearwater rivers.

Under the Cliff flood control act, chapter 13 of the special session laws of 1919, the region was organized into the Red Lake Drainage Conservancy district. With final approval granted by congress, the first step in the final stage of the work will be completion of engineers' data and plans, already under way. Then will come a hearing before district court at Thief River Falls for judicial approval of the project, regarded as certain by the entire district, according to Mr. Selvig; next will be the levying of assessments on lands affected, the sale of bonds to be repaid by the residents in 20 years, and letting of contracts for the work.

Under terms of the enabling act approved by the lower house, the expense will be divided as follows: Waterpower, $240,000; Indian lands, $236,000; lands outside the Red Lake Indian reservation, $248,000; municipal waterpowers, $39,000; federal government allotment for development of navigation, $15,000. The act provides that no assessment shall be more than $2.50 an acre. The benefits to be derived make the cost insignificant by comparison, Mr. Selvig asserted.

Work of Securing Farm Bureau Members Goes On

R. J. McKercher of St. Hilaire, who has added over 100 new names to the membership rolls of the Pennington County Farm bureau since the membership drive for that organization was discontinued on December 22 because of weather conditions, again took up his house to house tour of the county on Monday. He will confine his soliciting efforts for the present to Numedal and Norden townships which have not as yet been visited.

B. O. Norby, superintendent of the Goodridge school, will also aid in the enrollment of members in his available time. His field of action will be the eastern sections of the county.

J. J. McCann, county agent, states that the drive will be conducted by individuals or by the state membership squads until every farmer in Pennington county has either enlisted as a member of the bureau or refused to enlist, which means that a personal call by a solicitor will be made at every farm in the county.

Assist Former Soldiers.

Minnesota Legion posts will assist ex-service men of their state to obtain their quota of the 4,800 lost Liberty bonds and 6,600 unclaimed discharge certificates filed away in Washington, D. C. Alphabetical lists of owners have been "issued" to each post by Legion state headquarters.

Establishing a New Price Basis

The RECONSTRUCTION PERIOD IS ON. Every article in our store bears its proper reduction. You can shop here with confidence that prices are RIGHT.

WE believe the era of high prices is rapidly passing. Production has overtaken demand and prevailing replacement costs are forcing prices downward. To meet this new condition it is our desire and intention to strike bottom in our first revision of prices.

This means a tremendous loss to us which is your gain. Those who know us know we are not special sale folks and we do not want you to confuse this price revision with the ordinary special ten day sale commonly employed by other merchants. Prices quoted in our stores will prevail until the goods now in stock are sold and will continue to prevail unless market conditions demand further revision. Many odd lots of lines to be closed out or discontinued are priced far below replacement cost. We invite you to participate in these money saving values and suggest you do not delay you may be too late.

Note carefully every price quoted, make accurate comparison and you will be convinced of our superiority in the merchandising field and the tremendous advantage to be gained by placing your confidence in an institution doing each year approximately a fifty million dollar quantity buying are passed on to its patrons.

You need now many items of dry goods, furnishings, shoes, clothing and ready-to-wear apparel. Buy them—you can be sure our prices are right.

THE PROPER PLACE FOR IT.

A beet sugar factory for Thief River Falls.

Why not?

Michigan already has 13 beet sugar factories, Wisconsin five, and Minnesota, where the soil is particularly adapted to the growth of the beet, but one. It is a recognized fact that the next few years will see the erection of other mills in widely separated localities within the state. The one mill is located at Chaska.

What has the beet sugar factory done for Chaska?

It has put Chaska on the map—and that is perhaps one of the greater benefits as far as Chaska is concerned. It has made the little city the center of a great industry, which necessitates the successful growth of the sugar beet on approximately 70,000 acres of soil. The Minnesota Sugar company furnishes employment for upwards of 300 persons.

Who else wants the sugar feet factory in this part of the state?

It is a known fact that Bemidji and Crookston want the plant—and want it bad. Crookston has talked "raising the beet" and has quietly gone about fostering the planting of large acreages. Bemidji has talked—and is talking—"site", paying little attention to putting in a crop. Chaska was decided upon as a location for the one plant at present in operation, partly because a factory site was offered for comparatively nothing. It is stated that the Commercial club of Bemidji is getting behind the proposition with every ounce of available strength and that a certain kind of lobbying is being done at Chaska.

Why is Thief River the proper location for a beet sugar factory?

Unlimited railroad facilities, the proper location for a mill to be erected somewhere in the northwestern part of the state, and unlimited lands adjacent to the city which are capable of producing a sugar beet richer in sugar than can be grown in other localities in the state, as has been shown by extensive experiments conducted here the past season.

WHERE CREDIT BELONGS.

The article taken from the Minneapolis Journal and appearing in another part of The Times today, gives a good idea of the purposes of the Red Lake Drainage and Conservancy commission and suggests something as regards the scope of the undertaking. In one respect this excellent article is remiss, however. It fails to give credit to the men whose work has to a large extent brought the project to its present state of near-accomplishment.

First and foremost among these must be mentioned Congressman Steenerson. For twenty years he has consistently and continuously maintained that some such plan as that now under way would eventually have to be adopted if the thousands of acres of fine agricultural lands in the Red Lake drainage basin were to be reclaimed. He secured a survey of both the reservation and the river by the government, finally managed the passage of the bill placing the entire project in the hands of the conservancy commission. This has not been done without strong opposition on the part of congressmen from other sections and the successful outcome of his labors testifies to the high regard in which he is held in Washington. The bill authorizing the improvement of the river within the reservation was passed unanimously, but only after Uncle Joe Cannon of Illinois, Congressman Humphreys of Washington, and others, gave it their unqualified backing. Congressman Knutson of the Sixth district also did valiant service on behalf of the measure and shares with Mr. Steenerson the credit for its passage.

The matter is now largely up to the commission and there is no question but that it will be carried forward without delay to a successful conclusion. This will mean the most important step for the development of this section that has ever been taken.

OPINION DIVIDED.

While to the people of this section it looks like a mistake to turn the building of our hard surfaced highways over to a commission—paid or otherwise—there are those who do not agree with this view. A St. Paul bank last week took the trouble to send out questionnaries on the subject and the answers received would indicate that there is a decided division of opinion exists. All are agreed, however, that whether or not a commission is given some sort of supervisory control, Mr. Babcock should be placed in charge of the actual work. The correspondents of the bank referred to made this stipulation almost without exception.

Preferences are by no means sectional. Among the counties urging that one man shall be placed in charge of the work are Freeborn, Lyon, Winona, Martin, Nicollet, Red Lake and Stearns, while those who favor a commission with Mr. Babcock at its head are Wadena, Brown, Clearwater, St. Louis, Traverse and Kittson. In Beltrami county opinion seems to be about equally divided.

Pennington county could without doubt be added to the communities preferring that the highway commissioner be given full charge. Divided authority seldom proves a satisfactory expedient, the failure to function properly being particularly noticeable where the commissioners serve without pay. But even a paid board would be more or less of a failure in this case. It would be absolutely impossible to prevent cathauling and bickering, no matter how conscientious and capable the men composing the body. It is hardly to be expected that things will go forward without a hitch in any event, but dividing final authority among the members of a commission is the surest way of having a whole lot more trouble than is necessary.

Let Babcock do it. He knows what is wanted and how it is to be accomplished. The legislature can throw all the safeguards considered necessary around the proceedings, but it is to be hoped that a commission, all the members of which have equal powers, will not be a part of the plan finally adopted.

FOR A CHEESE FACTORY.

Unless every indication proves unreliable, Thief River Falls will add a cheese fatcory to its industries before another year has passed. Energetic business men and farmers are back of the movement to establish such an enterprise here and the preliminary steps have already been taken.

While the product of the factory would add greatly to the fixed income of the city, the most important advantage connected with its establishment would be he increased market for milk and cream. It is estimated that $500,000 worth of these products pass through Thief River Falls for points further south every year and it is in the hope of checking this stream right here that the cheese factory is proposed. The Thief River Falls Co-operative creamery, it is true, gets a large share of the supplies produced in the neighboring territory, but the capacity of the plant has about been reached and there seems to be a lack of enthusiasm among the stockholders when enlargements are suggested. At any rate a proposition to improve and extend the creamery was voted down at last year's annual meeting. For this reason the creamery people can hardly regard the location of a cheese factory here as providing increased competition for the products used. In fact, the matter might be so arranged that the creamery would be greatly benefitted by the addition.

Anyway it looks as if the project should have the backing of every citizen of Thief River Falls. It is a move in the right direction—the creating of a greater demand for milk and cream.

EFFERVESCENCE.

Oolai continues to assert himself: He figures that since several of the largest and best known shirt concerns have made a cut of fifty per cent, he'll have to buy a size 28 shirt to fit his 14 size neck.

A bill has been introduced in the senate to prohibit smoking in all government buildings in Washington, and another which would make it a criminal offense to require a female employe to lift a weight greater than 25 pounds. The authors of these two bills are certainly entitled to the tissue paper and hand-crocheted medals, respectively.

Someone went to work and compiled statistics to show that the average college miss of today is an inch taller than the college miss of 1860; and that the modern girl is about seven pounds heavier. Apparently the weaker sex will soon be the stronger.

Ninety-seven per cent of Americans die without making a will. About 96 per cent have little reason for worrying about it before their demise and none of them after.

A seat in the New York stock exchange recently sold for $90,000. A seat at the movie show will still do for most of us.

"The Pennsylvania State college will inaugurate a course in cooking for men, beginning with the second semester." Now, just how many are eligible under those restrictions?

A Nevada man, while excavating for a gas tank in his garage, uncovered a ledge of gold quartz. If it had been a couple of cold quarts every garage in the country would be undergoing alterations.

"Edsel Ford Has His Appendix Removed," says a headline. "Ford undergoes elimination of superfluous parts," as it were.

"Whiskey Case Given to Jury." Rearrange that to suit your own taste.

SEATS ON EXCHANGES WOULD HELP FARMER BUT LITTLE, IS VIEW

Senator O. A. Naplin, in Letter to The Times, Warns Against Expecting Much From Program Presented to Legislature.

One of the matters coming up for action in the Minnesota legislature is of particular interest to the farmers of the state. This is the proposition that cooperative marketing associations shall be allowed to hold seats on grain exchanges, and the subject has received a great deal of attention, being used as a campaign argument last fall and constantly kept before the people since that time. Senator O. A. Naplin of this city, is not particularly enthusiastic over the project, as will be seen by the following communication, received this week:

"Editor of The Times: The daily newspapers are supplying you with a pretty complete report of what the legislature is doing and there is little to be added. Still the reporters who swarm our legislative halls are mostly working for the boss and report happenings rather than results. The editor may also prune down their reports to suit his viewpoint which greatly reduces the value of the news.

"Cooperation was the slogan of the machine last fall during the campaign and no doubt many well meaning voters were misled by the smooth talk of the politicians. I want to say that all those who believed that the men who so earnestly advocated cooperation last fall would try to enact laws to aid in the cooperative marketing of farm products will get what they always got. Undoubtedly there are some members affiliated with the machine who would like to do something, but the leaders are concerned in fulfilling election pledges only. The cooperative law passed by the 1919 session is to be amended so as to permit local cooperative concerns to hold stock in a central cooperative selling concern. This central concern can then buy a seat on the chamber of commerce, and the marketing of the farmers' grain is solved.

"Sounds nice and may fulfill the Republican campaign promise (as campaign promises have always been fulfilled) and fool the fool voters another two years, but absolutely useless as far as giving any relief to the farmers. This concern would have to do business according to the rules laid down by the chamber of commerce, and would but add another commission firm to the many already existing. If it failed to live up to the rules of the game, as prescribed by the chamber of commerce, it would be kicked out—and there is no appeal. Its stock would be worthless and the money invested lost. If it lives up to the rules of the chamber of commerce, what good can it do the farmers?

"I would earnestly advise farmers and officers of cooperative concerns to think twice before they jump at this, because there is nothing to be gained and a nine to one chance that you lose the money invested. It does not take a genius to see that this is simply an attempt to fulfill a campaign promise and not hurt the one who furnished funds to run the same."

Stock Shippers' Annual Meeting Here Saturday

A meeting of the Livestock Shippers' association will be held in the farm bureau office in the auditorium on Saturday at 10:30 a. m. A report on the work of the association for the past year will be read by the manager and any new business pertaining to the welfare of the organization for the coming year will be discussed.

The Shippers' association has about 300 members and a large attendance is expected on Saturday owing to the fact that the annual meeting of the Thief River Co-operative Creamery association will be held on the afternoon of the same day.

Notice.

Annual meeting of the Thief River Falls Co-operative Creamery association will be held at the Commercial club rooms Saturday January 29th at 2 o'clock p. m. Dinner will be served in the Zion church.

League of Women Voters; What It is and What It Expects to Accomplish

(Contributed.)

The National League of Women Voters is a national organization of women who wish not merely to vote, but to vote intelligently. They wish to know both sides of every political question, therefore the League is strictly unpartisan. It is pan-partisan, all-partisan. A woman can be a member of it and yet be a member of any political party she may choose, exactly as she may be a member of it and any church she may choose.

Any woman interested in seeing her vote count for the public good may be a member. It is not a woman's party or separate political party. Its members are simply pledged to foster a program of education in citizenship and to support improved legislation.

The League has to accomplish its educational work by study classes, by schools of instruction in political education, by educational leaflets, movies, plays, etc.

The legislative work will be accomplished by getting behind needed reforms and by the direct influence of its members who are enrolled voters in the already existing political parties, and by bringing pressure to bear upon our legislatures for good social legislation.

Why was the League of Women Voters organized?

Because women see definite things which are needed in our social structure; because women are more vitally interested in certain reforms than men—child welfare, protection of women in industry, better school laws, pure food laws, etc. Anything pertaining to the home means more to women than it ever can to men.

The League was organized because by organization certain great purposes and ideals of women can be accomplished which individual women or individual groups cannot bring about.

Can women accomplish these things alone?

No; men and women will have to work together. The League of Women Voters makes its call to intelligent, forward-looking men as well as women. Its program is so patriotic, so sound, so obviously needed; its motives so impersonal and unselfish; it aims so certain for the benefit and good of mankind, that its success is assured.

The League in Minnesota.

A year ago Minnesota had no organization and in most parts of the state the movement was practically unknown. Today it has chairmen in every congressional district, active chairmen in almost every county in the state and a membership of at least 14,000.

In Pennington county the League has so far worked only through already existing organizations but plans are under way to make it an active, independent organization this coming year. The first annual meeting will be held at the Hotel Brumund next Tuesday evening, Feb. 1, at 8 o'clock. Election of officers will be held, committees appointed and plans for the year's work will be outlined. All women voters are urged to attend.

Benson Dry Goods Stock Placed on Bargain Counter

In another part of The Times will be found an announcement calling attention to the fire sale now going on at the M. N. Benson dry goods store. This establishment was visited by a small blaze a short time ago, and while most of the stock remained uninjured, a part was naturally smoked up and soiled. Mr. Benson does not want an article remaining in the store when the spring goods arrive and has therefore put a price on his wares that should move them out at once. The line is very complete and the occasion presents an excellent opportunity for the ladies of the neighborhood to secure their piece goods, notions, ready-to-wear, and in fact everything carried in a first-class store of this kind at greatly reduced prices. A careful reading of the advertisement will be found worth while.

A Word as to Prices

Do not neglect to take advantage of the bargains in White Goods offered on this page in the hope that prices will go lower. A comparison with the prices asked for similar goods by competitors will convince you that they are exceptionally low. In fact, when the stock now on hand is sold out—which will be soon—there is bound to be an advance as the spring stocks are being sold wholesale at a higher figure than we are charging at this time for many of the numbers quoted. Do not miss this opportunity. You have saved money every time you have taken our advice in the past and will have the same experience if you heed this warning and buy now. By doing so you will not only save money but will also do your share to help keep the wheels of industry moving.

F. Wins Debate.

e between the Thief River East Grand Forks high bating teams Tuesday, Jan. ed in a victory for the local is the second victory our on this year and brings it ble bit nearer to its objec- te championship. er of the district cham- ust win four contests. We he first two in grand style ering the marked improve- wn by the team since the ebate, we feel confident of the next two.

members of the East Grand s team were Violet Ferestad, Lillian Browell and Rosa Peterson. The representatives of the Lincoln high were Esther Soards, Vernon Copp and Edward Fiterman.

The local team won the debate arguing the affirmative on the state question, "Resolved, that the Open Shop is Preferable to the Closed Shop in our Industrial System."

The judges were Supt. Randolph of Erskine; Supt. Ullering of Red Lake Falls and Miss Erickson of the State Department of Labor.

The debate was of unusually high standard for high school teams. Neither team was bothered by "stage fright" which was more or less evident in the former debate. Every speaker showed some real speaking ability. It has always been the influential speaker who has led the way when there has been a conflict of opinion, and the people who spoke here Tuesday night gave us the impression that here are the Calhouns, the Bryans and the Roosevelts of the next decades. Both sides had some very keen argument and they put it over in a manner that caused a person to listen whether he wished to believe what was being said or not. In rebuttal especially was there a great improvement over the first debate held here. Both sides tore to pieces and scattered to the winds seemingly sound proofs, but from the judges decision it is evident that the locals made their points stand out more clearly than their opponents.

T. R. F.-Crookston Debate.

The next debate to be held in this city will be with the Crookston high school, Feb. 1st. This time the local team will take the negative of the Open vs. Closed shop issue, so that the public should take more interest in the next debate than they have in the preceding ones.

The "Open Shop" issue is the livest one in this country at the present time. Every newspaper and magazine contains news of some recent developments, sometimes in favor of one side, sometimes of the other. Magazines are full of comment on the question from some of the greatest minds in the nation.

"The Open Shop" is the chief trouble maker in our industrial world. The wage and time propositions are now secondary, as during the war labor was at a premium and employers were forced to give their employees a square deal. But now the war is over and labor is more plentiful. Business interests are again beginning their destructive competition and they feel that the welfare of the employees must be sacrificed in order that they may successfully compete with other firms. In order to lessen the power of organized labor, employers everywhere are agitating for an "open shop." Theoretically, an open shop is one in which both union and non-union men may be employed; but organized labor maintains that the open shop is really a closed shop; closed against union men and that employers are using the "open shop" movement to destroy organized labor. The large labor organizations, such as the American Federation of Labor, hold that the large industries must be strictly union shops, as the present surplus of labor will permit employers to break up the unions if non-union men may be unrestrictedly employed.

The final adjustment of this problem is of vital importance to every American citizen. If it really is the intention of the great capitalists to break up the labor unions, it will be well to scrutinize their every move. Everyone knows that labor unions are necessary to insure an equilibrium of power in this country, and an attempt to destroy them will meet with protest from the public as soon as facts become generally known.

So come out for the next debate. A heated debate is more interesting than an athletic contest and as Crookston, our next opponent, is supposed to have a strong debating team, a real contest is looked forward to next Tuesday evening. It will be interesting to hear how our future statesmen are interpreting the important issues of the day and also it is discouraging for a team to debate before an audience of a hundred and fifty people in a city of this size.

Girl Scouts.

The first Girl Scout troup meeting was held in the high school assembly room Wednesday evening, Jan. 19. Since the demonstration given by the Holt girls early in November, ten patrols, including those formed in the grades, have been organized. At the meeting the following officers were elected: Lydia Dahlen, chairman; Pearl Weeks, treasurer. In order to give several of the Scouts the privilege of holding an office, a motion was made and seconded that those elected should serve only two successive months.

Hereafter troop meetings will be held on the second and fourth Friday of each month.

Whisperings of Humorous Nuts

"A little nonsense now and then, is relished by the best of men."

Our Bow.

We feel that we are filling a long felt want and rush to the assistance of the numerous readers who have perused this page and found therein no grain of wit larger than could be comfortably absorbed by an ameba.

We trust we are providing an adequate source of wisdom more profound than Solomon's, of humor excelling "Life," and wit far greater than that propounded by Pat and Mike at the most solemn occasion.

If you who browse in these columns (conceived in a labyrinth of incoherence and a conglomeration of thots and inspirations, and dedicated to the proposition that all men are created equally funny) are likewise susceptible to the following humorosities, we shall feel assured of having created a predominating spirit of optimism which under the prevailing conditions is highly desirable.—The Triumvirate.

Extract from Pace's "American Literature" on Jonathan Edwards: "Like mother also he was born old and a preacher."

Mr. Ziegler (in psychology): "How would you split a piece of wood?"
Anna L. (seriously): "Crosswise."

The Triumvirate is hilarious over the success attained by one of our recently departed contemporaries, who in a spontaneous quirk of mind expostulated the following: "I work like a ding-fizzled, dang-fozzled powder monkey on my—, but hark, ye long geared Lutefisk, the old Prof. yesterday fell upon my neck and wept and embraced me and then whispered coyly in my ear that I sure was making some record as a writer. I wiggled my ears in a pleased manner and licked his hand to show how mad I was. Can I fling the ink?"

Miss Hoorn: "Are those who have 3F's in algebra expected to take it over again?"
Mr. Pierce: "Why yes, they can figure that out, can't they?"
(Evidently some students are unable to comprehend the fundamental processes involved in computing the value of unknown quantities as related to 3F's.)

Miss Elliott arose splendidly to the occasion last Friday in chapel when she surveyed the numerous applicants for American History.

To the person who submits the best last line to the following limerick, we shall bestow a very choice assortment of stirring epithets. Address in sealed envelope to "The Whisperings of Humorous Nuts," care Editor-in-chief H. S. Progress:

"There's a certain young man named Copp
He's sadly in need of a prop,
For his great attraction
To the feminine faction—

The completed limerick will be published in the next issue.

A sure sign of the funniness of any occurrence is the depth and intensity of Fiterman's moans.

Lloyd A. (in Public Speaking): "They park their cars on the other side of the boundary, then on Sunday they drive ALL OVER Canada."

Apropos burst of oratory: "Rising to the sublimest depths and descending to the towering heights."

Handsome Zeh didn't whistle in singing period. We wonder why?

Rusty reminds us of little Jack Horner who Stuck in his thumb
And pulled out a plum
And said what a Great Boy am I
When he a-l-m-o-s-t made a basket in the T. R. F. vs. Warroad game.

We wonder if Oolai is still wondering whether the comedy-drama staged here was a farce. He was probably misinformed.

Local mathematicians are busily engaged in computing the interest accrued by the class of '20 in their late lamented annual mess.

Inquiries

Ques.: "I heard two can live as cheaply as one. Is that so?—Tripp."
"Ah! Tripp, you are dwelling in an illusion. For nearly six months I've tried it, but it's entirely wrong. Another thing, if she ever finds out your trying to do it she'll get a divorce and alimony.—Tommy."

Ques.: "How many people are in the world?—Doubtful."
"We have no recent statistics but there are certainly less than before the war."

Ques.: "Why isn't Rusty on the first team?—Anxious."
"Rusty is affected with the parasitic growth commonly known as dandruff and under the prevailing spasmodic circumstances the contraction has disarranged his mental faculties and depressed his physical possibilities."

Ques.: "Will Doc's balloon fly?—Inquisitive"
"It will take more than "hot air" to accomplish that."

Teacher (sternly): "Why were you tardy?"
Mildred B.: "The bell rang before I got here."

Miss Patrick: "What is literature?"
Clarence K.: "Anything that's written."
Lynn H.: "Well now if I wrote a book that wouldn't be literature; they'd call that trash."

It appears that we have in our midst a young man in the form of Edward Fiterman, aspiring to the position of assistant music destructor. While Miss Johnson is even at a distance plainly visible, the young man's gyrations are highly acceptable at least in the immediate vicinity of Seniordom.

Miss Patrick (in English): "What was the difference between the Pilgrims and Puritans?"
Ida S.: "The Pilgrims came first."

We shall each week submit a subject for debate. The following is the first of a series of vital questions to be proposed: "Resolved That if the People of Thief River Falls were in Favor of Paving They Wouldn't Vote Against it."

An Apology.

In order to express our thoughts and deliberations upon various abstruse issues relating to divers subjects in general and humorous and otherwise funny haps and mishaps, we have diverted somewhat from the general trend of thought as expressed by Webster, propounded by Shakespeare and modernized by our instructors.

Normal Department.

Heard in geography class. Helen L.: "The Eskimos do not have doors in their homes; they use fur-bearing animals for doors."

Mr. Flynn, state inspector of high school training departments, visited Miss Ober's classes in the morning and Miss Perry's class in the afternoon.

The telephone has been moved to accommodate the normal girls.

The janitor thinks the normal girls hard to accommodate in regard to heat these days. He is of the opinion that exams are causing all the cold feet.

Mr. Ziegler visited arithmetic class Monday. While there he asked this question: "Is it correct to say seven and six are twelve, or seven and six is twelve?" Mr. Ziegler believes in having jokes that provoke a smile and still get the class to think.

Florence, wishing to change the subject to her favorite Canada, said: "Canada has different time than the U. S.—"

Miss Ober (thinking to bring her back): "Where are we now?"

Florence (remembering): "Back to the earth's surface."

Teacher: "Olga did you dust the desks today?"

Olga: "Oh! I forgot it today."

Teacher: "Well you won't make a very good housekeeper Olga, if you forget such simple things."

Miss Ober: "Girls, don't you feel cold? Mable tell the janitor that it is cold in our room."

Miss Ober (several hours later): "Would you please look after the heat in our room Mr.——, because it is very cold here."

Janitor: "Why don't you put on warmer clothes, then you would be warmer."

Washington News.

There has been quite an uneven attendance at the Washington school the last week due to the fact that some of the pupils have been affected by the measles and mumps.

The teachers of the Washington were treated to a delicious lunch one day last week.

Knox School Notes.

Miss Friestad returned last Monday from Duluth where she had dental work done.

Several of the sixth grade students are being promoted into the seventh grade this last semester. Some of these students are ones who failed to pass last year and providing their work is very good, are allowed to go into the seventh grade this last semester. In this way they will only be a half year behind their class. In other cases the work of students is very high, and they are allowed to pass. This helps out very much in the crowded condition of the sixth grade at present. Following are the names of the students: Theresa and Albert Hagen, Mable Sterns and Leon Johnson.

Northrup News.

A large shipment of new library books was received at the Northrup last week.

Miss Smith's room won the pennant in the upstairs marching contest, while there was a tie between Miss Pelto's and Miss Trogan's room for the downstairs pennant.

H. E. Flynn of the State Normal Department, was at the Northrup last week, inspecting the work of the Normal girls who are doing practice teaching in the grades.

Personals.

It may be of interest to students of Lincoln high school and also other friends of Miss Evans, our last year's principal, to know that she is now at home in Exeter, California. Miss Evans has been attending the University of Minnesota during the first quarter, but due to her mother's ill health, has been obliged to stay at home during the winter. Miss Evans hopes to continue her work at Stanford University during the spring quarter. In a letter recently received from her, she states in regard to the H. S. Progress: "It does credit to the school and gives pleasure not only to those in close touch, but to the 'has-beens.' May the lines of the Progress broaden in Thief River H. S., is my sincere wish."

Supt. Hayes of East Grand Forks high school, who accompanied the debating team which appeared here last week, gave an interesting talk to the members of the Public Speaking class Wednesday. Supt. Hayes has done government work in the south and in connection became familiar with the conditions, especially as related to the negro. He also related incidents of interest from travels in other parts of the country. The talk was greatly appreciated by the Public Speaking students.

Ruby N. (in Physical Training): "If we had a bat we could play baseball—if we also had a ball."

Albert Stengelson and Dreng Bjornarna visited at the former's home near Rosewood over the week-end.

As Some See It.

The Seniors say they are a witty lot,
While the Juniors say they're not.
But the Sophomores with the honors ran away
And the Freshmen haven't much to say.

Jordan Penney returned to school last week after having spent an extended vacation in the cities with relatives and friends. He intends, however, to stay only to finish the first semester work as he has the required number of credits to graduate.

The girls' basketball team will play their second game of the season Friday evening. This game will be at Climax and will be the first game to be played out-of-town this season. The girls are practicing very diligently and are looking forward to the coming games with great interest. Mr. Tommeraasen, the coach, has girls' games scheduled for every week until the end of February and still others are in view.

The contestants who are to take part in declamation and oratorical contests are working hard and will meet other contestants Friday the 28th.

Beginning with next week all boys belonging to Smith-Hughes classes, either mechanical or agricultural, will be given instruction in mechanical drawing, which will include the use of drawing instruments, sketching, blue print reading and blue printing.

Clarence Pope, one of the Smith-Hughes teachers, was absent from school Wednesday, on account of Mrs. Pope being seriously ill.

Coach Tommeraasen, athletic instructor of the high school, has announced that next week the class basket ball teams will be given a chance to practice for the inter-class basket ball tournament which is to be held in the second week of February. Every year a tournament of this kind is staged and is generally hailed with great enthusiasm. This year is no exception and a group of hard games and fast playing are expected.

"Bee" Sandum and Curly have decided to once more become friends and have signed a treaty, which will be posted in the near future.

Miss Brown (in physiography): "Cleon tell us about bars." (Meaning coastal and sand-bars.)

Cleon (just waking up): "Well bars are prohibited in this country, but—"

Miss Brown: "Cleon Buttelson! You get out of here."

Mr. Melby (in industrial history): "Curly, why is this called the Steel Age."

Curly: "Because there are so many robberies."

Cleon: "Say, Miss Brown, I don't see why the world needs a belt."

A laboratory is being equipped in the basement of the Washington building, which is to be used by Miss Brown in her teaching of general science next semester.

Among the new courses that are to be offered to the students next semester there will be a course in home equipment, an art that will be useful to any persons who are thinking of the future.

A number of the boys had a disarranged or enlarged nose last Monday as a result of the introduction of boxing gloves in the gymnasium.

Harold Smithers, a member of our staff, has returned to school after having been confined to his home about two weeks as a result of a severe attack of mumps.

Tony (in Latin class): "Miss Iverson, I'll help you write the examination questions."

The posting of the advisory lists aroused a great interest in the bulletin board last Wednesday.

Miss Brown: "Cleon, turn and pay attention."

Cleon B.: "I can't pay anything, I'm dead broke."

Miss Patrick: "How did the Angles and Saxon earn their living?"

David Evenson: "Lutefisk."

The Raving of Rupert.

("Curly" has been "courting" the muses lately. This is the result):

It was mid-night on the ocean,
Not a street car was in sight,
The sun was shining brightly,
For it rained all day that night.

'Twas a summer day in winter,
The snow was raining fast
As a barefoot girl with shoes on Stood sitting in the grass.

It was evening and the rising sun
Was setting in the west,
While the little fishes in the trees
Were cuddled in their nests.

The rain was pouring down
The sun was shining bright;
And everything that you could see
Was hidden out of sight.

Then the organ peeled potatoes
Lard was rendered by the choir,
While the sexton rang the dish-rag
Someone set the church on fire.

"Holy Smoke" the preacher shouted,
As he madly tore his hair,
And his head resembled Heaven
For there was no parting there.

Declamation-Oratory Contest.

Friday night at eight o'clock the first declamatory contest between Thief River Falls contestants and out-of-town contestants will be held at the Lincoln high school.

The contestants from Thief River Falls are: Myrtle Krohn, whose selection will be, "The Man Without a Country," and Ernest Zeh will give, "The March of the Flag." It is not known yet who the out-of-town contestants will be but the following towns will be represented: Red Lake Falls, Holt and Roseau.

This contest will be as interesting as the Debating contests and it will be to the interest of every student to back up their high school in this activity as well, by turning out Friday night.

Win One; Lose One.

The local high school basketball team played two games last Friday and Saturday, in which they won from Argyle by a score of 18 to 7 and lost to Warren by a score of 23-8, at those respective places.

The game at Argyle proved to be more of a football game than an indoor loop game, therefore the majority of the Thief River Falls team, as well as the Argyle team, were badly bruised, which did not better the Thief River Falls teams' condition for the next day's game at Warren. However they came out victorious. The Argyle team is made up of good fighting players and both teams showed up well and satisfied the spectators with a good hard game.

The Thief River Falls team's lineup was as follows: Dolan and Larson, forwards; Paranteau, center and Sorenson and Herron, guards, with LaBree as substitute. All members of the team made their share of the baskets. Parenteau, with his usual skill in handling the ball, is credited with shooting five baskets.

The Warren game was a less exciting one, largely due to the fact that the boys did not get the required amount of sleep for basketball players. They did not retire at Warren until three o'clock in the morning before the game and receiving no shower bath after the game with Argyle until they arrived in Warren, the boys were in a sad physical condition for the coming game with the Warren high school. But they went into the afternoon game with a mind to do their best. It seemed they could not get their machine working and expressed little enthusiasm for the game. Their attitude was due, of course, to the lack of sleep and proper physical treatment after the Argyle game. However the boys held them down to the given score, which was well, considering the condition they were in. There is no doubt that when the Warren team comes down here to play that a close game will ensue and will give them a chase for a bouncing victory. The same lineup played at Warren as at Argyle with Olson as substitute.

Why Mr. N. Windsor (R. I.) Put Up with Rats for Years

"Years ago I got some rat poison, which nearly killed our fine watch dog. We put up with rats until a friend told me about Rat-Snap. It surely kills rats, though house pets won't touch it." Rats dry up and leave no smell. Prices, 35c, 65c, $1.25.

Where Standard Oil Efficiency Is Needed Most

IN the ten Middle Western States served by the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) there is one automobile for each 9 persons. It is estimated that 65% of these vehicles are owned by farmers. That is the utmost of efficiency in refining, manufacturing, and distributing gasoline and other petroleum products is needed most in this great territory.

To indicate the tremendous increase in the number of cars and trucks, the following statement of 1919 and 1920 registrations by states is given:

STATES	1919	1920
So. Dakota	104,625	122,040
Iowa	363,000	442,200
Minnesota	259,743	323,572
Missouri	229,577	295,817
Kansas	228,601	265,385
No. Dakota	82,885	90,840
Michigan	296,378	412,275
Wisconsin	236,974	303,246
Indiana	277,255	332,207
Illinois	478,438	569,127
	2,557,476	3,156,709

To enable these machines to operate in all weather, under all conditions, and wherever they may be located, an adequate supply of gasoline is needed. To supply this need is the constant endeavor of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana). The refineries operated by this Company are working night and day to increase the yield of gasoline taken from crude oil, without in any way sacrificing the quality of the gasoline.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) operates a distribution system maintained at as near to 100% efficiency as is humanly possible. To do this calls for a minute and unwearying study of local conditions, and for constant anticipation of future needs.

All activities of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) are co-ordinated to the highest degree of efficiency to insure maximum economy.

Thus in the Middle West, where efficiency is needed most, the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is performing this essential economic service to the benefit of all the people.

ROSEWOOD

Large Farm Club Meeting.

A very successful farm club meeting was held at the Rosebank building last Friday evening and was attended by a large audience. The meeting opened shortly before nine o'clock with Alex Hellquist presiding. After the song, "Auld Lang Syne" by the audience, the minutes of the last meeting were read and approved and a motion introduced asking that a petition be drawn up, signed and sent to our state representative asking that he use his influence to retain the present primary election system, instead of the proposed change to convention. This was duly done and signed by a large number of voters. It was decided to arrange a debating team for the next meeting, and A. S. Holm, L. L. Furan and Joel Shoberg were appointed to have charge of the preliminaries. Benhard Ranum and Joel Shoberg were elected as caterers. The next meeting will be held at the same place on Friday evening, Feb. 11. The meeting was then turned over to the program committee, Ebba Sagmoen, who led a very entertaining program, consisting of three readings, community singing, duets and solos, with instrumental accompaniment, to the entire satisfaction of the audience. After the program, Mr. W. Wendt of Warren, rendered a number of pretty violin compositions and also led the music for the remainder of the evening. A tasteful luncheon was served at midnight and the entire evening was very happily passed.

An old-fashioned basket social will be staged at the Rosebank building next Friday evening Jan. 28, with the proceeds going to the Near East relief. This worthy cause is being contributed to all over America at the present time and as this is the first step taken to contribute from this place, it is recommended to the very best. As customary, all ladies will bring baskets with lunch for two and the gentlemen the "necessary evil". The party is arranged through the efforts of Mrs. Rudolph Sagmoen.

ERIE

Mrs. John T. Coan.

This community was shocked on Friday morning of last week by the sudden death of Mrs. John T. Coan. She had suffered from sick spells off and on for several years and was taken sick during the night with an attack of cerebral hemmorhage and died at 9:15 in the morning.

Mrs. Gertie Girlings Coan was born in Michigan in 1875, being 46 years and 4 days of age at the time of her death. Her parents emigrated from Holland. Beside her husband she leaves five children, who are all at home; a sister, Mrs. Barney Baker, of Esplee; and two other sisters and a brother in Michigan. She was buried in the Eklund cemetery near Erie, on Wednesday. Funeral services were conducted by Rev. Lutz of Goodridge.

Mrs. Coan was a resident of this community for the past seven years, was called a true friend by all who knew her and her sudden departure was a blow that will long be remembered. We all extend our heartfelt sympathy to Mr. Coan and children, in their sudden bereavement.

We Must Pay Good Wages and Earn a Fair Profit

We aim to use the best telephone equipment made and to furnish courteous and dependable telephone service.

Telephone service is sold by us at the lowest rates at which it can be furnished and yet pay good wages to our employees and a reasonable return to our investors.

It is essential that we pay good wages to keep capable employees. It is also necessary that we earn a reasonable return on the money now invested in our property. Unless we do this we will be unable to get the new money we need each year for improvements and extensions.

We endeavor to be conservative, prudent and economical in the management of our affairs, and we seek suggestions for improvement.

START CLEANUP JOB ON ANNIVERSARY OF FIRE IN UNION BLOCK

...started in the basement ...printing office in the Union ...at 11 o'clock on a Sunday ...nd spread with such rapidi... only was it early appar...e Union block was doomed, ...y buildings, particularly ...e Oen Mercantile company ...velyn hotel, were in grave ...

...lly nothing in the printing ...d be saved and only a part ...ousehold goods belonging to ...families living on the sec... were gotten out. In a very ...me one of the finest buildings in the city was a heap of ruins.

The Thief River Realty company, owners of the Union block, decided that it was a poor time to begin rebuilding and the ruins have remained practically in the condition the fire left them, with the exception that a part of the machinery of The Times company was salvaged and rebuilt.

It was a bad fire for everyone living in the building, but particularly for The Times. Not only were the prices on equipment at their highest point at that time, but replacements were practically unobtainable. It was the following spring before anything resembling a complete printing plant could be secured and in the meantime the paper was issued under a financial drain that well nigh took the heart out of the publishers.

But things have straightened out again. The Times has now a plant of which a city twice the size of Thief River Falls might well be proud. Anyone who thinks, however, that the past year has been one of placid contentment for the publishers has never gone through a similar experience.

Everyone will be glad to see the site cleaned up as it has been something of an eyesore. The job will be completed as quickly as possible, after which it is to be hoped another building will take the place of the one destroyed. The site is one of the best in the city and will not long remain unoccupied.

CORN CROP OF IOWA WOULDN'T RUN AUTOS OF STATE ONE YEAR

Statistics Offered to Show That Farmers Would Have to Receive 80 Cents Per Bushel to Meet Cost.

W. W. Prichard, Jr., returned Friday from Minneapolis where he attended the annual convention of the Northwestern Lumbermen's association, recognizedly the largest association to hold its annual convention in the twin cities. While in Minneapolis Mr. Prichard was joined by an uncle, Charles Skewis of Storm Lake, Iowa, who submitted some interesting statistics on conditions in his home state.

Public speakers in many sections of Iowa have endeavored to point out to the farmers and residents in general just where their heavy expenditures have been. Mr. Skewis gave an example of the figures as compiled by reliable authorities from reliable sources of information:

Iowa, the past year, spent over $200,000,000 for automobiles, some families—many of them farmers—owning as high as three cars. It is estimated that 12 cents for each mile of road covered by the car will meet the cost of operation, maintenance and depreciation. It was found that the average mileage of a car per season was 4,000 miles, which at the rate of 12 cents per mile, represents an annual outlay of $400 per car, or an expenditure of $40 for each of the ten open months of the year.

Further statistics compiled went to show that if the entire corn crop of the state of Iowa could be marketed at a price of 80 cents per bushel—which is an unusually liberal figure in that corn is at present selling for around 60 cents—it would not finance the operation of the automobiles owned in the state.

GOOD ATTENDANCE AT JANUARY MEETING OF ELMER EKLUND POST

Fine Banquet Followed by Snappy Business Session—Collection Taken Up For Salvation Army—Program at Lyceum.

The regular January meeting of the ...mer J. Eklund post of the Ameri...n Legion held at the Brumund ...tel on Saturday evening was, in the ...inion of officials of the organiza...on, one of the most successful that ...as ever been held here. Sixty-two members were in attendance. An outstanding feature of the meeting was the co-operative spirit manifest.

A banquet supper served at 10:30 was followed by a brisk business session. In addition to business of a routine nature, members of the Legion basket ball team gave short talks. Secretary G. Howard Smith urged support of the national fourfold bonus bill, and President Oscar Smith entered a plea in behalf of the Salvation army. Following the latter's explanatory talk a collection was taken up in accordance with the wishes of those present, the proceeds totalling $19 to be presented to the local barracks of the army.

Following the business session, the Legionnaries adjourned to the Lyceum theater where a short program was presented. Through the courtesy of the Lyceum management and the machine operator, a special two-reel comedy was shown. Vocal selections rendered by Charles Van of Bemidji, were greatly appreciated, as was evidenced by the storms of applause. Snyder's orcestra rounded out the evening's entertainment.

GRAND FORKS Y.M.C.A. LOSES IN ONE-SIDED GAME TO LOCAL BOYS

Outclassed in Every Department by the Eklund Post Men, the Visitors are Trimmed 44 to 5.

The large number of fans who turned out to witness the basket ball game between the Y. M. C. A. of Grand Forks and the Thief River Falls Legion teams played at the city auditorium on Saturday evening, were disappointed in the failure of the "Y" team to live up to advance press notices, but greatly impressed by the display of team-work and consistent playing on the part of the local quint. The final score stood at 44 to 5, in favor of the Legionnaries.

In spite of the fact that the visitors scored in the first three minutes of playing with a basket made from beyond the center line, the game was one-sided from the start. Coach Connell's men at once adopted their rushing tactics against which the "Y" men made little impression. The latter furnished an interesting battle during the first half, the score, which stood at 23 to 5 when the whistle blew, not being an indication of the game played. Failing to score in the last half, missing basket after basket from comparatively close range, the "Y" quintet eventually went to pieces entirely with the loss of Guon and Stendahl, both injured in the last of the third quarter and the first of the fourth, and the game became virtually an exhibition of fast work put on by the locals. The lineup:

Y.M.C.A. (5)		Legion (44)
Allen	R.G.	Holzknecht
Guon-Stewart	L.G.	McGinn
Hale	C.	Hadrath-LaBree
Wells	R.F.	Carlson
Ryan-Stendahl	L.F.	Kiland-Johnson

Perry Johnson, referee; C. E. Zinc, Y. M. C. A. coach; G. W. Connell, Legion coach.

Baskets: Hale 1, Wells 1, Carlson 7, Hadrath 6, Kiland 3, McGinn 1, Johnson 1, LaBree 1. Free Throws: Ryan 1, Carlson 7.

Auxiliary to Entertain Members of Legion Post

~~The Woman's Auxiliary to the El~~mer J. Eklund Post No. 117 of the American Legion, will entertain the Legionnaires at the Commercial club rooms on next Wednesday evening. Dancing, cards, other forms of entertainment and refreshments will be features of the evening. The occasion will be strictly informal. The Auxiliary extends the most cordial of invitations to all Legion men who may be in the city that evening, whether or not they are members of the local post.

Keep Married Women at Home.

The following article, appearing in the St. Paul Dispatch over the signature of "Justice," has been submitted by A. A. Anderson of Thief River Falls, with the request that it be published:

To the Editor of the Dispatch: Allow me to say a few words in regard to several articles appearing in this paper on married women working in offices. These women ought to be ashamed of themselves. A married woman's place is at home. She has no business working if her husband is an able-bodied man. Quite a few married women (I would still call them girls) are working in railroad offices where they get good pay for doing little work. In one office of the Northern Pacific railway you will find between ten and fifteen married women. Most of them don't earn one-fourth of their salary. There were several cases in this office of man and wife doing the same kind of work. Most of the married women in this office cannot make a cup of coffee. They ought to be ashamed of themselves, coming to work day after day when everyone knows they have a man who is able to support them. I would be ashamed to even think of having her work in the same office with me. An able-bodied man who allows his wife to work doesn't think much of her or there is something in his upper story that doesn't function properly. Let's get started and get rid of these women and give the poor working girl a chance to make a decent living. JUSTICE.

St. Paul Park, Minn.

The Times job department has a fine equipment of new material and turns out the best work on short notice.

MINNESOTA MAN GAINS 26 POUNDS

"I Am in Fine Health" Says Cominis After Taking Tanlac.

"When I began taking Tanlac I only weighed a hundred and fourteen pounds, but now I tip the scales at one hundred and forty," said Leo Cominis, an employee of the Imperial Candy Co., at 501 Hennepin Avenue, Minneapolis, Minn.

"For nearly six years I had been troubled with indigestion, I never felt hungry and I went down in weight. I had cramping spells that nearly killed me, gas formed awful bad and my stomach distressed me all the time. Then my back ached terribly, and instead of getting any better I was growing worse.

"Finally I began taking Tanlac and it fit my case so well that I can't tell now there was ever anything at all the matter with me. My appetite has come back and I am never bothered with stomach trouble any more. My back does not hurt now and I have gained twenty-six pounds. I am in fine health once more and am glad to go on record as endorsing Tanlac."

ALL PROCEEDS TO STARVING BABIES

European Children Get Entire Sum Taken in at Lyceum Theater Saturday.

A special picture for children, "The Fairy and the Waif," starring Mary Miles Minter, will be shown at the Lyceum theatre on Saturday afternoon. The entire proceeds of the matinee will go to the European Children's Relief fund. H. A. Brumund, proprietor of the Princess and Lyceum theaters, will defray all expenses incidental to the showing of the picture here.

Moving picture exhibitors all over the United States are following much the same plan adopted by Mr. Brumund for the purpose of raising two and one-half million dollars, which sum has been guaranteed by them for the relief of the millions of starving and suffering children of the European countries. Following the appeal made to the people of the country by Herbert Hoover, chairman of the relief council, moving picture exhibitors called special conventions at New York and Chicago, at which the above mentioned course was adopted.

Wrestler Dies Following Operation For Appendicitis

Tarje Froisness of Goodridge, died at the Physicians' hospital here early Monday morning following an operation for appendicitis performed on Sunday afternoon. The cause of his death is given as "surgical shock." The deceased suffered a broken rib directly over the heart in a wrestling match with a local training partner on the night of January 17. Dr. A. W. Swedenburg, who attended Mr. Froisness previous to the time of his death and who performed the operation, stated that there was no connection between the injury received in the wrestling match and the cause of death, and tho the wrestler was of powerful physique, his vitality was lowered and considerable internal inflammation present as a result of a severe attack of typhoid fever suffered last spring. Following the operation, the patient did not react to stimulants, the recovering entirely from the effects of the anaesthetic.

Tarje Froisness was born near this city and was 25 years old at the time of his death. During his lifetime he made his residence either at his farm nine miles east of Thief River Falls or in the city. Funeral services were held this noon from the Larson funeral chapel. Interment was made in the cemetery near his former farm home. He is survived by one brother, Tallek, who makes his home at Thief River Falls and four sisters; Mrs. T. Johnson of Kempton, N. D.; Mrs. J. D. Baxter of Larimore, N. D.; Mrs. E. C. Strafer of Larimore and Mrs. V. C. Cartier of Wenatche, Washington.

Liquor Confiscated But Owner Fails to Appear

Federal agents trailed two large suitcases of perfectly good liquor into the city via the Soo Wheat line last Saturday evening, but the owner failed to put in an appearance. Local officials met the train and spotted the two suitcases, which were taken to one of the leading hotels with other articles of baggage and there deposited awaiting the owners claim. As no one could be identified with the luggage during a strict vigil of several hours duration, both articles were confiscated and forwarded to the Federal department at St. Paul, without having been opened.

Elks Will Raise Rates After Iinitiation Feb. 4

A special meeting of the Thief River Falls lodge of Elks has been called for 8 o'clock Saturday evening at the Masonic hall. Applications for membership will be heard, balloting taking place and the question of quarters for the coming year discussed.

This meeting is the last time that applications will be read before the big initiation night of February 4, which has been designated as Past Exalted Ruler's night. It is estimated that a class of fifty will be put thru the proper tactics necessary to making them good and loyal Elks. The membership drive will close on Monday evening, January 31, any applications for membership received previous to that time being at the old rate of $35. Starting February 1, the membership fee will be $50.

Spelling Contest Dates For This County Changed

County Superintendent of Schools George M. Gunderson has announced that the Pennington county spelling contest for the purpose of selecting representatives to the Red River valley winter show's rural school spelling contest at Crookston on February 11, will be conducted in Thief River Falls on Saturday, February 5 at 1:30 p. m. The contest was previously scheduled to take place on the morning of February 11, but a change of plans was necessitated because of conflicting train schedules. The contestants will meet at the Lincoln high school building.

The contest will consist of an oral test of 50 words, and a written test of 50 words. If there should be a tie it will be decided by an oral spell down. Each rural school in the county may send one representative. These are to be chosen at the discretion of the teachers.

Obituary

Nels Leiren.

On Jan. 19, at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Pernilla Williams, occurred the death of Nels Leiren, a former resident of this city. A number of years ago Mr. Leiren was proprietor of a restaurant here and is well known to a number of local residents. The deceased was born in Norway on Nov. 20, 1860 and came to America when a young man and has made his home in the cities of Crookston, Grand Forks and Thief River Falls. Since last November he has lived with his daughter, Mrs. Pernilla Williams, at Rollis. At the time of his death he was affiliated with the United Lutheran church. Funeral services were conducted by Rev. R. L. Barackman, of this city, at the Rollis church and interment made in the Rollis cemetery. He is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Pernilla Williams and son Robert Leiren of Grand Forks.

SPEECH TONIGHT BIG FEATURE OF INSTITUTE WEEK

Dr. Stanley L. Krebs Will Deliver Famous Lecture on "City Pride and Prosperity."

Addresses of Brilliant Author and Traveler Pleases Large Audiences Thus Far.

No Admission Charge This Evening and a General Invitation Extended to Attend.

Dr. Stanley L. Krebs, eminent psychologist, expert in salesmanship, advertising and the scientific handling of men, who is conducting a series of lectures here this week before the merchants of this city, retail salespeople and general public, will present his famous lecture, "City Pride and Prosperity" at the city auditorium on Thursday evening. The general public is invited and urged to attend by the Merchants' association, under whose auspices Dr. Krebs is appearing here. No admission will be charged.

The lecture, in Dr. Krebs' own words, will have the greatest "punch" of any delivered here during his series. He will go deep into explanation of the steps necessary for the people of Thief River Falls to take in order to accomplish what the city wants or needs to do. He will explain how a drawing power and center of influence can be made of the city, suggesting methods in which old and young can personally co-operate.

His lecture scheduled for Saturday afternoon has been cancelled, owing to the fact that Dr. Kreb's itinerary calls for his departure from Thief River Falls on Friday evening. As a substitute for the Saturday lecture he will speak before the Woman's club at the Commercial club rooms on Friday at 3:30 o'clock. His subject will be, "Constructive Discipline," and should be of especial interest to mothers, dealing as it does with the proper up-bringing of the child. The Merchants' association has extended a general invitation to the women of the community, whether or not members of the Woman's club, to be present at this lecture, for which no admission will be charged.

The Opening Address.

Dr. Krebs delivered the opening shot of his series of lectures here at a banquet given at the Brumund hotel on Monday evening. Over 80 business men, the largest attendance on record for any event of a like nature, in the history of the city, were seated at the board. He took for his topic, "The Two Demons" or "Fear and Worry in Business" and gave the psychological results of harboring these two serpents in the mind. On Tuesday and Wednesday evening he spoke before the city merchants and their employees, as well as many other interested citizens, at the Commercial club rooms. The subjects of his lectures were "Ways That Win" and "Merchandise" or "The Glory of Material Things." At the regular noonday luncheon of the Commercial club today he spoke on "The Intellectual Powers Applied to Industry."

Traveler and Scholar.

The lecturer deals in facts. He has traveled widely; has appeared on the operatic and dramatic stages and is an accomplished musician on the pipe organ and piano; he writes poetry, has been a locomotive engineer, and is a professional physician. He has written many books on a variety of subjects, conducts a psychological laboratory at Washington, D. C. and during the spare hours of his present tour is engaged in writing more books. He speaks with a force and sincerity that creates a lasting impression, holding the attention of his audience to his last word and he seems possessed with the idea of putting across a statement of awesome facts, clinching them home with a few final words of a smile or laughter-provoking nature. He has enthused all who have heard him as no other speaker here has done before.

In an interview granted a member of The Times staff, Dr. Krebs stated that he considered the attendance at the banquet and other lectures given here, exceptionally good and that he enjoyed the spirit in which his talks were taken by the listeners. He also added that his audiences seemed to be taking hold and really getting the meat out of his statements.

Still Writing Books.

Upon entering the doctor's room at the Evelyn hotel, the reporter discovered him seated before a diminutive typewriter, a smile on his face and hand extended. Sheafs of papers, pamphlets and manuscript were everywhere—on the bed, chairs, tables, in grips and on the floor. In response to the remark that "it looked like a busy place," the doctor volunteered the information that he was engaged in the biggest work of his life, one that was his greatest ambition and dream—the writing of a set of nine books for the Federal schools of Minneapolis, entitled, "Science of Personal Success" and comprising in all 27 sections. In further explaining their text, Dr. Krebs said:

"The volumes should be of use to anyone in any walk of life who wishes to make the best use of physical powers or mental faculties, including those of memory, reasoning or imagination, the heart powers, the nine great feelings from sex to soul which move the race and the individual, the powers of will, determination, action, perseverance, thoroughness and initiative and, lastly, the so-called religious powers of faith—confidence in the cosmic, or God, as a practical power, and the uplift of the spirit on all other powers of a man's personality, thus welding the whole range of powers into unity, spelling success." The work will be used for correspondence instruction.

The grand jury called for the February term of district court finished its labors and reported to Judge Andrew Grindeland this morning. Seven indictments were found, as follows: Fred Brendecke, storing and having liquor for sale; Godfrey Carlson, selling liquor to an Indian; Arthur Charboneau, Richard Bartlett, Eckert Lane and Victor Norquist, third degree burglary; Axel Anderson and Joe Trodeau, running gambling house; R. C. Flegenshaw, breaking seal of railway car; Samuel R. Kirby, keeping tubercular patients in hospital without isolating them; Earl Reeves, petit larceny. The latter has pleaded guilty but sentence has not yet been pronounced.

HIGHEST AWARD TO BUTTER MADE HERE

Thief River Creamery Product Takes First Prize at Fergus Falls Convention.

First prize for butter made at the creameries within the district covered by the Red River Valley Dairymen's association was awarded to the Thief River Falls Co-operative creamery at the convention held in Fergus Falls last week. The butter scored 93 points and Buttermaker Harold J. Olson, is naturally much pleased with the showing made. While scoring either in second or third place at every convention of the association in recent years, this is the first time the top honor has been landed by the local institution.

There is no question but that the creamery is turning out an exceptionally fine product at this time. That such is the case is evidenced by the uniformly high price received when sold in competition with the leading creameries of the country.

Business at the Thief River Falls butter factory is very good at this time, the receipts showing a considerable increase over those of previous years. While the price for butterfat has fallen off somewhat in sympathy with other products, yet it is easily more than holding its own and the man who depends on the dairy cow is still in an envied position.

ELKS LODGE PLANS TO BREAK RECORDS

Initiation on Friday Night and Dance on Monday Will Both Be Unusual.

The near advent of Lent forces the local lodge of Elks to hold two important functions within a short time. On Friday evening a class of about 40 will be initiated at the auditorium, the occasion being designated as Past Exalted Rulers night. Those who have held the highest office in the lodge will be specially honored and the work will be exemplified by them instead of the present officers. The past exalted rulers of Thief River Falls lodge are H. E. Ives, now a resident of Brainerd; Joseph Feeley of St. Paul; A. H. Fasel, Nampa, Idaho; F. H. Herrick, Andy Anderson and L. R. Johnston, city. A special invitation has been extended to the former lodge heads to be present at this time.

The lodge will meet at 8 o'clock sharp and the candidates are requested to be on hand not later than 8:30.

The last pre-lenten dance will be given on Monday evening, Feb. 7. This will be a "hard times" affair at which all the members will wear their old-fashioned clothes, but it is understood that there will be no serious objection to coming to the party with clean hands and properly shaved. In order that any who may disregard the injunctions issued in this respect shall be properly punished a kangaroo court will be in session continuously throughout the evening, and woe betide any who dare put in an appearance in a starched collar or bearing other evidences of being "stuck up."

Turkey Gobbler Shortens Own Life by Entire Week

Local rifle shots went gunning throughout a section of the city last Sunday when a great bronze turkey escaped from an inclosure at the Hotel Evelyn and started on a tour of house tops. The bird first flew to the roof of a nearby garage, then perched on the ridges of several houses in the residence section, and so on into the north part of town, pursued by hotel employees armed with clubs and drag nets. The trail after several hours of pursuit became lost, the bird eventually being located on a hay stack near the outskirts of the city, when a well aimed rifle shot ended the jaunt. Fortunately the bird was meant for next Sunday's dinner instead of last Sunday's.

Hear Dr. Stanley L. Krebs at the Auditorium tonight.

FORTY SERVICE MEN APPLY FOR TRAINING BERTH

Twelve Claimants Are Accepted Without Further Formality Under Class 2 Rating.

Five Others Will be Put Through Upon Proof That Service Caused Disability.

Given Choice of Numerous Trades and Professions as Well as Colleges.

More than 40 ex-service men, residents of Kittson, Roseau, Marshall, Pennington and Red Lake counties, made use of the opportunity presented by the coming here on Tuesday and Wednesday of an eligibility squad from district headquarters of the Federal Board for Vocational Training, to present claims for training or to secure proper adjustment of claims previously filed. Twelve claimants were awarded training under class 2 and all preliminary arrangements necessary to entering courses of from one to four years' duration made. The eligibility squad, which left here Wednesday afternoon for two-day stops at Crookston, Fergus Falls and St. Cloud, was made up of W. E. Hardy, Washington representative of the Federal board; William Rockford, contact officer; C. B. Bressler, special vocational advisor; Dr. Frank L. Alloway, representing the district medical department, and A. Hehn, secretary of the squad. C. J. Batton of the Minneapolis offices of the Federal board was also in the city on Tuesday. A staff of local stenographers was employed to expedite the clerical work.

Of the 40 men who appeared before the squad, 19 were rated as eligible to class 2 training, which provides for the payment of from $80 to $100 sustenance by the Federal board while men are at school or receiving instruction by placement. Seven of the 19 men, aside from the 12 whose claims were approved, have but to furnish proof connecting their disability with service to be at once placed in training. More than 25 men were rated as eligible for training either under class 2 or class 3. In the latter case men are eligible to training without the payment of sustenance. Several ex-service men who incurred no disability of any nature while in the service appeared before the squad because of a misunderstaning.

A number of those found eligible for training were granted the privilege of entering school or shop immediately, but requested a short time in which to make proper preparations. In other cases a short period of time was found necessary to the location of suitable openings for placement training or until the next school terms open.

Of the 12 men whose claims were approved, one will enter training fitting him as a steam and electric power plant operator, one as a tractor and automobile truck operator and repair man, one as a linotype operator and repair man, one will take up the study of hotel management, two will take courses in animal husbandry and two will enter into the study of journalism as a profession. Several have not as yet selected a vocation. The courses of instruction which these men will enter are of from one to four years duration. Four of the ex-service men will take college work at accredited schools or universities.

Service men who appeared before the eligibility squad speak with great approval of the dispatch with which their cases were handled and of the courteous treatment received at the hands of its members.

T. P. Anderson, as chairman of the Home Service section of the Pennington county chapter of the American Red Cross, was present at the club rooms and rendered great service to ex-service men and the eligibility squad in the matter of compensation claims.

Claim Bridge is Unsafe.

The Pennington county board of commissioners has arranged for a hearing on Feb. 23 regarding the maintenance of the wagon bridge crossing the Thief river just east of the Soo round house and shops by the town board of North. Voters of the township at the last election authorized repairs on the bridge, which have not been effected by the town board. The bridge is said to be in an unsafe condition.

ATTRACTIVE SIGNS MARK STATE ROADS

These Valuable Aids to Travelers Will Soon be Placed at All Intersections.

B. F. Umland, state highway engineer for Pennington county, states that a complete set of road signs and county boundary markers will be installed on all state roads of the county as early in the spring as the condition of the grounds will permit the setting of steel posts. Twelve sets of signs are at present under construction at the factory.

The metal road signs will be placed at all intersections of state roads or at intersections of state and other arterial highways. The 12 sets ordered are constituted by 66 individual signs, each of a directory nature, in addition to six boundary markers to be placed where state roads enter the county. The latter will be placed on the same posts with boundary markers of adjacent counties. Two-way signs will be placed at many points and four-way signs at others, in order that the directions may easily be picked up by travelers approaching from any angle. All signs will show the distance to Thief River Falls, in addition to that from other points within a radius of 40 miles.

The drilled metal signs are described as being "large enough to read and easy to look at." When they are installed the arterial highways of Marshall, Red Lake and Pennington counties will be marked in a uniform and most efficient manner, which will at all times let the tourist know just "where he's at."

COUNCIL PEEVED; TWO BANKS SECURE ALL CITY DEPOSITS

Equal Division Arrangement in Force During Past Two Years Summarily Upset.

After some dissention among members of the city council on the subject, that body at a special session called for Tuesday night passed a resolution designating the Farmers & Merchants State bank and the First and Peoples State bank as depositories for city funds, the former to receive 25 per cent and the latter 75 per cent of all moneys. The allotment is directly proportional to the capital and surplus of the two institutions. Interest is to be paid at the rate of three per cent.

The special session was called for the hearing of bids, which were the same from the four city banks, namely, three per cent. During the past two years, bids from the four banks having been at a same rate of interest, the city funds were allotted to the four in proportion to the capital and surplus. A motion making the same allotment for the present year failed to pass when put to a vote. A new motion to the effect first mentioned carried by a vote of 4 to 2, President Brumund and Councilmen Brandon, Ihle and Dahl voting for the proposal while Councilmen Froseth and Ness voted against it. The two dissenting voters remonstrated previous to the motion being put to a vote, but to no avail. T. L. Melgaard, representing the Citizens State bank also entered a plea that the satisfactory arrangement of last year be continued.

When asked for an explanation of the motive for an allotment which, it was alleged by two members of the council, was apparently unjust, President H. A. Brumund replied to the effect that officials of the First National and Citizens State banks had been signers of a petition which resulted in an audit of the city's books by a public examiner; that the movement had been accomplished in an underhanded manner without consulting members of the council, thereby reflecting on the characters of said members, and that the banks, under those circumstances, were not deserving of the slightest consideration.

A public examiner appeared at the city clerk's office on Monday upon a petition signed by 10 per cent of the tax payers of the city and has been at work on the books since that time. His appearance was a great surprise to members of the council who had no inkling of his coming although a resolution was passed at the last regular session which authorized an audit of the books but which had not yet been sent in.

Banquet and Lectures Of The Merchants Ass'n. For Spring Season, 1921

Success of Present Course So Marked That Plan Will be Continued During February and March—Noted Speakers Coming.

At the close of Dr. Stanley L. Krebs' lecture on Monday evening a meeting of the Merchants association was held at which it was decided to sign up for the following lectures and banquets to be given during the late winter and early spring season.

Wednesday, Feb. 9—"Community Service," Judge F. T. Wilson, community adviser for state of Minnesota. Banquet at Evelyn, 6:30.

Wednesday, Feb. 23—"The Present Business Outlook," Prof. J. E. Ebersole, professor of business economics, Banquet at Brumund, 6:30.

Wednesday, March 9—"Business Cycles," Prof. Frank Payne, head of department of trade and industry. Banquet at Evelyn, 6:30.

Wednesday, March 23—"The Retail Merchant's Opportunity," Prof. R. H. Pelz, department of business economics. Banquet at Brumund, 6:30.

Wednesday, April 6—"Pending Social Problems," Prof. M. C. Elmer, department of sociology. Banquet at Evelyn, 6:30.

Date not set—"Getting the Most Out of Retailing," J. P. Farley, National Cash Register Co., motionpicture lecturer.

Season tickets, $9; single tickets, $2. Season tickets may be purchased up to and including the second day before the banquet.

Invitations extended to all persons in city or surrounding towns to attend. Tickets may be secured from secretary or any members of Merchants association.

ANNUAL DINNER AND MEETING OF CREAMERY MEN

Hans Anton Elected President of Association For Third Consecutive Term.

Matter of Enlarging Creamery to Be Investigated by Committee of Five.

More Than 500 Persons Partake of Excellent Dinner—Plan Will Be Revised.

The annual dinner and meeting of the Thief River Falls Co-operative Creamery association held on Saturday drew an attendance of several hundred enthusiastic dairymen and farmers from the immediate vicinity of the city. Over 500 persons were served with dinner in the basement of the Zion Lutheran church. The Commercial club rooms, where the business meeting was held, were crowded.

Officers who will serve during the present year are: Hans Anton, president; Henry Pope, vice president; Peter Engelstad, secretary; S. O. Lee, treasurer; and T. K. Rynestad, director. All were unanimously re-elected, President Anton for his third term. The latter in accepting his office, expressed the hope and the belief that Pennington county could eventually rival Switzerland as a dairying section, Switzerland being recognized as the foremost dairying country in the world at the present time.

During a discussion as to the advisability of raising the price offered patrons of the creamery for sweet cream, it was brought out that butter manufactured here had attained a score of 92 when shipped to eastern markets for comparison, which is considered very favorable in view of the fact that both sweet and sour cream is used in the churning.

Dinner Plans Revised.

The advisability of continuing to serve the annual creamery association dinners was discussed at great length. Over 500 persons were served this year, the basement of the Zion Lutheran church, where the dinners are held, being taxed to the utmost capacity, and large crowds of waiting diners forming outside awaiting admission. It has been the practice to invite business men and patrons to participate in the annual event, but with a membership alone of 164, the undertaking has become too great in extent. The matter was left in the hands of the directors, though it was stated that the present plan will be revised.

The problem of erecting larger quarters for the creamery was also brought up, though not at great length. A committee of five members will be appointed to work in conjunction with the executive board in securing data and information relative to the construction during the year 1922 of a modern building, suitable to the housing of a butter-making plant of larger capacity and a cheese factory. President Anton, in speaking on the question of a cheese factory for Thief River Falls, stated that the community was not yet ready for such an industry and could not support one at present. He spoke of the cheese factory as being an eventual development as part of the present co-operative industry and advised any others who premeditated the erection of such a plant here that a privately owned factory would be an ultimate failure if run in competition with the local co-operative organization.

GOOD SHOWING BUT FEWER SEALS SOLD

Total Will Not Exceed 50,000 as Compared With 72,000 in 1919 Campaign.

Approximately 50,000 Christmas seals were sold in Pennington county during the 1920 sale, according to J. J. McCann, county chairman of the Minnesota Public Health association, who submitted returns to state headquarters on Monday. Several outlying rural districts had not been heard from. The aggregate sum of $500 resulted from the sale as compared with the $720 for the year 1919. Tables compiled by the Minnesota Public Health association indicated that the amount of sales in practically all localities show a marked decrease in comparison with the sales for 1919, and that the per capita sale in Pennington county was high when compared with that of other counties. Pennington county in 1919 won a silver loving cup for the highest per capita sales in the state. At the outset of the 1920 sale it was not expected that like results could be obtained.

Of the $500 sent to the state organization, 80 per cent will be returned to Pennington county for local public health work. Credit for the success of the seal sale is to be given to Mrs. J. J. Richter, city chairman, and County Chairman J. J. McCann, as well as to their many assistants.

Inaugurate Five-day Week.

The employees of the car department here were put on a five-day week working basis beginning last Friday. The change will be continued indefinitely. It was necessary to make this change in order to avoid relieving 15 men from further duty with the department, because of general slackness in business. The same regulation went into effect in the mechanical department on Wednesday, Jan. 19.

Suit Brought Against Owners of Power Dam By Farmers on River

Farmers owning land near the old Red Lake and Thief rivers will shortly bring suit for damage against the owners of the power dam at Thief River Falls. This was learned this morning from James A. Manahan of St. Paul, who has been retained as counsel by the plaintiffs. While the exact sum demanded as damages is not definitely known it is understood to be in the neighborhood of $30,000. It is claimed that the dam holds back the waters in flood time causing the water to back up onto the farms.

"ANGLE ROAD" MADE A STATE HIGHWAY

Would Shorten Distance Between This City and Oklee by About Ten Miles.

The board of commissioners of Pennington county on Friday passed a resolution recommending the establishment of a new state road which it is foreseen will be of great benefit to Thief River Falls. The proposed highway leads into the city from a point on state road Number 4 approximately southeast of here, following, as it nears the city, for several miles the old Red Lake Indian reservation line. In the advent of the approval of the recommendation by the state highway commissioner, Chas. M. Babcock, the road will be designated as State Road No. 5.

Such a highway would serve a greater purpose than offering easy access to the city for residents of the southeastern townships of the county. The present route into Thief River Falls from the south follows the Jefferson highway via Plummer and Red Lake Falls. The creation of this new state road would form a cut off from Oklee, shortening the distance from that point to this city by from eight to ten miles. With the construction of but three miles of road at the southern extreme of the proposed highway, the new route can be opened to all classes of traffic. Thief River Falls or northbound travelers from the south would leave the Jefferson highway at Oklee, traveling northward over State Road No. 8, westward on No. 4, and so into the city over the proposed State Road No. 5 and Bridge street. Practically all of the route is already graveled.

Ada Next to Face Legion Invincible Basketeers

The Thief River Falls Legion basketball quint will meet the Legion team of Ada on the city auditorium floor at 8:15 Saturday evening. Ada last year had one of the fastest teams in the state and is generally supposed to be a good basketball town. The game will be called promptly at the above mentioned hour.

Coach G. W. Connell, who acts as manger of the local team, is making an effort to line up two games with the fast team of Two Harbors to be played here on February 8 and 9. Plans for a tour and series of games, presumably with the faster quintettes of North Dakota, are also under way.

Good Boxing Tournament Arranged For This City

O. J. Erickson, who is promoting a series of boxing and wrestling events for Thief River Falls, on Wednesday announced that Young Fulton, otherwise known as "Bun" Erickson, will meet Tommy Tibbets of Bemidji, in a ten round go at the Lyceum on the night of February 22. The former, a Thief River Falls man, has been fighting at the Haskell and other gymnasiums in the twin cities, where he has shown considerable speed. Tibbets has entered into several bouts staged on the Iron Range and at Duluth. Both men are thought to be comers.

Mr. Erickson has leased the Lyceum moving picture house for this series of sport events.

Advocates Super-Phosphate As Peat Land Fertilizer

P. T. Taylor, representative of the Anaconda Copper company of Chicago, was scheduled to speak at the Commercial club noonday luncheon today on the use of super-phosphate as a fertilizer for peat soils. Superphosphate is said to be three times the strength of ordinary or 16 per cent phosphate, and can be purchased at considerably less than three times the price.

Many farmers and land owners are planning on using acid phosphate as a fertilizer this coming season, owing to the success of experiments conducted in the county during the past summer. Twenty plots of ground were staked out between Thief River Falls and Goodridge at intervals of one mile. Every second plot was treated with phosphate, and, though the land is classed as "mineral," exceptional yields of grain were obtained on the fertilized plots. The same experiments were conducted on peat soil near Goodridge, Highlanding and Erie. In the latter cases the yield was from two to three times as great on the treated soil as on the untreated.

HALL ELECTED TO HEAD CLUB; NEW QUARTERS

Hardware Merchant Chosen President of Civic Organization For Ensuing Year.

Method of Conducting Rooms Sharply Criticized and Change Decided On.

Present Expensive Quarters Will Be Given Up at Once and Others Secured.

At the annual election of the Thief River Falls Commercial club held at the club rooms Thursday night, Wm. A. Hall, Jr., was elected president; E. M. Bennes and Daniel Shaw, first and second vice presidents respectively; L. A. Lampert, treasurer; and Math Barzen, Dr. H. W. Froehlich, Carl Christofferson, H. W. Protzeller and P. Engelstad, directors. The offices of second vice president and treasurer were filled by re-election. A secretary for the coming year will be appointed by the new executive board following the annual meeting of the club which will be held on the evening of February 10. As the result of a formal ballot, W. B. Fuller was elected a director but withdrew in favor of Mr. Engelstad. H. W. Protzeller and Nels Christenson received a tie vote for a like office, Mr. Christenson withdrawing in favor of the former.

Misuse of Quarters.

Following plans outlined at the meeting, the maintenance of the present Commercial club quarters will undoubtedly be discontinued, a motion having been passed to the effect that the club seek other and cheaper quarters. The furnishing and occupancy of the room known as the gymnasium in the basement of the city auditorium was advocated and the matter left in the hands of the incoming executive board. It is known that the Thief River Lodge of Elks premeditates occupancy of the quarters now occupied by the Commercial club in case the latter organization gives them up.

It was the consensus of opinion of those present at the meeting that the club rooms could not be maintained under the present plan. E. M. Stanton, retiring president, outlined briefly the difficulties in maintaining the club as both a commercial and social organization. The club rooms, he said, have been a shame and a disgrace to the community during the past year; they have been the scene of much gambling and a refuge for children and tramps. He advocated that the offer of the room in the city auditorium by the city council be accepted and that furnishings be taken from the present quarters to equip the room suitable for the use of the American Legion and Auxiliary, the Community Girls club, the Woman's club and the Commercial club. He stated further that the need of a Commercial club or similar organization in Thief River Falls was greater at the present time than ever before, and that the club should consist of civic boosters, whose efforts should be confined to the upbuilding of a modern city, which would become the civic center and pride of the entire farming community. His talk was followed by applause.

Dr. Krebs Speaks.

But little objection to the abandonment of the present club rooms was voiced. Several speakers voiced their approval of President Stanton's "platform" for the reconstruction of the organization.

The meeting was a live one. About 45 members were present. Previous to adjournment of the business session the retiring president was given a rising vote of thanks for his services during his two terms of office. Refreshments were served following the business meeting.

The noonday luncheon was served at the regular hour today, Dr. Stanley L. Krebs, who is conducting a series of lectures here this week in connection with the Merchants and Community Institute, giving an inspiring talk. The annual Commercial club meeting will be held on the evening of February 10, following a 6:30 banquet lunch. The incoming officers will assume their duties at that time.

Improve Express Service By "Right Way" Packing

Announcement is made by R. F. Spencer, in charge of the local express forces, of the inauguration of a nation-wide movement in the express business to be known as the "Right Way Plan," the purpose of which will be to increase the efficiency of the express service.

Agent Spencer stated that any of his employes will at all times give instructions as to the "Right Way" of packing, marking and shipping express shipments. The co-operation of express shippers in this city will be enlisted in the movement.

Special emphasis will be laid on what is called the "Right way of starting express shipments," with an explanation of the packing and marking regulations, the correct method for filling claims and for sending shipments C. O. D., as well as other subjects calculated to be of interest to every express user.

LOCAL LEGION QUINT TRIMS BEMIDJI TEAM IN THRILLING CONTEST

Large Crowd Witnesses the Kind of Basketball That Brings Spectators to Their Feet With a Whoop.

In the fastest and most thrilling basket ball game ever played in Thief River Falls, the local Legionnaires on Friday evening defeated the Legion team of Bemidji 40 to 18. The victors still have an average of 100 per cent. The turn out for the game taxed the capacity of the auditorium, standing room being at a premium. The city band turned out and succeeded in getting the local rooters to a proper pitch before the players dashed onto the floor.

Thief River stock went down a couple of notches when the visitors, all big men, trotted onto the field. The first quarter proceeded rather slowly, with the local quintet apparently a trifle dazed and a bit nervous, fumbling the ball repeatedly. Kiland and Hadrath scored field goals. Carlson failed to cage a free throw. Bemidji appeared somewhat sluggish and failed to score, with the exception of two free throws dropped into the net by Plummer. Their shooting was at unusually long range.

In the second quarter, Bemidji steadied a bit, and Thief River put their familiar rushing tactics in operation. The quarter was speedy from the instant the whistle blew. McGinn of the locals was the first to score from the field. Plummer of Bemidji followed suit. Then Hadrath made a fine throw from the center of the field, Johnson, who replaced Kiland at the first of the quarter, sending up the score still further with a basket made at close range. Simon, the Bemidji center, made a beautiful shot from three quarters of the length of the field. Plummer scored another field basket and one free throw. Carlson brought the Thief River score up to 12, with a couple of free throws. The half closed at 12 to 9 in favor of the locals.

The second half gave the crowd a brand of basket ball never before seen here, and the brilliant work of Connell's men is still the popular subject with all who witnessed it. The local quint moved with a rapidity and certainty that did not allow the visitors a field in the third quarter. Plummer shot two free throws. LaBree took two baskets, one more or less of an accident and the other a running shot. Carlson, who suddenly found his shooting eye, caged three, two of them being from near the center line. Hadrath, after missing an easy one, redeemed himself by plopping the ball fair into the circle.

Carlson took another basket early in the last quarter, Kiland following it up with two more. McGinn made a pretty shot, Holzknecht took a long chance and made it, and Hadrath added 4 points to the mounting score of the local Legionnaires. Carlson made 3 free throws. Battling as for their lives, Bemidji took seven points, with a long and pretty basket and a free throw by Simon, and two by Fibbs, right guard.

Bemidji from the start resorted to long distance shooting, undoubtedly realizing the futility of bucking the interference of the home team against which they seemed to accomplish little, especially during the second half. Two baskets made from well beyond the center line won the applause of the house. The ball in the hands of the Thief River Falls men traveled up and down the length of the field with such rapidity that it was difficult for spectators to tell who did or didn't have it. Exceptional team work, clever guarding and the rapid succession of field goals, which were features of the local quint's game, kept the crowd on their feet most of the time.

Much credit is being given Coach Connell for the championship basket ball played so far this season by the Thief River Falls Legion team. In the game of Friday night, the locals displayed far better form than the visiting men.

The lineup:

Bemidji		Thief River
Plummer	RF	Carlson
Bailey	LF	Kiland
Simon	C	Hadrath
Fibbs	RG	Holzknecht
Cameron	LG	McGinn

Substitutes: Johnson for Kiland, LaBree for Hadrath. Field goals: Plummer 3, Simon 1, Fibbs 2, Carlson 4, Hadrath 5, Kiland 3, Holzknecht 1, McGinn 2, LaBree 2, Johnson 1. Free throws: Plummer 6 out of 6, Carlson 5 out of 6.

Perry Johnson of Thief River Falls refereed the game.

Mrs. Albert Angell.

On Jan. 27 at 1:30 o'clock occurred the death of Mrs. Albert Angell, at her home in this city, from pernicious anemia, of which she had been a victim for a period of three years. She was born in the parish of South Helgeland, Norway, Aug. 22, 1849 and in August 1873 she was married to Albert Angell, who survives. The first 28 years of her married life was spent in Norway, the couple coming to this country in 1900. To this union seven children were born; Petter, Elias, Else, Marie, Carl, Elvina and Hans, two of whom are dead. All of the survivors reside here with the exception of Hans, who is at Akron, Ohio, and who was unable to attend the funeral services which were held from the Trinity Lutheran church at 2:00 o'clock on Saturday, with Rev. Sweger conducting. Interment was made in Greenwood cemetery.

Spring Wheat

We advocate Marquis wheat because, generally considered, this type of wheat is most desirable on account of milling quality. It is superior to any other good bread wheat in yield.

AFTER a thousand years, England gets 35 bushels of wheat per acre while our yield of spring wheat is about 15 bushels. This is because they give more attention to both seed and soil. Our most intelligent farmers belong to Farm Bureaus, Crop Improvement Associations and Farmers' Elevators and they are urged to set the example by selecting a good, hard, dark-colored bread wheat and establish seed plots in each neighborhood. We are not a macaroni-eating nation and the market for Amber Durum must be limited.

Red Durum or D-5, however, is absolutely unfit for either bread making or macaroni, and while a comparatively small amount of it, not to exceed three per cent of the crop, brought a fair price last crop, it was solely because it was of heavy weight, and was used to mix with light weight wheat for export.

Quality Marquis Brings a Premium

Keep your varieties pure. Mixed wheat must be discounted. Millers are always eager to buy fine, heavy, dark-kerneled Marquis, and it can be sold at a good price. Quality counts every time. There is not enough good wheat.

It is Best to Put Your Wheat in Early

The earlier the crop is put in, the earlier the harvest. The open fall has resulted in more fall plowing than ever before, making it possible to get into the fields at the very earliest date.

Black Stem Rust Our Greatest Problem

Probably the greatest problem confronting us is rust, which has done incalculable damage for the past two years. The government claims that the elimination of the barberry bush will prevent rust; that black spores will not infect wheat until they have passed the cup cluster stage, and that there is no other plant which will carry this stage except the barberry. From the barberry come the red spores which attack the wheat and turn from red to black. Do you know the barberry when you see it? Dig it out root and shoot.

Rotation Brings Much Better Results

Wheat should not be sown on the same fields year after year. Land should be sown to sweet clover or some other legume which will put back into the soil certain of the various essential elements needed.

Wheat Soil Needs More Plant Food

The skillful use of acid phosphates will stimulate the general vigor of the plant and will add greatly to the yield. There is very little fertilizer used in the wheat fields; but we believe the time has come to restore every element removed by repeated cropping.

THE BUSINESS INSTITUTE.

Every man and woman in Thief River Falls should make it a point to go and hear Dr. Stanley L. Krebs at the auditorium tonight. He has a message for all of us and delivers it in a manner that cannot but be helpful.

Dr. Krebs' principal mission in life seems to be making war on the twin devils, Fear and Worry. In his address at the Brumund on Monday evening he showed how the permitting of these two evil influences to get a foothold in the minds of people caused not only needless wear and tear upon the physical mechanism but also prevented the human family from reaching a higher plane of happiness and efficiency. He maintains that if Fear and Worry could be banished from the world the sum total of human achievement in all departments would be greatly increased.

These lectures are given under the auspices of the Thief River Falls Merchants association and deal primarily with the science of mercandising in its more advanced aspects. Dr. Krebs' ideas are at times rather startling but always found practical when his hearers have taken the time to discover the sound philosophy upon which they are founded. He has made a life study of his subject and has had opportunities for trying out his theories such as very few men have been afforded. Dr. Krebs knows whereof he speaks and possesses in a rare degree the faculty of making others understand exactly what he is trying to convey. He presents no dry and complicated statistics and avoids set formulas for achieving efficiency at the expense of individuality—in fact he lays particular stress upon the value of the latter attribute.

No person can listen to one of Dr. Krebs' lectures without gaining something of value. He is entertaining and instructive without being in the least pedantic. He cheerfully admits that he does not know it all and hopes that someone will improve on his methods as in that manner he will be learning something new.

Come to the Auditorium and hear him tonight. There is no charge for admission and the evening will be well spent.

It has just been ascertained that 82 per cent of the concerns which failed in business during the year 1920 were non-advertisers. It would also probably be found that about 18 per cent more either did not advertise enough or failed to do it right.

PLENTY OF WORK AHEAD.

It is rather inspiring to note the interest shown in the Commercial club in spite of the fact that its activities of late years have not been of the kind that constantly keeps it in the public eye. To say that it has been of no particular value to the community because of this quiet procedure would not be stating a fact, but it is nevertheless true that most of the members would like to see a somewhat more aggressive policy followed. It is of course realized that the mere fact of its having been able to function at all proves that it is recognized as of some worth to the community, similar organizations on all sides of us having fallen to pieces under the general letdown after the war. There has been no actual abandonment of the club's work in Thief River Falls, a fact for which President Stanton and the other officials deserve a vast amount of credit. It has been no easy task to maintain interest in a Commercial club at a time when the scope of its activities were decidedly limited and even the necessity for its existence was a matter of grave doubt with many.

A new start is to be made and from all indications it will take the right direction. In the first place the present rather elaborate quarters are to be given up in the interest of economy. While the rent charged has been most reasonable, yet the value of the rooms to the club as an organization does not warrant their retention. It is to be hoped that arrangements can be made whereby the club may be housed in the city's beautiful and commodious auditorium, that being the proper place for it.

The new officials are all good, live citizens, exceptionally well qualified to carry on and greatly extend the good work started by their predecessors. W. A. Hall, Jr., the new president, is a young man with both the ability and vision to make an admirable head for an organization of this kind, while a better or more representative board of directors could harly be chosen. Every man is going at his task with a determination to make the coming year a record breaker for achievement and in this they will be most enthusiastically supported by the members.

There never was a time when a strong Commercial club was more of a necessity for Thief River Falls than the present. Matters of the utmost importance to the future development and prosperity of the city and section will soon come up for consideration and in no way can these be so well handled as by an organization in which is contained representatives of all the different activities going to make up the business life of the place.

A CURE FOR THE BLUES.

An encouraging indication of returning prosperity for Northwestern Minnesota is the interest evinced on every hand in the forthcoming winter show and livestock exhibition of the Minnesota Red River Valley Development association which will be held at Crookston February 7-12 inclusive. When our farmers see no light ahead it is a hard matter to get them to take an interest in matters of this kind and the fact that the show promises to be the best in point of interest and attendance ever held is the most cheering note heard for a long time.

The show itself will be a hummer. Special efforts have been made not only to insure the proper representation of every branch of the farming industry, but also that every section of the large and important district shall be represented. There will be more exhibits of livestock, potatoes, grains and industrial products than ever before in the association's history and particular attention will be paid to the sales department of the livestock division. It will be the big meeting of the year for Northwestern Minnesota farmers and stockraisers and they owe it to themselves to be present.

Pennington county should send a large delegation. No community in the district is more vitally interested in the success of the work upon which the organization is engaged and none should be permitted to play a more prominent part. There is a tendency to look upon this show as something that does not particularly concern us, but a greater mistake could hardly be made. Some benefit is bound to fall to our lot whether we take an active interest in the proceedings or not, but it will be much better if we are on the ground to see that nothing of value that should come our way escapes us.

The people of Crookston have made elaborate plans for the accommodation and entertainment of visitors and every person attending the show will be well looked after. Be neighborly and make the trip. It will be a paying investment for one thing and give you a better idea of what your section is accomplishing for another.

IT'S AN UNFAIR WORLD.

Honesty may be the best policy but now and then it costs him who would be honest a nice little bunch of change.

One of the failings of Mr. A. Citizen, when the tax assessor makes his annual call, is to display a depreciatory knowledge of the value of his worldly goods and cattels. The board of county commissioners "sits" on the assessor's report, concludes that merchandise or some one class of personal property has been given in all wrong and hands the report to the city board of tax equalization. That last named board really doesn't see much out of the way in the report and shoots it back to the county board members, who, in the meantime, have not changed their opinion an iota. As a last resort, then, the county board just raises the value of that merchandise, or that of whatever class of property may have been in question, 50 or, maybe, 75 per cent.

That's apparently alright so far, taking it for granted that Mr. Citizen did display a rather hazy knowledge of his worldly holdings. But down in that list—and it might be so far down in that in that list it would take a swarm of deputy sheriffs armed with a bale of search warrants to find it—is the name of a man who really felt that he ought to pay a tax on his share of the world's goods, and who really kicked in with the actual value of his stock on hand, or personal property, or maybe opened his books to the tax assessor and let that person ferret out the knowledge required. He's the man that gets it in the neck as far as paying his tax is concerned. He's going to pay a tax on almost twice as much merchandise (merchandise is cited merely as an example, of course) as he really had in his possession, while Mr. Cit is going to pay a tax on just about what he really owns.

However, someone has got to suffer. Maybe some day a community can get together and everyone with taxable property either kick in with the real value or else everyone hold out just about so much on the assessor. Either way would be fairly satisfactory.

EFFERVESCENCE.

According to the latest spring fashion notes, the feminine sex will again wear ears.

A headline states, "May Frame Tonnage Tax Bill." Does that mean it is to be hung up?

Wonder if B. L. T. noticed that Stiehm was appointed boiler inspector for Hennepin county.

Oolai told us that if he could have taken a week off yesterday, he might have tried for vocal training with the Futile Board for Occasional Recreation.

Many people are so positive that a bird in hand is worth two in the bush that they overlook the fact that three may be secured by going a-gunning in earnest.

The speed artist on the lino may have dipped a cog but—"Montana has 2,136,974 acres of land under irritation." Mexico has more than that.

The farmers of one Idaho county averaged a thousand rabbits killed to every ounce of poison. Probably they are getting it from Canada.

Michigan is offering a reward for the planting of nut trees along highways—a very indirect method of encouraging automobiling, but probably effective.

Found in The Times A Year Ago This Week

B. F. Umland succeeded Glenn Martz as state highway commissioner for Pennington county.

Governor Burnquist was seriously ill with the flu.

Health authorities reported that the flu epidemic was gradually receding but churches and theatres remained closed.

The Times was printed at Red Lake Falls, an expedient made necessary by the Union block fire. Made official paper of the city of Thief River Falls.

County Auditor Anderson reported but a slight increase in the taxable valuation of the county during the year just past.

Judge Grindeland adjourned the February term of the district court until sometime in March, deeming it unwise to call the jury cases because of the influenza epidemic.

School Dedication and Club Meeting, St. Hilaire

Dedication of the public school building at St. Hilaire, which was erected during the past summer at a cost for land, equipment and building of more than $43,000, was held on last Friday evening. Four hundred residents of the village and immediate vicinity were present. After a complete inspection of the building, the guests convened in the large assembly room where an entertaining program was presented.

While assembled that evening the St. Hilaire club was formed. Officers and directors were elected and the tentative date of February 18 set for the next meeting. The club will be conducted as a town and country organization for the purpose of bringing the two elements in closer relationship and solving mutual problems. Speakers commented upon the great success of the community club organized at Goodridge about two years ago. It is planned to hold an annual fair at St. Hilaire patterned after the annual Tri-county fair held at Goodridge.

Farm Bureau Organizations Formed in All Townships

Meetings for the organization of township units of the Pennington County Farm bureau will be held in all townships where the membership drive has been completed during the latter part of this month. Drives have been completed in the townships of Rocksbury, Black River, River Falls, Wyandotte and Smiley up to the present time, several of the townships securing a membership of 100 per cent.

At each meeting a township chairman and a secretary will be elected. It will be the duty of these officers to take up any project carried on in their community, thus bringing the members of the Farm Bureau in closer touch with the county organization than could be otherwise accomplished.

County Agent Here.

Wm. L. McFetridge, county agent for eastern Marshall county, with headquarters at Grygla, was in Thief River Falls on Monday, enroute for Holt and Middle River. He stated that the work of organizing township units of the Marshall County Farm Bureau was rapidly nearing completion.

ST. PAUL WOMAN IS ENTHUSIASTIC

Could Hardly Eat or Sleep Before She Got Tanlac. Health Restored.

"The way Mrs. A. Kostner, of 194 W. Fairfield Ave., St. Paul, Minn., talks regarding the benefits she has derived from the use of Tanlac is just the way thousands of grateful men and women everywhere are praising the medicine.

"Tanlac has completely relieved me of troubles that had been pulling me down two years," said Mrs. Kostner, "and I'm just as grateful as I can be toward the medicine. My appetite was so poor that I ate little more than enough to keep body and soul together and was in a terribly rundown condition. There were certain foods I didn't dare eat at all, and at times I would become badly nauseated. I was so nervous I didn't know what it was to get a good night's sleep and was simply miserable.

"I saw where Tanlac was benefiting so many others that I began taking it myself and it has given me a ravenous appetite and has put me in the best of health again. I'm feeling just fine now in every way, and am certainly thankful to Tanlac for setting me right."

Public Forum

Says Farmers Are Helpless.

Editor Times: I see in your issue of last week an article reviewing the losses men in business in Thief River Falls have sustained and you are sort of appealing to the farmers to buy now and help put things in motion. I am inclosing herewith a cartoon which explains why the farmers are not buying. The cartoon depicts a farmer fastened in old-time stocks labeled "Present Credit System."—Ed. You do not seem to realize that 1919 was a total failure so far as crops were concerned, while everything we had to buy was way up out of sight. This year we had a fair crop but we cannot get enough for it to pay us for hauling it to market. Besides, everything we have is mortgaged to the banks for twice its present value and the banks see to it that we don't get anything left over to spend at the stores. For example, we are paying 10 per cent interest on sheep that cost us $10 per head and we are taxed the same as if we owned them. The same sheep are selling on the Chicago market now at about 50 cents per head while wool cannot be disposed of at all although there is very little decline in the price of woolen goods.

The only reason the farmers are not put out of business right now is that the bankers would not realize 50 cents—nay, 25 cents—on the dollar by closing them out. The only thing for them to do is to stave off the banks higher up until congress stops its bally rag chewing and opens up trade with the only country that has real gold to pay with and is envious to buy our surplus.

Remember this, business men: We are all in the same boat and when the farmer doesn't get anything for what he has to dispose of there will be nothing for the merchant or banker. So next time the farmers try to organize in order to better their condition, let's all boost. It will benefit all alike.

Farmers very seldom heard.

Respectfully,
GILBERT A. BENSON.

BEST FAT CATTLE SHOW MOST LOSS

Sellers Aided Little by Quality and Finish of Beef Offerings. Hogs and Sheep Lower.

(By U. S. Bureau of Markets and Dept. of Agriculture.)

South St. Paul, Minn. Jan. 31: Cattle, 1,600. Market steady. Calves steady, top $10.00. Hogs 9,400. Market weak to 25c lower, range $8 to $9.75. Bulk $8.85 to $9.60. Sheep 3,000. Market slow, mostly 50c lower.

Dressed markets for the better grades of carcass beef have been going from bad to worse recently from the producer's standpoint, and this condition is being reflected in the market for better grades of beef cattle, quality and finish being no aid to the seller. The better the stock, the greater difficulty it appears to obtain bids which seem reasonable, relative to production costs and prices of lower grade beef cattle. Steers selling above $6.50 are about 75c to $1.00 lower than a week ago, others mostly 25 to 50c lower. Best of the short feds at present are bringing from $7.75, with bulk of sales at $5.75 to $6.75. Most sales of butcher cows and heifers from $4.00 to $5.50, and canners and cutters largely from $2.75 to $3.75. Bulk of bologna bulls are selling from $4.50 to $5.25. Veal calves are steady with a week ago, with best light weights selling at $10. Stock and feeding cattle are about 50c lower than a week ago.

About the only branch of the live stock trade that is offering any encouragement to producers at present is the hog market, fairly generous receipts of the past week having been absorbed on a generally steady to higher basis, although today's market was weak to 25c lower. Bulk of sales at the week's opening ranged from $8.85 to $9.60, with best lights up to $9.75 and choice pigs at $10.00. Lamb prices have been discounted sharply during the past week, losses averaging fully $1.00 per cwt., with good to choice offerings quotable at present from $7.50 to $9.00. Handyweight ewes of good to choice quality are quotable from $3.75 to $4.25.

TOTAL COLLECTED IN COUNTY FOR STARVING CHILDREN NOW $1500

Two Matinees at Lyceum on Saturday Increased Previous Amount by $173.13—Campaign Continues.

The special matinees conducted here on Saturday morning and afternoon by the management of the Princess and Lyceum theatres for the benefit of the European Children's Relief fund netted $115.80. The collection taken up at the last Wednesday evening performance, which was to be devoted to the same cause, netted $57.13, making the total proceeds $173.13.

At the Wednesday evening show Dr. G. A. Penney briefly outlined in an emphatic manner the nature of the collection which was about to be taken up and told of the need of relief for the millions of waifs in the countries of the old world. His talk was answered by those present in a generous fashion, as the amount of the collection went to prove. The cost of operating the show house for the two matinees was borne by Manager H. A. Brumund, the machine operator as well as Mrs. Clarence Erickson and Miss Ausllga Sorenson, members of the theatre orchestra, contributing their services. The sale of tickets in the city schools, exclusive of the Lincoln high school, was conducted by the Woman's club, with the assistance of the school teachers. The four schools—Washington, Knox, Central and Northrup—turned in $70 as the proceeds from tickets sold. The Woman's club also took $10 worth of tickets. Box office sales for the morning matinee totalled $8.00 and those of the afternoon, $27.80. The proceeds were turned over to Miss Marie Nelson, who is acting as treasurer for the fund raised in Pennington county. Mr. Brumund stated that the receipts more than reached his expectations. He also requested that his thanks be tendered thru the columns of The Times to all who contributed in any manner towards making the undertaking so great a success.

The amount resulting from the collection and the two matinees will be turned over to the Hoover relief fund along with the sum already contributed by residents of the county. It will also be credited to the United Theatrical Protective League of Minnesota, which is the state branch of the National Moving Picture association. The latter organization guaranteed to raise the sum of $2,500,000 for the relief of the starving and suffering children of Europe. Moving picture houses all over the United States are following much the same plan for raising that amount as was adopted by the local theatre management.

The Pennington county chapter of the American Red Cross donated the lump sum of $500 toward the cause of the European children. Thru the efforts of A. S. Sapero and the assistance of traveling salesmen who make their home here $915 was contributed, many donations being unsolicited and all of them voluntary. The total contribution, including the proceeds of the matinees, at present stands at $1,547.13 or more than enough to save the lives of 154 children by guaranteeing them food for the period of one year. In comparison with amounts contributed by other communities of a like size this figure ranks very high.

County Chairman A. S. Sapero on Tuesday announced that the drive for funds in Pennington county was nearing its close and issued a final appeal to those who intend to contribute but who have not been solicited. In addition to the Lyceum matinee and collection fund, he acknowledged receipt of the following amounts received since the list of contributors was published in last week's issue of The Times:

Roy Lambert	$10.00
First and Peoples State bank	10.00
H. O. Chommie	10.00
George Leimers	5.00
Peter Solem	5.00
Union Dentists	3.00
Fred Gobler	1.00

The American Express company has placed on sale invisible guest certificates at each of its 25,000 offices where employes and others may secure these certificates by the payment of one dollar. The company's wagons will also carry banners calling attention to the campaign for funds.

ASSOCIATION MARKETS 100 ANIMALS MONTHLY ON AVERAGE FOR YEAR

Pennington County Shippers Dispose of Stock at Cost of 81 Cents Per Cwt. Officers For Year Elected.

The annual meeting of the Pennington County Livestock Shippers association, which members regard as one of the most successful organizations in this section of the state, was held at the Farm Bureau offices in the city auditorium on Saturday morning. Hans Anton, president; Fred Copp, vice president, Harry Woolson, secretary-treasurer; and directors, Ed Grundhaus and A. G. Loftness, were re-elected for the coming year by acclamation. Emil Griebstein, shipping manager of the association, was re-elected in the same manner.

Following the election of officers, a vote of thanks and appreciation was tendered Manager Griebstein for his successful administration during the past year. Routine matters relative to the shipping of hogs, cattle and sheep were discussed, no action being taken in this respect other than a slight decrease made in the levy for the sinking fund, which covers the death or crippling of animals incurred in shipment. Manager Griebstein stated that the high freight rates and commission charged by So. St. Paul commission houses, were material factors in decreasing the price paid local producers; over $180 freight having been paid on single carloads of stock shipped, and the maximum of $22 commission per beef critter charged in some instances.

The Pennington County Livestock Shippers association was organized in 1916; and has grown from an organization of a few members to one of over 300. During 1916, approximately $200 was paid shippers with the organization. During 1920, $26,741 was paid out to members and patrons for cattle, showing an increase of over 20 per cent in volume of business done as compared with that of 1919. Since the formation of the association, all other cattle buyers or cattle buying organizations in the community have discontinued operations, owing to the fact that practically all shipping was being done through the livestock association.

The annual report as read and approved at the meeting of Saturday follows:

No. of Shipments	19
No. of Cars	23
No. of Hogs Shipped	291
No. of Cattle Shipped	505
No. of Sheep Shipped	419
Total No. Animals Shipped	1215
No. Animals Died or Crippled in transit	3
Total Cash Receipts	$30,632.76
Paid to Patrons	26,741.35
St. Paul Expenses	3,987.08
Local Expenses	148.25
Manager's Commission	493.14
Sinking Fund	162.94
Paid out of Sinking Fund	37.93
Balance in Sinking Fund	191.11
Average expense per cwt	.81

The Prowler.

The annual, better known as the Prowler, will this year appear in a somewhat diminished form, owing to the difficulty in financing a publication of the usual size, in these depressing times and with a remaining deficit from the previous year.

The Prowler staff has been hard at work making various plans for a satisfactory and successful publication. From previous classes' experience, it can be easily seen that it is quite a venture and must be conscientiously considered, particularly under the existing conditions. Therefore the staff and advisors thought the most feasible plan would be to publish a smaller book at a consequent lower price. It is however, not going to suffer or depreciate in quality, except to the extent that the space will be limited. This fact will enable the staff to concentrate on a smaller booklet which it is evident will be proportionally well constructed and will contain the best of material.

A Correction.

In our last issue a slight mistake was made in printing an extract from Pace's "American Literture" on Jonathan Edwards. It read, "Like mother also he was born old and a preacher," which should be, "Like Mather also he was born old and a preacher."

A Freshman's Opinion.

Last Friday morning, when we were reseated according to voices, witnessed a scene probably never to be eclipsed in grandeur and which will long stand out in our minds as the most wonderful spectacle ever seen by mortal eye. Being told an important announcement was impending, we listened with our cleanest ears to the momentous words to be uttered on such an occasion, and were duly impressed thereby. Each journeyed to the seat assigned him, accompanied by his best voice, uttering no demure, for such would have been useless and we were reminded that

"Yours not to ask me why,
Simply to do or die."

The sight of the multitude, working as one, directed by a master mind, was as a balm to our lacerated thots, and a stimulant to awaken our appreciation of the finer things of life.

Crookston vs. T. R. F.

The local high school basketball team added another victory to their list when they defeated Crookston high at Crookston Friday, by a score of 21 to 13.

This was one of the fastest and most exciting games played so far this season, due to the fact that neither team had the lead, entitling them to the game. Crookston started the scoring by making a field basket in the first two minutes of play. By this time our boys were warmed up and made three baskets which gave them the lead which they kept the rest of the game. The first half ended with the score of 11 to 3 in favor of Thief River Falls. The second half started with Crookston determined to win and at the end of the third quarter the score was 15-8 in our favor. In the fourth quarter, both teams showed a fine exhibition of team work, but our boys had the ability of finding the basket the most times which won them the game. The lineup follows:

Crookston		T. R. Falls
Hendricks	RF	Larson
Groundwold	LF	Ralston
McCrae	C	Paranteau
Buster	RG	Sorenson
Strom	LG	Herron

LaBree substituted for Herron in the last two minutes of play for Thief River Falls. Espe substituted for McCrae during the last quarter.

Climax Girls Victors.

On Friday, Jan. 28, the local basketball girls played at Climax. The game was won by the Climax girls. The locals were handicapped because of having to play the game according to girls' rules, but was hotly contested from beginning to end.

Climax will play a return game here on Feb. 11th and the locals are more than determined to win. The lineup was as follows: E. Herron, center; V. Lund, forward; F. Shetler, forward; N. Lindquist, guard; E. Hadrath, guard.

Freshman Candy Sale.

The Freshman class launched a "heap big" candy sale in the Lincoln high school last Wednesday afternoon and the receipts indicate a financial success. Much of the candy was brot from home by the class girls, which accounted for the large variety of candies sold at the counters, but it surely showed that the Freshman girls are not amateurs in the candy-making trade. The counters were cleared and the last bag of crumbs sold for a "buffalo," making a sales receipt of $28.37 and a total net receipt of $22.87.

Normal Department.

The Normal girls say that since the beginning of the second semester, their brains have been getting very good exercise.

Florence Burns (during language period): "In telling stories to children you should always tell the accidents (meaning incidents) in sequence."

Mr. Lampert gave us a very interesting talk on banking and present financial conditions, last Friday.

The Normal girls have been kept busy making Japanese toys for their practice teaching this week.

Esther: "Kenneth, why do the Japanese people have such small feet?"

Kenneth: "Because that's the style nowadays."

Vivian (teaching a second grade language class): "What language do foreigners have to learn when coming to this country?"

Pupil: "Norwegian."

Elsie: "What are some of the Dutch customs?"

Ruth: "Oh, I know; taking a bath and taking their feet off before entering the house."

Northrup News.

In last week's marching contest, Miss Pelto's room won on the first floor and Miss Bark's on the second.

Miss Whipp's fourth and fifth grade room had a sleighride party last Tuesday after school. The party was chaperoned by Miss Whipps.

The pupils who were promoted to the seventh grade, Central, from the sixth grade, Northrup, at mid-semester are: Edward Kiland, Lillian Johnston and Edmund Keene.

Miss Pelto chaperoned a sleighride party last Saturday evening. The party was composed of some of the fifth and sixth grade pupils.

Personals.

Merle Thomas is back to school after a siege of mumps.

The chemistry class went through a chlorine gas attack yesterday. They used ether on their handkerchiefs to neutralize the gas but they all seem to show effects of it today.

Mental tests were given to the seniors Friday morning and to the normal students Friday evening.

The fourth Lyceum course rendered by the New York Lyric Singers last Tuesday was well attended by the high school students.

A special feature in Home Equipment class Friday, was a moving picture showing ancient Greek and Roman architecture, furniture and other home decoration.

Ernest Zeh, Morris Mabey, Lloyd Alnes, Charles Warner and William Herrick left Friday afternoon for Crookston with the basketball team to witness the game between the Crookston and Thief River Falls high schools.

Dan Cupid has been shooting his darts around again; Lorraine Will and a "freshie" are his latest victims.

Miss Marguerite Wilkinson, a high school student of Red Lake Falls, visited the Journalism class Friday afternoon.

The score at the end of each quarter of the game at Crookston Friday evening, was reported at the Legion game in the city auditorium. It caused a great deal of interest and spirit, especially among the high school students.

"Fat" Evenson resumed his studies again Thursday, after having been confined to his home as a consequence of an attack of mumps.

Found on the bulletin board: "The Juniors and Freshmen challenge the Seniors and Sophomores to a game of hockey, to be played Sunday, Jan. 30, 1921. See August Langseth and Kermit Anderson."

Take heed ye Juniors and Freshmen, you may take in too much territory.

During the chapel hour last Friday morning, the entire student body was reseated according to the classification of the voices. In the front section from left to right, were seated the second sopranos, altos, basses, tenors and first sopranos; in the back section the voices were arranged in the same order. The voices will then be properly arranged for the more difficult singing.

Miss Johnson, the music instructor in the local schools, at various times last week, took charge of the physical training classes and taught them different folk dances. It is Miss Johnson's intention to teach folk-dancing to the girls at least once a week in the future.

Irma Marcoe returned to school on Monday, after being confined to her home because of illness.

There will be a lot of thrifty "house-fraus" in high school at the end of the year, judging by the large enrollment in the Home Equipment class, conducted by Miss Poppitz.

Melby (about to call roll the second day of the semester): "All those who have dropped this subject please answer when I call their names."

Olive Lindeman was forced to quit school due to illness of her mother.

Irma Marcoe and Mildred Hauglid were absent last week, owing to an attack of mumps.

Wednesday evening the Freshmen changed the old saying, "Sweets to the Sweet," to "Sweets from the sweet—Freshmen girls."

They say the girls team in Climax are "huskies" but the team at Thief River Falls is still "huskier."

The declamation and oratorical contest which was to be held here Friday was cancelled but will be held at a later date. Myrtle Krohn and Ernest Zeh represent the local high school.

The Seniors of the Lincoln high school have started their fifty page annual and we are sure it is going to be a big success, even though it has to be cut down considerably.

Miss Victoria Erikson of the Bureau of Child's Welfare Union, was here last week to see that all children under age were attending school. While working in this city with the school nurse, Miss Johnson, they visited homes of some of the children who were not attending school and as a result the parents are more strict in sending their children to school. The Board of Education is going to appoint a truant officer but as yet one has not been appointed.

How do lima beans go as a substitute for sauce, Charlie?

Jordan Penney, a student of the Journalism class, returned to this city Monday morning to complete his school work for the past semester.

Whisperings of Humorous Nuts

"A little nonsense now and then, is relished by the best of men."

Gentle Reader:

Without a doubt you have imbibed fully and freely in the results of our strenuous and conscientious efforts to transcend from this realm of woe and calamity to the exalted regions of felicity. In this, the second issue, we are exerting all our superfluous energy in an attempt to elevate the standard set by the preceding number. We are bending every nerve to the task before us and live fondly in the expectation that the appreciation shown will burst all bounds and that you will remain in that state of mind occasioned by our recent eruptions of light-headedness.

—The Triumvirate

Miss Swift (noise audible): "I hope I don't have to send anyone out today."

Edward F.: "I hope so too."
(Exit Edward)

Miss Iverson (to Dreng B. who has difficulty in translating a very tragic passage in Caesar): "This is a rather serious situation."

Dreng B.: "Yes, it's too pathetic to express."

"Curly" M. (speaking of intoxicating beverages): "Once when I was in Middle River there was a bunch of Indians around there eating Hoffman drops."

(The atmospheric conditions influenced by "Curly" must have been the cause of this phenomena.)

Teacher (in English III): "For tomorrow, take the life of Dryden."

(The Triumvirate is under the impression that it is hardly permissible to "take" the life of even those who have expired centuries ago.)

"How dear to our hearts are the scenes of our school days," but—out of "nothingness" into the "here" comes an epistle, dripping words of wisdom, extolling the superior methods of torture and fairly bursting with wondrous tidings of the newest science, "How to initiate a Freshman into the mysteries of our institutions of higher learning." "——Initiation is over, thank goodness. Do you know what real misery is? If you are crossed in love, have lost all your money, fractured three legs and all your arms, had your teeth knocked out, three or four cauliflowered ears, suffering from dyspepsia, neuralgia, etc., your aches and pains are small compared to those endured by the Freshmen this year. Let me relate. After a physical examination we formed into a line and with the assistance of generous applications of raw lumber, hastily escorted to the campus. When we got there I was grabbed by half a dozen "huskies." Off went my shirt; ditto my shoes and up I went. I lit on a dozen muscular arms that again propelled me skyward. After a few journeys to Mars I was let down and a large tree pointed out to me. 'Climb it,' was the order, accompanied with a whack. Did I climb? I could have passed old papa squirrel easily. I climbed down again. 'Now,' said the leader, 'there is a nice girl. Go and propose to her.' I proposed most eloquently—and was accepted. 'All right,' again, 'let's have a song.' I sang "Sulla-lulla Lang Skanken" amid great applause. And so I went the rounds, alternately singing and proposing, with a few kisses scattered in between and then told to sit down and await the gauntlet. If I live to be a hundred years old I'll never go through that gauntlet again. The upper classmen had formed a crooked double line of considerable length. Each man in the line was equipped with a large flat paddle made of ¾ or 1 inch lumber about three feet long. And through this line we had to run with our hands in the air so as to keep them out of the way. Unfortunately I was held back awhile so that when I started the previous victim was nearly half ways through and everyone was rested and ready for me. After a period that seemed endless I emerged right on the heels of the one ahead of me—in a condition beyond expression. The suffering was intense while it lasted, for ——— is famous for its initiations and I can add my testimony."—Notes from contemporaries.

Edward: "He never told a lie."

Miss Brown (in physiography): "What are some physical properties of Denmark?"

Howard D.: "Snuff."

Clarence K.: "Washington gave his slaves freedom after he was dead."

Stranger: "I presume there are quite a few Scandinavians here?"

Native (thoughtlessly): "Yes, quite a number of Scandinavians and some Swedes."

Out of a superfluity of lines submitted for completion of the limerick published in the preceding issue, we deemed the following to be the most appropriate:

"There's a certain young man named Copp,
He's sadly in need of a prop,
For his great attraction
To the feminine faction
Makes it certain he's due for a flop."

This is the second of a series of limericks published under the auspices of the Triumvirate:

"Doc." Melby is short but stately,
Some days his expression is saintly,
But at giving a quiz
He's a regular wiz———

Lynn Halvorson: "Sears and Roebuck."

The following is this week's subject for debate or other argumentation: "Resolved that if prices keep coming down, will two be able to live as cheaply as one."

Soliloquy of an Editor-in-Chief.

To work, or not to work—that is the question
Whether 'tis nobler in the mind of my associates
To do the work myself or to delegate proportionally among my menials
And by distribution end it?. To proscribe—to assign—
No more; and by such action to say I end
The headaches and the thousand natural shocks
That I am heir to—'tis a consummation
Devoutly to be wish'd.

Miss Iverson (in latin II): "Why did Caesar cross the Rhine?"

Bright Student: "He probably wanted to get on the other side."

Son: "Daddy, what does vortex mean?"

Father: "Vot, don't you know vot vor-tax iss, Ikey? Dot's vot you pay on ice-cream cones und moofy shows."

Howard D (in physiography class): "Would a seed get seasick if it came across the ocean? (Who knows the answer?)

Miss H. (in solid geometry class): "Now what have we given in this proposition?"

Wm. Mc.: "We have given the proposition and required to find the answer."

Junior: "If the Seniors and Sophomores refuse our hockey challenge we'll put a long article about them in the Progress. If they accept of course it will be still worse." Either way it looks bad for the Seniors and Sophomores.

Howard Doland: "I can speak two languages, American and Physiography."

Miss Brown: "Thief River Falls used to be an old swamp."

Howard Doland: "Yes, all of the old-timers used to have webbed feet."

Miss Brown: "What is the cause for the richness of the soil in this community."

Robert Mc.: "Oh, that's because so many squaws and other Indians have been buried around here."

Exit Robert.

Miss Swift (in Com. Law class): "Benny, would you know what an Offer is if you ever met or saw one?"

Edward F.: "Did you ever see 'em walk?"

Edward F: "An Offer is a proposal." (He is correct at that.)

Clarence K. (in Eng. IV relating Geo. Washington's life): "After that he married a widow and some children."

Examining test papers that grade from 17 to 98 would be a tedious proposition were it not for the relief given by unintentionally humorous expressions such as this one. One of the questions in an English exam was: "What was the Excalibur?" The answer was: "It sounds like a latin word because of the bur on the end."

Robert McGinn (in physiography): "When they look through those periscopes (telescope) they think that they can see canals on the planet of Mars."

Miss Patrick (in Eng. 4, giving part of an address of Lincoln): "And we shall have to take care of his widows and children."

Miss Patrick (asking Fred to tell something about the life of John Dryden.)

Fred: "He was a Catholic when he died."

Fat E.: "I didn't think they had religion down there."

Camille: "Ten dollars a wave."

Mr. Melby's chemistry class has been advised to bring gas machines to class if the students value their lives or if said possessions are not insured.

Mr. Melby in physics class: "Scientists have been able to get helium down to 271 degrees. If they can get it down to 273 degrees, which may be they can, we don't know what will happen; it may cause an explosion and blow up the whole world."

Lynn H.: "Gee! I wish they would quit their monkeying."

Freshmen Promise Well.

The preliminary game between the eighth grades and the Freshmen at the Bemidji-Thief River indoor loop contest last Friday was won by the freshmen at a score of 21 to 12.

The young contestents are very promising basketball players. They did some very neat work in shooting baskets and we feel sure that by the time they are in their third year of high school their team will be famous throughout the state. It will be a team that people of this city will be proud of and the people will do well in boosting them to the limit.

Eighth Grade Girl Scouts.

The Gray Wolf, Lone Star and Hiawatha divisions of the eighth grade girls scouts held a candy sale at the game last Friday evening at the auditorium.

They found little trouble in disposing of their goodies, the proceeds of which will be put to the treasury of the troop for the purpose of securing hand-books of scout information for each member.

The Debate.

The Thief River Falls high school debating team was eliminated from the contest for the state championship last Tuesday night when it was defeated by the Crookston high school debating team, at the local high school auditorium.

The Lincoln high school was represented in the debate by Esther Sourds, Vernon Copp and Edward Fiterman. The members of the Crookston team were, George Hagen, James Montague and Keith Sandberg.

The judges were Supt. Randolph of Erskine, Supt. O. S. Vail of Mahnomen and President M. W. Deputy of the Bemidji Normal. It was a real contest, and was heartily enjoyed by the audience. There was a decided clash of opinion throughout, which made the debate very interesting. Our team made a very good showing and only went down to defeat before the superior debating experience of the Crookston team. Mr. Pierce deserves a great deal of credit for building up a strong debating team out of students who had practically no debating experience before he took them in hand, barely three months ago.

Expert Breadmaker Coming.

Mrs. Margaret B. Baker, state club leader of the Minnesota Co-operative Extension division, will be in Thief River Falls on February 11, for the purpose of assisting the Girls' Breadmaking club with their work. The girls club is conducted by the Home Economics department of the Lincoln high school.

Whooping Cough

"The disease I most dread is Whooping Cough, for children are often permanently injured by the awful straining of the cough. You should never neglect it and treatment should be started at the first symptom. You cannot mistake the symptoms: protracted coughing, worse at night; peculiar whoop; labored expectoration of mucus; apparent suffocation after coughing.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy

is a positive remedy for this disease—repeat the dose frequently, for if given freely it liquifies the tough mucus, makes it easy to expectorate and counteracts any tendency toward pneumonia. There is no danger whatever from Whooping Cough when Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is freely given."

Are YOU One With Us?

One million, five hundred thousand farmers are united in a common cause through the American Farm Bureau Federation. They represent fifteen billion dollars' worth of our national wealth. That is more than the value of all the gold the world has produced in the last sixty years.

These are stupendous figures. Yet the impressive fact is not the size of the figures themselves, but the power they signify. The thoughts, the voices, the strength of one-fourth of the country's farmers joined in a single cause—farm progress! It is a tremendous force for good.

This force that is created by 1,500,000 determined farmers is making itself felt. It is speaking with too powerful a voice to be ignored, too well informed to be dismissed. Congress, capital, labor, are having to listen to the farmer at last because the farmer has found a means of making himself heard. The Farm Bureau Federation has given him that means.

Fall in line! Join the Farm Bureau and help swell the mighty force that has enlisted under the Farm Bureau banner. Its objective is a secure and prosperous farming industry. Help it to guarantee that you and the six million other farmers of this country.

Before the national body was organized THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN began to support the movement. Its aid has been continued because the editor believes in the soundness, the integrity and the wisdom of Farm Bureau policies and leadership. THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN always is ready to support and encourage every move that is helpful to farming. That is the purpose of this big national weekly—to make farm life more livable and profitable. It does this through the medium of informative articles, inspiring editorials and practical suggestions.

You need THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN in your business, in your home life. And it costs only $1.00 a year—less than two cents for each of the fifty-two big issues. You can mail your subscription to us, inclosing a dollar bill, check or money order.

The old stork dropped in at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Eisbrener and left a baby girl on the 13th. What about the cigars, John?

Ben Kveste of Highlanding was an over night visitor with yo scribe last Sunday evening. Ben and ye scribe used to count ties on old Jim Hill's road some twenty-five or thirty years ago, and when we wasn't out of luck entirely, we sometimes got to sleep in old Jim's box cars, but that was in Cleveland's time. Ben says it begins to look as if we will have to hit the trail again.

We are living in the reconstruction period now. Let us talk business and think about matters of importance to ourselves and to the community in which we live, and not sit around each for himself and say nothing and be like a bump on a log. If anyone in your section of country is going to win out and prosper, the action for results must come from within, that is, we must work out our own solution. It is a well known fact that every new country has its draw-backs, or in other words, just because we live and lead an isolated life we do not stop to think that it could be otherwise regardless of the fact that there may be channels open to us through which we could relieve ourselves of the situation we are in. But the question is: will we do it? If you should stop to question the average land owner in such a community what he would give if a condition of things could be brought about upon short notice, that would increase in value his possessions from twenty-five to fifty per cent or more, and at the same time help to reduce the operating cost of his farming to a large extent and get improved his social conditions twofold. His answer and doubt would be: I will gladly give a thousand dollars or more. The party would be justified in saying so—and yet he would be the winner. Now we are going to let you down easy and get you interested, for we are going to talk railroad, because we know any man that can be brought within five or six miles of a railroad town will want to come in on the deal, that is, if it isn't going to hit the pocket book. To be honest with you, all that will be required to start with is the loose change in your pocket. Our proposition is this: Bond your township and help build the railroad. If a 100 dollar levy is made against each quarter in your town on a ten or twenty year payment plan, it would mean from a sixty to ninety thousand dollar inducement for a railroad, if four or six townships would go in on such a deal. The beauty of it is, no one would feel the burden, and we would all be benefitted. Are you willing to pay six per cent on a $100 investment for the next 15 or 20 years and then pay the one hundred at the end of that time? If so get busy and talk railroad—an extension from Goodridge to Highlanding—Electric Line.

MARKET WHEAT ON COMMODITY BASIS, ADVICE

California Plan is Outlined to Farmers at Meeting Held in Fargo Friday.

Speaker Suggests Scrapping of All Existing Organizations For Marketing.

Twenty-Five Million Dollars Would be Saved by System, is Claim Made.

Aaron Sapiro, of San Francisco, made the principal address at Fargo on Friday night before convention of the Tri-state Grain Growers, the Equity Co-Operative society and affiliated associations, in session there. Mr. Sapiro helped to organize the prune and other marketing associations in California.

He advised the 2,000 farmer members of the organizations assembled:

First, to scrap all present organizations and start anew at once to market products on the California basis, or strictly on a commodity basis.

Second, not to let corn states dominate the marketing of grains, as corn is a commodity which goes back to the farm.

Mr. Sapiro ridiculed criticism of his plan, made by Hugh J. Hughes, marketing director of the Minnesota state department of agriculture, and denied that growers fixed prices arbitrarily, declaring it was on an honest basis.

Forecasts $25,000,000 Saving.

He said farmers of North Dakota, Minnesota, South Dakota, Kansas and Oklahoma, should they organize to handle the 1921 crop, would save $25,000,000 by adopting the California plan.

He declared that a co-operative wheat marketing association to be a success must be conducted purely on a commodity basis; that farmers alone must assume control of the marketing facilities; that the public must be given a fair part in the work and know how prices are arrived at; that at least half of the wheat acreage must be signed up before attempting to handle the crop; that the farmers must sign up to deliver their grain for a period of years without specification of prices to be paid to them and that "no producer has any right to sell his product because a producer cannot be a successful and expert marketer."

"Wheat Alone Should Dominate."

"Canada, after a survey," he said, "advised the farmers to pool their wheat, and Washington, Idaho, Montana and Oregon already are organizing.

"A grain marketing corporation," he said, "should not be dominated by anything except wheat—as wheat and cotton are the two great non-perishable commodities. Corn and most other grain go back to the farms and their prices rise and fall largely with wheat.

"Wheat selling should be an easy task and organizing should be accomplished in thirty days. The Chicago Board of Trade has taught you men a lesson and torn you to pieces. You will have to learn to trust your neighboring farmers and organization will be easy.

"First organize in North Dakota, South Dakota, Minnesota, Kansas, and Oklahoma, the five great wheat states, and organize separately in each state or you will get in a legal mess by different state laws. Then federate all states.

"One central association without capital stock and with only growers as members is the big thing. Organize with about twenty-three directors with direct representatives of the public on the board so the public shall have full knowledge of your affairs.

"Sign up 50 per cent of the acreage for at least five years without promise of a definite price.

"Prove to the banks that you are real merchants and are merchandising wheat and they will finance you. Have the present elevators and other transportation agencies handle your wheat. Buy them and guarantee them a good return or profit.

"Agricultural paper is acceptable at Federal Reserve banks for rediscount. Growers can get a good share of the price when they deliver the grain in this way. The country bank is the key to the financial situation and can do more for the farmers than the city banks.

"You need a dual system, a warehouse group and a market group, and keep them distinct."

Prunes No Longer Lowly.

"In California the growers hire the marketing experts and they turn the profits that go to chambers of commerce and men like Armour back into the pockets of the farmer. With our hired man it is not how cheap but how good. Take the prune. Our marketing program elevated it from the boarding house to the palace. Supply and demand as a price basis is all bunk. We created the demand when the supply was big by the widest advertising and use of paid newspaper space.

"It is the farmer's duty to fix prices. Speculators now fix prices; we are against gambling.

"No individual is fit or capable of marketing a commodity. It is a group proposition and a co-operative proposition and the producer will never prosper until he realizes it."

Card of Thanks.

We wish to extend our sincere thanks to our friends and neighbors who so kindly assisted us at the time of the death of our beloved wife and mother and for the beautiful floral offerings.—John T. Coan and Family.

How $2.29 Per Bushel Can Be Obtained For All Wheat

"Citizen," who a short time ago wrote a communication to The Times in which he demonstrated that wheat could not be raised for less than $2.29 per bushel, in the following shows how the farmer can secure this price by doing his own grinding:

It requires two and one-quarter bushels of wheat to make 100 pounds of flour according to millers' estimate, which at a cost of $2.29 per bushel foots up $5.15. At this figure 100 pounds of straight flour could be made for $5.53, in which is included 21 cents for transportation and 17½ cents for the sack. "Straight flour" contains all the extras, clear grade, self-raising pancake flour, as well as some shorts. There would be about 11 pounds of waste. Cost of grinding not known.

The "patent flour" requires three bushels, 22½ pounds of wheat for each 100 pounds and leaves 86½ pounds of extras while the waste is 16½ pounds. The extras derived from 100 pounds of patent flour would more than pay for the grinding.

The farmers could thus grind their own wheat and obtain a market for their product. This will cause no famine and the cost price would be secured.

If the farmer shipped outside the local market, 21 cents (old rate) would have to be added to and when sold in the local market the price would be $5.32, with milling charges to be added.

Want Ideas For Memorials.

Ideas from ex-service men in regard to what type of war memorial should be erected in the United States are sought by T. Semmes Walmsley, chairman of the National Memorial Committee of the American Legion. Information is also desired in regard to local memorials which have been constructed. It should be addressed to 302 Marine Bank Building, New Orleans, La.

VALUE OF JEFFERSON HIGHWAY IS MORE THAN EVER APPARENT

President Walter Parker, in His Annual Report, Tells What Has Been Accomplished and Promises Even Greater Things For the Future.

The following extracts are taken from the annual report of Walter Parker, president, submitted to the directors and members of the Jefferson Highway association at St. Joseph, Mo., January 18.

"Five years ago a number of Highway enthusiasts met in New Orleans and organized the Jefferson Highway association for the purpose of promoting the building of a 365 day highway between New Orleans and Winnipeg.

"Today our project is fully organized, our association is well financed, we enjoy the co-operation and esteem of the people of the ninety counties and of that portion of Canada thru which our highway passes.

"Seventy percent of the highway has been given standard marks, and the money is in hand to complete the remaining thirty per cent.

"Almost every mile has been improved to some extent and more than fifty per cent of the mileage has been given a permanent hard surface.

"In the five years all the counties and towns on the highway have been visited three times by sociability runs which were participated in by prominent people of two countries.

"The Jefferson Highway association is of an international character and has an enviable reputation.

"Its monthly magazine, "The Modern Highway," has been established on a separate and distinct paid subscription basis far in excess of any other highway association publication and its influence for good is correspondingly great.

"The association has some five thousand individual paying members who have pledged themselves for five years. This total is some twenty-five per cent greater than the association sought and reflects the high regard in which the organization is held.

"States penetrated by the Jefferson highway have learned to value 365 day highways and the Jefferson Highway association, with its sound doctrine and sustained propaganda, has been of material assistance in developing the highway spirit. In 1920 Kansas enacted an excellent good roads law; Missouri provided a $60,000,000 highway fund, and the State of Minnesota provided $100,000,000 for this purpose.

"In 1921 we expect the State of Louisana to adequatbly provide for her main highway system, including the completion of the Jefferson Highway.

"Our project is succeeding because we are working along sound business lines. The organization owes much to the vision and the sustained efforts of its general manager. In Mr. Clarkson we have a most valuable and highly trained leader and we may expect him to bring success to our cause in exact ratio to the support and co-operation we give him.

"There is increasing need for the Jefferson highway. The project was well conceived. A new economic era has dawned in the Mississippi Valley. Henceforth adequate and dependable north and south transportation channels will be essential. This is so because the producers of the valley, in order to enjoy full economic freedom, must have access to the easy grade north and south railroads, the navigable waterways which empty in the Gulf of Mexico and to all-the-year dependable highways following the same desirable course.

"In the period ahead, a very much larger portion of the valley's raw products, which have been passing to Europe by way of the Atlantic Seaboard, will be changed into the finished products of commerce in Mississippi valley factories located near the source of raw material and food supply and will pass to world markets, particularly to the new markets of greatest promise in Latin America and the Orient along railroads, waterways and highways of low natural resistance, to the valley's own ports on the Gulf of Mexico thence abroad.

"In this new scheme of things, which has efficient service and genuine economy as its basis, drift of travel will follow drift of commerce, and the north and south Jefferson Highway, which penetrates and serves America's region of greatest production and of greatest capacity for increased production, will fill an ever increasing need.

"Few people today possess more than a superficial idea of the important part the Mississippi valley and its north and south transportation lines of low natural resistance will play, not alone in the economic affairs of the United States, but of Europe, Latin America and the Orient. This is the only region in all the world which has the area, the soil, the climate, the transportation and the population capable at this time of filling the needs of war torn Europe, of Latin America, where enormous expansion of mining, of agriculture and of population is inevitable and of the Orient whose teeming population, as a natural result of the war, are developing new needs and new requirements.

"Our national security, when less fortunate peoples shall turn covetous eyes our way, will depend upon the ability of the Great Basin to feed and to supply our coast sections when defense against an invader becomes necessary.

"The more efficient and dependable our means of communication, the greater will be the valley's ability to meet the supreme test.

"The Jefferson Highway is the backbone of an essential system.

Two Young Men From This County Take Short Course

Vernon Peterson of St. Hilaire and Ernest Kath of Goodridge, are attending the annual short course for creamery operators which opened at University Farm, St. Paul January 3 and will continue until February 12.

Realizing the great importance of the buttermaking industry to the state and the close relation which the creameries have to this great industry, the University has for several years given a short specialized course for creamery operators, the object of which is to give young creamery operators a thorough understanding of the factors involved in the production of a grade of butter that will meet the demands of the most exacting market. Fifty-six young men are in attendance at the short course of this winter.

The Legion and Labor.

Recently correspondence passed between Commander Galbraith of the American Legion and Samuel Gompers, president of the Labor Federation, in which each assured the other that there was nothing in the aims and ideals of either organization to which objection could be made. This good feeling seems to be spreading, for since then, the Central Trades and Labor Union of East St. Louis, Ill., has passed a resolution approving the national policies of the Legion and recommending that all eligible laborites become Legionnaires. Similar action has been taken by the Central Trades Council of Oklahoma, which is to co-operate with the Legion.

H. A. BRUMUND,
President of the Council.

Attest:
A. H. AKRE,
City Clerk.

Resolution.

At a regular meeting of the City Council of the City of Thief River Falls, Minnesota, held at the Council Chambers in said City, on the 11th day of January, 1921, Mr. S. Brandon offered the following resolution, which was read:

WHEREAS, In pursuance of and in full compliance with the provisions of Chapter 65, Laws, 1919, proceedings have been duly and legally taken under which it has been determined to pave certain streets in the City of Thief River Falls, Minnesota, to-wit:

Main Avenue from the Great Northern Railway Company's tracks, North to the intersection of Sixth Street;

Horace Avenue, from First Street North to the Intersection of Fourth Street;

LaBree Avenue, from the Great Northern Railway Company's tracks, North, to the intersection of Fourth Street;

First Street, from the Red Lake River West to Knight Avenue;

Second Street, from Atlantic Avenue west to Knight Avenue;

Third Street, from the Railroad tracks of the Minneapolis, St. Paul and Sault Ste. Marie Railway Company west to Knight Avenue.

such paving being hereinafter referred to as "Improvement" or "Improving," and

WHEREAS, the paving of all of said streets, or parts thereof, constitutes a single improvement, and

WHEREAS, contracts have been duly let for said improvement, and it has been definitely ascertained and determined in accordance with the provisions of law applicable thereto, that the aggregate expense incurred or to be incurred in making said improvement will be at least the sum of $292,000.00, and

WHEREAS, the total cost of said improvement is divisible into two parts, one of which is properly assessable against benefitted property, and the other part consists of the improvement of street intersections and the like, and is properly payable by the city at large, and

WHEREAS, the amounts assessable against benefitted property and the amounts properly payable by the city at large in the case of said improvement are as follows:

Amount Assessable Against Benefitted Property	City's Share
[illegible]	$58,927.50

WHEREAS, there is not sufficient money in the treasury of said city to defray the expense incurred or to be incurred in making said improvement,

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, That it is necessary for the purpose of defraying in part the expense incurred and to be incurred in so making said improvement, to issue at this time the sum of $292,000.00, and for that purpose the negotiable Certificates of Indebtedness of said city be issued in the aggregate amount of not exceeding $292,000.00. That said certificates shall be 292 in number, numbered from 1 to 292 inclusive, shall bear date the first day of March, 1921, shall be each of the denomination of $1000, that all of said certificates shall bear interest at not to exceed the rate of six per cent per annum, payable semi-annually, the first interest payment to be due on August 1, 1921, for a five months' period and thereafter on the first days of February and August in each year, semi-annually.

That said certificates shall be payable as to principal as follows:

$11,000, on August 1, in each of the years 1922 to [illegible] inclusive and [illegible] on August 1, 1941, and that both principal and interest shall be due and payable at a place designated by the purchaser.

RESOLVED, further that said certificates shall be in substantially the following form, with the necessary variations as to numbers and maturities, which said form is hereby approved and adopted:

No. ____ $1000

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
State of Minnesota.
City of Thief River Falls.
Street Improvement Certificate of Indebtedness.

KNOW ALL MEN BY THESE PRESENTS, That the City of Thief River Falls, County of Pennington, Minnesota, acknowledges itself indebted, and, for value received, promises to pay to bearer

One Thousand Dollars

($1,000), lawful money of the United States of America, on the first day of ____ A. D. 19__, with interest from date until paid, at the rate of six per cent per annum, payable semi-annually, on the first days of February and August in each year, on presentation and surrender of the annexed interest coupons, both principal and interest being payable at ____ in the City of ____.

This Certificate is issued under authority of the laws of Minnesota thereunto enabling, and more particularly Chap. 65, Laws, 1919, for the purpose of defraying in part the expense incurred or to be incurred in paving certain streets in said city.

The full faith, credit and resources of said city of Thief River Falls, Minnesota, are pledged for the prompt payment of the principal and interest of this certificate at maturity.

It is hereby Certified and Recited that all acts, conditions and things required by the laws and constitution of the State of Minnesota, to be done precedent to and in the issuance of this certificate, have been properly done, happened and been performed, in regular and due form and time as required by law, and that the total indebtedness of said city, including this certificate does not exceed any constitutional or statutory limit.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, said City of Thief River Falls, has caused this Certificate of Indebtedness to be signed by its Mayor and City Clerk, and its Corporate Seal to be hereunto affixed as of this first day of March A. D. 1921.

JOHN BRATRUD,
Mayor.

A. H. AKRE,
City Clerk.
(Corporate Seal.)

That there be coupons attached to each of said certificates, each of said coupons evidencing the interest payable for a six months' period, and be in form substantially as follows:

No. ____ $30.00

On the first day of August A. D. 19__ the City of Thief River Falls, Minnesota, will pay to bearer Thirty Dollars ($30.00), at ____ in the City of ____ being Semi-annual Installment of Interest on its Street Improvement Certificate of Indebtedness dated March 1, 1921. No. ____

City Clerk.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, That the proceeds of all assessments levied or to be levied against property benefitted by said improvement be and they hereby are appropriated and set aside for the payment of the principal and interest of said certificates and any other certificates which may hereafter be issued to cover the expense of such improvement as they fall due, and that the city assume the amount of the cost of said improvement heretofore designated and specified as the city's share thereof, and that the city annually provide for the payment of the portion of said certificates represented by its share by the levy and collection of a tax therefor, on all the taxable property of said city. That there be and hereby is created a separate fund for said improvement bearing the improvement number. That into this fund shall be paid the proceeds of the sale of said certificates applicable to such improvement; that into this fund there shall also be paid all moneys arising from assessments on account of such improvement, and all moneys raised by general taxation to pay the city's share of the cost thereof, as hereinbefore specified; that out of this fund shall be paid all expenses incurred or to be incurred in connection with said improvement, that any moneys in such fund at the maturity of any interest or principal of any of said certificates, whether such moneys be the proceeds of assessments, paid or of taxation, or be from other sources derived, be applied to the payment of such interest and principal; That if at the maturity of any such interest or principal there is not in such fund money sufficient to meet the payment thereof, the proper officers of the city shall provide the necessary money for the purpose out of the general fund or out of any other fund and pay the same into the appropriate improvement fund in the amount needed. That when thereafter there shall be in such improvement fund so replenished, moneys derived from the collection of assessments on account of such improvement which are available for the purpose, they shall be paid back out of such improvement fund with interest at the rate of six per cent per annum into the general or other fund from which they shall have been taken or used, provided, however, that the city's share of the cost of any such improvement as hereinbefore fixed and specified so paid into any such fund for the purpose of interest or principal payment, shall not be repaid from said improvement fund, but shall be provided for out of the proceeds of general taxation. The intent hereof is hereby declared to be that the cost of said improvement shall be paid out of said improvement fund, that the proceeds of assessments made on benefitted property on account of said improvement shall be applied as far as they are available to discharge the interest and principal of said certificates, that the city shall, from time to time, contribute out of the proceeds of general taxation to the payment of the interest and principal of said certificates its share as hereinbefore fixed and specified, and that, if, at any time, when any interest or principal of any of said certificates falls due, the fund so made up, is unequal to pay the same out of the proceeds of assessments collected and the city's payment of its share of the cost of such improvement, the city shall pay into such fund, if so deficient, moneys enough to supply such deficiency out of the general fund or out of any other fund having moneys available, and that the improvement fund so refreshed, shall except for the city's share, replenish the fund from which such moneys are taken, with interest at six per cent per annum, out of the proceeds of subsequent collections of assessments. That the clerk and treasurer keep this council informed as to the condition of said improvement fund and of the financing from time to time necessary; that there be at all times available moneys in the treasury to promptly pay the interest and principal falling due on any of said certificates, and this council hereby undertakes to take such proceedings and to do such further acts from time to time as are necessary or proper to secure the prompt payment of such interest and principal on their respective maturities.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, That said certificates shall be signed by the Mayor and countersigned by the City Clerk, who shall attest the same with the city seal, and that coupons be authenticated by the fac simile signature of the City Clerk, printed, lithographed or engraved thereon, and that said certificates when so executed shall be placed in the custody of the treasurer to be sold as hereinafter provided.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, That bids for the purchase of said $292,000 of certificates will be considered by this council at a meeting thereof hereby fixed to be held at the council chamber in said city on the 8th day of February, 1921 at 8 o'clock p. m.

That the Clerk give notice of said meeting by publication thereof in the Thief River Falls Times, a newspaper published at Thief River Falls, Minnesota, once in each week for at least two successive weeks prior to said meeting, and said newspaper is hereby designated as the newspaper in which said notice shall be published.

That said notice shall be in substantially the following form:

Notice of Sale of Street Improvement Certificates of Indebtedness.

NOTICE IS GIVEN, That on the 8th day of February, 1921, at 8 o'clock p. m. at the Council Chamber, in the City of Thief River Falls, Pennington County, Minnesota, the city council of said city will receive bids for the sale of $292,000 of Certificates of Indebtedness of said city described as follows:

Date of Certificates March 1, 1921, [illegible] $1000 each, interest rate not to exceed 6 per cent, payable semi-annually, principal payable $11,000 in each of the years 1922 to [illegible] inclusive and $25,000 on August 1, [illegible]. Applicable Law Chap. 65, [illegible].

All bids must be without condition or qualification, and accompanied by a certified check in the amount of 5 per cent of the total bid, payable unconditionally to the order of the Treasurer of said city.

The Board reserves the right to reject any and all bids, and to sell a less amount than the total issue.

All bids should be addressed to the undersigned.

By order of the city council of said city.

Dated at Thief River Falls, Minnesota, this 12th day of January, 1921.

A. H. AKRE,
City Clerk.

RESOLVED further that the full faith, credit and resources of said City of Thief River Falls, Pennington County, Minnesota, and of this city council as such, be and the same are hereby irrevocably pledged for the punctual payment of the principal and interest of said certificates at maturity.

Alderman John Dahl seconded the motion to adopt said resolution and, the roll being called, the same was adopted by the following vote:

Ayes: Froseth, Dahl, Brumund, Ness, Brandon, Ihle.

Nayes: None.

Passed and approved this 11th day of January, 1921.

Notice of Hearing on Petition for Addition of Territory.

State of Minnesota, County of Pennington. In District Court, Fourteenth Judicial District.

Notice is hereby given that on the 7th day of January, 1921, there were filed in the office of the Clerk of said court at Thief River Falls, Minnesota, a petition duly made and signed by the Board of Directors of the Red Lake Drainage and Conservancy District, and a petition duly made and signed by S. E. Erickson and others, residents of the territory concerned, which said petitions pray for the addition of certain territory therein described to said District and set forth the reasons and necessity therefore. That the territory therein described and which is proposed to be added to said District, is as follows: All of Townships One Hundred fifty-three (153) North of Ranges Forty-six (46), Forty-seven (47), Forty-eight (48), Forty-nine (49) and Fifty (50) West in Polk County, Minnesota, known and organized as the Townships of Esther, Northland, Tabor, Angus and Brandt; also all of Section Four (4), Five (5), Six (6), Seven (7), Eight (8), Nine (9), Sixteen (16), Seventeen (17), Eighteen (18), Nineteen (19), Twenty (20), Twenty-one (21), Twenty-eight (28), Twenty-nine (29), Thirty (30), Thirty-one (31), Thirty-two (32), and Thirty-three (33) of Township One Hundred fifty-three (153) North of Range Forty-five (45) West in Pennington County, Minnesota, the same being the western half of the Township of [illegible] in said County.

That thereafter the Honorable Andrew Grindeland, one of the Judges of the District Court of Pennington County, Minnesota, duly made and filed his order fixing a time and place of hearing upon said petitions, which order was made and dated on the 15th day of January, 1921, and filed in the office of the Clerk of said court at Thief River Falls, Minnesota, on the 17th day of January, 1921; that thereby the said court did order and require that the said petitions be heard, considered and determined by said court as provided by law, at the court room in the court house in the City of Thief River Falls, Pennington County, State of Minnesota, on the 16th day of February, A. D., 1921, at 1:30 o'clock P. M., and that all parties interested may then and there appear and be heard for and against the granting of said petition.

Now therefore, notice is hereby given that said petitions will be heard, considered and determined at the time and place last above mentioned as required by the order of said court.

Dated January 17, 1921.

ADOLF EKLUND,
Clerk of District Court,
Pennington County, Minnesota.
